

BARRINGTON REVIEW.

VOL. 24. NO. 3.

BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS, FRIDAY, APRIL 10, 1908

$1.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

RESULTS OF ELECTIONS

Votes Cast and for Whom at the Village Primary and Township Elections.

VILLAGE PRIMARY

The village of Barrington primary election was held Saturday afternoon under the Australian system this year for the first time and the vote was the largest ever polled at the primaries, 307 votes being cast in five hours. With six candidates in the field for trustee and three to be elected and two candidates for village clerk, the contest was warm, especially as the fight was between the "wet" and "dry" parties. Plagge, Alverson and Dodge received the nomination for trustees and Bennett for clerk. The election was as follows: For trustees: John C. Plagge, 207; Henry Alverson, 190; T. J. Dockery, 127; Frank J. Alverson, 138; John C. Dodge, 147; Edward T. Martin, 133. For clerk: L. H. Bennett, 153; Roy C. Myers, 111. A petition has been filed bearing the names of Roy C. Myers for clerk and Edward T. Martin and T. J. Dockery for trustees.

It is said that the candidates who received the nomination are the ones endorsed by the "dry" faction.

The election will be held Tuesday, 21st.

CUBA TOWNSHIP ELECTION

The vote on the proposed one-cent gravel tax of sixty cents on each one hundred dollars was for and 14 against.

In Ela the only opposition was for supervisor, D. Huntington was a candidate against E. A. Fiske, the regular nominee. Mr. Fiske was elected by one majority. The balance of the ticket was as follows: town clerk, George Prussel; assessor, Fred Thies; collector, Edward Brockman; highway commissioner, Henry Popper, Jr.; school trustee, J. D. Fink; thistle commissioner, Henry Cordes.

WAUCONDA
E. W. Brooks, the regular nominee for supervisor was defeated by A. J. Raymond, candidate for position for re-election. J. P. Blanck was defeated by H. RETURNS FROM TRIP ABROAD

Rev. Father Fox Returned Saturday From a Five Months' Trip in Europe.

Rev. Father E. J. Fox, pastor of St. Ann's Catholic church returned last Saturday night from a five month's trip abroad. He left here early in November of last year with the intention of reaching Bethlehem, Judea, by Christmas Eve in order to read mass at midnight at the birthplace of Christ. This desire he accomplished after overcoming the many difficulties connected with securing this permission from the authorities. He also visited holy places where Jesus spent his life on earth.

Besides viewing the Holy Lands, Father Fox traveled through surrounding countries, Egypt, countries of northern Africa and southern Europe, France and England, experiencing all the wonders and trials of travel abroad, being many times hindered on his way by quarantine, due to the wide existence of disease in the countries through which he passed.

An audience with Pope Pius at Rome was granted him and permission given him to bestow the "Papal Benediction" on the members of the parish here the highest honor that can be conferred on a Catholic congregation.

This would leave a balance in the hands of the treasurer of $809.62, with the special assessment fund which is held to satisfy outstanding bonds.

The bills for April are estimated at about $800, which includes the treasurer's commission. This will leave a small balance of less than $200 in the hands of the treasurer to meet bills for the current year in case the local option question carries. General bonds amounting to $2,000 become due July 1, which must be paid out of the general fund. The tax levy the past year was at the rate of $2.00 on each $100 assessed value which is six cents more than the limit allowed by law. Just how our village will meet the predicament is hard to guess.

The appointment of Edward Peters as marshal and Fred Jahnzohn as night watchman for the balance of the year was approved. Trustee Peters thought the night man should assist the marshal in work on the streets.

There was much talk and little business and Trustee Daniels moved to adjourn. The motion carried.

At the board meeting Monday evening, a plan of addition to the present cemetery was approved by the board. The additional ground is part of the former Downing property.

Chicago.—Friends and foes of the saloon met in a bitter struggle Tuesday night to determine the end of the saloon in the state. They fought over the question of the abolition of more than 3,000 saloons in 1,200 townships of the state. Estimates from the headquarters tent of the rival chiefs vary seriously as to the details of the result. Conservative figures placed the number of saloons abolished at 1,014, and 25 Illinois counties are added to the "dry" list.

The returns as they were received Tuesday night indicate that 535 in incorporated cities and villages are now in anti-saloon territory; and that 262 incorporate municipalities, in 100 townships which had turned to become anti-saloon territory Tuesday, and that 1,014 saloons were "put out of business" by Tuesday's vote.

The net majority against the saloons, estimated on the returns from the township voting, is 37,348.

In the face of these figures, representatives of the liquor interests say not more than 400 saloons were wiped out, while the anti-saloon forces claim less than 2,000 will have to cease business.

The supporters of the saloons expressed themselves as well satisfied with the returns, insisting that nearly every one of the larger cities where they had centered their defensive fight remain in the "wet" column.

Saloons Driven Out.

As was the case last November, southern Illinois made an astonishing showing. In the coal belt of Egypt practically every saloon was voted out and entire counties became anti-saloon territory. This was the case with large parts of Franklin county, where both sides had lined up for the hardest struggle in the state south of Springfield.

In Franklin county is Benton and a string of coal mining villages, including Joe Lester's town of Ziegler.

The county voted solidly against the saloon.

Christian County, in which are Pana and Taylorville, astonished both the saloon leaders and the foes of the liquor trade by carrying every township against licenses and sweeping out a large batch of saloons.

Decatur, the capital of the "Wet" State, remained, voted against the saloons by almost 1,000 majority and in Macon county 67 saloons went by the board.

Mattoon and Carlton both joined the dry ranks and Coles county is a solid dry spot.

Shelby county is another battle-ground which turned to the "dry" side.

As a result of the election there is not a single saloon which will exist within a radius of 30 miles of Shelbyville after the terms of the law are placed in operation.

The liquor allies point with great satisfaction to the result in Madison county, where the saloon was voted out, and was carried by their opponents.

A bitter fight had been made in Alton, Edwardsville and in the "Tri-Cities," where there are scores of great manufacturing industries.

The vote was close in some of the cities, but the saloon forces did not mass sufficient strength to overcome the line-up of the saloon men.

Kewanee and Canton were bright spots for the liquor men, they carrying the form by 246 and the latter by 216.

Peoria, though hard by the big Peoria diastrophes, had been looked upon as doubtful, but went in favor of the saloons by 250.

Mareno, the home of Speaker Shurtliff, who presided at Springfield while the local option bill was working its tortuous way through the legislature, was carried in favor of the saloons by 12 votes.

Safe Bowers Foiled in Canada.

St. Catharine, Ont.—Three men, supposed to have come from Buffalo, had gained access to the Imperial bank at St. Catharine Tuesday morning and attempted to break open a safe, which was bolted and padlocked. A large explosion roared the village and while the whole population was held at bay by two of the robbers with revolvers, the third man lit another fuse and tried vainly to get the door of the safe open. Finally they drove off toward Niagara Falls, two of them covering the villagers with their guns.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Barrington, Illinois.

FRIDAY, APRIL 10, 1908

Books of Anarchy.

Secretary Straus at the head of the department of commerce and labor, hit the true note recently with regard to the seeds of discontent which breed anarchy. Discussing our development as a nation, he said, "There are no greater enemies to this system of ours than those who make an effort to substitute socialist vagaries for law and religion." As Mr. Straus observed in the same connection, we are not perfect in our institutions and policy, but we have not reached our ideals and are slowly tolling toward them. Anarchy springs primarily, in this country at least, from a want of faith in the national good faith with respect to its ideals. The impatient sociologist will not wait for evolution to bring on the millennium. He wants to get there by a short cut.

No doubt many anarchists are destructive by nature. They don't want to build better or they would find abundance of unoccupied room for new structures. Said one of the followers of the red flag in Park's a generation ago, "The way to help France is to kill 2,000,000 people right away." They were not killed, yet life for the French masses has grown better every year since the flag of anarchy was virtually launched from the republic. The native anarchist is of weak mind. He is like a child who wants his toy right away. Due to his own morbid thinking, he is further imposed upon by the normal yet misapplied thinking of well meaning teachers and philosophers who seek to substitute vagaries for inexorable laws. Men like Robert Hunter are honest in the belief that things are not ideally right in this country. But there are tens of thousands equally honest and capable thinkers in the public in sanctuaries, in libraries, in halls, in clubs, in homes and colleges who believe the same thing. The difference is that they are working in silence to make that ideal a reality some day. The Robert Hunters admit that progress must be slow. But their well-informed students impressed by the responsibility and learning of the "parlor Socialists," think the cause must be right or honorable men would not speak for it and, being right, can't come to a head too soon. Like the French "red," they can see progress only in killing and destroying. It is one thing to teach progress on a forty plane and another thing to teach it in a manner and in a place calculated to incite war and revolution.

To Make the Army Over.

There seems to be as wide a divergence of opinion as to the best kind of army as there is to the best kind of different types of warships. A bill is before congress which, if it should become a law, would turn the ranks of the regular establishment toper turvy. The bill limits the time of the enlisted man to five years and would thus create an army of citizens instead of an army of professional soldiers, as the tendency is at present.

The new increased rate of pay for enlisted men found favor because it was argued that it enables the service to compete with the civilian labor market and keep the ranks filled. Premium is offered to men to stay with the colors even up to twenty and thirty years. The new bill copies the German plan of a single term of service, the recruit to be instructed in callings they will follow in civil life and sent back to their homes capable mechanics, farmers and business men. The maximum age at enlistment is fixed at twenty-one, and the time devoted to drill would be limited to just what is required to keep the men up to minuteness and train them to the use of arms.

The ease with which a certain French "noblemen" with a highly spiced reputation gained admittance to this country recently suggests the need of further amendment of our immigration laws. Last year a young woman who belonged, as it was alleged, in the same class on the other side was promptly deported as soon as her presence here and her European record were made known to the officials.

This disposition to treat George Washington as an ordinary human being makes it terrible to think of what would be said if he were in a position to interfere with anybody's present political prospects.

It may be admitted, without violence to our feelings of pride and patriotism that the United States navy, like everything else in this world, has not reached a point when it cannot be improved upon.

It would probably stave off international jars now and then if European monarchs would consent to come over here and pick just the diplomats, suit them and be done with it.

Uncle Sam's Wild Horse Pest. With the exception of the forests, the government is overrunning the government national forests, and the authorities in Washington are besieged with petitions from stockmen and farmers begging them to put a stop to the nuisance. Every herd is a pest to the owners of vegetation and domestic stock. Neither the forest rangers nor any other employees of the government have been told to destroy the horses, and unless they do receive such orders they will continue their energies to fencing crops from the trespassing animals or rounding them up when they appear and threaten damage to the range. Indeed, if half the stories current at the capital are true all the rangers in Uncle Sam's service would have little chance of surviving the big country that they now occupy over the national ranges. Within the last few years they have increased to such an extent that in many localities they are classed as "varmints," with wolves, wildcats and grizzlies, and every man's rifle is turned against them. No fence is strong enough to stop these horses, and when they appear in force they have even been known to knock down and kill cows and calves. After each visitation from a herd the ranchman is likely to mourn the loss of his domestic horses, and it requires only a few days' association with their new companions for the best broken animals to become as wild as their immediate comrades.

The wild horse problem is only one of the many which stockmen have to contend with which the government is trying in one way or another to solve on the ranges of the national forests. Predatory animals such as wolves, coyotes, mountain lions and wildcats, do thousands of dollars' worth of damage to stock each year in all parts of the country. On some ranges forest officers have to contend with rustlers, who sometimes succeed in stealing the greater part of the stock which the predatory animals do not kill. Poisoned plants are another nuisance which give the stockmen considerable trouble in many parts of the country. Uncle Sam has always shown a disposition to cooperate with the stockmen in combating these nuisances. In fact, he is doing better than merely meeting the stockman halfway in the work. On many of the national forest ranges for the last year rangers and guards have been assigned to the work of hunting and trapping with the sole aim of killing off the animals that prey upon stock. The work has met with marked success, and hundreds of wolves and coyotes have succumbed to the bullets and the poison of the hunters. Each nation will demand a decided share of the hunting rights, it is estimated that one wolf and one coyote will eat about $1000 damage each year.

Forest officers are co-operating with the stock associations to stop the stealing of live stock and run the rustlers out of the country. The war on palisades has been carried on for more than a year by the forest service in co-operation with the bureau of plant industry, and, while the investigations have just been begun, it is already seen that their effort can be checked in many states. If it is possible to check the wild horse nuisance, the bill should be passed.

If it is possible to check the wild horse nuisance, the bill should be passed.

Summer stock companies have multiplied during the last few seasons, but the indications for this year are that the number throughout the country will be more than doubled. They will offer good play, with good casts, at reasonable prices. One advantage of the system is that plays are selected to suit the locality where they are to be performed, and not primarily because they accidentally scored a hit some time somewhere else.

Once a while that anti-race subtile, like in a sit-down, for instance, when a sum of $25,000,000 is to be affected by the birth of a ninth heir that the other heirs stand to lose about $3,000,000 to the new arrival.

Railways are issuing orders against profanity among employees. If passengers can surely outgo.

Anyway, it will be much nicer to have the kaiser "de-ee-lighted" when he receives our ambassador in Berlin than the opposite.

Wireless telegraphy is past the experimental stage, but wireless politics has not even reached that stage yet.

Some men are convinced that they are not fools till they remember the love letters they have written.

You Should See It.

These have been great days for the circuses of Chicago, and Ringling Brothers are mighty and daily packing the big coliseum building. A large percentage of the attendees are out-of-town people from all parts of Illinois and adjoining states. One man has been kept busy laying aside tickets on money-orders applications.

And the performers have not lacked for excitement. On the opening night the automobile double somersault in mid-air failed to materialize because at the final rehearsal Mile La Bell Radie was stalled with a coast steel when the heavy car landed on the platform. The act is now going with terrific success, and is pronounced the greatest of all thrillers.

On Saturday a family of acrobats, a clown, a herd of trained elephants, Pier Buck and his dogs and a herd of camels went to the county hospital and gave in costume on the lawn in the chills while a circus performance to the public. The clown, who was unable to withstand the cold, fell down. Last Sunday Crete's the midnight sunkeeper awoke to find a surprise in her circus hall and invited guests in honor of her ninetieth birthday. She made a speech, standing in the center of the table. She is only seventeen inches tall. George Ade was one of the speakers. The banquet was held in the manager's room.

So far this has been the most successful season the Ringlings have ever given in Chicago. Special performances are being given for out-of-town visitors at which souvenirs of the twenty-fifth anniversary season of the show are presented to outlanders. The engagement closes April 22.

Japan's Ocean Commerce.

Advised from Tokyo seem to indicate that the authorities in Japan are not slow to avail of the first dash the imminent ocean trade of the orient. Immediately after the war with Russia great carrying lines were projected for the purpose of wresting the freight traffic of the Pacific from other nations. Big enterprises naturally appealed to a people that had come out gloriously in a conflict with one of the great powers. One monster ship combined organized in Japan to operate new lines on the Pacific never got beyond the paper stage, and a vast amount of energy was spent in merely dreaming of the glory and profit to accrue from a practical monopoly of ocean commerce on one side of the world. This huge fizzle, led the Japanese to take second thoughts, and they and the field and port authorities were more than filled and paid very small. Smaller companies continued in the wake of the big companies have obtained or continued these enterprises with a small share of the business of the world. The Japanese are not slow to learn, however, and have now turned to government subsidies, and, though already in debt, the government has not been able to turn the tide. The government and new enterprises and may be expected to drop some of the obligations of this nature already assumed.

The new restrictions placed upon immigration from the miyako's region are a blow for the ocean carrying companies. We know in this country what a lift immigrant fares have been for steamship companies and railroads. The tourist traffic now makes up in large measure for the relative decline in profits from immigrants. The method was never great, is on the decrease and without profitable business, the steamship companies have to continually struggle for a profit. New tariffs are imposed on imports which Japan is adopting are temporarily disturbing ocean trade, and freight is not to be reckoned on as a warrant for increasing the capacity of the steamship lines. In the end it will probably appear that the lines already operating will be satisfied with small returns and not be interested in the Pacific trade.

A freight on the C. & N. W. was wrecked near the water tank at about one o'clock Monday night. With the intention of stopping for water the engineer shut down too quickly, which threw the cars together and smashed an old cattle car which was too weak to stand the sudden jar. The wrecker was sent for and the track cleared. As the car was empty no damage, other than breaking of the car, was done.

CASH FOR WATERWAY

People of Illinois Will Vote on the Proposition at the November Election.

ARGUMENTS OF GOV. DEENEEN

Give Facts in Magazine Article Why the Twenty Million Dollar Bond Issue Should Be Adopted by People of State.

Springfield, Ill., April 7.—Compelling arguments in support of the proposition for a $20,000,000 state bond issue, for the purpose of developing the Great Lakes and Mississippi waterway project are presented by Governor Deeneen in an article appearing in the current issue of a technical magazine. At the general election next November the people of Illinois will vote on a constitutional amendment being necessary before public funds may be used for this purpose. Governor Deeneen writes of the situation as follows:

"By adopting a constructive policy with regard to the waterways of the state, the people of Illinois will be in a position to make a large contribution to the wealth-producing water power project which must be regarded as essentially and inherently the properties of the whole people, and, as such, improperly possessed by a few to the dispassion of the many."

"The people of the state, keenly alive to the worth of their waterways, have been compelled to accept that the official attitude of the wealth-producing water power project.

"A highway for commerce and as producers of power the streams of Illinois have a value which even now is but vaguely comprehended. As producers of power on turbine wheels the rivers must be considered by engineers as valuable assets, and rough estimates, as representing an investment of $175,000,000.

Will Earn Millions Annually.

"In the project of river reclamation upon which the state has entered, dealing with only two of the streams, power is represented by a conservative estimate at $10,000,000, or by a not unreasonable estimate, an investment of $80,000,000 are involved, being capable of returning to the state from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 annually."

"As carriers of commerce and as producers of power the streams of Illinois have a value which even now is but vaguely comprehended. As producers of power on turbine wheels the rivers must be considered by engineers as valuable assets, and rough estimates, as representing an investment of $175,000,000.

Mr. Conley, whose qualifications guarantee his estimates, places the total available in rivers, which would be developed immediately for domestic, industrial and agricultural use.

"This can be regarded reasonably as worth $25 per horsepower per annum to the state, or more power a mile in front of every period which can be taken to represent the time when a discussion of the project. They may keep the idea in a vague condition until the proper time for the legislature to act.

"The fear that the attention of the state, when it comes to take up the cause, will be diverted to the question of the navigability will be dispelled by the prospect of quicker financial returns from water power development than the neglect of the value of the streams.

"It is only recently that the two great projects for the complete utilization of the water wealth of the state have been proposed in Congress. They were, when the present opportunity addition to voting to submit the constitutional amendment for the federal legislation, which the navigability bill will bring to a standstill.

"Mr. Conley reports further that the Illinois and Michigan canal has been estimated to add $20,000,000 to its revenue.

"The two rivers with which the state is concerned—the Illinois and the Mississippi—have a value which will permit the state to add $10,000,000 to its revenue.

"Mr. Conley reports further that the Illinois and Michigan canal has been estimated to add $20,000,000 to its revenue.

Lure of the Pole

Vast Unknown Area at North Pole a Challenge to Man

By EXPLORER ROBERT E. PEARY, U. S. N.

So long as the 2,000,000 square miles of unknown area at the north pole and the 3,000,000 square miles at the south pole are unvisited by civilized men they are a challenge and a reproach to manhood.

In our next expedition the general plans of the last expedition will be followed, with some important variations based on our experiences then. Sailing from New York in the Roosevelt in June or not later than the first of July, we should reach Greenland between August 25 and September 15.

Thence the way lies along the west coast of Greenland, through Baffin Bay, Smith Sound and Kane Basin, with Ellesmere land to the westward. This will bring us to Kennedy and Robeson Channels, passing through which we expect to gain our old winter quarters at Cape Sheridan. This is in Grant Land, west of Greenland. It is one of the northernmost regions of solid ground known to man.

Early in February we will start from Cape Sheridan for the north. The journey to the pole should be under way in good earnest by the early days of March. Our equipment will be practically the same as in the expedition of 1905-1906. I want to have 200 dogs, 25 sledges and 25 men, with parties of Eskimo assistants from Whale Bay similar to those in the previous expedition. The journey to the north by sledge should consume 100 to 120 days. We should be back on the mainland some time in June, 1909.

From all the scientists know, and from all the inferences to be based upon that knowledge, the first white man to stand at the north pole will not see a scene very different from those traversed by most explorers in the Arctic. It is not likely that there will be even a mound of ice to mark the actual pole.

The man standing at the pole, though, will look upon a marvelous and novel scene from the astronomical standpoint. He will see the sun, like a wheel of fire, circling the horizon like a wheel instead of rising and setting. From day to day it will gradually ascend higher and higher in a flattened spiral.

The sun will appear above the horizon on March 22 at the vernal equinox. It will not set for six months. On June 22, at the summer solstice, it will be highest in the heavens. Then it will slowly descend lower and lower until the disc disappears on September 22.

At night, too, the stars will be a curious sight. Only those in the northern celestial sphere, of course, are visible there. Directly overhead—not precisely, but nearly so—will be the polar star. Only it will be fixed. All the others revolve in widening circles. The stars on the horizon will always be there.

Upward Trend of Morality

By HON. P. J. DOLLIVER,
U. S. Senator from Iowa.

There has grown up in the last few years in the United States a criticism directed against the entire fabric of the social and political order which we have inherited from our fathers. The criticism is not aimed at the defects of society or at the abuse of government, but at the foundation upon which the entire platform of our social and political order has been comfortably resting for uncounted generations; and that school of criticism, it seems to me, is undertaken for the purpose of propagating its theories, to overstate, to exaggerate the defects and infirmities of our affairs, until millions of people are sad in their hearts because they think American institutions are going steadily to the bad, though some of my warm friends seem to think so.

I myself am a humble but not reluctant witness to the gradual rise of the moral level of public life. When I first went to Washington, a country youth from one of the cornfield districts in Iowa, I had many high notions of the dignity of the government of the United States, especially the house of representatives and senate. I shall never forget the sense of shame and humiliation that entered my heart when I saw drunken men staggering around the floor of the house and within the precincts of the senate chamber of the United States. To-day such a spectacle is morally incredible. I was amazed to see the public saloon in full blast in connection with the house of representatives and senate.

Within 20 years since then those odious institutions have been abolished by the unanimous vote of both houses, not only in the capital but in all the public buildings of the United States throughout the world. Twenty years ago you could not post a regiment of the army of the United States at home or abroad without the first thing opening an ordinary American saloon for retailing intoxicating liquors, sometimes cheerfully described under the curious title of the army canteen, and for service in the little institution our soldier boys were detailed in their uniform to wait on brethren—boys from the Y. M. C. A. or from the Sunday school in the uniform of the United States army. I saw congress abolish that institution by a practically unanimous vote of both houses, and while I notice in the newspapers evidence that some officers of the army expect to see that institution revived under authoritative national legislation, I have made up my mind that they will be the retired list before that ever comes to pass.

After all, in my opinion, the largest evidence of the moral progress of the American people lies in the recognition, now well nigh universal, that at the bottom all the problems of society are not simply problems of politics and government but are in reality questions of applied religion. There is no unanswered question in legislation that is not answered in the gospel of Christ. Those mighty problems that have brought our philosophy and statesmanship almost to a standstill, if they have any solution at all, will find it in the practical application to the daily life of this world of that ancient law which we have inherited from our fathers and mothers, the law of Christ revealed to the world in the gospel.

And for that reason it is with hope and courage that we look toward the future; and I venture to predict that the time is at hand, nearer than we know, when we shall realize that the world in which we are living, in its literature, its law, in the building of cities, in the employing of labor, in the investment of money, and in its civilization, is only a house of prayer and every man is a brother.

WARNING SHOWN IN CAB.
Almost Perfect Signal Apparatus on Prussian Railroads.

The numerous railroad accidents which have recently occurred in Germany because of the failure of engineers to observe the signals, have caused the German railroad administration, after numerous trials of various devices, to introduce an entirely new signal apparatus.

In cases of fog it has often happened that the locomotive engineer could not distinguish on which side of the track the signal was, and has passed over on his way. The purpose of the new invention is to bring directly before the eyes of the engineer the warning that in a short time a signal may be expected. So soon as the apparatus acts, he is notified that he will see a signal within a short time, and he can then discern whether the signal is to stop or go ahead, he must halt his train and go to the signal mast for instructions.

The apparatus is as follows: At a fixed distance from the signal mast a parallel iron bar with a slot space between them are mounted along the track for several yards. There is attached to the locomotive a beam which carries a bright brass made of pliable copper wires. The passage of this beam between the iron bars causes a current which is intense and free from concussion. An electrical action follows upon the mechanism in the cab, a bell sounds, and a white slide replaces a red. The sign remains plainly visible to the eye until the engine passes the bar. He knows definitely that a signal is to be expected, and if he cannot clearly make out the order intended, will stop the train.

THE RAILROADS OF AFRICA.

Only 14,000 Miles on the Entire Continent—A Boom in Sight.

Railroad building in tropical countries has been exceedingly slow. Less than ten per cent of the mileage of the world is in tropical or subtropical countries. Africa is second to South America, with 14,000 miles, as shown by figures compiled by the department of commerce and labor. The largest construction is in the north and south extremes of the continent. Egypt with more than 3,200 miles and Cape Colony with more than 3,000 miles. There is promise of an unusually large increase in railroad mileage in the next few years on those parts of the continent entirely or partly in control of England.

Odyssey in Railroading.

"Within the last ten years," said a prominent railroad official, "the American railroads have done much for time aside from using faster locomotives. This has been through the shortening of lines and reconstruction of surveys in order to make a given line as straight as possible between two points. It makes time by saving distance."

"A railway without a curve or cutting is, of course, a splendid thing from an engineering standpoint, but it is a very tedious affair to the passenger."

"To thoroughly realize how much time a long journey on a railroad with a straight line cutting through the country travel on the road from Buenos Ayres to the Andes. That railroad has more than 200 miles of track perfectly straight and through a country perfectly flat. It is awful to ride over it. The longest stretch of straight track I ever saw is in the El Paso and Gulf Shore railroad beginning at a point three miles west of Toledo, O., and running 69 miles without a curve."

Much Money to Save.

In order to gain a point on the other, the longest bridge in the world was constructed by a railroad. It is the famous Lucid bridge across Salt Lake, in Utah. It consists of 12 miles of trestlework, and is well known to travelers between the east and west coasts. This bridge cost about two hours the round trip. While it did not cost as much as some more recent enterprises, still the expenditure represented a charge against time of about $35,000 a minute.

Big Bridge Built of Concrete.

A railroad has constructed the largest concrete bridge in the world. It spans the Santa Ana river near Riverside, Cal., is 60 feet high, 1,000 feet long, and contains 13,000 cubic yards of concrete. Its cost was great, but it saves the miners the cost of trams in the making of train schedules.

Important Chinese Road.

The railroad between Tientsin and Lanchow is to be built without delay. This road, one of the most important links of the Chinese railway system, will be 900 miles in length and for the greater part of its course will parallel the Grand canal.

RAISED FROM A SICK BED.

After Being an Invalid with Kidney Disorders for Many Years.

John Armstrong, Gloverport, Ky., says: "I was an invalid with kidney complaints for many years, and cannot tell what agony I endured from bad aches. My legs were swollen twice the natural size and my sight was weakening. The kidney secretions were discolored and had a strong smell. When I wished to eat my wife had to raise me up in bed. Physicians were unable to help me and I was going down fast when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. After a short time I felt a great improvement and am now as strong as a man could be. I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit for it."

THE PART HE PREFERRED.

Subtle Meaning in Poet's Criticism of Decolte Costume.

Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Heron, is something of a recluse, but rarely comes into San Francisco, but when he does he is made a good deal of a noise. On his last visit he was one of the guests at a rather formal dinner at a friend's house where he recited over his poem. His host had known the poet since his childhood, so she felt privileged, next morning, to discourse to him of the beauties of the Parisian gown she had worn the night before, which seemed to have impressed his imagination.

Mr. Miller listened to the poet that she had to say and remained silent.

"But didn't you really like the dress?" pleaded the lady.

"Well," replied the poet, "I did like the gown enough."

The lady broke out.

"Indeed?" she said. "What part?"

"The part you had on," answered the poet; and that ended the discussion.—Lippincott's.

Engle, mail clerk, of Danville, and A. H. Marshall, student, of Alton. The train was running eastward. All of the cars left the track with the exception of the diner. The mail coach and the smoker turned turtle.

PATTISON SEEKS GOVERNORSHIP.

Douglas Pattison of Freeport, who announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor, is minority leader of the lower house of the general assembly. He was born in Freeport in 1870 and is a graduate of his graduation from the law school he was admitted to the Illinois bar and opened practice in his native city. He served as corporation counsel for Freeport and in 1892 was elected to the house of representatives, in which he has held a seat ever since. When the Democrats organized at the beginning of the forty-fifth assembly Mr. Pattison was selected as minority leader with little opposition.

Good Humor and Cheerfulness from Right Food.

Cheerfulness is like sunlight. It drives the clouds from the mind as sunlight chases away the shadows of night.

The good humored man can pick up and carry off a load that the grumpy would not attempt to lift.

Anything that interferes with good health is apt to keep cheerfulness and good humor in the background. A Washington lady found that letting coffee alone made things bright for her. She writes:

"For a long time ago I was practically given up by my doctor and was not expected to live long. My nervous system was in a bad condition."

"But I was young and did not want to die so I began to look about for the cause of my nervous trouble and found it was nervousness which would exhaust me and after each spell it would take me days before I could sit up in a chair."

"I became convinced my trouble was caused by coffee, so I decided to stop it and began to come along."

"The first cup, which I made according to directions, had a soothng effect on my nerves and I liked the taste. For a time I nearly lived on Postum and ate little food besides. I am today a healthy, happy, cheerful woman."

"My family and relatives wonder if I am the same person I was four years ago, when I could do no work on account of nervousness. Now I am doing my own housework, take care of two babies, two year old, and a 10 month old. I am able to get time to write a letter, yet I do it all with the cheerfulness and good humor that comes from enjoying good health."

Heise's Given Reception.

The reception tendered by the citizens of Barrington to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Heise, at the Methodist church on Tuesday evening was a success notwithstanding the rain. There were nearly a hundred persons present. First came a short program of music and addresses.

There was an invocation after which Harry Brown sang a solo. This was followed by remarks from Rev. G. F. Mattison, W. W. Holman, George W. Richardson, S. J. Farnan and Henry J. Lapham, all speaking of the good work done by Mr. Heise since he has been a citizen of Barrington. Mr. Heise made response, thanking his friends for their kind words. Arnett Lines sang a solo, and the Misses Blocks and Sodl furnished a vocal duet. Dr. Richardson acted as chairman. At the conclusion of the program there was a social hour with refreshments and games by the young folks and others. Mr. and Mrs. Heise received many expressions of good will from the large number present.

Mr. Heise left for the northwestern part of Canada Wednesday evening and will be gone for several months. He will probably change his residence permanently, as soon as suitable arrangements can be made.

At the Majestic.

Vesta Victoria, the most famous of all English music hall stars, is the engagement, extraordinary at the Majestic theatre, Chicago, for the week of April 1st. Miss Victoria has succeeded in capturing more stage than any other entertainer of herself. On the same bill there will also be an array of artists covering almost the entire field of variety—Violet Dale, a charming American singer and impersonator, is one of the chief features. The Melati trio, of instrumentalists and vocalists, whose comedy is exceptional are ranked among the very best of the high class entertainers. Mason and Shannon, the famous farceurs, have to offer a brilliant comedy sketch which is said to be packed full of fun and laughter, and the Guaschimida brothers and the remarkable Ben Hassan Arabs will show what remarkable skill and training can accomplish when applied by experts to the manner-born. The Two Pucks, skilled dancers, and Gertrude Des Roche, a pretty little singing soubrette and dancer, contribute another element of novelty to the bill, which will also include a number of other smart acts calculated to make this a typical Majestic bill.

Death Was on His Heels.
Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1896. He says: An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at Barrington Pharmacy. 50¢ and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Government Lands Offered.

A number of exceptional opportunities will be offered this spring by the Government for enterprising and intelligent farmers to secure choice farms on a dozen or more large irrigation projects which are now nearing completion. Owing to the rapid narrowing of the limits of the unoccupied public domain, it is doubtful if these opportunities will ever occur again.

Uncle Sam has 412 choice 40-acre farms in Montana which he offers today, at very easy terms, to practical farmers who are citizens of the United States. These farms lie in a portion of the agricultural sections of the Northwest. Each is located within three miles of a railroad, and each is irrigated by one of the best irrigation systems in the world.

A letter addressed to The Statistician, U. S. Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C., will secure full information concerning the location, soil, climate, crop possibilities and terms of disposal.
