COMMITTEES APPOINTED

President Spinner Announces

Standing Committees and

Makes Other Appointments

The village board met in adjourned session Monday evening with President Spinner presiding and all members present. After the reading and approval of the minutes of the previous meeting President Spinner announced the following standing committees:

Streets and Sidewalks—Lageschulte, Donles, Dockery, Judiciary and Accounts—Hager, Peters, Plagge, Buildings and Police—Donles, Hager, Peters, Finance—Plagge, Dockery, Donles, License—Peters, Lageschulte, Dockery, Ordinances—Lageschulte, Plagge, Peters, Drainage—Plagge, Lageschulte, Hager, Fire and Water—Dockery, Hager, Donles.

The President then made the following appointments which were confirmed by the board:

Marshal—John Donles, Night Watchman—J. M. Topping, Treasurer and Collector—George E. Jencks.

Health Commissioner—Dr. W. A. Shearer.

Mr. Spinner said that the appointment of an attorney and superintendent of water would be made at a later meeting.

The H. D. A. Grebe Hardware and Harness Mfg. Co. presented a bill for $108.33, covering a period of nearly two years, which on motion was referred to the committee on Fire and Water for investigation and report at next meeting.

Village attorney M. C. McIntosh presented the following communication which was read and ordered placed on file.

"I herewith present certain matters which I would recommend receive the attention of your Honorable Board.

FIRST. That a committee be appointed to investigate the quality of gas furnished within this corporation by any company whatsoever, for heating, lighting and power purposes. That if it is found the standard of British Thermal Units furnished this village, is too small compared with the price charged, that necessary steps be taken to regulate the price and quality of gas furnished."

SECOND. That a committee be appointed of members of this Honorable Board for the purposes of attending to complaints, and reporting on local transportation by railroad companies, and the proper care of railroad properties within the Village corporation, and that their action shall be the only authoritative action of this Village.

THIRD. That the attention of a proper committee be required and a report be made at the next meeting of this board, on the condition of private sewers connecting with existing public drains without the intervention of required traps and cesspools. Your attorney is advised that many flagrant violations exist and are known to the street commissioner.

FOURTH. That the committee on streets and alleys require all electric light, telephone and other poles hereafter erected, as original installation or to replace existing poles, be placed as the curb line in streets where a curb line has been established and where no curb line has been established, that said poles be placed six feet from the center of said street.

FIFTH. That a regular grade and width for the road bed of all streets in said Village of Barrington be established, and that a proper form of gutter between the road bed and curb be established by ordinance, for all streets hereafter improved or repaired by macadam or other permanent road surface.

SIXTH. Our representatives in the General Assembly should be instructed to introduce a bill in the Legislature for the purpose of enabling villages lying in more than one county to have all special assessment proceedings in either of the counties affected thereby and the roll certified to such other counties as might be necessary without separate court proceedings in each county.

The undersigned took up various matters with the Chicago & North Western Railroad company in the past year and received assurance that the Railroad company would make certain improvements at their own expense. Since which time I have been informed that certain local parties requested that the Railroad company do not make the alterations and improvements for the reason that the said local parties prefer to make the improvements at private expense, and that certain of the proposed improvements would take patrons away from the vicinity of their places of business. Hence the suggestion that the Village Board take charge of such improvements and supervision of the same.

M. C. McINTOSH, Village Attorney."

An ordinance was presented amending the present draw shop ordinance which would permit saloons to remain open until 11 o'clock each evening except Sunday and 12 o'clock on Saturday night. It also gave the saloon keeper the privilege of taking out an extra license any other weekday a gift until 12 o'clock of the payment of $1.50 to the village clerk. Trustee Plagge moved to table the ordinance. His motion prevailed by the following vote: Ayres, Donles, Hager, Lageschulte, Plagge, Naps, Dockery, Peters. Trustee Dockery then moved that the saloons be allowed to remain in many ways. A board of trade can do it. A commercial club or business men's club can do it. You can do it individually.

If you don't believe in this town, why do you live here? If you do believe in it, why don't you boom it? Every new family means money in your pocket if you are in business here or own property here. If you make your living by working here, every increase of population tends to increase your wages, every new industry brought to town tends to enlarge your opportunities for making a good living.

Batteries in a battle boom together. If only one gun booms now and then it helps some, but when they all boom together something big is going to happen right off. It's just the same with town boozing. When we all boom together, the things we desire to have happen will begin happening.

Now, suppose you who read this suggest through the columns of this paper some method of massing our boom batteries and making a noise that will bring people running into this town to go into business, start a factory, develop some of our natural resources.

friends wish them all the blessings that a long, happy and prosperous wedlock can bestow upon them.

Green and daughter Jeanie, Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Carrie Pratt of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday at her home here, and was hostess to a party of about fifteen friends Saturday evening. Music interspersed with light refreshments constituted the evening's program. Those attending from a distance were Messrs. Bairstow, of Waukegan, Littlejohn, of Barrington and Kuhlman, of Cuba. A very pleasant affair is the universal verdict.

Father Wouffe of the Catholic church here is assisting in a plan to arouse an interest in the old Catholic cemetery northeast of town at Murray settlement. Through neglect and the elements, the cemetery has become deserted looking; graves have sunk and monuments fallen. Those interested in the work will try to locate relatives and descendants of people buried in this cemetery and are asked to aid in shoring the expense. About $150 has been raised so far.

PALATINE LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Knigge is recovering slowly from the la grippe.

Rev. A. C. Ands of Chicago called on friends here Monday.

G. A. Kuebler returned last week from a visit at Louisville.

Plinn Arps was home a few days last week doctoring a burn arm.

Misses Hurst and Winnie Sawyer are considering attending the Jamestown Exposition this summer.

G. H. Arps attended the laying of the corner stone of the Odd Fellow temple at Woodstock Monday.

The Palatine High school alumni will hold their annual banquet and reception, Friday evening, June 21st.

The L. Y. C. will give their annual May dance Saturday night, May 18th in the M. W. A. hall. All are cordially invited.

Otto Schraeder visited Dr. Oims at Maywood, Sunday. The doctor has bought a house there and is building up a nice practice.

H. C. Paddock has decided to move with his family to Arlington Heights. We are very sorry to have them leave us. Stuart will still make Palatine his home.

The world's champion pacing mare, the Broncho, 2300, has gone lame but is recovering nicely so and the chances of her being able to appear in public this year are slim.

Misses Margaret Godknecht, Hattie Kuebler, Lillie Thiles, Elmira Arps and Pauline Clausius attended the dance at Barrington Saturday night. They were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Arps.

All wishing gas this season must make application at once while the pipe gang is here, as the company will not promise to put it in this season unless done while the men are here.

G. H. Arps, Solicitor.

Palatine loses three of her teachers next year. Miss Hurst goes to Wilmette, Miss Grimes goes to Connecticut and Miss McBride has not fully decided where she will go. They are all good teachers and the school board will have hard work to secure as efficient instructors.

Palatine ball team is superior to any team sent out thus far by the Association and as soon as the hoodoo leaves, we can expect to see the home boys playing, winning ball every Sunday. The new rules shut out rowdiness and the games this year are a marked improvement over last year.

The W. R. C. and others will go to Cady cemetery Sunday afternoon, May 26th at 2 o'clock p. m. to decorate the soldiers' graves. The two schools will have charge of the program and Rev. Young will speak. Any one wishing to go with them will notify Mrs. G. H. Arps. The rigs leave the church at 1 o'clock.

The ball game between Chicago Whiting and Palatine was a good game. It took eleven innings for the game to be settled. In the eleventh the Chicago team ran up to 100 and Palatine got 7. It showed good work on both sides. This week they will play the Davis Chocolate team with whom they played last year.

Memorial Day will be observed Thursday, May 30th. J. J. Barbour, assistant state attorney, has been secured to give the oration. All the children in the township are cordially invited.

WILL SPINKLE STREETS

That Barrington Will Have a Sprinkling Wagon this Year is Certain.

One great improvement is now assured to our village and that is a sprinkling wagon which will be in operation by June first it is expected.

Edward Magee has canvassed the business district this week and has received such substantial subscriptions from practically all the merchants that he will at once prepare to establish an up-to-date cart. That the business district will have its dust laid is settled, and the same service will be given to the residence district. If people enter into the idea and give Mr. Magee the support he needs in undertaking this beneficial work. The average charge is two dollars per month in the business district and one dollar for each residence, but a rate of seventy-five cents for the residence districts may be made if there are a sufficient number of subscribers.

Of course objections will be raised, and some may think they cannot afford this, but about four or five dollars will cover the cost of each family for having the dying, germ laden dust laid for six months, and the money is nothing compared with the comfort and cleanliness.

Some who sprinkle the street in front of their immediate homes with a garden hose will think that enough, but wetting down the street twice a day for an hour, does not keep the dust down in front of your neighbors house, nor your own for that matter.

The cart would be moving all day in regular routes and no street would be neglected if the people living there desired the service and would pay for it.

Give your help to the "water-wagon."

Both Good Plays.

As promised, the Y. M. C. A. entertainment Tuesday evening was well presented and as expected a large audience gathered in Old Fellows' hall to witness the two farces "Out in the Streets" and "My Lord in Livery." In general the lines were very well given and rather surprising talent shown by several in giving their character work.

Mrs. Spunner has great discernment in the part she assigns to individuals and frequently the naturalness of the young person's acting, is due to the fact that the part was specially adapted to the general make-up of that particular one.

If the same little plays could be given under a little better stage arrangement, the audience might have grasped more clearly the situations in the farces, but all feel that a very good stage and exits had been constructed for the hall space. It is difficult to have all run perfectly smoothly when there are handpicks, so that it was again shown how much Barrington needs a large hall with a proper stage.

The first play contained a good moral lesson with enough humor interspersed to keep the action from lagging, while the second one was all humor and amusement.

Colorado Schools and Children.

Harrower Farm, Honey Lake. Dear Editor:

Since returning home from Akron, Colorado, I have been asked, "What about the children of Colorado?" "Do you see any difference in the school room?" My answer is, "Children are very much the same everywhere. There are several words commonly used among the children that may seem a little strange to us, as spuds, trail, draws, bucking, etc.

If a little child here is asked to draw a picture of a house he always adds a tree. There he never does because he probably has no trees around his house and of course there are none around the school house.

Every morning our drinking water was brought to school in a tin bucket, by one of the pupils, as there was no well near by.

Enclosed you will find a letter from a little girl who was seven years old February fourteenth and who has had just twelve months of country school training. It seems to me that for composition, spelling, punctuation and writing it compares very favorably with children that I have taught in Cook County, Illinois.

LILLIAN M. HARROWER. (The child's letter will be published next week.)

BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS.

Why have so many earthquakes? Their only charm is novelty, and that is wearing off.

But the real American dementia and brain storm center will be found on the ball ground.

The government printing bill has been cut $2,000,000 the past year. That helps some in Panama.

Paris waiters may want to wear moustaches to hide their smiles when foreign diners try to talk French.

English courts are enforcing that anti-tipping law. What a change for the tourists in "dear Old London."

Critic says Canadians are brassy, but he may have been introduced to a few who were putting on a lot of alibi.

The Philadelphia man charged with having 150 wires scattered throughout the country probably does not believe in family reunions.

King Edward keeps up his reputation as a lover of travel, but he can't have the fun he did when the throne was far away in the uncertain future.

There are hopeful signs that most of the members of the drama realize that their usefulness depends on keeping their temper. It's hard, but necessary.

Ambassador Bryce smokes a well-seasoned pipe while he is at work. There is no other way by which the strict literary atmosphere can be creased, maybe.

The New York legislator who would enact a law requiring all automobiles to have fenders might have gone a little further and asked that no one but a surgeon be allowed to drive a motor car.

W. T. Stead says he can't understand why a man should stand up for the purpose of letting a lady have a seat in a street car. He needn't worry. It isn't likely that he will ever have a seat to offer.

There's scarcely anything which can fairly be called news in the announcement that the defeated president of Honduras will plot a new war, from his place of refuge in Mexico. That's what an ex-president is for, in Central America.

Col. Henry Watterson's latest message home is an expression of his opinion that if the people of the United States could be induced to take a look around, they would go back home mighty well pleased with themselves and their own government.

A New York minister apologized to his congregation from his pulpit the other Sunday for having written a "sacred" note. He said he never would repeat the offense and would do his best to suppress this production. Now if the novel writing latty will go and do likewise much will be forthcoming. Their sins are many.

Not many Americans pass these spring evenings in reading the philosophy of Immanuel Kant. Whether or not it is true, their ways of thinking are permanently affected by this little man who died in Königsberg a hundred years ago. His ashes are to be transferred to the cathedral, to a tomb beside those of Prussian kings and a splendid monument is to be erected to him.

At Pemex, Mexico, a suburb of Mexico City, may be seen what is perhaps the smallest church in the world. It nestles under the shadow of a small volcano. The church is about ten feet high and 12 feet wide. Modern Mexico says: "Whenever a couple is married in this little altar of the church there is a little altar for the groom and bride to turn around at the same time."

It was not the heavens, but the ceiling of the assembly hall, which fell in Russia the other day, a few hours before the Duma had assembled. The accident was caused by a ventilation system which had been ventilating apparatus. The Duma itself is a good ventilating-machine for the Russian unrest. Let us hope, says Your Companion, that it may be heavy enough only to break down Russian oppression.

Mother and other human persons will agree with the remarks of a lecturer in the Harvard Medical School, who said the other day, in speaking of the persons who had asked him whether it is worth while to save the lives of diseased babies. "I reply that no baby ought to die. It is the brain which, after all, does the work, better than the heart, in the physical development. We cannot judge beforehand at birth what the individual may become later."

The earthquake season seems to have been fully established. The shocks which worked devastation in Mexico were followed by others felt across the water, and even the castles in Spain were badly wrenches, though there is no report of actual destruction.

There is a strong suspicion that it will be a good deal easier to establish a place for a colony in Colorado for the relief of the poor from the congested districts of New York than it will to get those same poor to occupy it.

31 PERISH IN WRECK

SHRINERS' TRAIN IS DITCHED BY DEFECTIVE SWITCH.

EIGHT WOMEN ARE DEAD

More Than a Score of Persons Injured—Victims Are Horribly Scalded and Burned.

Santa Barbara, Cal.—While lining northward over the coast line of the Southern Pacific railroad Saturday afternoon, homeward bound after a week of fraternizing and gambling in Los Angeles, 146 Shriners of Lamb temple of Buffalo, and Palah temple, of Reading, with their families and friends, were hurled into the midst of death.

Their special train, running 50 miles an hour, struck a defective switch at Honda, a lonely station on the sand dunes of the coast. The switch failed to the train, smashing the coaches into flinders, killing 31 almost instantly and injuring more than a score of others.

The bodies of 21 lie in the morgues of Santa Barbara and ten more are at San Luis Obispo.

The statement that the train was making terrific speed when it struck the defective track is borne out by the fact that it covered the 61 miles of curves and crooked track between here and Honda in exactly 100 minutes.

There was no warning of the impending calamity. The special plunged upon the defective switch, and in an instant the big locomotive, baggage car, diner and Pullman were hurled together in a tangle of twisted metal. The engine shot forward on the broken track, tearing up the rails and ties and twisting the iron spans into fish hooks. The baggage car half buried itself in the sand on the right side of the locomotive.

The dining car in which were 32 persons eating their noonday meal, went into the sand bank and was torn directly off the top of the locomotive. Nearly every person in this coach was instantly killed. Scores were scalped by steam escaping from disconnected pipes in the kitchen of the diner.

The terror and tumult of the scene was indescribable. Many of those escaped instant death by the fact that they had been in the rear coaches hurled upon the wreckage. Others, pinned in the debris, were roasted alive. The wreckage caught fire from the coils of the engine, but was extinguished in a few minutes by the passengers who escaped injury.

Engineer Frank Chapman was pitched with his car 10 feet into the sand bank and was an instant quarter of a mile, seeking help, before he discovered that his arm was broken and that he was severely scalded. A man standing behind his wife in the baggage car was hurled through a huge rent in the roof and alighted in soft sand almost uninjured. The woman was forced through the floors and wreckers forced to lift tons of baggage to get her body out.

LOCKED UP IN HIS OWN JAIL.

Jailer of Newport, Ky., Caught on Crap Game.

Cincinnati—A result of anti-gambling agitation in Newport, Ky., a peculiar situation has developed in connection with numerous arrests. Saturday night Chief Licker, assisted by nearly every member of the police force, raided a crap game almost opposite police headquarters. The proprietor and about 25 well known citizens were caught, several of whom claimed to be members of the underworld, and every cell in the jail was crowded. It was long after midnight before the last of the prisoners succeeded in escaping bond and was released.

City Jailer Ben Ploeger was among those captured and he experienced the unusual sensation of being locked up in his own jail. It was found necessary to release Ploeger on bond first so that he could in turn officially release the others as fast as he was offered.

Diplomats Stirred Up.

Washington.—The proposition advanced by President Diaz that the United States and Mexico should establish a joint protectorate over a union of Central American states, has caused great commotion among the Latin-American diplomatic representatives here. It is the opinion of all of the Central Americans that they could not be brought together by the exertion of external force.

Fraud Conviction Upheld.

Washington.—James L. Bradford and William H. Wright, of Louisiana, failed in their effort to secure review by the supreme court of the findings against them on the charge of defrauding the United States in the entry of public lands in Louisiana.

New York Firemen Fight Bravely.

New York.—Sixty firemen, practically every man in seven fire companies, were overcome by smoke in fighting a fire in the Remington typewriter building at 235 Broadway. More than a score of the men were taken to hospitals, where 16 of them remain. The loss amounts to not more than $10,000.

Heavy Loss by Fire.

Marion, Ill.—The village of Gorville, south of here, was swept by fire, entailing a loss of $75,000. Sixteen buildings were destroyed.

WHEAT PASSES $1 MARK

A WILD DAY ON THE CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

General Belief of Crop Shortage Given as Cause of the Raise.

Chicago.—Wheat hit the dollar mark Monday with apparently the board of trade "brain-storm."

The even figure was reached by both September and December lines, with the trade remaining wider and wider. Prices buying orders swelled the demand and in New York the price went beyond $1.02.

September opened at 95c to 99c. Soon it sold at $1, and while the bulls were throwing up their headgear the price toppled to 99c and 98c. A return in the price before the closing was predicted, also for the next time it would keep its balance.

The Mayor at 'The Round Up.'

Major Fred A. Busse, the hope and joy of Chicago just now, was guest of honor at the biggest theater party ever organized in America, the Young Men's Basse club, of Chicago, giving him the party in McVicker's theater, recently. After the performance of "The Round Up," Mayor Busse said, "It's the most enjoyable evening of my life. 'The Round Up' is a bully good show." The club took the entire house and filled it with the friends and admirers of the mayor. The occasion was something of a political feast and justification over the recent great victory won by Busse in the mayoralty campaign. There was great enthusiasm and excitement during the play. The club selected "The Round Up" because of its bigness and because it is the reigning sensation and success just now in Chicago. No such business has been done here by a play in years.

The big scene—the battle in the canyon between a band of Apache Indians and the United States cavalry—was the greatest scene shown in many seasons. It rivals the great chariot race in "Ben Hur," however, considered the scene of stage realism. Chicago people are buying seats again and again to see the play, so splendidly does it appeal to their hearts and imaginations.

Klaw & Erlanger, who are the producers of "The Round Up," think so highly of it they have booked it to open the season in their big New Amsterdam theater, in New York, the handsomest theater in the world, so they say. In New York "The Round Up" will be played at $2 prices, while Chicagoans and the people in the surrounding cities get the same play, company and production for $1. There will be a special holiday matinee in McVicker's theater, Thursday, May 30, Decoration Day. "The Round Up" is so truly American it is an ideal play for this national holiday.

Records Are Broken by Forty-fifth General Assembly.

REVIEW OF LEGISLATORS' WORK

Over Twenty Million Dollars Appropriated, Which Must Be Cut Considerably.

PASSAGE OF A LOCAL OPTION MEASURE.

Twist-off Passenger Fare Bill.

Pure Food Bill, and New Charter for Chicago.

The Forty-fifth general assembly of Illinois was remarkable not only for the immense amount of money appropriated for the support and improvement of the state institutions and departments, but also for a considerable number of laws, some of which are mentioned along the lines laid down by Governor Deacon in his biennial message to the legislature at the opening of the session last January. That most of this legislation went through during the last two weeks of the general assembly and after the published speech of Governor Deacon's intention to call a special session unless legislation along the lines laid down by the New York and Massachusetts laws. A bill calling the state bank law was also passed. This bill, which gives the power of summary suspension of banks considered in an unsafe condition, allows the depositors to withdraw at least one-half of their funds upon approval of the directors.

Unquestionably the fight between Governor Deacon and his friends in the general assembly and the so-called federal crowd had much to do with this legislation. The most important measure of importance that came before the general assembly, this cropped out repeatedly, not only in the committee rooms during hearings, but also on the floors of both houses, and in the informal utterance of members.

MASS. OF BILLS INTRODUCED.

In the history of Illinois legislature there probably never was such a mass of bills introduced as during the forty-fifth general assembly. A total of 14,000 bills were introduced, 882 in the house and 517 in the senate. Two hundred and fifty-eight bills were passed by both houses, 111 of them on the last day of the session, and there are now before Governor Deacon awaiting action 225 bills, the others having been approved or vetoed during the session.

In his biennial message the governor called attention to the practice of the lawmaking bodies of the state and asked that action on bills be had as early as possible in order to prevent the accumulation of bills.

As a matter of fact, the house committees were appointed nearly a month earlier than usual, but the great mass of bills normalized the good effect of this and the usual mad rush took place during the last few days.

Approximately the general assembly was appropriated by the general assembly for the support and improvement of the state charitable institutions, departments, departments, etc. As the bill stands, based on the income of the state, is something like $100,000,000. Governor Deacon will have the task of pruning out these appropriations to fit the income of the state.

FOUR MEASURES OF IMPORTANCE.

In the mass of legislation enacted into law, four measures stand out as of the highest importance. They are the new charter for the city of Chicago, the local option law, the two-cent fare bill, and the pure food bill.

On two of these, the Chicago charter and the local option law, bitter fight were waged, and it was only by a combination effected during the last week of the session, that the success of either was assured. One of the most powerful and influential bodies ever seen in Springfield worked night and day against the local option bill. The measure, however, was finally passed.

On the question of the saloons, or no saloons in counties, townships, cities, towns or villages, wards, precincts or combination of precincts, the bill was cut down until the bill as it finally passed provides for the submission of the saloon question only in cities, towns and villages, with a township provision enabling county townships to vote on the question.

On the two-cent fare bill, the senate, it was held for weeks by the powerful house minority by taking a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules to take up a bill out of the regular order.

CHICAGO'S NEW CHARTER.

The new charter for Chicago, gives the city practically home rule. The scope of this provision aroused much interest, and the down town members that made up the house bill was in great danger of defeat. The down town members insisted that as a compromise for granting Chicago such wide powers of home rule legislation, the representation of Cook county in the legislature should be limited to one-third of the membership of the legislature. The charter hardly secured the necessary majority in the senate, and had to vote five more to pass the bill.

The general assembly passed a 2-cent fare bill providing a straight rate of 2 cents a mile on the railroads of the state, but giving the roads the right to collect a fare of 3 cents a mile where the passenger has had an opportunity of purchasing a ticket and has not done so. The pure food law established a state food commission, which will establish standards of foods along the lines of the federal standards. The state food commission is given power of inspection and enforcement of sanitary regulations of food-producing establishments.

RIPARIAN RIGHTS FOR CHICAGO.

Of interest in connection with the passage of a Chicago charter is a passage of a series of measures turning over to the city the state's riparian rights along the shore of Lake Michigan, giving the city the right to acquire land, lease land, and in certain cases to acquire private, held land, merged lands, lease lands, and in certain cases to go ahead with the protection scheme of a great park and boulevard system stretching between Grant park on the shore near the business section of the city and Jackson park on the south, with an elevated bridge across the Chicago river connecting the two, south side park and boulevard system.

Outside of the 2-cent fare bill the general assembly passed very little legislation affecting railroads. The railroad and warehouse commission is given control over railroad crossings, the two bills most desired by Governor Deacon, the anti-pass bill and the measure giving the state control over the increase of bonded indebtedness of railroads, were not enacted upon.

INSURANCE REFORM MEASURE.

Many insurance reform measures were enacted into law. These provide for a standard policy, requiring much stricter accounting of business to the state superintendent of insurance, and in general follow the lines of reform laid down by the New York and Massachusetts laws. A bill calling the state bank law was also passed. This bill, which gives the power of summary suspension of banks considered in an unsafe condition, allows the depositors to withdraw at least one-half of their funds upon approval of the directors.

REGULATION OF AUTOMOBILES.

A state automobile bill was passed. The measure requires the registration of all automobiles with the secretary of state, and the issuance by that office of registration tags. These tags are to be furnished every county in the state. A speed limit of ten miles in the city and twenty miles in the country is fixed. The bill was strongly pressed by the automobile associations of the state, who desired state regulations as to speed instead of being forced to comply with conflicting municipal laws.

OF INTEREST TO THE WORKING CLASSES.

Of interest to the working classes are the bills enlarging the scope of the state factory inspector's department, and the enforced inspection and precautionary action looking toward the better protection of workmen from dangerous machinery, and bridge and structural iron workers. Sanitary conditions of buttermilk and ice cream factories are also provided for, the state factory inspector being given power of supervision over these establishments.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Along this line the state board of health is given supreme authority in matters of quarantine, and power of enforcement of regulations for the suppression of epidemics when local boards refuse to act.

The long work of the state commissioners of health will be continued at this session when a series of bills having for their object the codifying and simplification of the laws of practice and procedure in courts of record, these relating to warehouse receipts, negotiable instruments, notes payable in money and land titles due Torren's system were passed.

Among the bills killed were the employment bill, the public utility bill, the pure food bill, express company regulation, uniform text books, reciprocal denunciation, municipal gas and electric light for the cities of the state outside of Chicago; anti-smigarette; loan shark; prohibition of "wild-cat" insurance; civil service and primary elections bills.

THE LOCAL OPTION LAW.

ELIMINATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF THIS MOST IMPORTANT MEASURE.

The local option bill passed by the legislature was a bill which would have given the power of local option to the cities, towns and villages of the state, which shall be known as "anti-saloon territory," with restrictions that, therefore, have not entered into the regulation of the liquor traffic in the commonwealth.

For the creation of the anti-saloon district a petition signed by not less than one-fourth of the legal voters of the political subdivision in which the election to take place is required. The petition must be filed in the office of the county, town or village clerk at least sixty days before the election. A majority of votes cast on the subject in favor of the proposition "Shall this city, town or village become an anti-saloon territory," is necessary for its establishment. A bill under this provision was introduced, but became operative thirty days after the election shall be held. No signature to the petition shall be valid or counted in considering the petition unless the date of signing is less than six months preceding the date upon which it is filed. Pub-

THE DELUGE

By DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS, Author of "THE CLASSIC."

KODAK PICTURES BY THE BROWN-DEWEY COMPANY

The first news I got was that Bill Van Nest had disappeared. As soon as the Stock Exchange opened, National Coal became the feature. But, instead of "wash sales," Roebuck, Langdon, and Melville were themselves through various brokers buying the stock in large quantities to keep the price up. My next letter was as brief as my first philippic:

"Bill Van Nest, I, at the Hotel Frankfort, Newark, under the name of Thomas Lowry. He was in telegraphic communication with President Melville of the National Industrial bank, twice yesterday."

The underwriters of the National Coal company's new issues, frightened by yesterday's exposure, have compelled Mr. Roebuck, Mr. Mowbray Langdon and Mr. Melville themselves to buy. So, yesterday, these three gentlemen bought with real money, with their own money, large quantities of stocks which are worth less than half what they paid for them.

"They will continue to buy these stocks so long as the public holds aloof. They dare not let the prices slump. They hope that this storm will blow over, and that then the investing public will forgive and will return to the stocks again."

"I had added: 'But this storm won't blow over. It will become a cyclone.' I struck that out. 'No prophecy,' said I to myself. 'Your rule, iron-clad, must be—face,' always face; only face."

The gambling section of the public took my hint and flocked into the market; the burden of protecting the underwriters was doubled, and more and more of the hoarded loot was disbursed. That must have been a costly day—for, 15 minutes after the Stock Exchange closed, Roebuck sent for me.

"My compliments to him," said I to his messenger, "but I am too busy, I'll be glad to see him here, however."

"You know he dares not come to you," said the messenger, Schilling, president of the National Manufactured Food company, sometimes called the "pig company." "All he did, and it were to be said, the whole of it, was to get out of the market."

"Probably," replied I with a shrug. "That's no affair of mine. I'm not responsible for the rotten conditions which these so-called financiers have produced, and I shall not be disturbed by the crash which must come."

Schilling gave me a genuine look of mingled pity and admiration. "I suppose you know what you're about," said he, "but I think you're making a mistake."

"Thanks, Ned," said I—he had been my head clerk a few years before, and I had got him the chance with Roebuck which he had improved so well. "I'm going to have some fun. Can't let you down."

"My 'daily letters'" had now ceased to be advertisements, had become news, sought by all the newspapers of this country and of the big cities in Great Britain. I could have made a large saving by no longer paying my sixty-odd regulars for information which I was looking too far ahead to blunder into that fatal mistake. Instead, I signed a year's contract with each of my papers, they guaranteeing to print my advertisements, I guaranteeing to protect them against loss on libel suits. I organized a dummy news bureau, and through it got connected with the telephone companies. This graphically protected against the cutting of my communications with the public, I was ready for the real campaign.

It began with my "History of the National Coal company." I need not repeat that famous history sketch. I need recall only the main points. I proved that Roebuck's stock was actually worth less than two dollars a share, that the bonds were worth less than twenty-five dollars in the hundred, that both stock and bonds were illegal; my detailed recital of the crimes of Roebuck, Melville and Langdon in wrecking mining properties, in wrecking coal railways, in oppressing American miners and in subversive plots from eastern Europe; how they had swindled and lied and bribed; how they had twisted the books of the companies, how they were planning to unload the mass of almost worthless securities at high prices, that to get from under my hands and let the stock market down to a point where they could buy them in on terms that would yield them more than 250 per cent on the actual capital invested. Less and dearer coal; lower wages and more ignorant laborers; enormous profits hidden with our money into a few pockets.

On the day that this history appeared, the Telegraph companies notified me that they would transmit no copy of my letter. They feared the consequences in libel suits, explained Hough, general manager of one of the companies.

"But I guarantee to protect you," said I. "I will give you back the amount you ask."

It no reminder of his treachery. "Howdy, Blacklock," said he. "I've come on a little errand for Mrs. Langdon." Then, with that manly grin of his: "You know, I'm sorry after things like this you should be here."

"No, I didn't know," said I, curiously, suppressing my instant curiosity. "What does Mrs. Langdon want?"

"To see you—for just a few minutes—whenever it is convenient."

"If Mrs. Langdon has business with me, I'll see her," said I. "I've got a few more of the fashions this week. Had got herself into my black books by her treatment of Anita since the break with the Ellerlys."

"She wishes to come to you here this afternoon, if you are to be at home." She asked me to say that her business is important—and very private.

I hesitated, but I could think of no good excuse for refusing. "I'll be here an hour," said I. "Good day."

"She gave me no time to change my mind. "Something—perhaps it was his curious expression—had taken him off his feet, and he regretted.

The more I thought of the matter, the less I thought of my having made any civil concessions to a woman who had acted so badly toward Anita and myself. He had not been a quarter of an hour before I sent a note to Anita in her room. "Anita, I'm here. I've written the outer door of her part of our house; that powerful, infatuating fascination that the had for me became to take possession of my senses. It was in every garment she wore. It seemed to linger in any place where she had been, for a long time after she left it. She was here, I could see by the window, as writing letters."

"May I interrupt?" said Mrs. Monson. "She was here a few minutes ago from Mrs. Langdon. She wants to see me. I told him I would see her here. Then remorse that I had let my nerves, or whatever the accused cause was, had been too good-natured. What do you think?"

"Before you go any further," said I coldly, "let me set you right. My wife was at one time engaged to your husband's brother—but—"

"I thought she interrupted. "You have been misled, Mrs. Langdon," said I gently, playing her as the victim of her insane jealousy. "You have—"

"Ask your wife," she interrupted. "She is here, I'm told, at least by the window, as writing letters."

KIDNEY TROUBLE

Suffered Two Years—Relieved In Three Months.

C. B. Fizer, Mt. Sterling, Ky.

M. writes:

"I have suffered with kidney and bladder trouble for two years."

"Last March I came along using Peruna and continued for three months. I have not used it since, nor have I felt a pain."

"I believe that I am well and I therefore give my highest commendation to the curative qualities of Peruna."

—Peruna for Kidney Trouble.

Mr. Geo. H. Simer, Grant, Ontario, Can., writes:

"I had not been well for about four years. I had kidney trouble, and, in fact, felt badly nearly all the time."

"This summer I got so very bad I thought I must try Peruna, so I wrote to you and began at once to take Peruna and Manalin."

"I took only two bottles of Peruna and out of 100 I have taken I feel better than I have for years."

"I feel that Peruna and Manalin cured me and made a different woman of me altogether. I bless the day I picked up the bottle of Peruna."

"It is the business of the kidneys to remove from the blood all poisonous materials. They must be active all the time, or the system will fail. There are times when they need a little assistance."

Peruna is exactly this sort of a remedy. It has saved many people from death by removing the kidneys service at a time when they were not able to be of use to their own.

Use for Worthless Stocks.

"Wildcat mining stocks are not all worthless," says a mining man, "but either," said a downtown broker who handles cheap mining stocks, "the other day as he hung up the telephone receiver, 'Here's a man who has just offered me $50 for enough mining stock to make me a millionaire.' He wasn't particular what stocks he got if they only had a paper value of $50,000. I closed the deal and shall make money on it, too. What did he want with such a stock? Well, he doesn't know the least doubt but that he is getting ready to go into the bankruptcy court and wants to show his creditors where his money has been dropped. We often get such requests and are usually able to fill them."

An Indian's View of an Organ.

"After I had cut myself back to the sod house, I saw the first time how the white woman pumps so much air into a box that when she presses on the top board it howls constantly. I forgot my bandages so far as to let the open wound stay open, wondering much how the white man puts a pair of lungs into a box, which is furnished with a whole set of black and white teeth, and when he sits in it, it appears an answer hit. This is how the white people teach their children to do things. I thought—From the Outlook—Dr. Charles A. Eastman's "Schooldays of an Indian."

The Bright Side.

"Oh, this poverty!" wept the beautiful wife when her shiftless husband came home. "The gas and electric companies have shut off our power because you have not paid their bills."

"Well, we can use candles," consoled the husband.

"And the telephone company has disconnected our instrument because we owe them two months' rental."

"So much the better. If anyone tries to ring us up to spend the evening with us they will think we are not at home."—Judge.

CHANGE IN FOOD

Works Wonders in Health.

It is worth knowing that a change in food can cure dyspepsia. "I deem it my duty to let you know that Grape-Nuts food has cured me of indigestion."

"I had been troubled with it for years, and last year my doctor recommended Grape-Nuts to be taken every morning. I followed instructions and now I am entirely well."

"The whole family like Grape-Nuts, we use four packages a week. You may wish to use this testimonial as we use six."

The reason this lady was helped by the use of Grape-Nuts food, is that it is predicated by natural processes and therefore does not tax the stomach as the food has been manufactured to contain the elements required for building up the nervous system. If that part of the human body is in perfect working order, there can be no dyspepsia, for nervous energy represents the steam that drives the engine.

When the nervous system is run down, the machinery of the body works badly. Grape-Nuts food can be used by small children as well as adults. It is perfectly cooked and ready for instant use.
