THE COUNTRY HIGHWAY

Value of Good Roads and Cost of Poor Ones. What the Farmer Loses

It is an address on the improvement of country highways at a good roads convention a speaker said.

The improvement of country roads is chiefly an economical question, relating principally to the waste of effort in hauling over bad roads, the saving in money, time and energy in hauling over good ones, the initial cost of improving roads and the difference in the cost of maintaining good and bad ones.

A good road economizes time and force in transportation between the farms and the market, reduces wear on horses, harnesses and vehicles, increases the value of real estate contiguous to the roads and brings price for farm products, because they can be marketed at less expense. Rural homes are sought after along good roads. Wagon highways are the greatest arteries of commerce. Civilization is judged by the condition of the roads. No tax is as great on the taxpayer as bad roads. A bad road is a heavy tax on those who use it, and the worse the road the heavier the tax. Bad roads cause a decay of agriculture. They impose the greatest of all burdens on the farmer. The roads cause people to gather in the cities. Bad roads wear out the horses very rapidly, thus deterring very largely from the profits of the farm.

The man with the low-the farmer-wants good roads so that he may bring his produce to market and his family and himself to the neighboring towns with less expenditure of time, wear and tear and trouble. In sections of the country where the farmer has good roads he would not look for more than their cost and go back to the old system of having to haul through the mud and over the stones. He finds that the value of his property is increased, and he can haul two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten times as much to market and that he is richer and better because of the good road which connects his property with the neighboring town.

This cost of hauling is a heavy tax on the farmer, much of which could be saved. The amount paid out could be avoided by good roads it is absolutely lost. The farmers are unable to recover it in any way. It is a part of their expense which they must deduct from the gross returns on the sale of their products, and the only way that it can be avoided is by the construction of roads that would enable farmers to haul heavier loads in less time.

Narrow and bad roads should be speedily be sent hand in hand, as it were, "blundering through the land of things that were."

A Pleasant Party.

Miss Fletcher was pleasantly surprised Friday evening by eight lady friends, the Misses Powers, Dix, Austin, Robertson, Topping and Mesdames W. Shearer, E. Frick and R. Myer. Progressive chess was one of the features of the evening, the first prize was awarded to Mrs. W. Shearer and second to Mrs. E. Frick. A midnight luncheon was served, followed by vocal and instrumental selections which were enjoyed until a "wee small hour" when the jolly party bid their hostess adieu.

Mrs. MARY POTT 43-2

Salem Church Revival Services.

The attendance of all the services held has been unusually good.

The interest manifested in the preaching of the Word by Mrs. Emma Divan has been maintained all the week.

The audiences have up to present been increased in numbers and attention.

Twelve young people have so far professed faith in Christ as their Saviour.

In the sermon on "Sowing and Reaping" one quotation given by the speaker ought to be remembered by all. It was this:

"Sow an act and reap a habit. Sow a habit and reap a character. Sow a character and reap a destiny."

The attendance of many people of our sister churches is highly appreciated.

On Wednesday evening Mrs. Divan preached from the text "Godliness is profitable unto all things, having the promise of the life that now is and of that, that is to come." "A sad mistake to think of salvation through faith in Christ as some great blessedness in some future existence only. The fact is that every burden of life is made lighter and every pure joy made sweeter thereby. It brings happiness and contentment both now and hereafter."

Having been in evangelistic work more or less for some years, Mrs. Divan's rich experience and splendid memory help to make the gospel messages both interesting and attractive. In speaking of the fact that "God is not mocked," she gave an incident of her own experiences in the northwestern part of the state where a rich but godless and profane man declared on his sickbed that he expected to die with his boots on, that "he might kick the bottom out of hell." He recovered from his sickness, went out on a hunt a short time after and in some way his gun was discharged into his body and he was found dead with his boots on. "He not deceived, God is not mocked."

The whole purpose of Mrs. Divan seems to be to show to rational, thinking being the desirableness of a godly life, based on a living faith in Jesus Christ.

The meetings will possibly be continued all of the week.

Ebel-Winkler.

A large wedding took place Wednesday afternoon, January 22nd, on the Peter Beck farm near Langenhelm, when at half past two Miss Annie Winkler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winkler, was married to Herman Ebel of Spring Lake. The guests numbered about one hundred people.

Rev. Stanger of St. Paul's church, Barrington, was the minister who performed the ceremony.

A wedding supper was served early in the evening that was plentiful and pleasing and the party remained until far into the night, enjoying social amusements.

The newly married young people will reside with Mr. Ebel, senior, on the E. Klein farm near Spring Lake. They were both raised in this vicinity and are known as a respectable and capable young couple. Those who were in the bridal party were the two bridesmaids, Miss Emma Winkler a sister, and Miss Martha Wendt of the Kendall farm, Charles Wendt, and Theodore Ebel, a brother of the groom.

Besides relatives of Mr. Ebel from Algonquin guests from away were: Mr. and Mrs. George Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hollister and Mrs. Clara of Barrington; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kelly of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Schreiber and Mrs. Schroeder of Jefferson Park; Mr. and Mrs. Eggert and two daughters of Elgin.

How Many Bricks Have You Sent Away?

That sounds like a funny question, addressed to every citizen of this town and community, but it's really a serious one.

Listen: There is now just completed a magnificent building of red brick exterior and concrete interior right in the business heart of one of the biggest of American cities. It occupies a whole block and calls itself in a large lettered sign "The Largest Monolithic Building in the World." It has many floors, with about a hundred acres of floor space. The entrances are of solid marble. The floors are beautifully tiled.

Altogether it is a credit to the big city in which it stands. Oh, it's a Jim Dandy!

Now, how many bricks have you sent to the city to go into this big building? Honest, how many?

Of the hundreds of thousands of bricks put into the walls of this building the city where it stands has contributed not a single red brick. Country people, the people of small towns and cities far away from the big metropolis, have sent in the bricks for the construction of this splendid edifice.

You may have sent in a few loads of bricks yourself without knowing it.

Listen: This magnificent structure, which ornaments a city you probably never will see yourself, is built of bricks bought with the dollars of people living in towns just like ours—towns that would like to have some new brick buildings themselves now and then. Every dollar contributed to the city building fund means a nice, hefty load of bricks for this big, beautiful skyscraper, "largest in the world" of its kind. This building was put up, through the kind donations of their unknown country cousins, by a firm that ran a small store in that city a few years ago.

But this firm conceived the cute idea of having thousands of strangers contribute bricks to build its fine, large, new store.

And the building is a Mail Order Store. See?

At the Majestic.

At the Majestic Theatre, Chicago, for the week of January 27th, Master Gabriel, the miniature but exuberantly funny comedian will appear in a dramatization of the "Buster Brown" stories under the name of "Auntie's Visit." Master Gabriel was the original "Buster Brown" of the stage and is authorized by the New York Herald, the proprietor of the title to make use of it. This concession was given to him owing to the fact that the Herald regarded his work as most artistic and creditable. He brings to life the character so long made famous by Outcalt, the noted artist, and the sketch is so well written and so delightfully played that it is considered one of the dramatic hits of recent years. Its success has been astonishing everywhere and indicates that people of all ages are attracted by the extremely funny situations evolved from the "Buster Brown" idea.

George Ali, the wonderful animal impersonator, assumes the roll of the famous "Tiger" and shares the honors of Buster himself. "The Orient" contributes two valuable features to this remarkable bill, one the Okito family of Chinese magicians, and the other the Hassan Ben Ali's wonderful performing Arabs. Two other acts are along the always popular line of trained animals, one of them Galletti's monkeys indicates how well the missing link can be trained and the other Cliff Herzer's horses presents an entire novelty in the training of handsome ponies, several of which do stunts which have never before been seen on any stage. One of these races at full speed on the top of a revolving table, a feat which no man is able to duplicate. In the way of humor the bill promises to be particularly good having not only Carlin and Otto, the Dutch comedians who are known to everybody, but Swor Brothers the burnt cork comedians and Silvers and Siegrist, the famous circus clowns. Mignonne Kofkin a dancing and singing subactress will add several authors in completing a bill which ought to be extremely entertaining.

THE HORRIBLE EXAMPLE.

EVELYN REPEATS STORY

JUSTICE DOWLING REFUSES TO EXCLUDE THE PUBLIC.

Mr. Jerome is Pitiless, and Subjects the Witness to a Severe Cross-Examination.

New York.—Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw told her story Monday for the second time. The repetition lacked the vitality of the first recital, but the great crowd in the courtroom where her husband, Harry Kendall Thaw, is on trial for the killing of Stanford White, listened intently to every word.

Justice Dowling had ruled that he found no warrant in the law for closing the doors against the public. Mrs. Thaw's story was broken into bits by constantly repeated objections from the prosecution, who sought to exclude all details on the ground of immorality. The frequent objections led Justice Dowling to request Mr. Littleton to cut his examination as short as possible.

Mr. Littleton took this course only to find that on cross-examination Mr. Jerome insisted upon reading from last year's record nearly every word the witness had then uttered. He did this under the privilege of framing new questions.

Mr. Littleton's objection to Mr. Jerome's tactics was, in effect, that the district attorney, by reading the former testimony in a disagreeable manner, was trying to discredit the witness in the eyes of the jury when he could not discredit her in any way by a direct question.

Mr. Littleton sought to disguise a tone of complete contempt in reading the testimony. Contempt also characterized most of the questions he put to the witness, whom he attacked in the loudest voice he has yet used at the trial. Mr. Jerome plunged at once into the more intimate details of the testimony and made no delicate choice of words in framing his interrogations.

Mr. Littleton's objections on the ground of "offensiveness and immorality" frequently were sustained by the court.

But one new feature appeared in the testimony of the witness. This was when she told Thaw swallowing the contents of a bottle of laudanum at Monte Carlo in 1904 in an attempt to end his life.

"MADE IN FRANCE."

Story of Battleship Plot First Came from Paris.

Paris. — "Made in France" is the label that should be put on the story that there was an anarchistic plot to destroy the American battleships at Rio. The warning to the Brazilian authorities was cabled from Paris.

Some time ago certain suspicions, indicating the existence of a plot to destroy the whole or a portion of the fleet, either at Rio Janeiro or in the straits of Macellan, were aroused here and naturally communicated to Rio and Washington. A chartered steamer was reported to have conveyed explosives for the use of the conspirators to Rio Janeiro, arriving there about the middle of December, and John Feder, whose name is mentioned in the Rio dispatches, was one of the men whose name was revealed here as implicated in the conspiracy.

The alleged plot is supposed to have some rather startling ramifications, but the evidence along this line is far from conclusive and rests chiefly upon the statement of an individual whose story was subsequently proved to be anything but credible. Consequently the whole affair is regarded with much skepticism and indeed the presumption has been raised that it may have been a deliberately concocted case.

Washington. — That the American government was cognizant of the existence of the belief of ulterior designs against Admiral Evans' battleships in the harbor of Rio Janeiro was admitted Monday in an admission of the Southern railway, west of the whole affair is regarded with much skepticism and indeed the presumption has been raised that it may have been a deliberately concocted case.

EX-BANKER GUILTY NO MERCY FOR ABE RUEF

IMMUNITY OF THE EX-BOSS OF FRISCO IS CANCELED.

District Attorney Langdon Announces He Will Be Prosecuted on Every Charge Pending.

San Francisco.—The situation in the bribery graft prosecution brought about by the recent decision of the circuit court of appeals, setting aside the indictment against ex-Mayor Eugene F. Schmitz on which he was tried and convicted, reached a climax late Saturday night, when Prosecuting Attorney Langdon announced that all question of immunity for Abraham Ruef is at an end and that on Monday he would ask Superior Judge Lawrence to set for trial one of the charges of bribery against Ruef now pending in Lawlor's court.

It was then announced that every charge against Ruef will now be pressed to a conclusion.

It is intimated that the prosecution will appeal to the supreme court from the decision of the court of appeals in the Schmitz case. In making the announcement that Ruef would be placed on trial with the prosecution, Attorney Langdon made a detailed formal contract between Ruef and the prosecution, made last May. In this contract it was provided that the state would grant Ruef almost complete immunity from prosecution in consideration of his going on the witness stand and testifying to the whole truth against each and every defendant brought to trial in the graft case.

An exception was made in the Ruef extortion case, which was then on trial and in which it was agreed that Ruef was to plead guilty, which he did in a dramatic manner, a few days after the contract was signed.

The prosecution claims that Ruef did not live up to his agreement when they L. Ford, counsel general of the United Railway, was tried and acquitted on one of the charges of bribery against him. When the court of appeals rendered the decision on the issue of the contract, which Ruef had pleaded guilty, Ruef, the prosecution charged, thought he saw his way clear to defy the prosecution.

Nerio disclosed the hiding place of the bodies when threatened with immediate hanging if he did not tell all that he knew about the murders. LYNCHED NEGRO NOT DEAD.

Mob Was Too Hasty and Intended Victim May Recover.

Dothan, Ala.—The negro, Grover Franklin, who Sunday night was taken from Sheriff Butler and his deputies and hanged to a tree, is again in the hands of the law and stands a chance for recovery. The mob was so closely followed by the officers and law-abiding citizens determined it possible to avert the lynching, that they did not have time to get their victim outside the corporate limits of Dothan, and hurriedly strung him up to the first tree and thinking they had rid themselves of the trouble.

Arrival of the officers the negro was still alive and was immediately cut down and placed in the county jail.

NO MERCY FOR ABE RUEF

IMMUNITY OF THE EX-BOSS OF FRISCO IS CANCELED.

District Attorney Langdon Announces He Will Be Prosecuted on Every Charge Pending.

San Francisco.—The situation in the bribery graft prosecution brought about by the recent decision of the circuit court of appeals, setting aside the indictment against ex-Mayor Eugene F. Schmitz on which he was tried and convicted, reached a climax late Saturday night, when Prosecuting Attorney Langdon announced that all question of immunity for Abraham Ruef is at an end and that on Monday he would ask Superior Judge Lawrence to set for trial one of the charges of bribery against Ruef now pending in Lawlor's court.

It was then announced that every charge against Ruef will now be pressed to a conclusion.

It is intimated that the prosecution will appeal to the supreme court from the decision of the court of appeals in the Schmitz case. In making the announcement that Ruef would be placed on trial with the prosecution, Attorney Langdon made a detailed formal contract between Ruef and the prosecution, made last May. In this contract it was provided that the state would grant Ruef almost complete immunity from prosecution in consideration of his going on the witness stand and testifying to the whole truth against each and every defendant brought to trial in the graft case.

An exception was made in the Ruef extortion case, which was then on trial and in which it was agreed that Ruef was to plead guilty, which he did in a dramatic manner, a few days after the contract was signed.

The prosecution claims that Ruef did not live up to his agreement when they L. Ford, counsel general of the United Railway, was tried and acquitted on one of the charges of bribery against him. When the court of appeals rendered the decision on the issue of the contract, which Ruef had pleaded guilty, Ruef, the prosecution charged, thought he saw his way clear to defy the prosecution.

Florence, Cal.—The dead bodies of three of the four Italians who disappeared from this city in the last three months has barred the police, were found Monday night at a distance of about 150 yards from the home of Antonio Nerio, alias Antonio Ilavari, who is under arrest, charged with the murder of four persons.

The corpses are those of Dominio Minichello, who was a partner of Nerio in a market gardening business; Ercola Buffetti, an employee at the garden, and Mrs. Frank Palmetto, who had been Nerio's housekeeper. Nerio disclosed the hiding place of the bodies when threatened with immediate hanging if he did not tell all that he knew about the murders. However, he declared that the murders were committed by Joseph Minichello, the missing man, and not by himself.

Headache, Dizziness, Nervousness, Pain in the Back of the Head, Floating Spots and other symptoms usually coming from a deranged system are often caused by defect in vision. Professor Moses always recognizes the difference between constitutional disorders and errors of refraction, and the old saying "An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure" is surely true in eyeglasses, as often a very slight adjustment in the beginning would have saved an eye from chronic trouble, often resulting in total blindness. Glasses properly fitted at moderate prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.

STATE PRIMARY LAW

END OF A FOUR MONTHS' FIGHT

Governor Deneen and the Administration Forces Win a Long and Very Hard Struggle.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 4.—After a fight which had continued in the legislature since Oct. 8, 1907, the Forty-fifth Assembly has passed a direct primary bill. The measure passed was known as the Jones-Oglesby bill. It was passed by the senate and sent over to the house which had killed the Shanahan bill. The administration forces led by Governor Deneen and his friends, under the direction of Insurance Commissioner F. W. Foster and on the floor of the house by representative Morton Hull, lined up for the measure. Every district in the state was canvassed thoroughly from Cairo to Waukegan. Members were rounded up and those who had not expected to be present were urged by their friends to come to Springfield. Amendments to the bill were voted down. When the bill was placed on its passage it was anticipated by its opponents that it would not receive sufficient votes, but on roll-call it had six more than the 77 votes required. When they found that the bill had passed, five members asked to be recorded in favor of it, so that final vote was 88, consisting of 31 Republicans, 34 Democrats and 2 Progressives. The bill will go to the governor for his signature this week.

Under the new measure, candidates for the following offices will be nominated by direct vote: Governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, auditor of public accounts, attorney general, supreme court clerk, members of congress, members of court of equalization, appellate court clerks, state senators, state representatives and county officers consisting of the state attorneys, circuit court clerk, county surveyor, coroners and recorders in ten counties.

The person receiving the highest number of votes at a primary, as a candidate of a party, for the nomination shall be the candidate of that party for such office and his name shall be placed on the official ballot at the election next ensuing. The following are among the provisions of the bill:

Definition of "Political Party."

A political party which at the general election next preceding the primary polled more than 2 per cent of the entire vote cast in the state is a political party within the state, can nominate candidates for all offices covered by the act. A party which polled 2 per cent of the entire vote within any congressional or senatorial district is declared a party within such district, and shall nominate candidates for congress, state board of equalization and for senatorial offices. A party which has polled 2 per cent of the entire vote in a county is a political party within said county and shall nominate all county officers in said county. A political party that polled 2 per cent vote in any city or village is a political party within said city or village and shall nominate all city or village officers. The same scheme applies to the nomination of town officers and officers of any other political subdivision.

Provision for 1908 Primaries.

The name of no candidate for offices in the scope of the bill shall be placed on the official ballot for the general election in November, 1908, unless the candidate shall have been nominated under the provisions of this act. All nominations made prior to July 1, 1908, of candidates for offices covered by the bill, and to be voted on in November 1908, are declared of no effect.

A primary shall be held Aug. 8, 1908, for the November general election. In succeeding years primaries shall be held on the second Tuesday in April for the nomination of candidates at the June judicial election; on the last Tuesday in February each year, for nominations for election held on the first Tuesday of April; on the second Tuesday in March for the nominations for the election held on the third Tuesday in April. Primaries for other offices are to be held the weeks preceding the election.

Polls shall be open from 6 a. m. to 5 p. m. Voters may absent themselves from their work for two hours in order to vote. Applications for day absence must be made before the day of primary and the employer may specify in hours.

Party Organization.

The following committees shall constitute the central or managing committees of each political party: A state central committee, a congressional committee for each congressional district, a county central committee for each county, a city central committee for each city or village and a precinct committee for each precinct. Nothing shall prevent a political party from electing other committees in accordance with practice.

The state central committee shall be composed of one member from each congressional district, to be elected at the primaries. Within thirty days after their election the state committee shall meet in Springfield and organize. At the primaries, Aug. 8, 1908, and at the April primaries every two years thereafter each primary elector may write or attach to a space left on the ballot the name of one qualified elector of his party in the precinct for member of the precinct committee. The high man wins. The county committee shall consist of the precinct committeemen in the county.

In a senatorial district of three or more counties, the senatorial committee shall be composed of one member elected from each county in the district. In districts of two counties, it shall consist of three members, one to be elected from the county polling the smaller vote. In the senatorial districts of one county, and in districts wholly within one county and partly within one and partly within another, it shall consist of three members elected from the district. The senatorial committee shall meet and organize within thirty days after its election.

The congressional committee shall consist of the county chairmen of the counties in the congressional district. In districts wholly within one county, or partly in one county and partly in another, the committee shall consist of the precinct committeemen in the district.

The city committee shall consist of the precinct committeemen within the city.

The various political party committees now in existence are recognized and continued and shall exercise all powers given by the act until their successors are elected.

Conventions Under New Law.

On the second Wednesday after the April primary, each county central committee shall meet at the county seat and elect from its own members a chairman and other officers. This meeting is the county convention. At it shall be chosen delegates to the senatorial, congressional and state conventions. Delegates to senatorial and congressional conventions shall be picked by the precinct committeemen living within the respective congressional and senatorial districts. In the county convention each delegate shall have one vote and one additional vote for each fifty or major fraction of fifty votes cast by his party in his precinct.

The date for holding the senatorial convention shall be the third Wednesday after the April primary.

Congressional conventions shall be held on the fourth Wednesday after the April primaries. The county conventions shall have power to select delegates and alternate delegates to national conventions and to recommend to the state convention the names of candidates from the congressional districts for presidential electors.

The state convention shall be held on the fifth Wednesday after the April primary. It shall have power to nominate presidential electors and candidates for university trustees, to adopt a party platform and to choose national delegates and alternates.

At least thirty-three days before the April primary the various county central committees shall meet at the respective county seats to call for the respective conventions.

At least thirty-three days prior to the April primary each senatorial committee shall meet and determine the number of candidates to be nominated by its party at the primaries for representatives in the general assembly. Within five days a certified list of the candidates shall be filed with the secretary of state and with each county clerk in the senatorial district. At the primaries each elector may cast one vote for each of as many candidates as the senatorial committee has decided shall be nominated.

Primary Election Officers.

The judges of general elections shall act as judges of primary elections. Except in cities having election boards the primary judges shall select three electors to serve as clerks, not more than two of whom shall be of the same party. In cities having election commissions the regular clerks of elections shall serve as clerks of the primary. Both judges and clerks shall take oath, shall be subject to the same penalties as judges and clerks of elections, and shall receive the same pay as judges and clerks of elections.

United States Senator.

Any candidate for United States senator may have his name printed on the primary ballot of his party by filing with the secretary of state thirty days before the primaries a petition signed by not less than 3,000 primary electors nor more than 5,000 members of his party. The vote on candidates for United States senator shall be in "for the sole purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the voters of the respective parties."

Candidates for state office must have not less than 1,000 nor more than 2,000 names on their petitions; congressional and senatorial candidates and candidates for judicial, county, city or village offices, or for clerk of the appellate court or drainage trustees must obtain at least one-half of 1 per cent of the electors in their respective political subdivisions. Candidates for state central committeemen at least 100 signatures of the voters in the congressional district. Other candidates for committeemen and other officers must have at least ten signatures from the precinct subdivisions.

No person shall vote at the primary who shall have signed the petition of a candidate of any party with which he is not affiliated, or the petition of an independent candidate, or if he shall have voted at a primary of another political party within a period of two years next preceding such primary. This does not count out voters who have voted at non-partisan elections.

Drainage shall not be opened during the holding of a primary as in the case of regular elections.

Perhaps the suggestion is unkind, but the Baltimore American, but would not the trouble be more readily disposed of by going to the root of the matter and adopting a new language—one easier to get the tongue around?

Beetings, mustard-packs, and other uncommemorable remedies for rheumatism will have to take second place in the matter of oddity, to a cure discovered in Australia. A whale, stranded on the beach at a health resort, had been shot open, and a fresh invalid plunged into the mass of blubber, remained there two hours, and found himself free from rheumatism when he crawled out. The incident seems to be vouched for, and although the prescription is more novel than enticing, probably many sufferers would like to catch a whale and try it.

MRS. DOLFREE

CHICAGO MURDER TRIAL ENDS IN VERDICT OF ACQUITTAL.

IS APPLAUDED BY CROWD

Widow of the Noted King of Gamblers Breaks Down When Jury Finds Her Not Guilty.

Chicago.—Mrs. Dora McDonald, widow of Michael McDonald, king of Chicago gamblers, was declared Tuesday afternoon not guilty of the murder of Webster Guerin, the artist who was killed in his studio in the Omaha building, February 21, 1907.

The crowd that filled the courtroom testified its approval of the jury's finding with an outburst that the court quickly checked.

Crowd Hears the Verdict.

There was a big crowd in Judge Brennan's courtroom when it was learned that the verdict had been reached. Dora McDonald heavily veiled and accompanied by her nurse, Miss Amanda Beck, was assisted into the room and sank into a seat—the same one she had occupied since the beginning of the trial—in the listless manner that has marked her demeanor from the first day.

There were many of her relatives as well as relatives of the Guerin family in court, and they all sat together on the other side of the courtroom behind the press table.

There was a brief delay while Judge Brennan took his seat on the bench, looking tired with the strain of the long trial, which has lasted nearly a month.

"Bring in the jury," said the judge brusquely, and the bailiff opened the door for the 12 men to file in. They entered the courtroom and took their seats. The bailiff walked across the room and took from the foreman the folded paper. He passed back to where Clerk Carter stood at the left of Judge Brennan and handed the paper up to him.

Unfolding it rapidly, Carter in a single breath read the verdict "not guilty" and "a free woman."

Mrs. McDonald Breaks Down.

There was a gasp. Then a smothered sob broke the intense silence. And then all semblance of order disappeared for a few minutes. The attorneys for Mrs. McDonald sprang to her side and surrounded her. She sank back utterly helpless. In the courtroom excited regard for a moment and then the repeated rappings of the gavel of half a dozen bailiffs broke her order back.

"Clear the courtroom," was Judge Brennan's order, and while Mrs. McDonald, surrounded by her lawyers, was shielded from the gaze of the morbid crowd of spectators the crowd poured slowly from the room.

Almost immediately afterward Judge Brennan left the bench and retired to his chambers, after first dismissing the jury for a few words of appreciative thanks for their long and arduous service.

RECEIVER FOR A VILLAGE.

Result of Tangled Financial Affairs of Cahokia, Ill.

Bellefonte, Ill.—Judge B. R. Burroughs, presiding in circuit court here, Saturday granted the petition of the Federal Union Security company of Indiana for an injunction to restrain George Leopold from further acting as supervisor of the village and common fields of Cahokia and from collecting rentals from the tenants of 600 acres of valuable lands of that historic settlement. Frederick B. Morrill of Bellefonte was made receiver.

The court order results from an effort to readjust the affairs of the village, which were entangled as a result of the alleged failure of Supervisor Anthony Bordeaux, who served the village from 1882 to 1892, to turn over to Camille Drexel, his successor, $29,000 collected in rentals.

This is the first time in the history of Illinois courts that a receiver has been named for a village or city. The office of supervisor of Cahokia was created in 1722 and has been continued since in the same powers.

GRAND LARCENY IS CHARGE

NEW YORK GRAND JURY INDICTS FINANCIER MORSE TWICE.

Former Magnate Due to Land from Europe Saturday—Said to Be Fixed at $200,000.

New York.—The grand jury for New York city, which has been investigating certain business transactions involving some of the banks with which Charles W. Morse, the organizer of the American Ice company and the Consolidated Street company, until recently was identified, returned five indictments Monday.

Three of these indictments had to do with liquor tax cases, while two indictments charged grand larceny.

The indictments were not made public, but in asking that a good-sized bail bond be required, District Attorney Jerome stated to the court that the two charges of grand larceny were laid against "a man now on his way over here" from Europe. Following the court proceedings, it was stated authoritatively that the man referred to by Mr. Jerome was Charles W. Morse, who sailed for Liverpool a week ago Saturday on the Cammanian but is now returning upon the advice of his counsel.

Mr. Morse is a passenger on the Conarder Ekurua due here late next Saturday. The grand jury, it is learned, has ordered, other indictments, in connection with its investigation into banking affairs.

When the jury appeared before Justice Dowling in the supreme court District Attorney Jerome said:

"Your honor, two of those papers in the indictments, the grand jury in which I would like to have bail fixed, I would suggest $200,000 on one of them and nothing on the other."

Justice Dowling looked through the indictments and replied:

"I suggest that bail be fixed at $100,000 on each of them."

This was agreeable to Mr. Jerome. Among the matters which the grand jury looked into was a transaction in which two notes for $200,000 figured.

FINANCIER ENDS TROUBLES.

Frank W. Gould Kills Self at Moline, Ill., by Shooting.

Moline, Ill.—Frank W. Gould, president of the Union Mallock Iron Company and president of the board of trustees of the Western Illinois hospital for the insane at Jackson, committed suicide in his bedroom Saturday by shooting himself in the mouth. The suicide was brought about by heavy financial difficulties. There has been nothing to do with the Union Mallock Iron works, of which he was president, nor with the Western hospital for the insane, of which he was chairman of the board of directors.

Unfortunate personal investments had fully absorbed Mr. Gould's private fortune. One of his unfortunate deals had to do with the Illinois Straw Products Company at Rock Falls, Ill., and with money of an estate invested here.

The future in this respect was not bright. The estate was not called to the fact that the law did not permit investment of estate funds in such a way. A suggestion of peculation or dishonesty is made against Mr. Gould. It is believed that his mind was temporarily affected by his misfortunes, for there seems no doubt that he could have obtained ample financial help. He was a son of Judge John M. Gould, a veteran mill owner. Mr. Gould's son-in-law is Joshua Hale, of Newburyport, Mass., reputed to be a millionaire. Mr. Gould was 55 years of age.

CARE OF THE KITCHEN.

Clean Walls Are an Essential to Sanitary Cooking.

It is not only important to know how to cook, but it is equally important to know where to cook. Cooking in a dirty kitchen can never produce good food. The idea is simply preposterous, yet kitchen walls are left for months sometimes for years without cleaning.

In the first place the kitchen wall should have a light tint that the merest flick of dirt can be seen; that the sheenest coat can be brushed away; that the tiniest water bug can be discerned. It is all fully expecting clean food in a kitchen with dirty walls.

Never put a wall coating on a kitchen wall that is mixed with hot water or that has glue in it, or sour milk in it. It is mixed with cold water. Glue walls made from horse's hoofs colored up with cheap colorings do not indicate good housekeeping. The glue is composed of animal matter, falling into the food and the idea of food flavored with glue made from horse's hoofs is not appetizing.

Kitchen walls should be thoroughly satisfactory should be as abastian the same as every other wall in the house. They should be coated regularly in the spring and fall of each year with a light tint.

The care of the pantry requires constant attention. The walls should be brushed over every year, the dirt removed. The shelves which should be thoroughly wiped with hot water. If there are ant holes or any other insects in the pantry a thick putty of the wall coating can be made and all the ant holes, even small mice holes can be filled with it which will protect the pantry from the incursions of disagreeable insects and mice.

What Is the Chance of Civil Pension System?

By WILLIAM W. VAUGHAN.
Former President of Massachusetts Civil Service Reform Association.

HERE is no reason why something practical should not be done at once to help the employes, on the one hand, to some assured support in their old age, and to enable the government, on the other, to offer inducements which will attract the highest grade of service.

One bugbear, to begin with, has been got out of our way. It was long claimed that selecting public servants on their real merits and keeping them in office during good behavior would result in finally filling the service with a force of employes too old to do the work. But the merit system has now been in force in certain departments for a good part of a generation, and recent investigations have shown that the superannuation is not greater than it was when the system went into effect. What is more, the actual percentage of superannuation is surprisingly small. The elixir of life is not served in the government departments and many die in office.

Moreover, we find from actual investigation in Washington that the difficulty now is, not that the good employes stay too long, but that they do not stay long enough. Government service has long been too precarious a career to keep the ablest young men away from the inducements of private employment, and the very improvement of material which has resulted from the merit system has made the number of men now taken out of the government offices by private employers greater than ever before. Therefore, having shut out the incompetent, the next step is to make the competent satisfied to stay by some inducement short of a dangerous general pension scheme.

Several plans have been before the public with this in view. One, originating with the letter carrier department, provides that a percentage of the salary is to be held back and the government is itself to keep the funds and to become the insurer. Another plan substitutes private life insurance or annuity companies for the government, and makes the taking out of these policies compulsory on the employes. Many variations of this scheme are possible, and one of them is in actual use at this moment in Germany. The subject is receiving constant attention, and it is almost certain that some plan will eventually be worked out which the public will feel itself safe in trying.

But quite as strong an inducement as any pension system would be an increase in the certainty of tenure, especially in the higher positions. It is a curious fate which has brought it to pass that the higher the positions and the greater the ability required, and the greater, consequently, the difficulty in finding men qualified to fill them, just so much the more are those positions regarded as political prizes depending on the endless shifting of party majorities. Once let public servants be sure of proper salaries, freedom of action and permanency of tenure—i. e., of a career—and so great an inducement to good men will have been at once secured that we can afford to take time to work out a system for protecting the comparatively few men who are really superannuated.

The Elements of Industrial Peace

By DR. SAMUEL G. SMITH,
Department of Sociology, University of Michigan.

that the waste and burden of unnecessary conflict shall cease. In the past, conflicts undoubtedly have been necessary in order that there might be a testing of strength, an adjusting of interests and a developing of a deeper sense of justice and a new sense of mutual rights and duties. But the time has come when all forces should be creative forces; the time has come to cease destruction and to commence to build upon permanent foundations the lasting habitations of industrial peace.

I wish to point out a few of the essentials that make for a permanent peace. The most of these essentials can be grouped under the general term "industrial efficiency." The first basis of efficiency is found in good health. Nothing is more needed among all classes than a full knowledge of the art of living. It is knowledge needed by both rich and poor.

As domestic education is needed in order wisely to use the results of toil, so industrial education is needed in order to secure the most efficient production. The men who know a great deal more than they need to know for the task in hand are the men who perform that task with the greatest ease and skill. The wider the knowledge any man has, the wider are his sympathies, and the more sensible his relations with his fellow men. The man engaged in mechanical employment needs to know something more than merely his own specialty.

As it is very important that workmen should be healthy, intelligent and well-trained, so it is vitally important that the superintendents of labor should be thoroughly fitted for their tasks. The mere possession of capital does not make a man fit to be a superintendent of labor. If the results of clumsiness and ignorance consisted only in wasting the capital of the individual, that would be bad enough, but the results are numerous and are far more disastrous.

Industrial peace is the condition of industrial success. Industrial success of an institution is the success, not alone of the organizers and owners, but of every man or woman employed in the work. At least, industrial success should be the success of every man and woman employed. Economic reward is the natural result of successful labor. The size of the reward must always depend in the first instance upon the quality of the success.

Besides the industrial efficiency, there is a further basic condition of industrial peace; that is, such an awakening of the social sense as shall bring employer and employed into right relations. Much would be accomplished if both sides had better manners.

But while better manners would go far toward securing more social sympathy, there is another matter which is more fundamental. That is the need of a larger view upon the part of both employer and employed with respect to their mutual interests.

Working men often talk foolishly about their labor having made all the product; employers are equally foolish when they talk about the helplessness of the working man to get along without them. Each side needs the other, and each side has certain rights

AUTO RACE BEGINS

SIX CARS LEAVE NEW YORK FOR THE RUN TO PARIS.

THOUSANDS SEE START

Broadway is Blocked and Traffic is Suspended as Machines Set Out on Their Long Journey.

New York.—The automobiles contesting in the New York-to-Paris race started from Times square at forty-second street and Broadway, Wednesday cheered by a throng of several thousand people. Accompanied by more than 200 motors of all descriptions the racing machines made their way up Broadway and Riverside drive to the city limits, where they turned north on the road to Albany.

From that city the route to San Francisco, which is the objective point of the first stage of the trip, lies across New York state to Buffalo, thence through Cleveland and Toledo to Chicago, to Omaha, Cheyenne, Ogden, Reno, Goldfield, San Luis Obispo and San Francisco. Mayor McClellan was to have given the word to start, but was delayed, and Colgate Hoyt of the Automobile Club of America took his place.

All traffic in the neighborhood of Times square was stopped a half hour before the start. Automobiles clogged the intersecting streets and lined the route for many blocks up Broadway. No such aggregation of machines has been seen in or about New York since the last Vanderbilt cup race was run. A band in the official grandstand played the anthems of the nations as the cars left up for the start. A pistol shot sent the contestants away amid the cheering of the people.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Of the six automobiles entered in the New York-to-Paris race, which started Wednesday, the Thomas, De Dion and Zast cars passed through this city early Wednesday afternoon. The Pretos (German) car arrived at 6:30 at night and did not leave until morning. The Moto Bloc and Stalair Naudin (French) cars were somewhere between this city and Peekskill. The Thomas (American) car was the first to arrive here, making the trip from New York in three hours and 55 minutes.

SENSATION IN MURDER TRIAL.

"Unwritten Law" Verse Spoiled by Confession of Guilt.

Bellefonte, Ill.—Drama of the trial in the circuit court Wednesday of Clyde Gant, charged with the killing of Henry Dickerman, who had accused him of having maintained improper relations with his wife and who pleaded the "unwritten law" in his defense, a sensation was created when the supposed wife of Gant was called to the witness stand. She was the only witness to the killing. Taking her place on the stand, she said: "I am not the wife of Clyde Gant. My name is Cora Simpson. We were together a year and a half, but we were never married."

The statement was a bomb shell to the defense. The provision of the law making it illegal for a wife to testify against her husband had been relied upon by the defense.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—The Republican state central committee met here Wednesday afternoon and fixed May 12 as the date and Grand Rapids as the place for the state convention to elect delegates-at-large to the national Republican convention. The basis of representation will be one delegate for each 250 votes cast for secretary of state in the last election, making a total of 17 delegates. Congressman Edward L. Hamilton will be temporary chairman, and Will A. Waite of Detroit, secretary.

Valentine

When winter's at his coldest
And cold
And holdst,
Then cometh good St. Valentine,
To show that love is burning
And melting and warming.
And breathe upon the wintry earth his tenderness divine.

When life is at its blackest
And most
And weakest,
Then cometh good St. Valentine,
To show that love is ray,
And whetted and keen,
And breathe on every torpid heart his
tenderness divine.

—Good Housekeeping.

WONDERFUL day, the fourteenth of February. It is so wonderful that it spreads its charm over the preceding week and the week that comes after. For days and days the Small Person sneaks into the house with unnatural, unhealthy and suspicious quiet, holding queer shaped, bulging packages under her coat or smuggled away in the innermost caverns of her absurd little muff. The package yet appears everywhere in the house. The paste brush disappears entirely and is finally found in a state of suicide and the ink-bottle. You see something on the floor that looks like a cherry. You pick it up and it is a red paper heart. While you are looking at it the Small Person trots into the room, gives you one mysterious glance, immediately separates you from your treasure and scampers away to a hiding place under the dining table, where she sits for three straight hours in a billowy pool of white paper lace, big white envelopes and numerous samples of scissors.

Then, after these charming hours of mysterious preparation, the great day approaches. The mail man is the Kris Kringle, the Santa Claus, the good fairy. With bended shoulders he plods down the street, while the Small Person has her nose glued so tightly to the window pane that there is considerable question whether or not it will detach itself without the aid of a paper knife.

At last! Hoop! The bell rings. At imminent risk of catching every thing from a cold to a spanking the Small Person dashes out of the front door and fairly leaps into the mail box. She emerges looking like a young stationery establishment, nothing but envelopes, big little and middle sized. With a squeal and a scurry she blows back into the house and opens up her treasures. There are paper trees filled with brilliant paper roses and underneath the forest trees sit little cupid "without no clo's on at all," just as if it were not February and chilly. Great big, beautiful white swan pens—more beautiful even than a new automobile—are dragged out of their white castings, and lo! when you touch a little spring somewhere the swan pens are filled with flowers and all sorts of wonderful, exquisite, beautiful things, like birds and jewels and loving hearts. Oh, it is very, very delightful, being a child on St. Valentine's day.

While all this excitement is beating the quiet home atmosphere into quivers you sit at down in a faraway corner and think of the time when you were a little girl. Perhaps you didn't have as much attention as the Small Person; perhaps things didn't come so fast; perhaps it's because you had so little that you are ready to make any sacrifice so that the Small Person shall have more. It is fine, deplorable that you learn what good things mean and how much they mean.

So far your mind goes way back, so far you wouldn't even guess them years. You wouldn't even guess them. It seems so long ago that it must have been another world, or anyway another life. You see a dingy old school-room, where the benches were rigidly romping and playing out of doors.

One day there came strange whappings about St. Valentine. You wondered if he were the man who came to trim the trees in the orchard. It was all very new to you, because everything was new, and you had so much to get acquainted with in a big strange world.

The other children talked knowingly about a St. Valentine's box. Next day they filed in one after another, and into a big wooden box they dropped white envelopes. When about as much as to be dashed into the Beautiful Lady took care of all the children opened up the mysterious affair and took out the envelopes one by one, calling the name of the little boy or girl.

You held your breath. When would yours come? Ah! exquisite moment of anticipation! Your heart—such a tiny little silly, lovable heart, too—fairly ceased to beat, for every moment you expected that your name would be spoken. The other children were busy showing their white lace valentines, and never noticed the wistful little face in a far-back seat. It was all over. The box was empty. The Beautiful Lady closed her desk. The children ran for their hats and coats. You placed two soiled fat little hands to two very moist-misty eyes and felt your first great sorrow. You did, didn't you? Well, if you didn't, I did.

The heart of a child is so sensitive a flower. A thought will crush it, a tear will bruise it.

HIS ONE DAY TO GET EVEN.

Husband Sent Burlesque Valentine and Had His Wife Guessing.

"Say, old fellow," said Brown, as he laid his hand familiarly on Potter's shoulder, "didn't I see you in the stationer's a day or two ago looking at valentines?"

"You probably did, as I was in there," was the answer.

"Baying for some sister or niece?"

"No—for my wife."

"But you are over 50 years old and have been married a quarter of a century. You don't say that you are still romantic?"

"I say this—that my wife can beat me at argument or scolding or doing anything else I like it or not. She's obstinate and pigheaded and touchy, and the only way I can get even with her is on Valentine's day. Then I get 100 of the meanest burlesque valentines I can find and send them to her, and for the next three months she's wondering who sent 'em and treats me fairly well. 'Try it once. It is a good deal better than threatening her with the family ax."

Love's Lottery.

One often wonders how St. Valentine's day ever got a start. It is said that in England and France the young folk were given to playing a game in which the names of all the girls and boys were written on tiny slips of paper, thrown into a general receptacle, and then drawn out lottery fashion, care being taken of course that each person draws the name of one of the other sex. The person thus drawn became one's valentine, and the allotment decreed by fate was supposed to impose upon the couple a year of loyalty for the coming year.

All of which sounds very romantic and beautiful, but which in plain fact must have mixed things up fearfully, and it is a question whether or not fate always selected the right maiden or the right beau.

The Moonshoe.

She was mamma's eye and comfort, and when her parents went to town for a short visit she was instructed to look after her younger brothers and sister and faithfully report any misbehavior on the part of either of the young hopefuls.

On the evening of her return the fond mamma called for an account of the stewardship, and was led to the nursery, where on the blackboard in bold type appeared the following record:

"Evelyn—No bad marks.

"Jack—Two splits and one dam."

Satan Tormented.

There is as great genius displayed in advertising as in the higher branches of literature. No problem dawns the modern advertising man. In the window of a little bookstore in Eighth avenue, New York, was recently heaped a great pile of Bibles, marked very low—never before were Bibles offered at such a bargain; and above them all, in big letters, was the inscription: "Satan trembles when he sees Bibles sold as low as these"—Woman's Home Companion.

PURE FOOD.

No Food Commissioner of Any State Has Ever Attacked the Absolute Purity of Grape-Nuts.

Every analysis undertaken shows this food to be made strictly of wheat and barley, treated by our process so partially that the starch parts into a form of sugar, and therefore much easier to digest.

Our claim that it is a "Food for Brain and Nerve Centers" is based upon the fact that certain parts of Wheat and Barley (which we use) contain Nature's brain and nerve-building ingredients, viz: Phosphate of Potash, and the way we prepare the food makes it easy to digest and assimilate. Dr. Geo. W. Carey in his book on "The Biochemical Science of Medicine" says:

"When the medical profession fully understands the nature and range of the phosphate of potassium, insane asylums will no longer be needed. 'The because' of the brain is controlled entirely by the inorganic cell-salt, potassium phosphate. 'This salt unites with albumen, and by the action of oxygen creates nerve-fluid, or the gray matter of the brain.' 'Of course, there is a trace of other salts and other organic matter in nerve-fluid, but potassium phosphate is the chief factor, and has the power within itself to attract, by its own law of affinity, all things needed to manufacture the elixir of life. Therefore, when nervous symptoms arise, due to the fact that the nerve-fluid has been exhausted from any cause, the phosphate of potassium is the only true tonic, because, combining, else can possibly supply the deficiency.

"The filis arising from too rapidly consuming the gray matter of the brain cannot be overestimated.

"Phosphate of Potash, as to my mind, the most wonderful curative agent ever discovered by man, and the blessings it has already conferred on the race are many. 'But what shall the harvest be' when physicians everywhere fully understand the part this wonderful salt plays in the processes of life? It will do as much as can be done through physiology to make a heaven on earth.

"Let the overworked business man take it and go home good tempered. Let the weary wife, nerves unstrung from attending to sick children or entertaining company, take it and note how quickly the equilibrium will be restored and calm and reason assert her throne. No 'proving' are required here. We find this potassium salt largely predominates in nerve-fluid, and that a deficiency produces well-defined symptoms. The beginning and end of the matter is to supply the lacking principle, and in molecular form, exactly as nature furnishes it in vegetables, fruits and grain. To supply deficiencies—this is the only law of cure."

Please observe that Phosphate of Potash is not properly the drug shop variety but is best prepared by "Old Mother Nature" and stored in the grains ready for use by mankind. Those who have been helped to better health by the use of Grape-Nuts are legion.

"There's a Reason."

BRAIN POWER

Increased by Proper Feeding.

A lady writer who not only has done good lines of poetry but has reared a family, found in Grape-Nuts the ideal food for brain work and to develop healthy children. She writes:

"I am an enthusiastic proclaimer of Grape-Nuts. I have been on a diet of Grape-Nuts for 10 months old baby, who soon grew as fat as a little pig, good natured and contented.

"I wake evenings and feeling the need of sustained brain power, began eating a small saucer of Grape-Nuts with milk, instead of my usual indigestible hot pudding, pie, or cake for dessert at night."

"I grew plump, nervous strong, and when I wrote my brain was active and clear; indeed, the dull head pain never returned."

Two Months From a Great Case.
Harry K. Shaw had a fair trial. But his money didn't give him a one-sided trial, as it was often predicted would be the case. He was saved from the electric chair by the very argument that the prosecuting attorney himself injected into the trial the first time. He said that it would be a wrong to prosecute an insane man for murder. That's money couldn't visibly strengthen a contention which the state's attorney believed was on the side of justice. There will always be two opinions as to whether criminal responsibility ends and where it begins again, but the weight of testimony in this case seemed to show that the impulse that led to the killing was of insane origin. And more riches should not rob a man of the benefit of a doubt.

Another lesson from the case is that men of position and influence in great cities do not as a rule take under their wings attractive and talented young women simply to encourage artistic merit. Tolerated young women are as thick as blackberries in this country. The mother who fondly imagines that her daughter is one among a thousand and that all the attractions of men to her are in the nature of appreciation of talent which deserves to be encouraged is probably spelling mishap for her idol if she trusts these fair appearances. Human nature has not changed since the courts of kings and despots of ancient corruption. The higher up the scale the more insidious it becomes for the innocent one. More decency is trusted absolutely, but often that decency is only a suit of sheep's clothing with a ravenous wolf inside. It is well to beware of the petting of art culture when the object of his interest is an attractive young woman without safeguards at every turn.

A writer in the Congressionalist has a striking paper on the degeneracy and worse which prevails on American back country roads. The particularly significant thing about the article is that the subject is treated as though it pertained to something comparatively new in our civilization. It is not new. The evil is as old as the settlements everywhere and perhaps at its worst in our oldest settlements. It is an appalling picture which the writer presents for a land of churches, schools and liberal and painstaking missionary effort. The sweeping description, degeneracy, immorality, heathenism and sullen ignorance covers the whole ground without going into the dark details.

Such descriptions fit conditions over which moralists wailed fifty and twenty-five and ten years ago. Stuns of the nature described may be found within ten miles of our largest and wealthiest and most charitable cities, and they increase as the distance widens to fifty and a hundred miles from the sounds of cathedral bells. It is a startling thought that the nation becomes excited over questions like race suicide, permit me to say, the fluctuating attendance at church and the importation of Asiatic heathenism and shuts its eyes to the race decay, the social degeneracy, the festering moral ulcer affecting millions of our fellow countrymen who are next door neighbors in so far as contiguity of habitations makes people neighbors. And the worst of it all is that into these hotbeds of human waste and sin and crime there is an annual re-enforcement poured by the steerage from the country and city stums of the old world.

A common experience in New York the last few months has been that an anxious bank depositor would read in his evening paper something like this: "President of the bank declares that his institution has weathered the storm and is in perfect condition to meet all demands upon it." At the bank next morning he bumps against the obverse of the picture, simply "Closed," ticked on the door.

Portugal has about as many inhabitants as Illinois. It costs the little kingdom nearly half a million dollars each year to support royalty. The debt of Portugal is almost as great as that of this country, which has sixteen times its population and more than a hundred times its wealth and resources.

"A soldier is no better than his boots," said Wellington. In this day and generation he would not dare declare that a navy is no better than its surgeons.

London's July pageant as planned will present in spectacle the Roman, Danish and Norman conquerors. It is friendly to omit the American invasion?

The whole country will be alert for what may happen at the next national convention of the Prohibition party.

Lawrence's Flag.
Considerable levity has marked the discussion in some quarters of the flag of the United States. Captain Lawrence, who died in 1812 by fighting against great odds the British frigate Shannon off Boston. The action was one of the historic ship duels of modern times. Any souvenir of that fight, the view of which will make men and women and boys and girls proud of the deeds of Lawrence and his crew, is a national pride, regardless of its history meanwhile.

But this Lawrence flag is more than that. It is a rare souvenir of the development of Old Glory itself. It was upon such a flag that Francis Scott Key saw the "broad stripes and bright stars in the morning's dim light" that led to his beautiful conception of our national flag song. This flag had fifteen stripes and fifteen stars, one stripe and one star for each state supposedly, although there were in fact seventeen states at the time of the Chesapeake-Shannon duel. The flag designed by Washington had thirteen stripes and thirteen stars. The rule then was a star and a stripe for each state. Now the rule is a star for each state and only thirteen stripes as originally designed to represent the thirteen colonies forming the Union when the flag was adopted. In 1818 the thirteen stripe regulation was again adopted, and so the Lawrence flag is a model which obtained only from 1794 to 1818. This covered the war of 1812 with its memories of Fort Mifflin, Old Ironsides and Jackson's cotton bales at New Orleans, as well as the peaceful raising of the stars and stripes over the French tricolor when the Louisiana Purchase was ceded to this country in 1803. Surely this is a relic to awaken patriotic interest and veneration.

There is some funny fighting in the French campaign against the tribesmen of Morocco. The world reads of the heroism of the soldiers of France bravely Arals from Algeria in many brush with the Moors, and then the dispatches wind up by telling of half a dozen men wounded. It carries one back to the days of the Cuban revolution.

A New York preacher wants the women in his congregation to remove their headwear because "it is mighty hard to talk through a lot of hats." Quite right. One at a time is enough for any one.

The person who is inquiring, "What becomes of the old shoes?" should be patient a little longer. They are still trying to find out what sausage is composed of.

QUENTIN'S CORNERS

Miss Bertha Layson and son, Vernon, of Palatine are spending a few days at her parents here.

Daniel Strum has purchased the old home farm of his father. It is a good move for a son to take up a father's work when the latter retires.

We are sorry to report that Fred Fulleth is still sick with a seizure of inflammatory rheumatism.

Fred Fiedeler and wife were here Sunday calling on friends and relatives.

Mrs. H. H. Pahlman is under the doctor's care at present. She is one of the pioneers in this vicinity and is reported to be over ninety years old.

Died, at the age of seventy-five years, last Wednesday night, Mrs. William Ernsting, Sr., after a lingering illness of five years or more of heart trouble. She came from Germany in the early fifties and located on a farm here, Interment was at Fairfield cemetery by the side of her husband. She leaves three sons, William, Louis and Gottlieb and one daughter, Mrs. Chris Freund.

Our cheese factory will in a few days turn out a new product never made here before, called "Prime Oat." The factory is paying the farmers a good price for their milk and all seem well pleased with the treatment received.

Keeping Open House.

Everybody is welcome when we feel good; and we feel that way only when our digestive organs are working properly. Dr. King's New Life Pills regulate the action of stomach, liver and bowels so perfectly one can't feel feeling good when he uses these pills. 25c at Barrington Pharmacy.

She Knew.

"No," she said, "you don't really love me."
"Yes, I swear I do," he protested.
"I love you with all my soul. I would ask you to be my wife tomorrow if I were properly situated."
But his plea was useless. She had studied human nature and knew that when a man is really in love he doesn't stop to consider whether he can afford to marry or not.

No matter how intently a wife may listen when her husband is talking in his sleep, she very seldom learns anything but bad information. And the result would usually be about the same if she should listen to everything he says while he is awake.—Somerville Journal.
