BARRINGTON REMAINS WET

Proposition to Abolish the Drama

Shops Defeated. Spinner
Elected President.

The Village election Tuesday brought out the largest vote ever polled since its organization, 315 votes being cast.

The issue was license or no license. The proposition to abolish the drama was defeated by a vote of 149 to 131. Thirty-five votes did not declare themselves upon the issue.

The "Good Citizenship Ticket," supported by the Young Men's Christian Association, was defeated with the exception of one trustee, H. J. Lageschulte, who was elected by a good majority. The run between George Spinner and Frank Waterman for president of the board was close, the former winning by 17 votes. George J. Hager, candidate for trustee, carried off the honors running 29 votes ahead of his ticket.

The newly elected members are good business men and we predict will give the citizens of this village a business administration. Mr. Lageschulte's popularity is plainly shown as he can 23 votes ahead of his ticket. He has done much to build up this town in the way of making improvements. The locating of the Bowman Dairy Company in this village is largely due to Mr. Lageschulte's efforts. The result in detail is as follows:

PEOPLES TICKET

For PRESIDENT	George W. Spinner.....	165
For VILLAGE TRUSTEES	William Peters.....	171
Frank O. Willmarth.....	133
George J. Hager.....	194

"Don'ts" By a Reporter.

Don't lie to the newspaper man, give it to him straight and ask him to help you out. Nine times out of ten he will.

Don't forget to tell the reporter how sorry you are that he is in such a business. He might need your sympathy.

Don't try to tell a newspaper man how the paper ought to be run. If you know so well somebody will find it out and pay you for your information.

Don't bring in free advertising thinking it is needed to fill up space.

Don't tell a newspaper man that you will stop your subscription if he prints a certain story, unless you really want it printed.

Don't cuss the reporter because your idea of what happened doesn't exactly agree with his report; the chances are that his training has enabled him to grasp the situation better than you. —Des Moines Register

At the close of the G. A. Post's regular meeting on Friday afternoon, April 12th, the Woman's Relief Corps surprised the "Old Boys" with a sumptuous "pork an beans" banquet, served in their usual good style. The lively sociality made their hearty饱餐 all the more enjoyable. The Post cannot thank the Corps too warmly.

The "Little Red Wagon."

Much ado seems to have been made over an article recently published in the Review about "the little red wagon." This is entirely a personal matter and should not reflect upon the Review or its staff, as it is signed by a citizen in good faith. The article can be seen on the files of the Review signed by me. The cur who would insult a lady by an anonymous communication ought to be subjected to a good jaloy coat of tar and feathers. Only a fanatic or a cad would be guilty of such an outrage.

Help! Help! Help!

Nothing very serious the matter—don't get excited—but your HELP is needed.

Every man, every woman and every child can HELP. This town needs your HELP.

It is a good town, but every good citizen wants to see it become a better town. But unless the good citizens stand by the town, lend a hand, put a shoulder to the wheel or get in front and pull, without balking, there won't be any noticeable progress.

Towns are not太平. No town "just grows." It's the people in a town and around it who make it grow by feeding it the right sort of diet.

A pig in a polo won't get fat. Nor will a town with its light hidden under a bushel attract attention from outside.

Unless you throw corn into a lean shanty the animal never will become a fat porker. It is just as necessary to feed a town and community with fresh material from the outside world.

It is up to you and each of us to get out and forage for the town. Speak a good word for it. Write a good letter for it. To you the place where you live is the most important place in the world. It is the best place in the world. It is the center of the world. The universe revolves around it.

This being so—and you can't deny it—why not HELP advertise the center of the universe? Why not tell your friends and acquaintances elsewhere what they are missing by living away from the real center!

Talk has built up many a town—every town, in fact. Talk can build up this town. You can't talk too much if you talk right.

P. S.—HELP! HELP! HELP!

To Beautify Village Streets.

To raise money with which to beautify the village streets and for prizes for the best parks, trees, parks and the like. The Village Improvement Association of Tyngsboro, Mass., held its annual fair in the town hall recently. This is one of the prettiest towns in the state and through the Improvement Association's efforts keeps alive its traditions as well as its good looks. A feature of the evening's entertainment was the presentation of "Wine-Dale," a rural play in three acts, by the best amateur talent in this section. Success marked the efforts of the young people in their theatrical venture, the play making a hit with the town people.

Let us figure on your job printing.

The next meeting will be on May 2nd at Mrs. L. H. Bennett's work meeting where a prize will be given for the best hand work exhibited.

Daily cold baths are recommended by physicians to those who have the vigor to endure the shock; but few physicians would recommend the average patient to follow the example of the members of the Polar Bear club of Boston, who take daily plunges in the ice-cold waters of the Weather. The club had to change holes in the ice this winter before they could get at the water. The first, may in usually repeats the time-honored call: "Come in, fellows, the water's fine!"

A trip into the Dismal Swamp is one of the attractions offered by the Jamestown exhibition. A steamboat route has been opened up through the 1,000 square miles involved, which, moreover, are said not to be so dismal as their name indicates. The Dismal Swamp was once the hiding place of runaway slaves. The swamp itself was not terrible to them. It seemed almost heavenly if they could succeed in reaching it. The dismal part was their flight across the southern states.

"Commercial Club" suggests to most minds a body of business men organized to promote trade. To a little town in Indiana the words mean a club of business men formed for no commercial, political or reformative purpose, but with the single practical object of raising money for town hall. The club has no place for general public gatherings, the town fathers made no move to supply a place, and the town mothers took the matter into their hands. There will be a town hall.

The king of Siam is visiting Italy, accompanied by 12 of his wives, the remainder of the royal family and their establishment having been left at home. Italy is not far from Paris, and doubtless the royal ladies will insist upon going to the famous French capital. And when they "call on" to Parisian fashions what will happen to his pocketbook?

QUAKES SHAKE MEXICO

CHILPANCINGO IS DESTROYED BY FURIOUS SHOCKS.

ELEVEN PERSONS PERISH

Earth Continues to Rock at Half Hour Intervals—Report That Town of Chilapa is Wiped Out.

Chilpancingo, Mexico.—This city has been completely destroyed by one of the most furious earthquakes that has ever visited this section. The known dead number 11 and the badly injured 27.

Among the dead is the wife of Postal Inspector Leopoldo Lopez Guerra and the child of Jose Aleman, the postmaster of the city. Jose Lopez Aleman, manager of the federal telegraph office, was struck on the head by a block of stone and badly injured.

The utmost panic prevails everywhere and people are fleeing to the open country. The earth continues to rock at half-hour intervals and many minor shocks are completing the work of destruction of the first earthquake.

Earthquake Town Destroyed.

All telegraph communication with the outside world ceased shortly after 11:30 o'clock Sunday night when the first shock was felt. The telegraph operators have installed temporary quarters in an open square and are working with the sky as a roof.

Word has reached here that the town of Chilapa, 42 kilometers to the northeast, has been completely destroyed. No details have been received as yet, but it is feared that the number will be large.

Suffered Four Years Ago.

This city is the capital of the state of Guerrero and four years ago was visited by an earthquake which killed and wounded many of its inhabitants and destroyed a large part of the town. The shock was so severe that the citizens believe it has been thrown into the earth.

No details have been received as yet, but it is feared that the number will be large.

The charges involving shipments from Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, Ill., on which the legal rate was 13 cents a mile, and shipments to St. Louis 15½ cents, while the legal rate was 15½ cents. Even more inditements are pending against the corporation.

OIL TRUST FOUND GUILTY

STANDARD COMPANY CONVICTED OF ACCEPTING REBATES.

Maximum Penalty for Offense is $29,260,000—Defense Plans Legal Battle.

Chicago.—The Standard Oil company has been found guilty of accepting rebates from railroads on its shipments from Whiting, Ind., in 1903, by a jury which returned its verdict in Judge Landis' court. Lawyers for the defeated corporation are busy perfecting plans for a legal battle that is to be ended only by the verdict of the United States supreme court.

Minimum fines amounting to $1,163,000 and a maximum of $29,260,000 can be imposed by Judge Landis, and the struggle within a few days will be for a new trial, and in case of an adverse ruling on this point attempts will be made to reduce the fine.

The point made by Attorneys John S. Miller, Morris Rosenthal and Virgil P. Kline for the defense is that in accepting the secret rebate on its shipments of 1,463 cars the company committed only one violation, and that it can be fined only $20,000, the maximum for single offenses against the Elkins law. The government will contend that each of the 1,463 shipments constitute a violation, and the penalty of $20,000 fine would not be commensurate with the offense, which netted the Standard a saving of $223,000 on the shipments.

This is the first time the Standard Oil company has been convicted on the charge of accepting rebates and congratulations have been pouring in on District Attorney Edwin W. Sims for his victory, which came after five months' hard work preceding the trial, which has lasted 36 days. Assistant District Attorneys Wilkerson and Paikin, who have worked in and out of court with Mr. Sims, are sharing the tribute to their leader.

JAMES H. ECKELS DEAD.

Chicago Banker and Ex-Comptroller Passes Away.

Chicago.—James H. Eckels, president of the Commercial National bank, one of the receivers of the Union Traction company, and former comptroller of the currency, was found dead in bed Sunday morning at his residence, 18 Ritchie court.

Death had apparently not long after Mr. Eckels retired at mid-night. He had suffered for years from heart disease, and a commission of

The following message was sent to the federal office in Mexico City from Chilapa:

"Our boys are working in a public garden. A terrible panic prevails as the earth continues to tremble at regular intervals. Send us tents that we may establish an office out in the country."

All communication with the west coast has been cut off since the moment of the first big shock and it is not known to what extent that region suffered. The nearest big town, Acapulco, which is 131 kilometers to the southwest of this place, has not been heard from.

Volcanoes May Awake.

Both the volcanoes of Colma and Juriquilla are in this region and the people fear that the recent eruption of the earth may be a sign of the coming of a new volcano. The first named volcano is in the state of Colima, along the coast to the northwest of Juriquilla. Juriquilla is much nearer and is almost due north in the state of Michoacan. The inhabitants of this region are known as "pintos" because of the "spots" on their faces.

Mr. Eckels was born in Princeton, Ill., in 1856, and after he began the practice of law in Ottawa, when President Cleveland began his second term he appointed Mr. Eckels comptroller of the currency and the young man made a remarkable record.

On retiring after the judge's charge they gathered about the big table in the center of the room and engaged in prayer. With the foreman in the chair parliamentary rules were then adopted.

TRAIN WRECKED, FIVE DEAD.

Fatal Accident to the Great Northern's Oriental Limited.

St. Paul, Minn.—Rushing at a speed of 40 miles an hour on a straight track, the Great Northern's west-bound Oriental Limited, which left for Pacific coast points Sunday morning, was derailed at 1:15 Monday morning at Bartlett, N. D. Five persons were killed and a score more injured, some of them seriously.

Michigan Low Fare Bill Passed.

Lansing, Mich.—The two-cent railroad fare bill recently passed by the House Thursday was only one dissenting vote. The bill allows up to 25 cents on peninsula roads and those roads of the lower peninsula which earn less than $1,200 per mile per year from passenger trains to charge three cents per mile, but all other roads are required to charge only two cents. Gov. Warner's influence has been behind the bill.

Raid at Dearborn Park.

Hammond, Ind.—The Dearborn Park pool-room at Clark Station, Ind., was raided Monday by police from this place. Three men, said to be the proprietors of the place or active in its management, were arrested.

Boy Whipped, Gets $1,000 Damages.

Albion, N. Y.—Michael Burdette, 14 years old, a pupil in the public schools of Tolosa, has been awarded $1,000 damages against his teacher, Miss Annie Kelley, for injuries resulting from a whipping.

Fire at Baker University.

Topka, Kan.—The Ripley building, one of the largest and most important structures at Baker University, Kan., was destroyed by fire early Sunday.

The loss is estimated at $60,000; insurance, $15,000.

WILL THEY GET THE ANSWERS OUT?

CLEVER WORK OF DETECTIVE REVEALED

BY THE THIEF.

The robbery of the sub-treasury in Chicago reveals the fact that the treasury department in Washington was the victim of a $40,000 theft about 30 years ago. At first, although no reasonable explanation of how the thing could have been done by an outsider could be given, it was assumed that it was the work of some one unconnected with the office in which the robbery occurred. It was not long, however, before a clever detective became acquainted with the fact that one of the clerks who might have had access to the bundle of bills was acquainted with a professional gambler of shady antecedents. That discovery solved the problem. A little patient watching resulted in catching the gambler with the stolen notes, and that was easy. The clerk was arrested, and, in his turn, was given the task of being the confidant of the thief, which was accomplished by shoving the package of notes, all of large denominations, into a position where they could be "snaked" up with a cane provided with a hook.

Clever Trick of Tramp.

A queer comedy of cheating is now raising much amusement in New York.

A laborer named Bedaine, living at Yonkers, in the Eure et Loir, went to Melus with two pounds in his pocket.

Having spent this in liquor, he conceived the idea of getting on board for nothing.

Findings an empty third-class compartment, he fastened a fanned belt round his neck, stuffed a handkerchief into his mouth, pitched his empty purse onto the opposite seat and, lying down, first had a sleep and then, when Paris was reached, refused to give any sign of life till the alarmed station staff pored a cordial into his mouth.

Then he was taken to a hospital, where he told a story of being attacked by three men, but police questions becoming too difficult, he at last related his stratagem, and was haled from his sick bed to prison.—London Globe.

Old Wall Street Charactor Dead.

Van Schack & Co., one of the oldest stock brokerage houses in New York, have lost their oldest and most famous customer. Almost up to the time of his death a few days ago, he would drop in occasionally to ask Mr. Gorham, Derby Crandall or Col. Handy how the market was going. He kept in touch with the market notwithstanding his great age—95. Russell Smith was one of his chums, and the master of the miser, who was nearly six years his junior, patting him on the back and calling him "Kid," "little boy," etc.

Town Bell Criticized.

A small town between Atchison and Topeka last night, says Ed Howe. She shucks bands with her left hand, wore a larger hat than the girls who met her, wore pretty loud clothes, chewed gum and when she hit the cinder plateau her skirt was up to the knee of people, grinned at her and said, "Hello, there!" This town belle was not bad looking, but she couldn't keep her mouth closed even when she was not talking.—Kansas City Journal.

THE DELUGE

By DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS, Author of "THE COST" & "COSTUME" AND "THE BOSS" (See below)

She gazed at me without flinching. "And I suppose," she said satirically, "you wonder why I—why you are repellent to me. Haven't you learned that, though I may have been made into a moral coward, I'm not a physical coward. Don't bully and threaten."

I put my hand strongly on her shoulder—taunts and jeers do not turn me aside. "What did you mean?" I repeated.

"Take your hand off me," she commanded.

"What did you mean?" I repeated sternly. "Don't be afraid to answer."

She was very young—so the taunt stung her. "I was about to say," she said, "when you began to make it impossible."

I took advantage of this to extricate myself from the awkward position in which she had put me—I took my hand from her shoulder.

"I am going to leave," she announced.

"You forgot that you are my wife," said I.

"I am not your wife," was her answer, and if she had not looked so childlike, there in the moonlight all in white, I could not have held myself in check, so intensely was I torn and so helpless of ever being able to win her did she make me feel.

"You are my wife and you will stay here with me," I reiterated, my brain on fire.

"I am my own, and I shall go where I please, and do what I please," was her contemptuous retort. "Why won't you be reasonable? Why won't you see how utterly unsuited we are? I don't ask you to be a gentleman—but just a man, and be ashamed even to wish to detain a woman against her will."

I drew up a chair so close to her that to retreat, she was forced to sit in the broad window-seat. Then I seated myself. "By all means, let us be reasonable," said I. "Now, let me explain my position. I have heard you and your friends discussing the views of marriage you've just been expressing. Their views may be right, maybe more civilized, more 'advanced' in mind and manner. They are not mine. I hold by the old standards—and you are my wife—mine. Do you understand?" All this as tranquilly as if we were discussing fair weather. "And you will live up to the obligation which the marriage service has put upon you."

She might have been a marble statue pedestalized in that window seat.

"You married me of your own free will—for you could have protested to the preacher and he would have sustained you. You tacitly put certain conditions on our marriage, I assented to them. I have respected them. I shall continue to respect them. But—when you married me, you didn't marry a dawdling dude chattering 'advanced ideas' with his head full of liberalism. You married a man. And that man is your husband."

I waited, but she made no comment—not even by gesture or movement. She simply sat, her hands interlaced in her lap, her eyes straight upon mine.

"You say let us be reasonable," I went on. "Well, let us be reasonable. There may come a time when woman can be free and independent—but that time is a long, long off. The world is organized on the basis of every woman's having a protector of every decent woman's having a husband, unless she remains in the home of some of her blood-relations. There may be women strong enough to set the world at defiance. But you are not one of them—and you know it. You have shown it to yourself again and again in the last forty-eight hours. You bringing up has kept you a child in real knowledge of the real facts of this terrible hothouse. If you tried to assert your so-called independence, you would be the easy prey of a scoundrel or scoundrels. When I, who have lived in the thick of the fight all my life, who have learned by many a surprise and defeat never to sleep except with the sword and gun in hand, and one eye open—when I have been trapped as Roebuck and Langdon have just trapped me—what chance would a woman like you have?"

She did not answer or change expression.

"What if I say reasonable or unreasonable?" I asked gently.

"Reasonable—from your standpoint," she said.

She gazed out into the moonlight up into the sky. And at the look in her face, the primeval savage in me strained to close round that slender white throat and crush and crush until it had killed in her the thought of that other man which was transforming her from marble to flesh that glowed and blood that surged. I pushed back my chair with a sudden noise; by the way she trembled, gaged how tense her nerves must be. I rose and in a fairly calm tone, said: "We understand each other."

"I have asked Alva to stop with me here for a few days," she said formally.

"Alva!" said I, much surprised. She had not asked one of her own friends; she had asked a girl she had met less than two days before, and that girl my partner's daughter.

"She was here yesterday morning. Alva explained. And I now wondered how much Alva were here in Alita's stand against her parents.

"Why don't you take her down to our place on Long Island?" said I, most carefully concealing my delight for Alva near her meant a friend of mine and an advocate and example of real womanhood near her. "Everything's ready for you there and I'm going to be there the next few days to help you out."

She reflected. "Well," she answered presently. "And she gave me a frank glance she thought I did not see—as if she were wondering whether her enemy was not hiding new and deeper guile under an apparently harmless suggestion.

"Then I'll not see you again for several days," I said, most busily. "If you want anything, there will be Monson out at the stables where he can annoy you. Or you can get me on the 'long distance.' Good-bye, Good luck."

And I nodded carelessly and friendly to her, and went away, enjoying the pleasure of having started her into visible astonishment. "There's a better game than icy hostility, you very young, young lady," said I to myself, "and that game is friendly indifference."

Alva would be with her. So she was accounted for the present and my mind went free for "business."

At that time the two most powerful men in finance were Galloway and Roebuck. In Spain I once saw a fight between a bull and a tiger—or,

"Yes," she answered. "As before. I ignored this. "Think it over, Anita," I urged—she seemed to me so like a sweet, spoiled child again. I longed to go straight at her about that other man. I stood for a moment in silence. Langdon's name on my lips, but I could not bring myself to vent it away in my own rooms.

I thrust thoughts of her from my mind. I spent the night gawing upon the ropes with Mowbray Langdon and Roebuck had bound me, hand and foot. I now say they were repes of steel—and it had long been broad day before I found that weak stand which is in every rope of human make.

THE WEEK STRAND.

No sane creature, not even a sage bulldog, will fight simply from loss of appetite. When I was a boy, I used to be sure he had excited either fear or fury, or both. As far as I could see, it was absurd that crudity was inciting Langdon and Roebuck against me. I hadn't enough to,

she said.

She reflected. "Well," she answered presently. "And she gave me a frank glance she thought I did not see—as if she were wondering whether her enemy was not hiding new and deeper guile under an apparently harmless suggestion.

In Spain I once saw a fight between a bull and a tiger—or,

"Yes, we must," I admitted. "For instance, we must keep cool, especially when two or three dozen people are watching us. Also, you must attend to your usual routine."

"What are you going to do?" he cried. "For God's sake, Matt, don't keep me in suspense!"

"I'm going to do it," I commanded. And I quieted down and went. I hadn't been schooling him in the fire-drill for fifteen years in vain.

I went up the street and into the great banking and brokerage house of Galloway and Company. I made my way through the small army of guards, behind which the old beast of prey was intrenched, and into his private den. There he sat, at a small, plain table, in the middle of the room without any article of furniture in the matter and table and chair. On the table was a small inkstand, perfectly clean, laid out evenly upon the rest attached to it. And that was all—not a letter, not a scrap of paper, not a sign of work or of intention to work. It might have been the desk of a man who did nothing; in fact, it was the desk of a man who had so much to do that his only hope of escape from being overwhelmed was to despatch and clear away each matter the instant it came to his hands. Many things could be read from the powerful form, bold upright in that stiff chair, and from the cynical, masterful old face. But to me the chief quality there revealed was that quality of qualities, decision—the greatest power a man can have, except only courage. And old James Galloway had both.

He pierced me with his blue eyes, keen as a youth's, though his face was seamed with wrinkles of infinite wisdom over years.

He extended toward me that idol-like pose. But although there was only gopos and deliberation in his manner, and not a suggestion of haste, I like every one who came into that room and that presence, to be an instant in awe.

He was in the middle of a procession behind me, a procession of men who must be seen by this master-mover that they might submit important and pressing affairs to him for decision. It was unnecessary for him to tell any one to be brief and pointed.

"I shall have to go to the wall to day," said I, taking a paper from my pocket, "unless you save me. Here is a statement of my assets and liabilities. I call to your attention my Coal holdings. I have a great interest in the coal mine whom Roebuck got round him for the new combine—it's a secret, but I assume you know all about it."

He laid the paper before him, put on his nose-glasses and looked at it.

The High School quartette sang in the opening exercises Thursday morning.

Miss Alta Powers is licensed to teach in Lake County.

Miss Cora Webber, who was a Barrington teacher last year, visited friends here over Sunday.

Former principal F. E. Smith was shown through the school building during his recent visit among friends here and expressed himself as delighted to see so fine a structure on the site of the old building in which he so long and so faithfully served the people of this district. Mr. Smith has a strong hold upon the affection of the pupils who came under his instruction or supervision and his geniality has done much to build up the fine school "spirit" that Barrington may well take pride in.

Miss Hodgkins, a teacher of Arlington Heights and Miss Abigail, a teacher of the Lafayette school of Chicago, visited Mr. Fulton's family a few hours Sunday.

Miss Louise Boehmer has sufficiently recovered from her recent illness to be again in school. Verne Hayley is also back again and working over time to make up his work in chemistry and English. Verne is determined to graduate with his class.

The Misses Letitia, Robertson, Ellis, Hawley and Burrows and Mr. Fulton attended the regular meeting of the Cook County Teacher's Association Saturday. Dr. Earle Barnes lectured on "Greatest Needs of American Children." Dr. Barnes thinks the American children are made to live a life too strenuous for their tender years and peculiar racial characteristics due to mixed ancestry. Here children are forced into the various social activities at a much earlier age than in other countries. "Quiet" says he "is the greatest need of the American children."

The boys who like to play ball were called together by the principal and assisted to an organization. Edward Buller and Roy Cullen were chosen captains of two secondary teams from which another team will be chosen which will be the regular Barrington High School team. The captains will choose their respective teams as soon as they see the boys show their quality. The purpose is to benefit the health and contribute to the pleasure of the boys and that part of the people who like to see the national game.

Robert Bennett, care-taker, has been in the clutches of the Grippe for a few days but stays pretty close to his post of duty. The clean appearance of the school grounds speaks for his diligence.

The Board of Education has instructed the committee on building and grounds to make the necessary planting of trees and shrubs.

Many pupils are planning to have flower and vegetable gardens.

School election will be held Saturday evening, April 20, at the school house, from 6:00 to 8:30 p. m. The present Board of Education has worked in perfect harmony throughout the year and have not lost an opportunity to better the conditions of the school. The president and members whose terms expire should be reelected by a large vote even if there are no opposing candidates, this would show them that their prudent management is appreciated.

ROOM THREE

The work in painting for the rest of the month is to be the study of vegetables. We hope by the end of April to have a whole vegetable garden pinned up on the wire at the top of the blackboard.

The work in the language class for the fourth grade for some time to come is to be "public speaking." Each pupil will be handed a card on which will be some special topic, and after allowing a few days for preparation, he will tell the class all he has found out about his subject. This was done last year with good results.

The B fifth grade is much interested in the American History Stories which they are reading. These stories correlate very nicely with their geography work.

Business Notices

had so seriously affected my right wing," writes Mrs. Fannie Conner, of Rural Route 1, Georgetown, Tenn., "that I coughed continuously night and day and the neighbors' prediction—consumption—seemed inevitable, until my husband brought me a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, which in my case proved to be the only and most effective and restorative of weak lungs." When all other remedies utterly fail, you may still win in the battle against lung and throat troubles with New Discovery, the real cure. Guaranteed by Barrington Pharmacy. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Early Marriage Results.

Divorces are, happily, rare in society circles. Separation by mutual consent, however, grows more frequent every year. Every one has upon his or her divorcing list husbands and wives who never met if they could. The reason, we believe, there has never been an open breach. Incompatibility of temperament is the usual cause, and the reason for that is, one imagines, the still common custom of encouraging the young or generation to marry before they have begun to approach years of discretion—London Throne.

"Do you really believe that an ass ever spoke to Baumf?" queried a man who prided himself on his superiority of French.

Coleridge, to whom the question was put, replied: "My friend, I have no doubt whatever of it. I have been spoken to in the same way myself."

Just What You Can Do

WITH

LIQUID VENEER

Remember, Liquid Veneer is not a furniture polish; neither is it a varnish, but a carefully and scientifically prepared article that acts as a food for the varnish or gloss.

REMOVES BLUSH It is the only preparation on earth that will remove tarnish and that very undesirable bluish discoloration which often appears on PIANOS and other highly polished furniture. It may be used to excellent advantage on picture frames and mouldings, for it will remove every particle of dust and smoke, take off every fly speck, and bring back all the original lustre.

It may be used on WHITE FURNITURE without the least danger of discolouring it; on the contrary it will clean and restore it to its former spotless appearance.

INK STAINS OFFICE DESKS, ESCRITOIRES and BOOK-CASES may be freed from ink stains and made to shine, if the stains have not become to deeply imbedded in the grain of the wood. HARDWOOD, FLOORING, MATTRESS, STAIRS, CHAIRS, and all INDOOR WOODWORK may be easily and quickly cleaned. It removes grease instantly. Gas fixtures and chandeliers may be made bright and shiny. It is positively the finest thing in the world for cleaning and polishing AUTOMOBILES and CARRIAGES. It will make the enamel parts of a BI-CYCLE look like new.

INVALUABLE FOR DUSTING We are sure you will be greatly surprised to learn that Liquid Veneer, for which it is simply invaluable and which should command it to every cleanly and intelligent housekeeper. We refer to the work of dusting. Everyone knows that a feather duster or a dry cloth not only scratches furniture, merely removes from article to another through the atmosphere of a room until it is finally deposited on another. Avoid this trouble by getting in the habit of doing your dusting with a cloth slightly moistened with LIQUID VENEER.

Local Happenings Told in Short Paragraphs

John Naggar returned Monday to his work as flagman. He was ill several weeks.

J. Hortsman, contractor of Palatine, was here Thursday.

J. E. Helse returned Wednesday from a trip to Canada.

Advertising is to a man's business what steam is to an engine.

Advertising is to the merchant what plowing is to the farmer.

J. B. Dickey of Bell, Palatine, Iowa, is visiting his sister, Mrs. L. H. Bennett.

Prof. and Mrs. F. E. Smith of Chicago were guests of Mrs. Emily Hawley over Sunday.

The merchant who fails to advertise injures himself more than he does any one else.

Dr. A. Welchett and family moved into their fine new modern home on Lake street Monday.

Mrs. Percy H. Banks and daughter Dorothy of Chicago visited at the Banks home Sunday.

Dr. George Lytle returned late last week from Buffalo where he has been stationed since October.

Mrs. James McKay visited her husband's relatives at Algoma for a week returning Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Vermilya of Chicago was here Sunday the guest of Mr. John Brinker, west of town.

Mr. McIow, who lives in the rear of Lamey building, was dismissed Monday by the Cook county hospital.

Life is very much like a cistern, when you get out of it depends altogether on what you put into it.

The hammer is the oldest tool known and the knocker was discovered shortly after the hammer was made.

Parishioners of St. Ann's have started to raise money by each member of the church earning one dollar or more.

Miss Harriet Tuttle of Kingston, Illinois, daughter of Rev. Tuttle formerly of Barrington, came last Friday to visit the Dohpneyer and Kingsley families.

Vaughn's seeds have the reputation of being the best seeds on the market. H. D. A. Grebe has them on sale and discounts Chicago prices. Call and ask his prices.

"All quiet along the Potomac?" Only one last gun to be fired—the printed article delivered around town this week was not the article refused by the REVIEW.

In last week's issue we by a regrettable mistake omitted a line from the poem written by M. A. P. in memory of Henry Rohrbach, which confused the rhyme somewhat.

Postmaster Brockway says that the school children can't expect at noon to all pass through the post office door at once. A broken door window was the result this week of crowding and pushing.

Alexander Boehmer of Wheeling, Ill., spent the week end with his aunt, Mrs. John Schwemmer. Mr. Boehmer will be graduated from the Armour School of Technology in Chicago in June.

Alto the following real estate deal was transacted several months ago. Its record was just published in Chicago papers this Tuesday: Assessors' division clerk's result, for lot 106, 1424-5, and other property, April 1—F. Bergman to Charles Jahnke, $5,000.

A mail-order house flooded this town Monday with a wall paper catalogue. Probably such samples were thrown broadcast at this particular time in defiance. Remember our local merchants sell papers of that quality as cheap as offered by this house and no wall paper with a brown back is lasting in color or texture.

Wednesday evening at 8:30 the Barrington band was playing loudly and lively in Soil's hall, a powerful talking machine was holding forth in D. F. Lamey's store, classical piano music was heard in Prof. Mrs. School's School of Music and a mechanical piano sounded from another business house. Truly we have a musical business district.

"Watch out" for something fine on the evening of April 30th, at Old Fellow's hall. The efficient services of Mrs. Mae Lane Spurrer is a sufficient guarantee that the G. A. H. Post entertainment will be post-gorgeous.

And furthermore, when it is known that the Ladies' Cadet Band will "play its part" on that delightful occasion, everybody will want to see, hear and enjoy this excellent program. Further notice next week.

Reptiles rarely die in the daylight—usually between nightfall and midnight. Many of them have an instinctive prescience of death and seek particular places to await the end, while those others have spent underground some time in the surface before death. Snakes, chameleons, crocodiles and turtles plainly show in their faces the approach of death—fall mall. Gecko.

A SOCIAL LEADER OF KANSAS CITY

Attributes Her Excellent Health to Pur-na.

MRS. W. H. SIMMONS.

St. Kansas City, Mo., member of the National Annuity Association.

writes:

"My health was excellent until about a year ago, when I had a complete collapse from overdoing socially, not getting the proper rest, and too many late suppers. My stomach was in a dreadful condition, and my nerves all unstrung.

"I was advised by a friend to try Pur-na, and eventually I bought a bottle. I took it for three months, and kept it for another, and I feel myself more and more able to assume my social position. I certainly feel that Pur-na is deserving of praise."

There are many reasons why society women fall down; why they nervous systems fail, why they have systemic or pelvic catarrh. Indeed, they are especially liable to these ailments. Never doubt the protection of Pur-na. It is their shield and safeguard.

Mains Woman Has Pet Deer.

Mrs. Nellie Smith, of Sebec, Me., has a tame deer which is nearly two years old now, but which she has raised like a cosset lamb, feeding it from a bottle at first and making a great pet of it. It was given to her by a lumberman, who owned it in the deer woods, and thought it was a cat, except for its legs. It has always been perfectly tame and domesticated, never having known anything of the wild life of its kind, but runs about the premises unrestrained, having its place in the stable on cold nights. The deer are numerous around Sebec, and it is a question whether, as Mrs. Smith's pet grows older, it will not answer to the "call of the wild" and join its kind in the forest.

Encourage Saving.

The wise father and mother will never discourage the fancies of their children for accumulating things. It is a natural instinct, inborn in the most of people, and given to the little ones to care for. Older heads might be turned to good account. If the child begins to collect "pretty" pebbles or shells at the seashore don't throw them out—but let them form the basis of a little geological collection, and with proper guidance the youngster will soon be looking upon "sticks and stones" with an interested and educated eye.

Distinguished Doctor Dead.

Minneapolis, Minn.—After devoting his life to the study of medicine and himself being afflicted with a great number of maladies, Dr. Elton B. Crowell died at his home in this city of Bright's disease and heart failure, and by his special request his body is the subject of a postmortem examination by the University of Minnesota medical school in the interests of science.

A DARING ROBBERY

MASKED MAN HOLDS UP EXPRESS CLERK IN ST. PAUL.

GETS AWAY WITH $25,000

Forces Employee to Take Package Money From Safe at Point of Revolver and Then Escapes.

St. Paul, Minn.—One of the boldest and most successful robberies which has been perpetrated in this city for many years occurred Tuesday night when a masked man, identified as one of the Northern Express company, was held up at the point of a pistol, compelled to open the safe and take therefrom a package containing $25,000 in currency, with which the robber made his escape.

About half past ten, a young man who is believed to have been a pal of the robber called at the express office and by some pretext managed to get one of the clerks out of the office for a short time. Fred Zimmerman, the other clerk, soon afterwards found himself confronted by a masked robber who pointed a pistol at his head.

"Hands up, or I'll blow a hole in you," commanded the bandit, and Zimmerman quickly complied. The robber then searched the clerk and took from him a revolver which he had in one of his pockets. He then commanded Zimmerman to open the safe. The clerk was badly frightened and obeyed the order without hesitation.

Zimmerman says he believes that he can identify the robber who secured the money, but as yet neither of the bandits have been arrested.

WORLD-WIDE PEACE.

Arbitration Congress Holds Sessions in New York.

New York.—That intelligence, knowledge, culture are the things which the universities can contribute to the cause of universal peace, was the consensus of opinion of the college presidents who spoke Tuesday night at Carnegie hall at the university meeting of the peace congress. A half dozen college presidents, including representatives of the universities of Oxford and Cambridge, were present to contribute to the interest of the movement, and showed them what they could and should do to advance the cause of universal peace and the emancipation of Christendom from the curse of war.

While the Carnegie hall meeting was in progress, another largely attended peace meeting was held in Cooper union. This gathering was representative of organized labor. James Duncan, first vice president of the American Federation of Labor, who had been invited, was unable to be present, and Joseph R. Lusk, who introduced the speakers, who included Terence V. Powderly. The meeting, which had for its general topic, "Organized Labor in Relation to the Peace Movement," was an enthusiastic one.

WILL ATTACK PRIMARY LAW.

Former United States Senator to Test Its Constitutionality.

Lincoln, Neb.—Former United States Senator William V. Allen said Tuesday that he would attack the constitutionality of the new direct primary law in the courts. Senator Allen is one of the fusion leaders of the state who has opposed the primary law from the outset. Either an injunction suit or a quo warrant proceeding will be filed. Senator Allen said:

"There are several unconstitutional features, the chief one of which is that the law requires a voter to disclose his party identity. This infringes the Australian ballot principle of secrecy in voting and is to that extent a restriction of suffrage, which the constitution forbids."

South Dakota Elections.

Sioux City, Ia.—Municipal elections were held throughout South Dakota Tuesday, the prevailing issue being liquor license. Returns indicate little change in the present standing of the prohibition and saloon forces. In Sioux Falls the principal issue was on the granting of a 30-year franchise for the construction and operation of a street railway system, which was ratified by a vote of 5 to 1. License carried by a large majority.

James H. Eckels Buried.

Chicago—Hundreds of prominent Chicagoans attended the funeral of James H. Eckels, held at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Fourth Presbyterian church, Superior and State. The eulogy was delivered by Rev. William H. Brewster, who said that Eckels, while crowds assembled at the church anxious to honor the memory of the compiler of the currency, who, in addition to being prominent in the financial world, was noted for his philanthropy.

THOUGHT HIM A LUNATIC.

Man's Quer Jumble of Words War-ranted the Inference.

Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale recently told this story to New Haven. A hard drinker was told by his doctor that he could be cured if every time he felt that he must have a drink he would immediately take something to eat instead.

The man followed the advice and was cured, but the habit of asking for food had become so fixed with him that once he was nearly locked up in a room. He was staying at a hotel and, hearing a commotion in the room next to his, he peeped through the transom to see what the matter was. He saw, and rushed madly down to the office and shouted to the clerk: "The man in 153 has shot himself! Ham and egg sandwich, please!"—Lippincott's.

SPLENDID APRIL TONIC.

Easily Prepared at Home and Harm-less to Use.

This is known as "Blood-Cleaning Time," especially among the older folks, who always do something during this month to clean the blood of impurities and build it up.

The following is the recipe as given by a well-known authority, and anyone can prepare it at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Karszon one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla three ounces.

Get these simple ingredients from any good pharmacy and mix by shaking well in a bottle. The dose is one teaspoonful after meals and at bed-time.

Everybody should take something to the blood, which becomes impure and almost sour after the winter season, especially those who are subject to Rheumatism, Catarrh, Kidney and Bladder trouble.

It is said that this week's use of this mixture will clear the skin of sores, pimples or boils.

This is sound, healthy advice, which will be appreciated by many readers.

HAD NERVE, BUT NO MONEY.

Unlucky Man's Modest Request for Pecuniary Assistance.

Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, while in New Orleans a few months ago, took the opportunity of going to the races. During the afternoon he cashed several tickets, the result of good guesses. He was feeling happy after the last race, and started for the automatic telephones to call a taxi to his hotel. As he was about to climb into the machine he felt a hand on his arm, and a man shouted in his ear:

"Hello, Hitchcock, how are you? Hear you put a crimp in the bookies to day?"

Hitchcock blushed and shook hands sheepishly, not recognizing the man, and not wishing to show it.

"Say, I want to speak to you confidentially," said the stranger.

"All right, what is it?" asked the comedian.

"Well, I am up against some hard luck to day. They cleaned me and I want to get home. Now, don't let any one of these people see you, but slip me enough for car fare, will you?"

"Sure," said Hitchcock, placing his hand in his pocket. Then he paused and queried, "Where are you?"

"I am a waiter," was the answer.

Hitchcock took a flying leap for his machine, and unless the visitors at New Orleans are more gullible, the impudent one is still looking for car fare—Harper's Weekly.

ROMANTIC DEVONSHIRE.

The Land Made Famous by Philippot's Novels.

Philpot has made us familiar with romantic Devonshire, in his fascinating novels, "The River," "The Land of the Minions," "The Characters are Romantists," the people there drink coffee, with the same result as elsewhere. A writer at Rock House, Orchard Hill, Bideford, North Devon, states:

"For 30 years I drank coffee for breakfast and dinner but some 5 years ago I found that it was producing indigestion and heart-burn, and was making me restless at night. These symptoms were followed by brain fag and a sluggish mental condition."

"Well, when I realized this, I made up my mind to give up drinking coffee, and having read of Postum, I concluded to try it. I had it carefully made, according to directions, and found to my agreeable surprise at the end of a week, that I no longer suffered from either indigestion, heart-burn, or brain fag, and that I could drink it at night and secure restful and refreshing sleep."

"Since that time we have entirely discontinued the use of the old kind of coffee, growing fonder and fonder of Postum as time goes on. My digestive organs certainly do their work much better now than before, a result due to Postum Food Coffee, I am satisfied."

"As a table beverage we find for all the members of my family use it that when properly made it is most refreshing and agreeable, of delicious flavor and aroma. Vigilance is however, necessary to see that, for unless the seeds are well selected, it is likely to become rancid, and to lose its flavor. It must have in order to extract the goodness from the cereal." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pggs. "There's a reason."

PERFECT CONSTRUCTION, CHEAP in PRICE and COST of OPERATING

When you see the HOLSMAN machine it will make you its friend at once for these reasons:

1. Solid tires, admitting of no punctures.
2. Air cooled. No water to contend with, or broken jackets which occur in ordinary steamers.
3. No live axles.
4. No transmission gears.
5. No drive gears.
6. No speed gears, in fact, not any gears to contend with. No clutches, the machine riding as easy as the best made carriage and is controlled by two simple hand levers. It is started, guided, stopped, speeded, reversed and fully controlled by these two simple levers.

Should you have a breakdown, repairs are quickly secured. However, the chances of a breakdown are slim in a Holman.

Our People Enjoy a Dance.

The young men of the new Ball Hall club who managed the dance in Barrington hall Saturday evening succeeded in giving the dancing public a social affair that was an entertaining pastime without the slightest friction.

Every person there was delighted with the evening and the hall was filled so completely that lack of dancing space was the only mar on the occasion.

An orderly, mannerly dance is ever a pleasure to those who have experienced its delights.

People from Elgin, Dundee and Cary were here and such a number from the vicinity that the club cleared about $20.00 and this sum added to $100.00 raised by subscription gives a working fund that is encouraging.

Parties will be given regularly and the next one occurs Saturday, evening, April 27th, when Harden's orchestra will again be present and another good time is promised. Young people who failed to attend the first dance for various reasons are planning to be present April 27th.

all the time," remarked a leading citizen at the postoffice the other day.

"Pardon me, my dear sir, but I don't quite believe you are," quietly volunteered a stranger.

"What do you know about it?" asked the citizen, a little offended.

"Just this," replied the stranger. "I saw you a moment ago, while both of us were using the desk shelf along the wall, address a letter to a big mail order house in Chicago which I happen to know about. I couldn't help but see the address as the letter lay there before me. Now, begging your pardon for the question, didn't you order some goods from that house?"

"I did. And what of it?"

"Then, my dear sir, you are giving aid and sustenance to the one trust which is harming you and your community more than all the rest of the trusts put together. I refer to the mail order trust. Are you not aware of the fact that the mail order houses, being big and rich and powerful, are killing off competition everywhere in the country districts? The Standard Oil company does not affect your community to any great extent perhaps, but this mail order trust comes directly into your midst, manages to undersell your local merchants in some things, though the trust makes it up to you in other things, and you and your neighbors mail your money to this competition killing trust and thereby show it but surely strangle the life out of your home enterprises. Did that ever occur to you?"

"Well, I can't say that it ever did, not just in that light," replied the citizen.

"No, but think it over. The big cities are constantly getting bigger at the expense of the smaller cities and the country. That is because they are getting the trade of the country—the individual trade, not alone that of the country merchants. You neglect your home merchants. He goes out of business, moves to the city, and there comes a billed man for one of these trusts."

"Well, what can we do about it? If the mail order business is a trust, it seems to be a legitimate one. There is no law against it."

"You are quite right. But there are things you can do. For instance, you can set to work and organize in your town a home trade league, the members to pledge themselves, so far as possible, to encourage home trade by trading at home. I live in a small town now, and I do just that. Why don't you do it?"

The citizen remarked that he'd think it over. A great many others might think the matter over without any injury to local interests.

A Pugnacious Bard.

An earthquake which occurred in England on Feb. 8, 1750, frightened to death Aaron Hill, the poet and visionary projector. Of Hill's voluminous writings only an epigram or two are now remembered, but these pass for old and hard, when so terrific. Pope said that the spiteful little satirist would only walk abroad with loaded pistols and accompanied by his big Danish dog Boncuse. Aaron Hill is one of the many terrible worthies connected with the city of Westminster. He was educated at Westminster school, lived in "Petty France" and, after squandering his fortune in schemes for extracting oil from beechhorns and planting vineyards in Essex, was buried in the cloisters of Westminster abbey.

A curious feature of the heart is that organ has no nerves of sensation, and consequently a pain in the heart is an utter impossibility.
