Modern Ship Disasters.

In the recent disastrons collision it took fifteen minutes to get a lifebast of the parkenger steamer St. Paul in the water. After twenty-five minutes for the parkenger steamer St. Paul in the water. After twenty-five minutes for the boats saved many immediately. The steamer liself did not sink, and the boats saved many lives. But had the vessel, good down as swiftly as is sometimes the case the loss of life would have been appalling. In the navy cannatites to modern ships during the month of April cost as many lives as should be lost in a brisk set sight.

It is stariling to think that all the attention of the experts who design ships is fixed upon speed and execution, with little regard for the human lives exposed. A ship is always place of peril, for if anything happens there is the watery grave yawning, langenuity and money are squandered to get an extra knot of speed for the liner and to facilitate quick fring for the warship. If seems to be taken for granted that all who travel years are in a desperate hurry and that in a sea fight it is primarily a question of bistoric batties at sea is that the celerity must be in the head of the commander and the hands of the crew. The famous Monitor was a slow acting craft all through, and her victory was due to be in human colling. Prills are not meefel in a fight; staylog-flow-ever are demanded. The pugillat who is expert at fancy motions utilinately gives down before the man who can cland populing and be ready to strike when the time course.

During the voyage to the California coest the flect larmed 133,000 tons of coest the flect larmed 133,000 tons of coest the flect larmed 133,000 tons of coest coesting about 50% flows. As the distance from San Francisco, it is a cattenated that the ships will be a standard that the ships will be a should the same amount of fleel on the setura trip—that is to say, the tour of the world will result in the consumption of at least 20,000 tons of coal, at a cost of $2,000,000.

In view of the creation by the pro-visional governor of a native army to maintain peace in Cuba there ought to be an end to the snapideon that the United States proposes to withdraw from the island in the expectation of having to go back shortly for good.

Judging by the time required for the fleet to work its way through the round of festivities on the California coast, the task was as difficult as the rounding of South America.

The kaiser accidentally singed his peuriling mustache and thus set a sev fashion in Germany, which it is be hoped will be of the stay at once brand. would be in a much better mind if some competent court clare be for the relation of the stay at the cannot amend the revolution had it is we cannot amend the revolution had it for the clare the Chinese beyords if the rules of international law.

Recraits For Honsework.

New York gets the first chance at the immigrant girls who come to America to do housework. For yours past there have been few floaters of this class to get far into the interior. Demand in the east has been greater than the supply. Now, however, it appears from the report of the officials that the demand has fallen so rapidly that the semployment agencies have more applicants at the agencies are more applicants at the agencies are not all raw newcomber from Europe. Some of them have worked for employers here the hast few years and have been set adrift by the hard times, which force some families to dispense with luxuries. Of inte honsework women have been inxuries, for they could command from $20 to $30 a month. Wages have been cut thy the city families for the help which is retained, and practically the worker is now seeking the job and not the job the worker. During good times wages in stores and factories have tempted many women to leave the honsehold, but this field is now closel to them. Help has been to leave the honsehold, but this field is now closel to them. Help has been to the field hands, and the unemployed women of the cities will be welcomed in the country if they are reasonable in their demands for wages.

Woman's Power of Speech.

A woman won the prize for oratory at Cornell. She spoke for the rights of her sex. It is said that eloquence is logic on fire. After three generations of that "brooding" which strengthen courtclons American wo men have couse to an understanding of their true status. They have a battle to fight, and it is not strange that mow and then one among them should be fired with the power of eloquence. Every great cause uitimately finds eloquent champions among those whose vital interests are at stake Mark Antony was no orator before an audience accustomed to spelithinders like Brutus and Cassius, but all the similar that which set all Rome to hywling. The set of oratory is as deflocratic as all the states of the set of the set

"The poem which has been parodied most," says the Boston Globe, "is the most," says the Boston Globe, "is the most about Mary's little lamb. Next comes "Maud Muller." Next comes "Maud Muller." Next comes "Mann Devere." But Long, fellow's "Hiswaths" and Foe's "Belly-got into the race early and seem not to have been neglected.

Those who are dying to know what will happen at the Chicago and Den-ver conventions should remember that the happenings will let loose an army of campaign spellbinders anyway.

The congress to promote moral education, which is to meet in London will have to lay out a big programme if, it expects to beat the churches and schools in this well tilled field.

The Saloon in Switzerland.

Consul Mansfeld's report from Lucerne upon the system of controlling the saloons in the republic of Switzerland, so special interest of switzerland is of special interest at this time. Every canton is locally governeous bars, granting ilcenses according to the locality. In some towns and citize there may be one saloon to every 200 inhabitants and in trust districts only one to 1,000 people or even inore.

The ilcense fee varies and in the canton of Lucerne ranges from $50 up to $1,200 people or even inore.

The license fee varies and in the canton of Lucerne ranges from $50 up to $1,200 people or even inore.

The license fee varies and in the canton of Lucerne ranges from $50 up to $1,200 per annum. All revenue from the truffle is devoted to school and road purposes.

The rules governing the saloons in Switzerland are very strict, and any infringement results in a forfeiture of the license. As the number of il-censes is restricted, the possession of one constitutes a valuable framehies, and the holder is bound by self interest to obey the law. The consult states exist to obey the law. The consult states that the irresponsible element abuses that the irresponsible element abuses that the irresponsible element abuses the saloon privilege, and it is this element chiefly which has brought the saloon under the band on the sountry.

Mrs. Benbam-Don't you think I were a supplication of the license.

Mrs. Benham-Don't you think I. write as I talk? Benham-I think you would if you had paper enough, -Pick-Me-Up.

India as a Storm Center.

Peace is threatened in India in two quarters far apart. In the northwest trouble has been impending since the date of the Anglo-Russian treaty, and Lord Curson, the late viceroy, warned his government while he was yet in Card Curson the powerful Afghans should be consuited as to the terms of that treaty. The warning was unheeded, and the treaty as completed needed, and the treaty as completed the exclusive sphere of British India exception. The Afghan monarch does not reliab the predominance of Great Briteriah.

In the southeast of India there is a social unrest very much tike that which preceded the great sepoy relo-ilion of fifty years ago. The people of Bengal especially demand a greater-share in the government than has been allowed in recent years. They ask for native representation in the coun-sels. To meet the military crisis which was forecon Lord Kitchener, the con-queror of the Sudan, was sent to India some years ago and given extraordina-ry powers. He know the Sudan tribes, and he succeeded there by wielding the iron hand. The Oldest Book.

The work of Piab-Hotep, the Egyptian, compiled in the reign of Assa, about 3300 B. C., is the oldest book in the world. The manuscript is preserved in the Bibliotheape Nationale in Paris. It is written on papyrus in heratic characters and p a complation of moral, political and religious appraisan. It strongly insists on reverence to women, political and religious appraisans.
