NEW COURT BUILDING

A Description of the New Home of Illinois Supreme Court.

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—The mural paintings which are to decorate the walls of the new supreme court room are expected to be completed soon and will be placed in their settings in the handsome new home of the court in Springfield. The groups of statuary are being completed by sculptor Charles Mulligan and are expected to add the finishing touch to the building.

The ground about the building is now being added. The walk ways are being completed and the final work will soon have been done on this building and its grounds.

The new home of the supreme court is a magnificent structure three stories in height, situated on the south-east corner of Capitol avenue and Second street. When entirely completed it will have cost the state $600,000.

The purchase of the land and all the details of the erection of the building were in the hands of a commission composed of the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general and three members of the supreme court. The plans were drawn by Rite Architect W. Carls Zimmerman and the building and all the work was done under his direction. The building is a three story stone structure. The two lower stories are devoted to the supreme and appellate courts, the law library and the attorney general. The third story is occupied entirely by the suites of the seven judges of the supreme court and the appellate court.

Interior of the Building.
The building may be entered from the north or west. The walls of marble, a vaulted ceiling with lights that glow beneath cut glass globes illuminating softly tinted chandeliers and roof lead from the north to the main entrance and from the west through a long corridor directly to the department of the attorney general, which occupies the entire east half of the first floor.

The vaulted ceiling of this corridor is beamed in plaster. The pillars supporting these beams are of statuary marble upon which rests the apex of the great seal of state. The panels of the walls are of Saxon's marble. The wall is laid in grey Tennessee marble with marbles and borders and decorative lines in green marble.

Octagonal columns of statuary marble flank the corridor from the north doors while pillars of similar design and marble stand like sentinels on each side of the grand staircase.

The main floor is devoted to the offices of the attorney general and the clerk of the supreme court. The furniture and wood work in both departments are mahogany and are in perfect harmony.

The second floor is devoted to the supreme and appellate courts and the law library. The staircase approaching it is constructed of iron, marble and mahogany. The floors and walls are of grey Tennessee marble. The balustrade is of ornamental wrought iron with mahogany hand rail and statuary marble balusters.

Seatings on the Walls.
The stairway wall is one of the ornamental features of the building. The three sides are occupied with carved tops, the panels have been cut the following sentences from the Magna Charta, Cicero and Atticus.

"To none—ill we sell,
To none will we deny,
Or delay, right or justice."
"A just and wise magistrate is a blessing as extensive as the commonwealth to which he belongs, a blessing which includes all other blessings whatsoever that relate to life."

"The magistrate is the speaking law; the law is the silent magistrate."
The second floor corridor runs east and west. It is broad and high with pillars of dark red mahogany panels in brown bronze and ceiling and entablature remarkable for graphic lines and simplicity of design.

The base boards and caps are green Campana, a rare marble of exquisite tones and veins. The Ionic caps of the pillars are done in gold leaf. The ceiling is plastered beamed. Immense panels of art glass have been set in one side of the corridor to reflect light into it from the north.

Suspended from the roof of this hall are eight grand chandeliers of lemon bronze. Cut glass globes enclose lights and throw a subdued radiance through the corridor.

Court Room is Beautiful.
The main court room has been pronounced by architects and artists to be one of the most beautiful in America. When completed by the setting of mural paintings it will excel in harmony and finish the costly home of the New York supreme court in the $500,000 capital of that state.

On the north are four large windows. The judge's bench is on the east side of the room. In front of it are the handsome walnut tables and desks for the attorneys. The panels where the mural paintings are to be placed are now filled in with color. The wood throughout this room is carefully matched and apparently is composed of perfect Circassian walnut.

The wainscot is also green marble. At each end of the judge's bench stands two large walnut pillars with pilasters behind them. The wood panels above the wainscot are divided by pillars of the same wood, these being four on the long side of the room and two along each of the narrow sides. The panels are immense squares of beautiful walnut. Above the woodwork and between it and the ceiling is a plaster. The ceiling is exquisitely designed and decorated in green and brown, olive and gold leaf.

The carving over the doors and windows is massive and of original design. Marble window seats are placed along the north side of the room. The lighting fixtures and hardware are gold plated bronze. There are eight immense side fixtures each bearing a triple Roman torch. The ceiling lights are concealed.

Appellate Court Rooms Sumptuous.
On the south side of the building across the corridor from the supreme court room the appellate court room is situated. It is finished in solid mahogany after the style of the corridor. The wainscot is Numidian marble with seats of the same material on the south wall.

The third floor also is divided by a side corridor running east and west. The supreme judges occupy the west two-thirds and the three appellate judges the east one-third. Each of the two judges has a suite of two rooms. One is a private office or reception room and the other a bedroom. The furniture is of plush velvet and mahogany.

The matron and superintendent of the building also have quarters on the third floor. There will be a store room and a kitchen and meals may be supplied the judges under the direction of the matron.

Machinery is Perfect.
The machinery of the building is perfectly arranged. There are a bewildering array of boilers and pipes and the machinery is so arranged as to control the electric leads into this building and a powerful motor-driven fan to force the air through the ducts and extract that which has been used.

In every room there is a regulator by which the occupant may govern the amount of heat brought from outside and treated to a mist of water which purifies it and takes out all dirt, at the same time giving the required amount of moisture. All heat and electric light is brought from the state plant on Monroe street. All wires through the building are laid in conduits of lead pipe.

The erection of this building was authorized by the passage of a bill May 4, 1906, introduced by Sen. P. D. Thomas. It appropriated $150,000 to begin the work. On April 26, 1907, another appropriation for $200,000 was approved by the governor, and on May 1, 1907, another for $50,000.

Subsequent appropriations for the building were $15,000 to the secretary of state to extend the heating plant to the supreme court building; $5,000 for employees and $45,000 for furniture.

The structure was dedicated February 1, 1908, at which time the supreme court has been holding its sessions there.

SEIZED WITH PARALYSIS.

Tuesday afternoon about half past three o'clock Gottfried Neuman, a farmer, who lives north of town near Homer Lake, was seized by a stroke of paralysis which affected his entire right side and deprived him of the power of speech; he lies unable to communicate with those around him and seems to be much distressed by the fact.

He has been ill all winter of a drooping trouble and confined to his bed for many weeks past. He was alone at the time, for a few minutes, and it is not known whether he suffered or not. Death is expected at any hour. He has 3 sons, Fred and Clarence of this place, Benjamin of Iowa, and two daughters in Dakota, one of whom, Mrs. Minnie Drake, and children came here last Friday. Mrs. Neuman is also living.

HILL CLIMB POSTPONED.

The automobile hill climb at Algonquin on Tuesday was finally postponed until August 14th, "weather permitting." Efforts had been made since Friday, the original date for the contest, to make the test, but rain and mud prevented. It has also been decided to abandon a date so early in the season hereafter for the annual "climb." The entries will stand, entrants may substitute models, but no new entries will be received.

A PLEASING SPEECH

Lecture at M. E. Church Last Monday Evening Was Good.

A stormy night discouraged the attendance at the Men's club lecture in the Methodist church Monday evening, to which ladies were invited, but the audience room was comfortably filled with those desirous of hearing John L. Whitman of Chicago speak.

The talk this gentleman gave appealed to his listeners, not only for its subject, "The Custodian's View of the Criminal Classes," but for the man's kindly manner in speaking of unfortunate and his evident sincerity in his idea of dealing with criminals. He is thoroughly familiar with his topic, having been a representative of the law for eighteen years, as prison guard, jailer of Cook county jail and, at present, superintendent of the House of Correction, Chicago.

Mr. Whitman dealt especially on discipline of youthful offenders, telling of the good and permanent results now reached through separating young boys and men from older and hardened criminals, by judging them in separate courts and placing them in institutions in the country, apart from jails.

Also of the methods now employed to develop the neglected good in the characters of those under arrest; criminals are thought by Mr. Whitman to be more amenable to kindness, consideration and attention, than to harsh talk and treatment.

Several examples were cited of the development of a criminal, and the greatest pity expressed for the youth "who never had a chance," and became a charge of the government. Mr. Whitman's belief is that jails should be as great hospitals for treatment "of the disease of wrong doing," instead of gloomy, discouraging dungeons.

NEW TIME CARD.

The following changes in the running time of the trains from Chicago to Barrington took effect last Sunday at 1:00 a. m.

The train formerly arriving here at 4:33 p. m. now goes at 4:35; that at 5:45 arrives at 5:50; the 6:25 at 6:35; and the one at 7:00 now arrives at 7:01. The train which left for Chicago at 7:25 now starts at 7:24 and the one formerly leaving at 8:25 leaves at 8:22. A new train has been added, which leaves Barrington at 7:35 and arrives in Chicago at 9:00 o'clock. (On Sunday) the only change is the addition of another train which leaves Chicago at 8:00 a. m. and arrives at Barrington at 9:03.

The "midnight" train, which formerly reached Barrington at 1:30 now arrives at 12:53 and makes the run to Crystal Lake. Now that Crystal Lake has a theatre train people of Woodstock and Harvard are endeavoring to persuade the Northwestern to run the train to the latter city.

TO INCREASE FUND.

The Chicago Tribune's Summer Hospital and Free Ice Fund will be increased this week by a benefit at the Auditorium, Chicago, which begins Sunday and lasts a week. ## DELEGATE TO WASHINGTON.

One of three delegates from Illinois to the international fisheries congress to be held in Washington on September 2nd, is a Lake county man, Capt. Richard Smith, of Waukegan, a veteran fisherman of Lake Michigan.

FLOWERS CAUSE DISEASES.

Dr. W. W. Chaffant of Philadelphia, the cancer expert, declares that many cases of so-called measles are in fact due to a poison contained in the field buttercup; also that the medical authorities of the last 300 years and his own experiments show that the field daisy contains the long sought for origin of cancer. There are three deadly poisons in the flower which when touched cause inflammation and if taken internally cause convulsions and death. He urges that a law be passed providing that all buttercups in pastures be destroyed by mowing or "government whitewash," a mixture of salt and lime water, valuable as a fertilizer.

OLSON FOR STATE SENATOR.

A. J. Olson of Woodstock is mentioned as a candidate for state senator in opposition to L. E. Mench of Cary, who has been an avowed candidate for some time. Mr. Olson has served in the general assembly as a house member from a Chicago district, which was his home until his removal to Woodstock a few years ago. He also served in the Chicago city council and is a business man who has attained high rank, as well as being a likeable fellow who is popular wherever known. If he decides to enter the race for the state senatorship from this district he is certain to prove a formidable candidate, for he is a campaigner of marked ability, as he has demonstrated in several contests he waged in Chicago and also in his triumph at Woodstock last month, when he attained a seat in the city council against great odds.—Harvard Herald.

INCREASED WATER RENT.

At a meeting of the city council Friday evening last week at Harvart an ordinance was passed increasing the rates charged to consumers of city water.

The minimum meter rate now charged is $2.50 for six cubic feet and according to the increase the least rate for the same will be $3.75, or $7.50 for a year. More revenue is needed to meet the city's expenses and the rate charged for city water works in the country, apart from jails, was decided on.

The city of Harvard was voted dry at the annual township election held in April.

TAKEN TO LINCOLN.

On Tuesday Annie Melosh, aged ten years, was taken by Supervisor Loney of Cuba township, to the Illinois State Home for Feeble Minded Children at Lincoln, Illinois, near Springfield. The little girl was adjudged feeble minded before Judge Jones at Waukegan last Saturday, and it deemed advisable to send her to the institution; however, she is considered a child who under proper care will rapidly develop mentally. There are 1200 people there, ranging in age from six years to middle age.

SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. Hannah Powers, Mrs. George Banks and Mrs. Dawson arranged a surprise party for Mrs. Delos Church Tuesday afternoon, as the day was the lady's birthday. A gathering of about thirty guests resulted whose arrival was most unexpected by Mrs. Church. During the afternoon she was given a silver spoon and each one enjoyed very much the time passed at the Church home.

DIED THIS MORNING.

The death of Mrs. Emma McIntosh at half past six this morning, takes from our village life one of our pioneer women, a lady who had seen the development of Barrington from a cluster of houses to its present progressive size. Younger generations should pause to consider the life and death of those who were the means of establishing many conditions here which are to our advantage in the present day. From efforts of the first residents to build up a town on right principles, we today reap the benefits, and although Mrs. McIntosh was a home living woman, her influence for good has been indirectly impressed on our village life.

Early on the morning of April 23th this spring she was found lying beside her bed and died tomorrow from a sudden stroke apoplexy which with her eighty-four years of life hastened the end. Since then she has laid in a half-conscious state and last Saturday was moved to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Lister, on Lake street. It is not thought that she was conscious for an hour before death.

No funeral arrangements have been made.

Mrs. Emma Phillips McIntosh was born in Berne, Albany county, New York, March 16, 1824. She was one of fourteen children, thirteen of whom remained at home until grown. At the age of twenty-two she was married to Millus B. McIntosh, a lumber dealer of her native town. After a few years in 1854 they came west to Foxport, Illinois, where their four children died during a cholera epidemic there that year. In 1855 they went to Northfield, Illinois and in two years, 1857, settled in Barrington. There were four other children born after their death of the older ones. Mrs. and Mrs. McIntosh were always prominent in public and religious matters of the town.

They were among the first members of the Baptist church built here in 1869, and both came of Baptist families from generations back. Mrs. McIntosh was one of a building committee of two for the erection of the church. Mrs. McIntosh was seldom interested in social affairs but always took an active part in the religious affairs of her church from the age of fourteen years until her final illness. Mr. McIntosh who died two years ago was the first mayor of Barrington and for years held various offices in the town and connected with prominent business. He was postmaster and a large property owner.

Those surviving are two older sisters, Mrs. S. M. Harrover, and Mrs. E. C. Johnson of this place; a brother, Seth Phillips of Ludington, Michigan; a daughter, Mrs. Fred Lines; two sons, Marvin C. and Francis A., of Chicago; the grandchildren are Miss Violet McIntosh of Chicago, Max Lines of Indiana, Misses Jennie and Viola, and Arnet Lines of Barrington.

"Well," said Krotzer, "you know the old saying, 'Faint heart never won fair lady.'"

"Noneone," replied pretty Miss Bright; "if the lady's heart isn't faint and she's willing to help him a little he can win pretty time."—Philadelphia Press.

Grand Army

SCULPTOR J. MASSEY
SHRINE of New York is working on a monument to commemorate the founder of the Grand Army of the Republic, Dr. Benjamin Franklin Stephenson of Springfield, Ill. The memorial, a three sided obelisk, is to be erected in Washington at the junction of Louisiana avenue and Seventh and C streets. In the middle of a circular grass plot, and it is to be far from dedication about Aug. 1, 1909, when there will be an encampment of the Grand Army to unveil it. Congress has appropriated $100,000, and G. A. R. men have raised about $25,000 additional, so that the monument will be a splendid creation.

Dr. Stephenson was regimental surgeon of the Fourteenth Illinois volunteer infantry during thirty years of service in the west. His rank was that of major. He was born in Wayne county, Ill., in 1822 and died in 1871. Dr. Stephenson grew up in Sangamon county and lived many years in Springfield. It was while residing in that city shortly after the close of the war that he conceived the idea of an organization of veterans and worked out the ritual. The first G. A. R. meeting was held April 8, 1866, in Decatur, Ill.

The founder of the order met the many reverses in life and died a disappointed man. It was not until after his death that the Grand Army of the Republic was organized in its present proportions. Dr. Stephenson devoted much time and thought to the order, to the neglect of his own medical practice and the consequent impoverishment of his family. He was a generous, cheerful man, with a shining confidence in the ultimate realization of his dreams, though he did not live to witness the nation wide growth of the G. A. R.

A warm colored granite will be used for the shaft, the panels on each side containing the figures, badges and inscriptions to be of statuary bronze.

Barrington Review.

M. T. LAMBY, Ed. and Pub.
BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS

Every day has its new heroes, and a good many of them are firemen.

A professor of morals will be the first essential if the country ever has a correspondent's school.

The affair of the Congo seems to be one of those matters which will never be settled until it is settled right.

A British report says that America is facing a timber famine. At any rate, it is not a presidential timber famine.

The marriage of a prosperous medicine manufacturer to an actress gives assurance that there is hope for the American drama.

A Boston man is offering $50 reward for a treatment that will cure a parrot of the habit of repeating profanity. Why not try the cure?

We have it on the word of an English scientist that the north pole, presumably having grown weary of waiting to be discovered, is coming south.

There being a considerable stretch of real estate intervening between France and Turkey it is perfectly safe for the two countries to make faces at each other.

Three Chicago men claim to have discovered a process by which human bodies can be turned into brass. There are plenty already who are evidently made of brass.

As regards the hen, furthermore, she has one conspicuous advantage over the cow. It is harder to counterfeit, adulterate or otherwise impair the usefulness of her output.

Several more desirable customs than the manufacture of dynamite bombs would be welcomed from an arctic hemisphere. This is a habit which should be left with the old folks at home.

A southern paper remarks that no one ever saw a "merry widower." This is a very gallant, if not very accurate, statement, for naturally, gallantly speaking, why should there ever be a merry widower?

The price of coal is decreasing, says a news report. However, this was to be expected. Now the really wonderful thing would happen if the price of coal were to decrease in the autumn instead of the glad springtime.

A problem in all countries is to keep the young men in the small towns. The remedies suggested are many, but we fail to find the most practical and the most potent. The way to keep the young men anywhere is to keep the pretty girls in the same neighborhood.

It is said that Madame Adeline Pati plant another farrowed tour of America. America is pretty well accustomed to this sort of thing, but the former diva about to come here has even over here we have a little say about the turning of the patient worm.

It is very discouraging. Here is the Lady's Pictorial of London saying: "We do not want all women to be smart and energetic; she who can be merely gentle and charming and gracious—and shall we not even say helpful—maintain the ideal of womanhood for man to worship." More molluscoides.

Here is another indication that business is improving at home and abroad. The commercial papers report that the room on vessels has been engaged for shipping 150,000 tons of pig iron from Alabama furnaces to Mediterranean ports. This means not only that there is a growing demand in the old world, but that in supplying the requirements American producers will have a fair market and will be enabled to give employment to more American labor.

Commenting on the danger of trusting women to run motor cars, an Ohio mayor suggests that the only proper machine for a woman to run is the sewing machine. We should be more willing to confine our women to these useful contrivances if they had electric motors to drive them. It would be well if some of the power spent in driving automobiles were applied to necessary domestic engines, which in many homes overtax the feet that push the treadles.

After all, John Hay did write "The Breadwinners," a novel that had considerable vogue 25 years ago. It was published anonymously before the author had made a reputation as one of the greatest secretaries of state the country ever had, and the secret was kept, although subsequent to that time states the Youth's Companion, Mr. Hay has consented that the credit which belonged to her dead husband shall be given to him in an account of the book in "A Manual of American Literature," recently published.

It may be questioned whether in modern annals a quicker accident ever happened than that which caused the death of a man on a road near Philadelphia. He was picking dandelions growing under a wall along the road when a passing trolley car jumped the track as it started him and, rearing squarely at him, crushed him to death against the wall. Not the most vivid imagination could conceive of such a tragedy, and yet, according to the laws of probability, says the Baltimore American, it will not happen again for two or three generations.

MARK TWAIN ON MONEY.

Humorist Points Out What He Considers Some Wrong Conceptions.

Mark Twain said that the financial panic has caused a wrong idea of the use and value of money. "The spender," he said, "is the man God created quiet reigned in the classroom for several minutes. Suddenly jumped little Rose, and in a piping voice said: 'Oh, teacher, you forgot to tell us whether God created Adam right away a man or a baby.' Embarrassed, Mrs. L. looked up to the ceiling and then to the children for an inspiration. Happily she quickly spied Betty's little hand raised above the others eager to answer the question.

"Teacher, I am surprised my sister Rosie should ask such a foolish question. Why, God must have created Adam right away a big man, because if God had created him a baby he would have had to have a mother to take care of him."

WHEELS.

He was a great driver. "The thing I am working at now, he began, stroking his thin beard with a thinner hand, 'will be a boon to every family and will startle the whole world. In fact, it will put the alarm clock trust out of business. The idea is simply specially prepared tablets that help you get up in the morning. For instance, if you want to arise at five you take five tablets; if you want to get up at six take six tablets; and so on."

Youthful Logic.

Mrs. L., a young and inexperienced Sunday school teacher, was at times sorely perplexed how to answer the questions put to her by some of her unusually bright pupils. One day just after she had finished telling the children the story that Adam was the first man God created quiet reigned in the classroom for several minutes. Suddenly jumped little Rose, and in a piping voice said: "Oh, teacher, you forgot to tell us whether God created Adam right away a man or a baby."

Embarrassed, Mrs. L. looked up to the ceiling and then to the children for an inspiration. Happily she quickly spied Betty's little hand raised above the others eager to answer the question. "Teacher, I am surprised my sister Rosie should ask such a foolish question. #### WENT HIM MANY BETTER.

Mr. Newrich's Visiting Card Left Friend in the Shade.

Mr. Newrich, the dust contractor, having made a fortune, part of which he had invested in house property in the east of London, wished to rise, like a Phoenix, from his ashes into some sort of society. His golden boy, applied to the coffers of an impecunious aristocrat, opened the way. "His new friend, among other things, advised him that visiting cards were necessary, and, as a guide to drawing one up ready for the printer, handed him one of his own, which read, 'Harold De Vere, Iona House, Portsmouth Square, W.'"

HER PROTECTOR.

"Here, nurse! Who's that young chap that's always following you around? I be a beast of yours!" "Oh, no, sir. Dat's Jimmie Hawkshaw, de detective. I hires him to protect me from kidnappers an' things!"

"That a word may convey vastly different meanings when differently used is amusingly illustrated by a story from the Brooklyn Life.

"Have ye heard me daughter Mona sing lately?" asked Mr. Dugan. "Both lately and early," said Mr. Hogan. "Tis the fine instrumental music she do make."

"Ye ignoramus! Sure, singing ain't old Mr. Dugan."

"Kegan told me it was instrumental in causing him to move two blocks away from yer house."—Youth's Companion.

The Way It's Said.

"These are the bridal rooms," announced the bellboy to the blushing young couple.

"O, what a sweet suit!" exclaimed the bride.

"I don't know anything about that," said the bellboy, "but the head clerk says he hopes the suit suits."

Training Husband

Begin Task Early—Be Courageous and Philosophic

By MRS. LEONARD MARSHALL.

HUSBANDS are what we make them. If a husband is properly trained in the way he should go, he will become quite an endurable male specimen of humanity.

The great point is to start from the first. Unfortunately, the young wife is fond and foolish, and the moon of honey is very sweet. Edwin is such a darling just at the outset that she is blind to all the faults which are going to make her life miserable later on. If Angelina knew, she would treat her dear lord like an antagonist; she would lay in wait for the opportune moment to come, and pour balm over the wounds she had inflicted. No man loves the submissive slave. It is the struggle for the mastery, the taming of the tigress that charms him, for man is a born hunter, and the pursuit of the elusive prey is dearer to him than the dove that never will take wing!

The husband spoiled in the first months of his married life rapidly becomes demoralized. He is, metaphorically speaking, in slippers. He is a hero, too, for he knows how that little wife of his adores him!

Vanity (men are vain than women) works havoc with his reason. His sense of possession becomes unendurable even to the blind little mate who has sworn to love, honor and obey.

The remedy is the thing, and it takes a dose of courage and philosophy to administer it.

The first step is to be on the alert. The husband will presently begin about the housewife virtues of his sainted mother. She never allowed her servant to leave a room dusty; her pie-crust, and so forth. Do not, my dear woman, allow this secret sorrow to prey upon your soul.

Tell him firmly that he can go home and eat his sainted mother's pie-crust, and that as to the dust, you will speak to the servant, and that is the best you can do! There may—there will be a row, but stand your ground; your first battle is decisive. Use those subtle arts we are versed in to make the man understand that women are feline—if you stroke the right way, life is harmonious; if not, the results are deplorable.

Do not be too eternally sweet, neither should you smother him with "ducky dears." Blow hot and cold by turns, treat him to every caprice, keep him on the rack to know what you will do next and he will adore you, because he will not have had the opportunity of developing those despotic instincts which are growing in his heart.

He will come to you and tell you that he needs fresh air (you do not, of course), and thinks of going with a friend for a spin in the country on Sunday. You, poor, foolish child, will tell him that you are sure it will do him good. Result—you can sit at home and spin for every Sunday while the fine weather lasts. Edwin is going back to his boon companions and the joys of his bachelorhood, with the added bliss of a nice little woman at home to cook the supper and darn the stockings.

I once knew a resolute little woman who went down for a week to the seaside the second time her husband left her in solitary splendor at home. Then, again, the first—the very first time Edwin bullies you about the dinner in the presence of the servant, pay her a month's wages next day! "Why, my dear, where is Jane? Is she ill?" "No, Edwin; but as I could not live in the house with a servant who heard me insulted and would henceforward question my authority, I have dismissed her from my service." Tableau.

The mere man can always be made to feel through his pocket—money appeals to him when nothing else will.

Love's Law Rules World

By DR. NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS

Whenever we find a great effect we pass instantly to the inquiry: "What great cause produced it?" For example, here is the rapid growth of Christianity. It began a golden dot on the map; now its banners wave over two continents. It began with the Christ on Mount Olivet; in 40 days it numbered 3,000, in 100 years a half million, and now it rules the minds and hearts of 600,000,000. So wonderful is the effect that we cast about for a cause equally powerful. The proverb runs, no golden conduct from leaden motives. Once Philistinism offered men the ethics of mud; the old world philosophies offered leaden motive and iron penalties; occasional teachers, like Buddha, spoke with a silver tone, but golden conduct began with the golden rule. That law of love that fell from Christ's lips, was interpreted by Christ's life, enforced by his death, and made powerful by his living presence, alone can furnish an adequate explanation of the victories of Christianity.

Now, despite the pessimism of some in high places, many of our greatest industrial leaders are making the law of Christ to be the golden rule with which they are laying out their lives. Let us believe that our brother men are just as anxious to fulfill the law of Christ as you and I are, and are more successful in their plans. Despite what has been said, most lawyers are not the hired tools of evil clients.

Most of the industrial leaders are not corrupt grafters. One swallow does not make a spring—no that is true; but neither does one red bug showing disease in the leaf in June assure winter on a summer's day. Last week I read the account of a meeting of the directors of a railroad system. These rich men decided not to reduce the wages of the engineers, conductors, switchmen, flagmen, but chose rather to cut the dividends on their stock to three per cent.

One of the most terrible railroad strikes ever precipitated in this country was due to the fact that in 1893 a railway magnate in the time of panic cut the wages of his workmen a third at a single stroke, while he insisted that his dividends should remain at ten per cent. Capital was everything. Workmen, cold, hungry and starving, were nothing. The dollar must have its ten per cent; the soul can have what is left, if a crust remains. That selfishness of capitalistic leaders is passing as surely as gladiatorial games have gone. The new Christian regime is on. That action of these railroad directors, under the lead of a noble president, publishes the whole story.

WOMAN IS CERTAINLY DEAD

FALSE TEETH OF MRS. GUNNESS FOUND IN ASHES OF HOME.

Prosecutor Smith Will Demand Death for Lamphere—Asserts He Is Ready for the Trial.

Lamphere, Ind. — If anything additional were needed to prove the contention of Sheriff Smutser and Prosecutor Smith that Mrs. Bella Gunness, at whose door are laid an even dozen deaths, is dead, it was supplied Tuesday, when Louis Schultz, the expert miner, found in the ashes of the Gunness house the upper and lower bridges, containing the false teeth of the woman.

The lower set of teeth tallies exactly with the description and diagram furnished by Dr. L. P. Norton, the dentist, who built the bridge, and who identified the teeth positively as those of Mrs. Gunness, on view of the unmistakable evidence, Coroner Mack stated that he would probably render an official finding that the burned adult female body, that of Mrs. Gunness.

The grand jury continued its labors all day, ten witnesses being examined. Prosecutor Smith is of the opinion that the entire case may be consumed before the grand jury is ready to make its report.

There is little expectation that the trial of Lamphere will take place this spring, although State's Attorney Smith made the statement that he will be ready for trial next week.

If an ready to go to trial now," was the statement of Mr. Smith. "I believe I will bring Lamphere to trial the first of next week, unless the defense forces a postponement, and I am positive that he will hang. Our evidence against him is too strong for any jury to question his guilt and I am more than confident that a life sentence will not serve the ends of justice in his case."

Lamphere, Ind. — The autopsy on the remains of the seven unidentified dead, exhumed from Mrs. Gunness' private burial ground, was completed Monday evening and revealed the astounding fact, according to the reports of Drs. F. T. Wilcox and George R. Osborne, that one of the seven was a female.

BAD FLOOD AT MELLE, WIS.

People Driven from Homes and City Power House Swamped.

Ashland, Wis. — A violent rainstorm swept over the northern part of Wisconsin. At Mellen, Ashland county, the dam went out Monday morning. Hundreds of residents in the Italian quarter and near the Foster-Latimer mill were driven from their homes in the darkness by the flood, which in other spots were drowned. Three bridges went out. The power house was flooded and the dynamo destroyed.

Communication between the two parts of Mellen is cut off. Public schools and mills are shut down and the city will be in darkness for several days on account of damage to the lighting plant. Families are encamped on the surrounding hills.

DECIDES FOR ROOSEVELT.

Court Declares Negro Had Right to Dismiss a Private Soldier.

New York. — The right of President Roosevelt summary to dismiss a negro soldier of the Twenty-fifth infantry for alleged participation in the riot at Brownsville, Tex., was sustained Friday by Judge Hough in the United States district court. Oscar W. Reid, the soldier, sued the government to recover $122 as wages from the date of his dismissal to the expiration of his enlistment. District Attorney Stinson contended that the president had a right to dismiss the soldier. Judge Hough sustained this contention and directed judgment in favor of the government.

Resist Freight Rate Increase. Chicago. — Delegates from 50 commercial organizations, representing most of the trade interests of the east and middle west of this country, Friday in conference at the Congress hotel took decisive action to prevent the proposed increase in freight rates by the railroads east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio river. As a result of the day's work the leaders among the business men feel that the move of the railroads to saddle an additional $100,000,000 in freight charges on the shippers of the territory described has been checked.

Battle with Constable's Posses. Cincinnati. — A battle Tuesday between an armed posse from Squire C. V. Dils' court, Reading, and Charles Jones and his four sons, barricaded in their home between Reading and Pleasant Ridge, four men were shot, and it is believed, one of them will die. The victims were Charles Jones and his son Charles, Jr., who was seriously wounded, and Joseph Thrig and Henry Dodd, deputy constables. Revolvers and repeating rifles were used by the combatants. The officers went to retrieve a horse.

CANTON—CHRISTMAS ABOARD SHIP

The Funny Things One Sees in Smiling Round the World

By MARSHALL P. WILDER

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Howies.)

Canton, in spite of its dirt, in spite of its myriad and insistent amelia, is fascinating. Beside the ordinary sight of the city, we have a kaleidoscope for change and color, there is a tall and stately pagoda to be seen, the "flowy" pagoda, your guide will tell you. Another, known as the five-story pagoda, built in the year 1400, stands at the point of the city, the ramparts of the city wall, decorated with grotesque little cannon of a bygone age, resting in worm-eaten and rotting wooden gun carriages.

Another sight of Canton is Examination hall, an institution peculiarly Chinese. Here are 7,000 cells in rows, and fronts open to the air. They are only four feet by three, and their only furniture a couple of benches, laid crosswise, one for a seat and the other for a writing desk.

Here the civil service examinations take place for the whole province. Students who wish to compete enter a cell, where they remain for three days and nights, absolutely alone, and guarded by soldiers to see that they have no communication with each other, or with anyone outside.

The examination lasts nine days altogether, in groups of three, with intervals of three days. When the students may go outside, it is exceedingly arduous, for there is not room for comfortable sleep, and the tests are very severe.

It is, however, the ambition of every man to pass this examination if he can. Some old students have been known to go there every three years for 30 years without passing. Out of perhaps 6,000 or 7,000 never more than 300 pass, generally much less.

A man who passes is then eligible for any magistracy office in the provincial government, and if he is still more ambitious, and can pass the examination at Peking, as well, he is eligible for metropolitan offices.

So that in China education is the only patent of nobility. In this respect it is one of the most democratic countries in the world, for a man may rise from the lowest rank to a high position.

Only three castes are prohibited from competing in the examinations, barbers, actors and chiropodists, as well as their descendants for three generations.

The good ship Prins Eitel Friedrich bore us bravely from Hong-Kong on our way to India's spicy isles, and also furnished an experience the like of which we had known nowhere before nor since. I refer to our Christmas dinner, which we ate amid surroundings so truly novel as to seem to us now almost as the passing of a dream.

The Eitel Friedrich was not merely a good, staunch ship; she was a masterpiece of appointments. In short, a floating palace, and the dinner was accordingly.

The Five-Story Pagoda.

As we ate—each at a small component part thereof, from soup to coffee—was laid in at Bremen before the ship had been bought in Japan, and lay strapped to the lower deck, lest some sudden cataclysm of the elements might roll it overboard and cheat us of what proved to be the most enjoyable part of our Christmas feast.

It was understood before leaving Hong-Kong that the most important part of the festivities, i. e. the presents, must be purchased there; so a pool was formed, and presents having been selected and purchased by a member detailed for the purpose—were handed up the ship's side in packages on the end of sticks, or dangling from strings, or in small butterfly nets, so that the lottery effect was maintained and no one could know what his neighbor held. This mode of procedure provoked hearty laughter and much curiosity as to the ultimate fate of the gifts, each one being securely wrapped until the eventful day should appear.

The 24th of December dawned—not unique. The cuisine of the German steamers is world-famed, and just so. The celebrated F. & O. line starves you to death in the most highly genteel manner. The insular exclusiveness of this ancient institution, like that of the much overrated Cunard, has wrung the stomach and bled the pocket of the wayfarer for nearly half a century, while the chilly hauteur of its officers has sent many a passenger to his berth with a frigid heart. Rodgers, the Kling says that if you want a favor of one of these magistrates you must stand on your head before the chief officer and wave your feet sympathetically in the air.

as we should say in America, clear and cold—but "muggy" and hot. Clothing, even of the thinnest sort, seemed superfluous; exertion, even the mildest, sent little streams of moisture trickling down one's shirt collar. But never mind, it was Christmas—dear old Christmas eve, and if we were 6,000 miles—more or less away from home, we were not going to have any less pleasure and happiness out of the occasion. So we donned our bravest attire and, summoned by the band, made our way with the rest of the passengers, also in full dress, to the dining saloon. Here a scene of marvellous beauty burst upon our eyes; but don't ask me to describe that table. Running the whole length of the gorgeous saloon it was decorated and twisted and basted with potted plants and vines, garlands and flags, the whole being set off by a most ingenious and beautiful arrangement of electric lights, that peeped out from every leaf and fold and dish as though some fairy wand had touched them into glittering existence. Little white chandeliers, set amid snows of cotton, and spangled ice-fields, gleamed with lights in every tiny window; cascades ran down through little icicles, lit up with fiery gleams; the beams of Christmas roses sent flashes of beauty, while at the head of the table was a snow mass of lifelike size and proportion, whose smile was as broad as his ample form. Truly a wonderful sight.

And the dinner—well, I have eaten finer dinners, and many Christmas dinners, but this was absolutely Absolutely Alone.

The serving of the Christmas dinner was truly gorgeous. The procession of waiters reached from the dining table to the kitchen, and each course was brought in with as much pomp as though it were a banquet to Old King Cole as we sat it pictured in the children's holiday books.

The oysters, the soup, the fish, each had its separate procession, and the turkey—ah! that turkey! borne aloft on a platter, accompanied by all the trimmings, each with a separate bearer; while the gravy—words fail me. How shall I describe the gravy-bearer? A youth with solemn brow and stately steps, who bore aloft upon one hand the dish of gravy, as though it were an offering to royalty. In the matter of style he certainly was all to the good!

With the dessert and coffee song and merriment burst forth. Every conceivable Christmas glee and carol came to the good old "Tannenbaum" of the Vaterland, which these German officers rolled forth with a volume that made the dishes dance.

This gorgeous piece of upholstery reached from the floor up into the which lantern, which is the nautical name for the open dome which rises far up almost out of sight from the saloon. Every year the decorations are brought out from their storied places and hung upon the tree, and most gorgeous are they to behold, glittering with electric lights and swaying to and fro with every motion of the vessel.

The distribution of presents was a jolly ending to the evening's festivities. Some people got their own presents, and others had bought in contributing to the pool, but they enjoyed them just as much. One of our was a handsome silver spoon, engraved with Chinese characters similar to those on the case which was presented to me by Mr. Wei Yuk in Hong-Kong, and which mean "long life and happiness," or something to that effect.

The next day we arrived at Singapore, and it was with indescribable feelings that I stepped ashore in a glare of tropical sunlight, saying to myself, "Christmas day! It is impossible I cannot believe it!"

But it was, and I smiled as I said to a friend: "Well, we're certainly in for a hot old time, all right, it's nothing else!"

FOUND THE CAUSE.

After Six Years of Misery and Wrong Treatment.

John A. Enders, of Robertson Avenue, Pen. Ariz., suffered for six years with aching pains in the back, violent headaches and dizzy spells, and was assured by a specialist that his kidneys were all right, though the secretions showed a reddish, brick-dust sediment. Not satisfied, Mr. Enders started using Doan's Kidney Pills. "The kidneys began to act more regularly," he says, "and in a short time I passed a few gravel stones. I felt better right away and since then have had no kidney trouble."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

"And you call yourself honest!"

"Sir, I keep the commandments."

"That must be because you've got an idea that they belong to somebody else."

Not Such a Fool. John was a Chinaman. He had been employed as a cook in a family in San Francisco. During many years he never failed to be at his post of duty, morning, as usual, the family assembled for breakfast, but John was nowhere to be seen, nor did he send word what had happened to him. After several weeks he reappeared with the symptoms of a severe cold still clinging to him. The master of the house greeted him by saying: "Well, John, the were wondering what had happened to you; but I see you have caught cold." John indignantly protested, saying: "Oh, no, sir; me no catches cold, me no such fool; coldie come from me."

Too Much of a "Drawing Card." "Dear Willie," wrote the old man to the youth at college. "I'm shore glad to hear that you are such a 'draw-in' card; but I knowed it long ago, you tell me. Howsomever, there's 'drawin' an' drawin'; but there's one kind which I must draw the line on here an' now, an' that is the sort that draws on me for $10 when I'm least expectin'. You put dreck an' Latin in yer letters, sometimes, fer good measure, I suppose, but I notice that when you draw on me it's always in plain United States. I want you to go through all right, but I don't want you to bill me through Gimme a livin' chance to rest up. I'm tired!"

His Quick Recovery. "I was so glad," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "to see Dr. Gooden in the pulpit again last Sunday. He had such a time of it. Dear me, it must be perfectly dreadful to have one's appendix removed. I dream it so that I don't know what I should do if I had to undergo an operation. They said, when the doctor wrote to the hospital, that he wouldn't be out again for a month or more."

"I know it," replied her hostess as she started the diamond-studded photograph, "but I guess he recuperated a good deal faster than they expected."

De Organ's Busted. In a little church in Maryland, not far from Washington, the motive power for the organ comes from the strong arm of an industrious Irishman.

During a recent service there the choir got into trouble and, to cap the climax, the good old organ that ensued, the organ suddenly stopped. The situation was not greatly relieved when there came floating out from the cushions the terse whisper: "Sing, all ye! Sing like the devil! De organ's busted—illustrated Sunday Magazine."

FIT THE GROCER

Wife Made the Suggestion.

A grocer has excellent opportunity to know the effects of special foods on his customers. A Cleveland grocer has a long list of customers that have been helped in health by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

He says: "Regarding his own experience: 'Two years ago I had been drinking coffee, and must say that I was almost wrecked in my nerves. 'Particularly in the morning I was so irritable and upset that I could hardly wait until the coffee was served, and then I had no appetite for breakfast, and did not feel like attending to my store duties.'

"One day my wife suggested that I should give up coffee, so I bought Postum there must be some merit in it and suggested that we try it. I took home a package and she prepared it according to the directions. The result was a very happy one. My nervousness gradually disappeared, and today I am all right. I would advise nervous afflicted persons to try Postum with nervousness or stomach troubles, to leave off coffee and use Postum Food Coffee.' 'There's a Reason.' ### Three Square Meals.

One looks in vain among the authors of new rules for taking in our portions of daily bread for the man with the hoe or some one able to speak for him from a fellow feeling. His creed would doubtless be found very simple as to the number and the nature of his meals. Others preach of one meal, and perhaps the majority of those who want to reform our habits of dieting insist that two are enough. Brief, fast, we are told, we need not, but if we insist upon it from force of habit we should come to it after chasing for an appetite an hour or more. Then the hearty breakfast should suffice until evening and the noon meal be cut out.

But the man with the hoe is usually chased out of bed by an appetite already urgent, and his day is twice as long as that of the average-maker of food regulations. If everybody needs two meals a day, then the man of hard work needs four. School children have also a strong claim to four, for they must grow as well as keep up steam for study and play on what they eat. The muscle worker is always creating an appetite. He transforms his food into energy and requires more and more fuel to make good the steady waste. His appetite isn't a habit, and it isn't forced. It is a necessity and comes to him naturally.

It is to be noticed that the most of the theorists who tell how little food is required insist upon regulating other "habits" besides the appetite. Fletcher, who contends that man eats too much, insists that one must feel just right before taking food. But when there is work to be done a man cannot consult his feelings and mood as to the time of eating. The work demands the food and demands a worker who can eat periodically and work regularly. When a general gets a hurry order to march his army a certain distance by a given time he insists upon the men having breakfast first. They can lose time over getting breakfast and then reach the goal quicker than they could by marching on empty stomachs. So it is a question of the size of a man's job as to how many meals he shall eat in a day and how heavy they shall be. The two meal man will do a two meal stint, and the man who is put at a three meal job should have his three square meals or nature will interpose and square the deal in her own way.

Meeting of the Governors.

The purpose and scope of the conference of the governors are the important things about the meeting convened in Washington recently on the invitation of the president. Immediate results were not to be expected. The governors do not and cannot make laws, but they can talk reason and compare conditions. Only through a common understanding and an agreement on the part of the state executives can anything resembling uniform action be secured, and only by uniform action can the forests, the water courses, the mineral deposits and other natural resources of the country be protected against extravagance and spoliation.

The conference of 1908 sets up a precedent that may be observed hereafter with benefit to health, to morals, to finance, to commerce, to agriculture and to popular government. Our population is rapidly shifting, and individual states are first affected by the changes. In certain of the states these issues first arise which grow and force themselves upon the attention of the nation. What is needed is uniformity of state policies on matters affecting the well being and progress of the nation as a whole. When such uniformity is assured we shall see an end to evils which, if not positively alarming, are to be regretted, because they are obstacles in the way of national progress.

If Canada selects all her citizens as immigrants she is now doing in England, the Dominion must come down to what the natives often dream of—the Utopia of the Anglo-Saxon race. The influx of southern and eastern Europeans and orientals is vigorously opposed, and even the English themselves must pass a strict examination as to their desirability. The searchlight is turned mercilessly upon all proposed immigrants from the London slums.

In 1844 Edgar Allan Poe furnished a New York paper with his renowned "balloon hoax" invention, a tale of a balloon which came from Europe and landed near where recent experiments with the aeroplane were conducted. It may be that the first real aerial transatlantic flight will start from the very region where the fictitious one was made to end sixty-four years ago.

Another latter day problem of the air is how the mother birds can prevent their reckless youngsters from flying in front of the aeroplanes.

The Good Time Boom.

It is true that optimism can be carried too far. There should be something in sight to back it up. Prosperity which exists only in the mind is a poor asset. The two Trade Review thinks that this national habit of optimism is being pushed to excess in some quarters at this particular time. Referring to the unwarranted circulation of improvement reports, which it calls "manufacturing prosperity," it says:

Every section of the country is naturally eager to see a restoration of normal conditions, particularly on the part of our leading industries, and wherever there is evidence that this is being accomplished the fact is deserving of the widest publicity. If for no other reason than the influence it may exert on industrial conditions generally. But there is no room for doubt that the long run work of restoring confidence and of building up business is the normal condition of the country. The reports which are either entirely without foundation or fact at most tell but half the truth. These fallacies are certain to be discovered and noted abroad.

It is possible that the cry of hard times was itself overdue. It is to be noticed that some of the sections which insisted last October that there was no panic are still talking on the same key. If the shouts of that class of optimists fell upon dull ears, it is but natural that they should shout offener and louder. There are truthful reports current of heavy orders in manufacturing, of suspended banks reopening, of an increase in orders for wire goods. In the state of mind of a year ago these reports would have meant nothing. Now they tend to offset the calamity cries. Fair crops are in prospect, and prohibitive prices are not likely to prevail in any lines. It is safe to moderate our expectations, especially that form of optimism which leads to cashing expectations in advance. As the Review points out, false prosperity is calculated to do harm. There has been a reign of luxurious living in this country unwarmed by the real condition of things. If the hard times are not real, the scare may be worth while if it makes the reckless ones more cautious. And false reports of prosperity may do harm if they lead to more recklessness.

Personal Identification Cards.

The woman who was arrested and detained on the New York Central upon the vague suspicion that she might be the Laporte murderess was fortunate in being able to establish her identity without tedious delay. For one thing, she had a traveling companion, making it necessary for the police who made the arrest to dispute two stories. Alone she might have fared worse. The incident shows that it is wise for people traveling far from home to carry upon their persons some form of identification papers. It is a simple matter, but may turn out to be most important. Accident insurance companies provide their patrons with a card under the belief that in case of injury the insured may be alone and identification a subject of mystery to strangers.

The revelations of the Laporte case also show that means of personal identification are always a good thing. Missing men and women by the hundreds are unaccounted for in this country, and the friends of the missing ones are in doubt in some cases as to whether the farm victims may not include the objects of their search. Some of the missing ones may show to be their identity, others may be dead and still others, bereft of reason, detained in public institutions. Under a variety of happenings swift and sure means of identification may serve a good turn, and every long distance traveler can easily provide for it in advance.

A woman who evidently has studied her subject first hand said recently of American society: "The whole trouble with society can be summed up in our word—insincerity. A love of outward display governs every action. People have become too fashionable to enjoy themselves and, while they do not know it, have lost the art of good living. Others have discovered this, too, and that may be why so many plain people content themselves with homely simplicity and genuine friendships."

American farmers cannot be blamed for the exorbitant prices of beef, eggs, vegetables and other products which go into cold storage. They do not receive the fancy prices which the consumers are forced to pay or go without. The trusts see to it that no one but themselves gets in on the division of profits.

Recently the Porto Ricans celebrated the eighth anniversary of the establishment of civil government in the island. There were parades and many meetings and speeches, but nothing in the reports to indicate any fretting for home rule and all that.

President Roosevelt talked recently to natives of six different countries in their own tongue. Little chance for the crafty, lit hunting corner when he goes on that world tour.

Many a vice is a virtue which has passed from service to mastership.

Demanded For Trade Schools.

Recently the High School Teachers' association of Brooklyn gathered data from the large cities and from some of the better ones scattered over the country as to the efficiency of the high school for the complete education of youth. Particular attention was given to the attendance of school during the middle of the course, especially by boys. Various causes are assigned for the failure of the school to hold boys of sixteen and upward until graduation, but one professor bluntly declared that the world can do better for some boys than the high school. When a boy quits school with the excuse that he cannot learn anything there it is usually untrue to agree with him. But when he says he cannot learn in the high school what he wants to learn it is wisdom to find out the reason of his ambition and talents and give him another chance.

The promoters of industrial education propose to give boys who skip the high school or fail to make good as students there practical training which shall serve for a start in the world. It is only fair to the boys to do so. A boy will be helped on for years in one of the professions, now vastly over-crowded, but there remains work to be done in providing technical education. The young graduate at law or medicine can hang out his shingle and begin earning at once, but the boy who steps from high school into the shop has to begin at the bottom of the wage scale. It has been proved by figures that the graduate of a trade school starts in the shop with higher wages and gets on faster than the wholly untrained beginner in the same work. The practical benefit of technical training is assured. What is needed is the training schools, so that the boy may take his choice and not waste time attempting work in the high school which is not for him.

A New Railway Danger Signal.
The time in a recent distressed accident due to a grade crossing between a trolley car and a passenger train showed that danger signals are recklessly ignored sometimes. To make schedule time is the object set before modern managers and it is only fair to say that occasionally the making of schedule time by a train will limit the liability to accident through confusion. However, the practice of ignoring signals has come to be so common that men are being encouraged a new device for signaling which also stops the train or car signaled. If the machine operates effectively it will doubtless be widely adopted.

A new signal cannot be ignored, because the car or train is not taken from the control of its master and compelled to stop. The only way to start motion is for some one to alight and release the exterior check, fixed automatically at the time the signal is given. Recently an old railroad man declared in an article printed in the Atlantic Monthly that the practice of ignoring signals by railroad men at certain times has become a habit hard to eradicate. He considered the practice responsible for many distressing accidents, but yet trainmen continue to exercise discretion. If the obstacle suggested by the signal is seen the warning is heeded, but if not speed is merely slackened and no full stop made. If railway men will not obey rules as to signals a security device to check their train in spite of them will be found necessary, especially at points where the danger is greatest.

Woman in the Sporting World.
In those forms of athletics which tend to making fancy records women do not score in comparison with the men. They do show power and endurance in athletic feats which depend upon heart and strength. At the recent Vassar exercises women showed that the amateur college athlete can run well and make a good running jump. Women can swim well, and it is plain that in athletics which make for health and endurance the sex is at home and can achieve as good a record as is worth while.

Woman has capacity for physical endurance, and if the real purpose of athletics be the maintenance of health and the development of strength the field is one where college girls and all young women may appear with benefit. The athletic girl has been criticized as being perhaps an affection. But, although she likes athletics and produces fine athletic records, if she maintains health her devotion to sport is not a waste of time or energy. It is possible to make a record at the expense of health, an abuse of powers and a misuse of the training field.

Perhaps the severe and somewhat unseasonable storms of May may be accounted for by the fact that circus and picnic schedules bore unusually early dates this year.

"Our naval policy," says Army and Navy Life, "should be preparedness in the far east, on our Pacific and on our Atlantic coasts and supremacy in the Gulf of Mexico."

The boy who whistles to keep his courage up shows that he has some spirit anyway.

A NECESSARY PRECAUTION.

Do you know how much better it is to have your return card printed on all of your envelopes? If your letter mislaid, or the party to whom you are writing cannot be found or has moved; if you give the wrong address, or any of the hundred and one things, which may happen, do happen, your letter will be returned to you, and not go to the dead letter office to be opened and read by strangers and sent back in a month or two if it is considered important enough. And how much better you feel in sending checks, money orders, receipts, etc., to know that if your letter does go wrong it will come back to you at once.

At the REVIEW office you can buy envelopes, 250 in a box, printed with your return card, for $1.35 per box, or larger boxes at proportionate prices. In buying envelopes a bunch at a time you will pay more than this for the envelopes alone, if you get the same quality. The practice of using printed envelopes is endorsed by the United States government, and is coming into almost universal use.

The Sisters Macnietti offer a very expert and interesting wive act. Alice Norton the alchemist who conducts certain popular scientific experiments on the stage, producing from raw material beautiful rubies and sapphires is a very distinct novelty, the act being one which adds a new note to the ordinary register of vaudeville. La Sylphe is a graceful dancer quite justifying her name by her terpsichorean exploits, while Raymond and Caverly, the funny men may be depended upon for an interlude of up-to-date humor. Frell's dogs in a novelty act quite away from the ordinary, form another interesting feature of a bill which also includes many other specialties.

A GOOD PLAY.

"Brewster's Millions" will continue on its road of spontaneous merriest at McVicker's Theatre, with the usual matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. The success which has attended the return of "Brewster's Millions" was a foregone conclusion, for the reason that "Monty" Brewster did his own missionary work last season when the dramatic version of McCutcheon's fantastic story first saw the light of day. "Brewster's Millions" is the result of a unique and original idea. Most people find it a task to accumulate a million dollars in a year—strange as it may seem in these days of endless chain fortunes but "Monty" Brewster has the rather hilarious occupation of spending that amount in twelve months.

NOTICE OF MEETING. Barrington District Court of Honor No. 373 will hold a regular meeting on Wednesday evening, May 27th, and consider arrangements for Memorial day.

The Sawfish.

The sawfish is a formidable weapon of killing in the fast, bay sword, armed on each side with about twenty large bony teeth. The sawfish rushes into a shoal of fish and slashes to the right and to the left. In sea fishes sometimes whales have been killed by sawfish, and the saw sometimes has been driven through the hull of a ship.

The sawfish, common about the West Indies, comes into the gulf of Mexico and the Florida waters and frequently ascends the Mississippi and other southern rivers, doing great havoc to the nets of fishermen. This species sometimes reaches a length of fifteen feet, a fourth of which measures the "saw."

Clearing Themselves.

Among the many men adopted for expressing grief upon the death of a relative perhaps no one is so interesting as any is that met with in the neighborhood of the Tully river, in Queensland. Here two, three or four of the deceased friends or relatives will squat close together, with hands on each other's shoulders, bewailing for hours at a time the loss of the dear departed. It is not the virtue of the latter that are in any way extolled, however. What these mourners are really taking care to do is to show that they and the deceased were always good friends. Their object in all this is to prove to the outside public that they have had nothing to do with the death of the deceased. —Wide World Magazine.

CONVENTION IN MICHIGAN IN-STRUCTS FOR NEBRASKAN.

UNIT RULE IS ADOPTED

Bryanites Beaten in Effort to Have Pennsylvania Delegates Instructed—Win Easily
in Missouri.

Lansing, Mich.—William J. Bryan was endorsed Wednesday afternoon by the state Democratic convention, and the Michigan delegation to the national convention was instructed to vote for him under the unit rule until he is nominated for the presidency.

The instruction was a unanimous vote of the convention and at no time during the sessions did the slightest opposition to Mr. Bryan develop.

Harrisburg, Pa.—After one of the hardest fights within the party in several years, the Democratic state convention here Wednesday decided not to instruct its delegates to vote for the Denver convention for Bryan. It was a clean-cut victory for the Democratic organization, headed by Col. James H. Coffer, of Pittsburgh, the Pennsylvania member of the national committee. The Bryanites, under the leadership of the executive committee of the Bryan Democratic league, had a large following and they fought to the bitter end.

Jefferson City, Mo.—In the Democratic convention Wednesday night the report of the committee on resolutions was unanimously adopted and the convention instructed Missouri's 54 delegates to the national convention to support W. J. Bryan as a unit.

William A. Rothwell of Randolph county was elected national committeeman. The resolutions declared for a deep waterway from the lakes to the gulf, endorsed the Democratic record in the state and censured that of the Republicans.

BANKRUPT BROKER ARRESTED.

T. A. McIntyre is indicted on Charge of Grand Larceny.

New York.—Upon the finding Wednesday of an indictment against him by the grand jury, Thomas A. McIntyre of the failed firm of T. A. McIntyre & Co., was arrested on a warrant charging grand larceny in the first degree. He gained bail in the sum of $25,000 and was released.

Mr. McIntyre's arrest was made in the face of vigorous protest by his physicians at the institution where he has been a patient since shortly after the failure of his firm. They declared him too ill to be removed, but after the officers had offered to take him to Bellevue hospital in an ambulance as a prisoner he consented to the other alternative and went with the detectives to police headquarters.

PLATT DENIES EVERYTHING.

Aged Senator Declares He Never Married Mae Wood.

New York.—Physically so weak, that practically he had to be carried in and out of the courtroom, United States Senator Thomas C. Platt was at times a spirited witness Wednesday when he appeared to testify in his own behalf in Mae C. Wood's suit for absolute divorce from him.

Senator Platt categorically denied that he ever married or promised to marry the plaintiff, repudiated the signature purporting to be his on the marriage certificate, and the genuineness of several letters which Miss Wood testified came to her from him.

SHE IS NOT OSBORNE'S WIFE.

Helen Maloney's First Marriage Is Annulled by Court.

New York.—Miss Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney of Philadelphia, never was legally married to Arthur H. Osborne, according to the decision of Referee Cobian, which was filed in the supreme court Wednesday. The effect of the annulment report. Following the so-called marriage to Osborne, Miss Maloney was married to Clarkson, a young Englishman. The effect of the annulment of the Osborne marriage is to make the marriage to Clarkson legal.

Fleet Enters Puget Sound.

Seattle, Wash.—The Atlantic battleship fleet at three o'clock Thursday morning rounded the northwestern point of the United States and entered the strait of Juan de Fuca, proceeding in the direction of Puget Sound.

Widow Blaine: Man Arrested.

Applauder of Wile—Discovery of the dead body of Mrs. Carrie Shaw, a wealthy young widow of Hortonville, was made Wednesday. The body was badly mutilated, and the authorities declare there is every evidence of a brutal murder having been committed. Mrs. Shaw had been keeping company recently with Charles Abrams of New London, and the couple were seen together. District Attorney Rooney ordered the arrest of Abrams, who is now in custody of the New London police.

"AWAITING OUR COUSIN THE PRINCE"

HIGH OFFICIALS INVOLVED

SENSATIONAL STATEMENT IN THE WOOD-PLATT CASE.

Former Consul Miller Drags in Robert Wynne, Mr. Loeb and Other Persons.

New York.—High government officials at Washington are alleged to have conspired to obtain possession of love letters said to have been written by United States Senator Thomas C. Platt to Miss Mae C. Wood.

The statement introduced as evidence during Tuesday's hearing in Miss Wood's suit for divorce against the senator.

The statement, which was introduced after the court had denied a motion by counsel for Senator Platt to dismiss the complaint, bears witness to the fact that the signature of J. Martin Miller and Miss Wood said the while she did not see the signature which she was assured by Mr. Miller that it was genuine. The statement was prepared by Miller at her request, she testified. It declared that Miller was asked by "high government officials" in Washington and New York to get possession of Senator Platt's love letters; that the papers when obtained were not to be given to Senator Platt, but were to be turned over to "Mr. Loeb in Washington," and that when the plan to get possession of the original papers failed, a scandal was begun in the newspapers to force Miss Wood to come to terms.

"Wynne, first assistant postmaster general, started the ball rolling by getting a New York newspaper to print the article as it first appeared," says the statement, which concludes:

"I was gotten into the conspiracy by powerful officials whom I dare not name to displease from a newspaper or political standpoint. I consulted Mr. Howe, Mr. Platt's secretary, frequently, and acted at all times under the direction of Loeb and Platt."

Former Postmaster General Wynne is the present American consul general to London. J. Martin Miller, a former newspaper man, recently was American consul at Rheims, France.

"Did Miller ever say anything to you about the letters?" asked the examining attorney of Miss Wood.

"Yes," she replied; "he said that if he got the letters the Platts would never get them."

"What was he going to do with them?"

"Hold them over Platt's head, I believe," she answered.

Two Killed in Collision.

Muskogee, Okla.—South-bound passenger train No. 5 on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad, due to arrive in Muskogee at 11:20 Friday morning and running 50 minutes late, collided head-on with three miles south of Muskogee at noon with a north-bound through freight. Two trainmen were killed and 15 passengers injured.

Fleet Leaves San Francisco.

San Francisco.—The Atlantic fleet of battleships, after 12 days of naval pageantry and merry-making in San Francisco harbor, sailed Monday morning at ten o'clock for Puget Sound.

Duma Leaders Not to Fight.

St. Petersburg.—A duel which had been arranged to take place Thursday morning between M. Guchkov, the Octoberist leader, and Prof. Paul Milukovich, leader of the Constitutional Democrats, has been declared void, thanks to the intervention of influential members of the Duma. M. Guchkov's challenge was the aftermath of a quarrel which broke out between him and Prof. Milukovich in the Duma on Friday last, the latter branding as false a statement which the Octoberist leader had made.

MUCH RIOTING IN CLEVELAND.

Four Men Are Shot and Little Girl Is Killed.

Cleveland, O.—Rioting became more general and serious in the street early Wednesday. The first death, while not a part of the strike, but incident to it, occurred when Yetta Volkinski, four years of age, was run over by a car operated by an inexperienced motorman.

A crowd quickly gathered and would have lynched the motorman had he not turned on full speed and escaped.

In Lakewood a car was stopped and the crew fired upon. Four persons were shot and seriously injured and the car was burned to the trucks.

The first disturbance in the downtown section took place after dark, when a Woodland car was held up on Ontario street and the motorman and conductor attacked. The police dispersed the rioters.

Cleveland, O.—The attempt by the members of the state board of arbitration Monday to bring about peace between the Municipal Traction Company and its striking employees resulted in a failure.

President Dupont conferred with Members Bishop and Owens of the board in regard to strike settlement, and while he agreed to arbitrate some points would not concede the one thing for which the men stand determinedly.

"In no case will I arbitrate the reinstatement of the men at the expense of those now employed," he said. "I shall stick to the seniority of runs, those now working getting the preference."

President Dupont was asked whether he would arbitrate all other points. He replied that he would arbitrate no points until the lawlessness had ceased.

SUBMITS TO GOV. PINDALL.

Arkansas Legislature Does Not Hold
Extra Session.

Little Rock, Ark.—The Arkansas legislature failed to convene Monday in pursuance to a call issued by Speaker Allen H. Hamiter, while he was acting governor, and as the result Arkansas will be without a legislature for that body.

Noon and afternoon sessions were held by members of both the senate and house, but there was not a quorum at any of the four sessions. The house at the close of the afternoon session adjourned sine die. The senate met as a mass meeting of senators in the afternoon and adopting resolutions recognizing Acting Gov. X. O. Pindall's power to revoke Speaker Hamiter's call for an extra session, agreed to disperse and return home.

Doomed to Terrible Death.

New York.—William H. Marsh, an aged and wealthy man, who died Tuesday that he undoubtedly died within a week of hydrophobia, calmly turned away with the remark that he would be ready when the summons came. Without a tremor he walked down the steps of the Pasteur Institute, stepped into his carriage and started for his home in Brooklyn.

Big Fire in a National Forest.

Belle Fourche, S. D.—Word from the Long Pine national forest northwest of here tells of the most destructive forest fire that has occurred in this state in many years. The fire started Friday night at Plum Creek.

Poisoned by Bogus Maple Syrup.

Sauk Rapids, Minn.—As a result of being a substitute for maple syrup which had stood for 24 hours in a porcelain lined dish, four children of Ernest Pelton of this city were made ill, and a 13-year-old son died.

STOPPED TO SALUTE HOGS.

One Man at Least Grateful to the Source of His Wealth.

"The Interpreter" in the American Magazine says of a respectful father he once knew:

"Jack! It was I who took off my hat and thanked this pleasant land for the good things it has done for us by going on patiently covering up our blunders, rectifying our mistakes, and responding cheerfully to our every intelligent effort!"

"I know a man out west who had the right idea about it. His father had made a great fortune in the stock packing business. The heir was not puffed up by his millions. Long after he had grown accustomed to the money and might reasonably be expected to look down on butchers, if in walking in the country with his children they saw a drove of hogs on the road, he would make his little boys stand at attention and take off their hats. I want them to respect the source of wealth," he said.

SEVERE HEMORRHOIDS

Sores, and Itching Eczema—Doctor Thought an Operation Necessary—Cuticura's Efficacy Proven.

"I am now 80 years old, and three years ago I was taken with an attack of piles (hemorrhoids), bleeding and protruding. The doctor said the only relief for me was to go to a hospital and be operated on. I tried several remedies for months but did not get much help. During this time sores appeared, which changed to a terrible itching eczema. Then I began to use Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, injecting a quantity of Cuticura into the rectum with a Cuticura Suppository. It took a month of this treatment to get me in a fairly healthy state and then I treated myself once a day for three months and after that, once or twice a week. The treatment I tried took a lot of money, and it is fortunate that I used Cuticura. J. H. Henderson, Hopkinton, N. Y., Apr. 26, 1907."

His Elusive Memory.

Employer—William, did that man who called to see me while I was out leave his name?

Shaggy-Haired Office Boy—Yes, sir; his name is—is—well, the last part of it is "shaw."

Employer—What's the first part of it?

Office Boy (making a strenuous effort to recall it)—Well, sir, it's either Grim, or Hawk, or Hen, or Brad, or Pan, or Ker, or Hick, but save my blooming life, Mr. Townsend, I can't remember which.

And the Moon Man Laughed.

They were jogging along the old road and cupid was so busy that the young man dropped the lines either side of the runabout. It was then that the wise old nag turned lazily around.

"What are you looking at?" queried the owl by the roadside.

"I am reading between the lines," laughed the old nag as she gave a horse laugh and showed her long yellow teeth.

AN EXCELLENT PLAY.

"Wine, Woman and Song" is the alluring and seductive title of the offering in the Great Northern theatre, Chicago, and it is drawing capacity audiences at every performance, but the seductive title is not the only alluring feature, for there is music, the beautiful star, who appears in gorgeous gowns and sings and dances, and there is a large and well trained chorus, which appears in many gorgeous spectacles. The songs are new, catchy, tuneful and are now being whistled and hummed all over Chicago.
Those who want to see beautiful women, hear bright and melodious music, and want to watch the intricate evolutions of a good chorus should by no means fail to drop in and see
"Wine, Woman and Song".
The matinee days are Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday.

BOARD IN NEED OF MORE MONEY

Asks an Appropriation of $20,000 to Proceed with Its Work Unham-pered by Poverty—Points in Bulletin.

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—When the General Assembly met in Springfield on May 5, the State Board of Charities presented the members a bulletin containing a special report to Governor Deneen giving thirty-eight specific things the Board had done to improve the charity service, asking an appropriation of $20,000 to proceed with its work unhampered by the poverty which has embarrassed it from the start, and submitting recommendations for a new system of public charity administration for Illinois.

In submitting recommendations the Board warned the legislature that the subject was too complex for quick settlement and urged that it plan deliberately to work out the problem, submit its findings to a joint conference of superintendents next October, and prepare bills for the next General Assembly. The Bulletin said:

"We feel that a radical change in the system of public charity administration, during the best of a primary campaign, is fraught with great danger to the public charity service of the State. The subject should be studied, we believe, with great care.
However, as an evidence to the public of our activity and for the consideration of the Forty-fifth General Assembly at its May session, if the members wish to try to solve the problem at once, we submit the following as our present recommendation and an alternative thereof."

Alternatives Are Submitted.

The Board goes on to submit alternatives as follows:

1. To create a Board of Administration of Public Charities to consist of seven members, three of whom shall be paid and four non-salaried, and two of the seven shall be women. The paid members shall be appointed by the Governor, and shall hold office for one year, and shall have the advice and consent of the Senate, and shall serve during good behavior. The unpaid members shall be appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, and shall serve in force-year overlapping terms. Removal of any member may be made by the Governor, but only for cause stated in writing, after an opportunity has been given to the official to be heard thereon. The paid members shall each receive a salary of $1,200 per annum and a sum not to exceed $1,200 each per annum for traveling and incidental expenses incurred in the public service. The non-salaried members shall receive reimbursement for their traveling and incidental expenses incurred in the public service.

Division of the Work.

The Board of Administration is divided into two divisions, one with administrative jurisdiction over state hospitals for the insane, feeble minded and epileptic patients and over all private and public places where insane persons are or may be kept and the other with administrative jurisdiction over all state charitable institutions not caring for insane or feeble minded and epileptic patients, and supervision over other public, semi-public and private charities, except church charities; and further over child saving societies, home protective societies, orphanages, lying-in hospitals, etc. A paid member is chairman of each committee. The Bulletin says:

"The paid members shall constitute,
with the superintendents of the several State Institutions, a Board of Joint Estimate, to take upon themselves for supplies and fix maximum prices under elastic rules, to be adopted by the said Board of Joint Estimate, with the approval of the Board of Administration, looking to economies in the joint purchase of staple supplies. The institution superintendents shall prepare the necessary quarterly estimates on all supplies on which more or less definite figures are obtainable.

"These supplies shall be purchased by a committee of stewards, appointed by the Board of Joint Estimate, on open competitive advertised bids, and distributed among the various institutions, in accordance with the estimates furnished.

Make Appropriation Estimates.

A novel feature is the plan for carefully preparing appropriation estimates in advance of the session of the legislature.

"The Board of Joint Estimate shall prepare, with the aid of the institution superintendents and trustees, and state architects and engineers,
and further with the aid of two members elected of each incoming legislature—one elected to the house and one of the senate, and both appointed by the governor, without confirmation—estimates for appropriations for all state charitable institutions, said estimates, with the reasons therefor, to be submitted as recommendations to the General Assembly during January or each year the General Assembly sits.

"Provided, that the Board of Administration shall sit with the Board of Joint Estimate, in appropriation matters, and that the appropriation estimates shall require the approval, in writing, of the said Board of Administration, or a majority thereof, and of the governor before they can be transmitted to the General Assembly."

Inspection of Institutions.

The county boards of auxiliary visitors are given the right of inspection of district hospitals for the insane, which is a new feature. The Bulletin
says:

"The Board of Auxiliary Visitors who, under the old charity laws, are visitors of county almshouses and jails, are hereby constituted also boards of visitors for the State hospitals for the insane, serving districts in which their counties are located. If directed by the county board, or the board of supervisors of their county, they may once each year, at the request of their county, visit their district state hospital for the insane and inquire into the welfare and conditions surrounding the inmates there from their county, and in case such visits are made, the auxiliary boards shall prepare a detailed report, in writing, to the county judge of their county, who shall transmit one copy thereof to the Committee on Lunacy of the State Board of Administration."

Trustee select superintendents and civil service is extended. Business managers or stewards are provided as aids to superintendents.

The prisons and reformatory are not included in the Board of Charities alternatives.

History of Control System.

As the house investigating committee seemed bent on securing the passage of a Board of Control bill abolishing the Board of Charities, the Bulletin seeks to prove by history and business common sense that such system will not do. It says:

"The most significant adverse history is afforded by Michigan, which, about twenty years ago, created a board of control, intending, so we are informed, if it proved satisfactory, to abolish the State Board of Charities.
Within two years the board of control was dropped, we are informed, because it did not answer the purpose of the state, for conservative economy as was supposed it would.

"Minnesota abolished its board of charities and corrections, created a board of control and last winter recreated a board of charities as the state board of visitors for public institutions, upon the general principle that men who do the work are not the men who can inspect the work and the further experience of all civilized countries in the world where executive and administrative management is uniformly protected by independent inspection."

The Bulletin quotes old editorials from the St. Paul Pioneer Press and the St. Paul Dispatch showing that the new Board of Visitors has proved the "whip and spur" to force the work to make more thorough inspections.

Kansas, it says, has taken a step similar to Minnesota.

Prof. Charles H. Henderson of the Chair of Sociology in the University of Chicago.

Take Root of All Systems.

The bulletin quotes in all the advice of twenty-five experts who fear the adoption of a central system, and concludes as follows:

"It would be almost an endless task to convey your excellency with all the pros and cons of the subject. It is a controversy over the board of charities and the board of control systems. It seems to your board that the economy of a central system of estimate and regulation of prices warrant the adoption of that system in this state.
It seems further that the unbusiness-ness of the existing board of control which performs work and then inspects that work will not do here.
The pendulum, it seems, has swung too far under the influence of the economy of the board of control system.
It is coming back. Can your excellency imagine the audit and inspection of a bank, in behalf of the depositors, by its own executive officers?
We believe that by combining the best features of the board of charities and local trustees with the best features of the board of control system, Illinois will secure a broad, elastic and satisfactory arrangement, provided always that honest and efficient officials are at the helm."

Time for Study Needed.

"Our suggestions are built on the general model of a business corporation. The people of Illinois are the stockholders. The state government is the corporation. The state charitable institutions are the property to be administered. Executive officers are provided to manage and be responsible for the management of the business. A board of directors, the non-paid officials, is provided to review the work of the executive officers and report to the stockholders thereon.

"When the General Assembly and the public are made aware of the contents of this communication, your Board of Charities will be able to desire to call a halt on what seems to be a precipitate endeavor to solve a great problem in a short period of time. We believe much more satisfactory results would be obtained if we were given time and money to work out your excellency's policy in a calm, deliberate and studious manner with the aid of others.

"Let the final result be the combined judgment of persons who know the us and costs of the present system of public charity administration."
