HENRY BOEHMER DEAD

Former President of Barrington

Village Board Dies at Home of Sister-in-law.

Henry Boehmer, president of the village board of Wheeling, Illinois, departed this life at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. William Tillman, at Highland Park, Saturday, February 22nd. He had been ill for several weeks and was for sometime at the Columbus hospital, Chicago, for treatment. While there he suffered an attack of paralysis and with other complications made it certain that he could not live, so he was taken to Highland Park, the most convenient point.

Mr. Boehmer was a resident of this village for many years and was prominent in local affairs. He was president of the village board from 1895 to 1901, and used his influence in securing for Barrington one of the finest waterworks in this section of the state. He had been in the creamery business during his life time. He was honest and upright in business affairs and a man who made friends wherever he went.

Henry Boehmer was born in Dautenhause, Lippe-Detmold, Germany, August 6th, 1856, and he lived in this country, attending good schools, until he was seventeen years of age when he came direct to Barrington to work for uncle, Chris Heise, now of Hilsbrunn, Iowa. His parents were Mr. and Mrs. Christoph Boehmer, both died in Germany.

He attended school at intervals after coming to America as he was ambitious for an education. At the age of twenty-two he married on June 29, 1875, Miss Louise Meyer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Meyer, and sister of Mrs. John Schwenn. They lived in Barrington for a time and then went to Wheeling where Mr. Boehmer was elected the first president of the village board when the village was organized.

After a few years the family again resided here and the last home they owned and occupied was the residence on Main street which they had inherited from their father. To them were born eleven children, four died, and Fred, Alexander, Charles, Robert, Spencer, Henry and Caroline are living.

About thirty-three years ago Mr. Boehmer and brother, August, built the creamery building on Williams and Liberty street which they operated about three years, then running the creamery two and one half miles south of town which August Boehmer owned. Henry Boehmer also owned a creamery at Woodstock and one in Wheeling to which place the family moved the second time about five years ago. At the next village election following, Mr. Boehmer was again elected mayor.

The funeral was largely attended; the first service by intimate friends and relatives at the August Boehmer home on Lake street Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock; the public funeral was held at two o'clock in the Salem church of which Mr. Boehmer had been a member during his residence here.

Rev. A. Haelele, the pastor, who gave a sermon in English was assisted by the Rev. G. Barth of Northfield, Illinois, which is near Wheeling, who spoke in German.

Rev. F. W. Landwehr, of Chicago, offered a prayer and Rev. C. Roloff, of Chicago, gave the scriptural reading. A quartette sang the hymns, "The Lord is My Shepherd" and "The Lord is My Strength." Mr. Boehmer was brought here on the noon train and the casket was accompanied by a large delegation of men who were the six members of the board of trustees of Wheeling, members of Vitruvian lodge A. F. and A. M. and farmer friends of that place, six of whom were the pall-bearers, and milk dealers of Chicago with whom Mr. Boehmer had conducted business; members of the Knight Templars of Elgin and Lonsbury lodge A. F. and A. M., Barrington, were present and the local lodge, twenty-six in number, took charge of the ritual service at the grave in Evergreen cemetery.

Besides the immediate family and brother, August Boehmer, two sisters are living in Germany, Mrs. Elsie Mänsfeld and Mrs. Minnie Luttman.

John Taylor and family of Hough street attended the wedding in Chicago Thursday of Mrs. Taylor's sister.

FRACTURES KNEE-CAP

F. L. Waterman Slips on Ice

Sidewalk. Fall Fractures

Knee-Cap.

Frank L. Waterman was seriously injured last Saturday morning, February 22nd, and has been confined to bed since. He was entering A. W. Meyer's store and slipping on ice on the cement steps, fell to the sidewalk and in falling fractured the patella, or knee-cap, of his right leg which has been badly crippled for nearly thirty years, making the accident doubly hard to endure.

An Enjoyable Time.

The largest young peoples' party of the winter was given at the Peck home Thursday evening when Miss Florence Peck was hostess for the young ladies of the Portia club and guests. Great interest had been taken in planning the amusement and the home was finely decorated; the parlor and library in red hearts, the large hall and dining room in green and white effects, the club colors.

Miss Peck makes a charming hostess and is a popular leader of social affairs. In a "progressive amaze" game, Miss Alta Powers won a creamer and sugar bowl; Miss Cora Jahnske was a slow thinker and took the lowest prize. "Teddy" bear in a peanut shell. Games of writing, marriage proposals and poetry, with a partner to assist, was very amusing.

A supper was arranged on a long table for thirty, extending through the dining-room and library. Place cards adorned with hearts had been decorated by Miss Peck's artistic brush and the supper in itself was an attractive service of dainty foods.

Recital Given by Sears.

The seventh recital of the Sears School of Music was given Friday, February 21st, at 4:30 p.m. It consisted of two piano selections by Misses Violet Ullrich, Louise Boehmer and Donald Ols. At each recital a lecture on history of music is given by Mrs. Sears.

In addition to the history course completed under Felix Browski, Mrs. Sears has finished another course at Columbia University, New York, under the direction of Prof. Leonard B. McWhorter, successor to Edward McDowell, the most noted of American composers. This year Mrs. Sears has been studying the subject with Mr. Fairbanks of Chicago.

Receive New Members.

Special services were held last Sunday afternoon at half past two in the Salem Evangelical church, at which there were three baptisms and twenty-five new members received into the church, of which nineteen were young people. Rev. A. Haelele had charge of the service and feels greatly gratified at the results of his efforts to lead his parishioners to God's throne. This service was followed by a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. at the church. Rev. F. W. Landwehr of Chicago, who was here to assist in the quarterly meeting services of the denomination, addressed the association.

J. E. HEISE.

Are You a Trust Buster?

Hey—You! Yes, YOU'RE the man we mean.

You're always talking about the harm the trusts are doing. The country's going to the denunciation howlows, you say, because of the un-curbed trusts. Rich growing richer, poor getting poorer. Used to be that a poor man could go into business for himself in a modest way and make a good living. Now he must become a clerk or a roustabout or a hodiearrier for some corporation—some combination that has grown to be a Goliath of bigness, that has devoured the fat of the land and is still gormandizing upon it, till there's not a scrap of bone left for the under dog.

That's your line of talk. You're still handing it out, and you're proud of it.

Well, now, let's see: Are YOU a trust buster YOURSELF?

Didn't we see you stalk up to the postoffice just now and mail a letter with the address of a city Mail Order Store on the envelope? Hey? Didn't we?

Don't you know that the Mail Order Store is a trust—one of the most dangerous in the crowd? Don't you know that it is secretly and slyly closing the doors of opportunity to the young men in country towns and small cities like ours? Don't you know that the Mail Order Trust is collecting the patronage of town and country people by the mail route, thereby cutting down the patronage of the smaller merchant, the local man who is trying to build up a modest, independent, antitrust business?

Hey?

Didn't that ever occur to you?

N. B. (which means note well): Why don't you trade at home instead of helping to build up a trust that buries your home place?

SEE SKI CONTEST

Large Crowd Attended Contest

Held on Welek Farm Sunday Afternoon.

The Norge Ski club contest last Sunday afternoon on the Welek farm northwest of town attracted a large crowd from the towns and farms around here and from the city. The hill where the events were held is 150 feet long and slopes at an angle of 25 degrees. The Norge club intends to build a scaffolding there in the near future in order that more speed may be obtained. The longest jump, 72 feet, was made by C. Djorke. Swenson won first prize, making 129 feet in two leaps. The Chicago Daily News of Monday evening published a large camera picture of the event.

Spring Fashion Number.

The March number of the Woman's Home Companion again captures public notice with its charming cover picture of a Japanese girl. This issue is the spring fashion number, illustrating the advance spring styles. Dr. Edward E. Hale contributes a talk on "Home Reading." Dr. Woods Hutchinson writes on "The Mental Growth of Babies" and many others contribute fiction. The whole number is beautifully illustrated.

KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS

Earle Jencks Hit on Head by

Iron Rod. Injuries Not Serious.

Monday morning while working with the telephone line gang west of town near the Helm farm, Earle Jencks was hit on the back of his head by an iron rod, sustaining a bad bruise and slight wound. He was riding on the company's wagon with other workmen when his one end of the rod had slipped unnoticed to the ground where it became caught and jerked the other end suddenly. It flew up quickly, hitting Mr. Jencks violently. He was unconscious for a short time. A physician was called who dressed the cut and the young man was brought to his home in town.

Good Time at Colonial Party.

The young people who were invited to a Colonial party at the Spinner home Saturday night by Miss Alma Hawk were asked to appear with powdered hair and dressed to resemble our great-grandparents; the idea was followed by nearly all who were guests, making the pretty effect that is always seen at Washington parties. The "colonists" that evening were Misses Moore, Riley, Thorp, Brandt, V. Lines, Tuttle, Hawk, Margaret Barnes of Crystal Lake, Vernon Hollister, Earl Powers, Floyd Carr, Edward Young and Earle Jencks. A "cherry-tree" game tried the skill of the players in pinning cherries on a tree drawn on paper. Miss Lines won a box of candied cherries for finding a proper point for the fruit to hang; another game of telling "the biggest lie" was a tie between Messrs. Young and Powers which Mr. Young won by flipping a coin and was given a silver letter opener for being "a liar."

Served Large Number.

Nearly seventy-five people were served at the Baptist church last Sunday evening in the church parlor and a sum of $15 was cleared. A satisfactory result to the ladies. Everything was tastefully served and carnations were pretty center pieces on the tables. Mrs. G. Banks, Mrs. S. Peck and Mrs. J. Dodge were the three ladies who acted as promoters of the supper but all members of the Dorcas society assisted. Misses Lawson, Callen, M. Peck and H. Palmer were waitresses. The menu was roast pork, mashed potatoes, lima beans, cabbage salad, rolls, pickles, pickles, coffee, mince and lemon pie.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

Farm Laborer Discovered Beside

of C. & N. W. Tracks, by Section Men.

Herman Golisch, aged fifty-four years, farm laborer, came to his death early Monday morning by being accidentally struck by a train on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad about two miles west of this village.

His remains were discovered by section men Monday morning and taken to Blocks' undertaking establishment.

Corner Taylor of Libertyville held an inquest Monday afternoon and the following jury was selected: M. T. Lamey, foreman; L. R. Lines, John Howard, John Bonella, F. H. Plagge and E. W. Robinson.

William Schulze testified that the deceased had been in his employ for five months up to about a week ago; that he was at his place last Sunday afternoon in good health and started for the home of August Meyer on the Frick farm west of Barrington, at about ten o'clock. Mr. Schulze said that Golisch did not have any relatives living in this country and he understood that he was not married.

August Meyer testified that Golisch came to his place about one o'clock Sunday afternoon and that he hired him as a farm hand to commence work March first. Mr. Meyer said that he left there at about 1:30 to go to Langdon station where he expected to get a chance to ride back to Barrington later in the afternoon.

Charles Nagatz, section foreman, who was called as a witness, said that the deceased worked for him four days and had boarded at the Nagatz home. He said that Golisch rode with his men on the hand car Sunday morning as far as Meyer's place and that was the last they had seen of him until Monday morning about 7:30 when he, with Martin Talloy and Ferdinand Meyer, found the body lying alongside the Chicago & Northwestern track about two miles northwest of Barrington. He reported the case to the proper authorities and removed the body to Barrington.

Golisch had been seen in Cuba late Sunday afternoon and it is thought that he left there about five o'clock to return to Barrington.

The jury found that he met death by being accidentally struck by a train on the private right of way of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad about 300 feet south of Sommerfeld's crossing.

The remains were interred in Evergreen cemetery Wednesday.

Wendt-Schumacher.

Wednesday evening St. Paul's Evangelical church was filled with relatives and friends of Miss Mary Schumacher and Rudolph Wendt to witness their marriage, performed by the Rev. G. H. Stanger. The hour was eight o'clock and the young couple entered the church with Misses Martha Wendt and Harriet Jahnholtz, sister and cousin of the groom, John Schumacher and Fred Wendt as a bridal party. Miss Schumacher wore a very handsome dress of white silk with a long bridal veil and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was taken to the altar by her brother, John. Miss Lydia Belfor played the wedding march and during the ceremony "Home Sweet Home" was softly heard.

The ceremony completed, the party entered to the music of the brides' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Schumacher of Franklin street on the north side, where a supper was served and a reception enjoyed by about fifty. Miss Schumacher has lived here a few years, coming from Lake Zurich, and is a respected young woman. Mr. Wendt is a young farmer, well known. They expect to occupy the Kuhlbal house on Washington street.

A BUSINESS COURSE

An Excellent General Training

Course Taught at Barrington ton High School.

Anyone who will take the trouble to read the "Course of Study" of the Barrington high school will readily understand that it is not the purpose of the school to direct all its energies toward the preparation of students for the teaching profession only, or to meet the requirements for college entrance. The course is rather designed to give pupils that general training that will enable them to enter upon any useful career with a fair prospect of success.

To this end the entire membership of the high school are required to take writing and spelling daily, until a satisfactory standard has been attained. During the first half of the first year commercial arithmetic is taught; and during the last half year, book-keeping. This latter class has just been organized with an enrollment of forty-two members; the text used is "The New Tablet Method of Book Keeping and Business Training," which is perhaps the nearest approach to actual business training that could be used, where the conditions are such as we have in our school.

About twenty students have been practising typewriting, one-half hour each day for five months; they have acquired the ability to run in neat form letters suitable to all correspondence. This work also helps to beguile accuracy in spelling.

During the second year of the high school commercial geography and commercial law are taught. The student who does well all the work here outlined has a better preparation for business than was offered by the leading business colleges a few years ago, and the student who does less, than is here suggested, will in most cases be a back number a few years hence, and will be filling only third or fourth rate positions.

There are a few persons who possess natural business instincts who will succeed with or without business training, but let us not be too willing to believe that one son or daughter is one of this limited number.

However, it should be remembered in this connection, that while the commercial studies are of great value to the students, yet they by no means constitute an education, in themselves, and the boy or girl who has not a substantial knowledge of English can scarcely hope to attain marked success in any vocation he may enter.

Then, too, aside from the formal or mechanical duties of a business life, there is a positive need of the power to reason logically, which power is always required in some degree by the study of mathematics, history and grammar.

WATER ROUTE

CONGRESS GETS SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT.

APPROVES BODY'S WORK

In Transmitting Report of Inland Commission, Roosevelt Declines Pledge Demand System—Roads Scored for Failure.

Washington. — President Roosevelt Wednesday transmitted to congress a special message on the report of the inland waterways commission.

The president's message approved the work of the body from its start and the chief executive went on record as favoring the proposed system of inland waterways, as advocated in the report and by the commission which spent some time at work on the matter.

Cites feasibility of Roads. The message in part: "To the Senate and House of Representatives: "I transmit herewith a preliminary report from the inland waterways commission, which was appointed by the United States, to study and report on the feasibility of a system of inland waterways, as advocated in the report and by the commission which spent some time at work on the matter."

"The report is well worth your attention, and it is a pleasure to me to see that it is so. It represents the mature judgment of a body of men exceptionally qualified, by personal experience and knowledge of conditions throughout the United States, to understand and discuss the great problem of how best to use our waterways in the interest of all the people. Unusual care has been taken to secure accuracy and balance of statement."

Subject Critically Important. "If the report is not a masterpiece of over-optimism, it contains findings of fact, a number of specific recommendations, and a number of inquiries still in progress, and it is in my opinion, a most valuable contribution to the subject of inland waterways. The subject with which it deals is of critical importance both to the present and the future of our country."

"Our river systems are better adapted to the needs of the people than those of any other country. In extent, distribution, navigability, and ease of use, they stand first. Yet the rivers of our country are not used to the extent that they should be. The reason for this is not that the rivers are not navigable, but that the navigation is not profitable. The inland waterways commission has been appointed to study and report on the feasibility of a system of inland waterways, as advocated in the report and by the commission which spent some time at work on the matter."

Unusual care has been taken to secure accuracy and balance of statement."

CATHOLIC PRIEST IS SHOT

ASSASSIN'S BULLET KILLS LEO HEINRICH AT ALTAR.

Guernaceto, a Discontented Italian, Shoots Reverend in Church—Confesses to Police When Taken.

Denver, Col.—Father Leo Heinrich was shot and killed when administering the sacrament at St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, Eleventh and Cass streets, this city, Sunday, kneeling at the altar rail, between two women, Giuseppe Guernaceto pressed the muzzle of a revolver against the body of the priest, after receiving from him the consecrated wafer, and shot the priest through the heart. Exclaiming, "My God, My God," Father Leo fell without uttering another word.

With an inarticulate scream the assassin sprang into the aisle and, waving the smoking pistol about his head, dashed to the church door. For a moment the hundred or more people in the church were dazed. Then a woman shrieked and the congregation became panic stricken. Some women fainted, and many became hysterical. Several men rushed to the aid of the priest, and others started in pursuit of the murderer. Among the latter was Patricia Daniel Cronin, who overtook the fleeing Italian on the steps. Guernaceto attempted to shoot the policeman but was foiled and overpowered only after a desperate fight in which several men had come to the assistance of the officer.

Although no actual demonstration against the murderer of Father Leo was made this was much talk around town throughout the day of the justice of lynching him. In order to avoid an attack on the city jail, Guernaceto was taken to the county jail, where he was held in a cell, and after a consultation with the authorities decided to take Guernaceto out of town. Accordingly he was hustled into an automobile and a fast run was made to Littleton, 14 miles from Denver, where a train was boarded for Colorado Springs.

Then a company of the young men and women broke into the gymnasium and danced from ten p. m. to one a. m. The last misdeed was the tying of Clarence Robinson to a tree the night of the blizzard. IMMIGRATION FROM SOUTH EXPECTED

U. S. FARMERS ARE RECOGNIZING SPLENDID OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED BY WESTERN CANADA.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 9, 1908.—Present indications are that the Canadian Northwest will draw an exceptionally heavy movement of new settlers from the United States this year. It is supposed the banner record for 1907. This is not only based on the fact that the Americans have come to realize generally that the Canadian Northwest offers splendid opportunities, but also because the railroads have awakened to the fact and are offering rates to the Canadian Northwest which are exceptionally favorable.

The lines which lead to St. Paul from the east and south are offering homesteaders' rates to the Canadian Northwest this year which are on a par with those in existence to the southwest for a couple of seasons.

These rates can be obtained from any agent who handles Canadian immigration, who will be pleased to give information possible regarding those districts which offer the greatest inducements to settlers. The Canadian Northwest has been broken throughout Western Canada has been remarkably good this year. A telegram from the winter wheat belt of Southern Alberta, dated at Cardston, Alberta, January 29th, says:

"This winter up to January 25th was nothing short of a marvel. In fact, it was the finest anyone can remember for twenty-five years. Though there have been other nearly as good. The days were fine, sunny and warm with light frosts at night. Overcasts and gloom, etc., were discarded by the people in the day time. There was so little frost in the ground that post holes could be dug without any trouble after the first snow had broken through. Winter wheat remained fresh and green although there has been no snow since the September storm. If this winter should gain a great start."

Amongst the reports of the yield of last year the following extracts are taken:

H. Howe, of Magrath, Alta., writing on November 1907, says: "I have 70 acres in crop, 50 acres of wheat and seven acres of oats. My average yield of oats was 35 bushels to the acre, and of wheat 45 bushels. The value to me was $25 per acre."

J. F. Haycock, of Magrath, writes in November: "I had 65 acres in winter wheat, which went 60 bushels to the acre, and 10 acres of barley. I also had 12 tons of hay worth 10¢ per ton. I got 600 bushels of potatoes from three acres of land; I got eight tons per acre from five acres of sugar beets."

J. F. Bradshaw, of Magrath, had 1,000 acres of winter wheat last year which averaged 25½ bushels to the acre. The value of wheat products per acre was: Wheat, $21.60; oats, $11.20 and barley, $25.15.

Things Mixed. Little Willie, who has been listening to some scientific talk about the functions of the brain, over some new expressions he had heard, and that night when he was going to bed asked earnestly:

"Mamma, when people's hair begins to turn, is it because the gray matter in their brains is leaking through?"

Use and Abuse of Roads.

Reporters and auto faddists who hang on the fringe of the New York to Paris auto expedition look no time in telling the public about the mudholes and other tough spots for the machines which have been struck in the spectacular tour across the continent. Some enthusiasts are saying that the trip through the states will be an object lesson for legislators, for the authorities and for the general public on the necessity of expending vast sums for the construction and maintenance of good roads. Perhaps.

Meanwhile another object lesson in this very matter of good roads and automobiles has not escaped the attention of people interested in the maintenance of good roads. It has been demonstrated that auto traffic is rapidly deteriorating the good roads which communities have created and supported at an expense which is a great local burden. The flying machine injures the roadbed almost and never at any time adds to its efficiency, as does the wide, heavy drag, which helps to compress the structure and render the surface firm and in a measure waterproof. The auto sucks up and scatters to the winds that fine gravel and metal laden dust which the loaded wagon sets at the harder between and over the top dressing of stone. The touring auto never contributes in the slightest degree to the repair of the roads, which he spalls faster than any other user. If the complaints of the autoists are to be taken in good faith as reasons for putting up with the more laborious to the public highways, the local authorities should go to the root of the business and compel the long distance tourist to put up his share of the cost. He'll grumble, of course, over giving up 25 cents a dollar at the tollgate and then throw away fifty times that amount in a jangle at the next town. Since money is so easy with him, let him pay as he goes, road repairs and all.

Rowdy Youngsters.

The maddening of a New York restaurant by hungry school children whom the proprietor invited to a free feed is not an isolated case of rowdiness in the very young boys and girls of American cities and towns. These children were taken from the street and treated royally by a kind hearted host, and they returned his kindness by wrecking the restaurant. It cannot be argued that starvation had turned these children into lawless. Otherwise no satisfaction must be the rule among the boys and girls seen in the streets of most all cities and large towns. Their conduct is generally "rude to the point of rowdiness, and but for the presence of police or other guardians of order there would be no such savagism as that in the New York restaurant reported every day.

Children who get far away from home in the streets of large towns and mingle indiscriminately with the crowd soon lose veneration for their elders and respect for the rights of any one upon whom they think it is safe to impose. Often older boys and girls and even adults encourage rowdiness in the young as an evidence of spirit. Perhaps the entire restraint of the schoolroom has something to do with these too frequent outbreaks, an evil by no means confined to the children of the poorer class of homes. In fact, the middle class children are the most insolent and uncontrollable and the nearer they approach to the upper class the worse they are. These latter will respect the rights and decaencies of their own homes, but disregard the rights of all outside and thus set a bad example to those beneath them in the social scale.

This is the latest formula for sleeplessness: "Let the person first nuke himself limp like a cat and relax the body." Check all thought, save this one supreme sentence: "Sleeping through the brain, I am going to sleep." It's harmless at best.

So far not one of the presidential candidates has had a kind word for the wealthy manufacturer, but that harassed individual is still living in hopes.

Orators are all willing to eulogize George Washington. This is one of the advantages possessed by a statesman who no longer stands in anybody's way.

The report that King Leopold of Belgium is insane may be based on the fact that he deliberately passed up a chance to add to his wealth.

One of the great needs of civilization is something that will keep expensive clothing and battleships from going out of style in a single year.

England is thinking of establishing juvenile courts. We are showing the mother country a thing or two.

Railroads and the Law.

It is a common retort of railroad managers when criticized that the roads are ready to obey the laws when the interpretation and meaning are clear. In most all disputes between them and the public they assume the attitude of the innocent and aggrieved party. But it is to be noticed that they sometimes are busy in trying to get a clear interpretation and also in acting when the issue is put up to them. Almost two years have elapsed since Congress ordered interstate commerce roads to get out of the coal business and how that the period of grace is nearly up the roads have done nothing except to prepare to dispute the constitutionality of the act and have the matter in doubt when the time limit expires.

A similar disposition to delay action until the last minute and then have the law's operation delayed beyond the time limit has been shown by some roads in the matter of obeying the nine hour law. In the interests of public safety congress made the rule that men having to do with the dispatching of trains should not be on duty more than nine hours in twenty-four. It has been found that overworked operatives in this class have been responsible for many railroad accidents. It is a simple matter, the hiring of a few more men. But many of the roads waited until the act was about to become obligatory and then started in to work for an amendment, the operation of the existing law to be suspended meanwhile. It is a fair rule in all whole some discipline to obey first and protest afterward. When the railroads can show that they are obeying onerous and unjust laws and suffering for it, their pleas for a square deal may get a hearing before a public which is just now tired of being "billed."

A Crisis in the White Plague.

Patient investigations by Great Britain's medical inspectors show a marked decrease in very recent years of the number of deaths from tuberculosis. The decrease has been steady, and it is believed that the dread disease can be practically conquered in time, the same as leprosy and typhus fever. That result will be a boon to the human race as well as to the human form divine. The bare thought that an inconspicuous malady is slowly eating away human life is appalling, and the belief that consumption is incurable worries of thousands into hasty graves who would be cured if they would but believe.

It is the opinion of science that no mysterious agent devised by man can account for the lessening of the ravages of consumption. Rather the human race is being benefited by the violence of the hostile bacilli, combined with increased power of resistance in the average human frame. Men everywhere live better than they did a generation or two ago. The human race is better fed, better clothed, better housed, better protected from the violence of friendly microbes to meet the enemy halfway whenever he appears. More attention to the purity of milk and meat supplies is recommended, and it goes without saying that bracing the system and general observance of the principles of hygiene are the full human tissues against the microbes of this dread disease.

Exactly it is unsafe to reckon upon a painting permanently maintaining its value. The late Albert Bierstadt could command his own price for his canvases, but at a recent sale eighteen of his pictures were sold for $7,500, which is less than he often received for a single painting. There are many paintings on which high valuations have been placed by their owners which could not stand the ordeal of an auction sale. They are worth all they are represented to be until some one else is called in to assist in the work of fixing a price.

A schoolmaster of genius who happened to ere about money could probably make a fortune on the stock exchange, where knowledge of humanity is the essential thing. Henry Olsen was one of the most successful speculators in Europe.

It appears that Senator Tillman met Mr. Rockefeller in a Pullman car. It may be necessary for a simple man of the people to stick to the dry codices in order to avoid dangerous company.

It must discourage the anarchists to notice that it is never necessary to advertise for a capable man to tackle a king's job after they have created a vacancy.

It would be interesting to know whether the president is keeping up with his simplified spelling lessons as well as the manifold duties of his office.

As yet the New York to Paris automobile excursion doesn't seem to be taking the shine off the progress of the big fleet.

Poverty is only cured by hard work, and too many men regard the remedy as worse than the disease.

Perhaps after all that property eggs were hoodooed by the ceaseless casting over it.

At the Majestic.

Following the engagement of Miss Constance Crawley, the great English actress, at the Majestic theatre, Chicago, the early spring season will be notable by the appearance of many other stars, thus demonstrating anew the fact that any sort of competition wherever the Majestic management is always inclined to give its patrons full measures. Miss Cissie Loftus, the famous impersonator, is booked for an early appearance on which occasion she will give for the first time in a Chicago vaudeville theatre her full series of wonderful impersonations, Extra Victoria! the English music hall singer will also appear for the first time in a Chicago vaudeville theatre. Nat M. Willis has also been secured and his admirer will have an opportunity to see him in a playlet containing many laughs. For the week of March 2nd the Boston Follies Ladies Orchestra will return to the Majestic where the visits of this band have always been considered an event. The bill will also include McMahon's "Water Melon Girls," the Simon-Gardner Company in a funny farce and the four Harps, comely acrobats. Belle Davis and her Picaninies coming direct from the Palace theatre, London, will provide something in the way of new sensation and other specialty acts may be depended upon.

The Jumping Off Place.

"Consumption had me in its grasp, and I had almost reached the jumping off place when I was advised to try Dr. King's New Discovery; and I want to say right now, it saved my life. Vice and Goodness.
The natures of all men in equal station are not so widely varied as to present extremes of vice and goodness but by the effects of rearing and environment. Beautiful fancies and terrible gnomes do not stand by each infant's cradle sowing the nascent mind with tenderest graces or vilest errors. The slow attrition of vicious associations and law defying indulgences or the sudden impetus of some terribly multiplied and social disaster must have worn away the susceptibility of conscience and self respect or dashed the mind from the height of these down to the depths of despair and recklessness before one of ordinary life could take counsel with violence and crime.—Frederick A. Aiken.

Country Auto Mail Service.

In the counties of northeastern Ohio and the level portions of Pennsylvania north of Pittsburg a movement is on foot for the establishment of a rural automobile mail service. Fairly good roads and the absence of many steep hills make an automobile by far the quickest method of transportation. It is claimed that, in addition to the greater rapidity of the service, the cost of the machines will be more than offset by the greatly reduced number of carriers needed.

CAUGHT

The Big One That Did Not Get Away.

BRAND EX-MINISTER THIEF

ITALIAN SENATE CONVICTS NAZI OF EMBEZZLEMENT.

Former Head of Public Instruction Department Sent to Jail for Alleged Misdeeds.

Rome.—The senate sitting as a high court, after ten hours of deliberation, Monday convicted Nuzio Nuzi, former minister of public instruction, of embezzlement from the state treasury.

It sentenced him to 11 months and 20 days' imprisonment and forbade him from holding public office for four years and two months.

The punishment of Nuzi is not so severe as might appear, for the court found extenuating circumstances and permitted the imprisonment of the accused had already undergone to be subtracted from the sentence. This leaves only a few days for him to serve in prison. Nuzi's secretary, Lombardo, who also was on trial before the senate was acquitted for lack of evidence.

The former minister was greatly distressed at the verdict and exclaimed: "Even after commutation, I feel like an honest man."

Strong forces of police and soldiers guarded the building where the senators deliberated, armed guards, being placed at all entrances and even on the roof. No one was allowed to enter or leave the building until the court had reached its decision. On the announcement of the verdict there was a boisterous demonstration on the streets, several hundred persons crying: "Long live Nuzi!"

The seven ministers have been adopted to preserve order in Sicily, Signor Nuzi being a Sicilian, and very popular with all his people. Telephone communications with that country have been cut off to avoid the spread of incorrect reports. A large number of men who are considered dangerous by the police in the present emergency, have been arrested.

J., and the other three lay in a serious condition at that institution Sunday night.

Folk and their staffs, an official train of eight cars marking the formal opening of the $50,000,000 tunnel and submarine system linking New York and New Jersey, rolled out of the Manhattan terminal Tuesday two minutes after President Roosevelt at the White House had flashed the starting signal. Amid cheers from the throng assembled on the platform of the station the train rushed away on its journey underground beneath the hither-to unquenched Hudson to the Hoboken station, where there were for an hour much vocal fireworks and enthusiasm. Ten thousand persons perhaps witnessed the start.

CALLS ROAD SINS ISSUES.

President Truesdale of Southern Company in Warm April Report.

New York.—The underlying cause of all the "general indiscriminate abuses of the railways and their management" and of the "paralytic stroke" which they have suffered was attributed by W. H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad Tuesday to the alleged plans of the great political parties to make the sins of the railroads the leading political issue of the coming campaign. This statement was made in Mr. Truesdale's annual report to the stockholders of the road. He began by saying that the outlook for 1908 as respects railway earnings is anything but encouraging.

Linn formerly was clerk of the superior court and was caught grafting by means of stuffed pay rolls.

British Defense Estimates.

London.—The estimates for the British defense forces for the current year, which were issued Monday, will disappoint the peace party, for, instead of showing a reduction, as they had hoped, the combined estimates for the army and navy show an increase of $2,000,000, without apparent any prospect of considerable diminution in the future.

ECZEMA FOR 55 YEARS.

Suffered Torments from Birth—In Frightful Condition—Got No Help Until Cuticura Cured Him.

"I had an itching, tormenting eczema ever since I came into the world, and I am now a man 55 years old. I tried all kinds of medicines I heard of, but found no relief. I was truly in a frightful condition. At last I broke out all over with red and white boils, which kept growing until they were as big as walnuts, causing great pain and misery, but I kept from scratching as well as I could. I was so run down that I could hardly do my work. I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment, Resolvent, and Pills for about eight months, and I can truthfully say I am cured. Hale Bordwell, Tipton, Ia., Aug. 17, 1907."

"I cheerfully endorse the above testimonial. It is true. I know Mr. Bordwell. He has the condition he was in. Nelson R. Burnett, Tipton, Ia."

Running No Risk.

"What?" asks the maiden aunt. "Going to marry that Mr. Newsum? Why, you hardly know the man, Imogene. In the few days you have been acquainted with him you cannot possibly have learned anything of his family of antecedents or habits or personal circumstances."

"That is true, said Keturah. But you have always told me that in woman who knows anything about a man will marry him."—Success Magazine.

John Muir's Simplicity. Once, in a talk with E. H. Harriman, John Muir, author and ranchman, said that he was richer than Mr. Harriman. "I know what you mean," said Mr. Harriman, "but I won't admit it. Don't you think wealth is a good thing for a man?" "Not great wealth—no. Your rich man renounces too much. I would rather lie down at night by an old spring I know up in the Sierras than to own the Waldorf-Astoria—that is, if I had to live in it."—Bookman.

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always by the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.
