A mail delivery service was established Thursday in each room, excepting the serious and dignified High school, with the teachers as post mistresses. St. Valentine's day is a joy to the children and the mystery about "Who sent it?" never solved. More postal cards were sent than old time cards and lace be-decked valentines, while the hideous creatures on paper once called "Conte" are now called vulgar, and little used.

They Surprised Him.

After playing cinch all the afternoon at Mrs. Kerhall's Priday, the Iadies of the card club, planned at six o'clock to meet again in the evening, take their husbands and surprise F. O. Willmarth because it was his birthday, and like all impromptu affairs, the party was great fun. Mrs. Willmarth arose to the occasion and served a function almost equal in appointments to the dinner served by Mrs. Kendall at six and provided prizes that were very nice.
