COVEY FOR SENATOR

Member of Legislature Enters

Field for Nomination to Upper House.

Hon. Frank R. Covey has formally entered the field for the Republican nomination for state senator from the district consisting of Boone, McHenry and Lake counties.

Mr. Covey has represented this district in the house for two terms and has been urged by many friends to enter the field for the upper house and has finally consented to do so. In making announcement of his candidacy Mr. Covey submits the following statement:

While little attention is paid to legislative offices by many of the voters, they are very important; the Legislature has to do with the appropriation of millions of dollars, for the maintenance of the penal, reformatory and charitable institutions; laws are enacted which affect the every day life and affairs of the people more than by the National Congress. An employee of a business house or manufacturing institution if loyal to his employer, comes more and more valuable each year; it is the same with a legislator, if he is honest and seeks to serve his constituents, each year's experience renders him more valuable and efficient.

electricity used for light, heat and power, also for the inspection of gas and electric meters that the consumer may know what he is paying for. I succeeded in getting a bill through the house giving city councils the right to establish, own, control and operate gas and electric light plants and to furnish gas and electricity for public and private use; also to regulate the sale of gas and electricity, to fix the prices and quality thereof and to provide for the inspection of the same. This bill after passing the house was referred to a senate committee and there killed, never being reported out. I believe, however, after giving the matter more study, that the most satisfactory method of correcting the abuses connected with the supplying of gas and electricity is through the medium of a public service commission such as recently provided for in the state of New York through the efforts of Governor Hughes. Powerful influences are against any regulation of these matters and the people are not apt to get any relief until they rise in their might and demand through their representatives legislation for the correction of these abuses.

TAXES. I believe that a saving to the taxpayers of the state could be made by doing away with township tax collectors and having the taxes paid to the county treasurer; and that the taxes should be paid in semi-annual installments; the money is not needed all at once by the state, and the taxpayers might just as well have the use of it as to have it lying in the vaults of the state treasury. Recently a commission was appointed by the governor to consider

Secretary and Treasurer..... Sam Landover

The board adjourned until next Monday evening when the annual appropriation ordinance will be presented and some action taken to take care of the general bonds and interest unpaid.

A Reasonable Request. To avoid the heavy expense connected with sending a collector into the country to secure the small amounts due from former fire subscribers, the Chicago Telephone Company is now requesting its former patrons to drop in at the exchange when they are in town, and to pay the amount directly to the Manager.

The request seems reasonable and fair inasmuch as each patron is probably in Barrington at least once each week and can visit the exchange without expense. The cost of sending a collector is heavy and the Company wishes to use this money in improving the local service. Manager G. E. Krueger states that the request has met with favor and that collections this month are gratifying.

Notice. Notice is hereby given, that in accordance with a request in writing, addressed to the undersigned, Clerk of Board of Supervisors, by one third of the members thereof, a Special Meeting of said Board will be held to convene on the 15th day of July, 1906 at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M. at the Court House in Waukegan in Cook County. Dated at Waukegan Illinois this 2nd day of July, 1906.

ALBERT L. HENDKE,
Clerk of Board of Supervisors.
Mr. and Mrs. William Thies went to Elgin Wednesday for a short visit. Mr. Thies is gaining in strength after his severe illness.

Return from Western Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. William Howarth, both over seventy years of age, returned last week from a ten days' western trip which Mrs. Howarth describes as follows:

"No rain and sunshine every day. We went as far as Canon City to see a nephew who has lived there for his health six months and seen only one rain storm in that time; the air is light and dry. The greatest one day scene trip in the world is the trip over the Moffat road from Denver to Corona, at a height of 11,993 feet, the highest point reached by any standard gauge railroad; then by a gradual descent, down the Pacific slope, eleven miles over the continental divide to Arrow, where we took dinner.

Mountains of snow, beautiful flowers, the columbine, the national flower, and yellow ones like silk. David H. Moffat, the builder of the road, is constructing an air line road over the Rockies to Salt Lake City which will save two hundred miles of travel and shorten the train time more than ten hours. Those of our party that did not take the Georgetown loop trip last year, took the trip this year and also at Colorado Springs, the high divide, the seven falls, the Garden of the Gods and other interesting sights.

Denver is a nice, clean city; the new opera building is very nice and will be used for the opera afterwards. The hotels were filling with tourists and delegates; soon it is to be brought from the mountains to cool the nation of their spirits and expectations.

A Successful Social.

The young people of St. Paul's Evangelical church, who gave a pleasant ice cream social on Wednesday evening on the Wood property east of the church on Main street, may well be pleased with the result. They succeeded in collecting $200.00, a large per cent of which is now in the bank.

The crowd was large and the decorations were pretty and attractive. A high square of Japanese lanterns marked the place and the flying lights for the band and the musicals illuminated the scene. A few booths and chairs were sold. Young ladies of the society served the many guests. Mrs. E. E. Wichman presided over the affair.

This annual social is one of the events of the summer here and never fails to be well attended.

Was a "Safe Fourth."

Barrington experienced a quiet Fourth of July. The usual demonstration at midnight was abandoned, not a shot being fired. A few black and white crackers were scattered about the city. During the day the children showed off their fireworks with little noise and in the evening a few gray Roman candles were noticed. We had, indeed, a "safe" Fourth, with no accident heard of. Many families entertained friends from away in a real observation of the national celebration.

Unfortunate Accident to Engineer.

Another accident has occurred at the bridge over the gravel pit. An engineer had his right arm severed at the shoulder and his right hand cut off last Wednesday. He was hanging out his engine doing some road work when his engine was struck by another engine and started forward, resulting in the unfortunate accident. We did not learn whether his injuries would be fatal or not.

Shurtliff a Candidate.

To the Republicans of the Eight Senatorial District: I desire to announce that I shall be a candidate for the lower house of representatives for the general assembly from the Eight Senatorial District, subject to the Republican primaries to be held August 8, 1906. In the forty-fourth general assembly, 1907-1910, substantially four sessions—the Eight Senatorial District and McHenry county have had the honor and influence of filling the speakership of the lower house. How fairly or how poorly have I filled that position. I can only leave to the judgment of others upon the record and to the opinion of the voters who have served in the house. That there is a very good opportunity for the Eight Senatorial District and McHenry county to fill the position of speaker in the lower house for a third successive term, and that it is the request of many of the present members who are candidates for re-election, are the causes of my candidacy at the present time. If elected, I shall vote upon the question of the United States Senatorship as instructed by the Republicans of this district, in the primaries of August 8.

Very respectfully,
EDWARD D. SHURTLEFF.

Miss Hattie Jones and Mrs. Harris A. Kendall were Chicago visitors Thursday.

A POPULAR CANDIDATE

Strong With the Farmers.

Will Get a Large Vote in Lake County.

Honorable A. J. Olson of Woodstock has been making a thorough canvass of Lake county in the interests of his candidacy for state senator from this district. He has an extensive acquaintance throughout Lake county, next four years that may effect the and his friends in all parts of the county are working earnestly in his behalf. He is a likable, agreeable, gentleman, and is certainly a vote getter.

He has served two terms in the Lower House at Springfield from Cook county, and was also a member of the City Council of Chicago for four years, and is now a member of the City Council of Woodstock where he resides.

For over twenty years he has taught large quantities of milk from the farm through the counties of Lake, Boone and McHenry, and his honesty and the Republicans of Lake county can rest assured that if nominated and elected, Mr. Olson will prove loyal to his friends, true to the Republican party, and that the interests of the people of the Eighth Senatorial District will be properly looked after during the next four years.

According to custom McHenry county is this year entitled to the State Senator and from present indications it will be Honorable A. J. Olson of Woodstock.

BASE BALL NOTES.

News of the Diamond. What Barrington Ball Players Are Doing.

Saturday the Y. M. C. A. defeated the Western News, of Chicago, in a fairly captured game by the score of 11 to 6. The grounds were wet and slippery which made it hard playing for both sides. The visitors ran in seven runs in the first two innings and things looked black for the home team for a while but they soon commenced to get in their "good work" and won the game by one score. The Western News is one of the strongest teams they have played this year and they are to be congratulated for their victory.

Saturday the Y. M. C. A. play the Monitors of Chicago. Come and see a good game.

Sunday afternoon Art Catlow's team, the Barrington Locals, will play the Palatine Standards at Catlow's ball grounds, one mile east of town. Admission 15c. A good game is promised.

The Y. M. C. A. base ball schedule for July and August is as follows:
July 19, Y. M. C. A.
July 25, Chicago Telephone Co.
August 1, Rock Island Railroad
August 8, T. Baettner
August 14, O. P. Marions
August 22, U. S. Express
August 29 is an open date.
All of these teams are from Chicago.

Notice to Members.
Barrington camp M. W. A. has accepted an invitation to attend a picnic given by Silver Leaf Camp, No. 60 at Lion's park, Elgin, Saturday, July 15th. All the local officers will be present, and speeches, games, races and land concerns will be plentiful all through the day. You are cordially invited to be present.

WM. GRUNAU, Clerk.
The annual encampment of the Lake County Soldiers' and Sailors' will be held at Waukegan, August 20th and 21st.

county indicate that Mr. Olson will receive a large vote in Lake county and integrity is vouched for by every one with whom he has ever done business, and if reports are true he will receive an overwhelming majority in McHenry county and also a large vote in Boone county.

Mr. Olson is still engaged in the milk and cream business as he owns a large creamery at Woodstock that supplies the Great Northern and Auditorium hotels of Chicago with milk and cream. If nominated and elected Mr. Olson pledges himself to properly look after and protect the interests of the farmers and dairymen of this district in regard to any legislative act during the next four years that may effect the interests of the farmers and dairymen. and the Republicans of Lake county can rest assured that if nominated and elected, Mr. Olson will prove loyal to his friends, true to the Republican party, and that the interests of the people of the Eighth Senatorial District will be properly looked after during the next four years.

According to custom McHenry county is this year entitled to the State Senator and from present indications it will be Honorable A. J. Olson of Woodstock.

The attendance is estimated at five hundred of all ages. The program's planned took place with only one change, one speaker being absent. No accidents or mishaps are recorded, but long hours of fun and amusement.

In the afternoon a ball game between members of the Diversey Boulevard church and the Adams street church, Chicago, of the same denomination as the players here, played a ball game in Landover's field which the former won by a score of 17 to 6.

The picnic was a drive to raise money, but for pleasure; however, a sum was realized which the Keystone League and the Young People's Alliance will donate for camp ground improvements.

Gravel Contracts Let.
Contracts were let in Cuba township Tuesday for the graveling of roads in the township as follows:

William Feigenhauer at 60c per yard, 120 rods on Hobel's road near Johnson's.

Frank Douglas at 45 cents per yard, 45 rods on county line road near August Klein's place.

John Jahnke at 60 cents per yard, 80 rods on road north of Hobel's store at Chicago Highlands.

E. W. Riley at 50c per yard, 60 rods west from Peter's road.

E. C. Simeon at 50c per yard, 30 rods near Kelsey farm.

The work is to be completed on or before October 1st.

HON. FRANK R. COVEY

According to the custom adopted in this district for many years, McHenry county would this year be entitled to the State Senator, and Lake and Boone counties, each a member of the lower house. Inasmuch as McHenry county has not seen fit to abide by the old arrangement, but already has two candidates for the Senate and one for the house, and Lake county has two candidates for the house and will in all probability have a candidate for the senate, it is only proper that Boone county should have candidates for both house and senate also.

When I was first elected to the legislature I was, and still am, president of the North Belvidere board of education and naturally was interested in educational legislation. At my request I was appointed on the educational committee both sessions. Every school director, trustee, or township treasurer or any person who has occasion to consult our school laws has been confused by their conglomeration condition—there are many conflicting sections and it is difficult for an attorney to say nothing of a layman, to ascertain what the law is. Our committee took this matter up and made provision for having the whole school law revised and re-written and after the next session we hope to have the school law in more intelligible form.

GAS AND ELECTRICITY

There is a crying need in many of the municipalities of our state for a law to regulate the price of gas and the whole revenue system and how it may be improved. I intend if I am elected to the Senate to present this matter to the commission and I have then subtly in their consideration. I hope to get sufficient interest aroused to have the change made in our system of collecting taxes.

GOOD ROADS

With the increasing use of the automobile and motorcycle there comes a growing demand from the cities for hard roads. These are greatly to the advantage of the farmer also, yet there is a disposition on the part of the people of the large cities to throw all burden or the greater portion of it on the farmer. Good roads while a boon to the farmer are a direct benefit to others besides the farmer. They are of great advantage to the railroads, in that they enable the farmer to readily market their produce, thereby causing much less fluctuation in the volume of business from week to week; when the roads are good the railroads have more traffic than they can handle when the roads are impassible traffic at once falls off. The city people are directly benefited by good roads, in that they are enabled to have a constant and steady reliable supply of good products, fuel, etc. Even in our own little city we have seen cord wood in the spring come to two dollars higher because the roads were almost impassible, the condition resulting in no benefit to the farmer as it was worth more than the difference in price to

PEARY OFF FOR THE POLE

STEAMER ROOSEVELT LEAVES NEW YORK.

Commander Will Join Her at Cape Breton and Proceed North with High Hopes of Success.

New York.—With the Peary Arctic club's pennant fluttering from her mast and the stars and stripes at her masthead, the Arctic exploration steamer Roosevelt left her pier at East Twenty-fourth street Monday, carrying Commander Robert E. Peary, who is to head another expedition in quest of the north pole.

The Roosevelt, accompanied by the ship Albatross, proceeded to near City Island, where she anchored for the night to permit the adjustment of her compasses.

Tuesday she went to Oyster Bay where President Roosevelt boarded her to bid good-bye to her commander and crew. The Roosevelt then headed for Sydney, Cape Breton, where she will stop to coal.

Before the ship left Monday Commander Peary said:

"I have done too much work in the Arctic regions to believe that I can make the pole without strenuous work. I am not foolish enough to say so."

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention: Crimes arise in the life of nations which endanger their institutions, and at times, imperil the advance of civilization.

Every people that has left its impress upon history has had its successes. In most instances, where grave dangers have threatened the safety of the state, some great character, some master mind has been produced, and it was by the conditions themselves, with capacity to direct the energies of the people. This was true of the ancient world; it is true of the modern world; it is true of this republic.

We have such a crisis to meet. The favor-seeking corporations have gradually strengthened their hold upon the government until they now menace popular institutions.

The question is, whether this government shall be restored to the control of the people and be maintained in the interest of all, or whether it shall remain an instrument in the hands of the few for levying tribute upon all the rest.

In his special message to congress last winter, President Roosevelt declared, substantially, that certain laws could only be justified by a system of morality that would permit every form of criminality, every form of violence, corruption and fraud.

For many years, and especially during the last 12 years, these very men have been in control of the Republican party; they have financed every campaign of that party for a quarter of a century. These exploiters of the people, whom the president has so scathingly denounced, have given their enthusiastic support to the Republican candidates and policies. They held their hands upon the trust funds of insurance companies and other corporations and turned the plunder over to the Republican committee. The money thus filched from the innocent and helpless, purchased Republican victory, has not been repaid.

Where do we find these men today? And where are the "swollen forces" of which we hear so much? Just where we would expect to find them—supporting the Republican ticket and furnishing the sinews of war for the Republican committee as usual.

Republican Party Arraigned. The reform adopted by the late convention shows that the Republican party in truth represents. In framing the platform every genuine reform which has been advocated by the people is included and repudiated. The Wisconsin delegation called that one or two reform planks be placed in the platform and for its pains was denounced as a Democratic. The convention by a vote of eight to one refused to approve the platform which the president for four years has been urging upon his party. The mask of hypocrisy has been torn from the face of those who pretend to favor the reforms advocated by the president, and it is now apparent why the "system" admired Taft and hated the senator from Wisconsin.

When compelled to choose between an appeal to the conscience of the nation in defense of its platform and candidates, on the one hand, and the millions that the special interests may be dependent upon to contribute on the other, that convention rejected the people and continued its alliance with Mammon.

If the charges made by the president are true—and they are true—they are indeed cause to face with a situation as grave as any in our history. How shall it be met? The good sense, patriotism and self-sacrifice of the people alone can remedy present evils.

Democratic Must Furnish Leader. To wage a successful fight we must have a leader. The Republican party, dominated by the seekers of special privileges, cannot furnish him. Republicans who really believe in the powerlessness, the efforts of the president have been futile.

The Democratic party must furnish the leader which present conditions demand, and he must be a man known to be free from the influences that control the Republican party. He must be a man of superior intellect, sound judgment, positive convictions and moral courage—one who will meet the issue of hypocrisy with the sword of truth—one who knows no surrender. He must have a genius for statesmanship; he must be a man of high character, whose every action must have ability to formulate policies and courage to defend them.

But above all, he must have faith in the people. He must not only believe in the right of the people to govern, but in their capacity to do so. And he must be a man whom the people know and trust.

The Democratic party has many distinguished men who might be chosen as leaders; but it has one man who above all others possesses the necessary qualifications and is eminently fitted for this leadership. He is a man whose nomination will have no doubt as to where our party stands on every public question. His genius for statesmanship is shown by the constructive work he has done in proposing reforms, and by the ability with which he has fortified his position. But we may go farther.

For a few months since, he visited the principal nations of the world. He came in contact with the leading minds of Christendom, and the world abroad recognized his greatness and paid him that tribute justly due to men of high attainments.

In the most distinguished peace convention ever assembled in our country, he proposed a plan which, if adopted, would prove more effective than any arbitration treaty that has yet been made, and as the president has secured its approval by the representatives of the 26 leading nations, there can be no doubt of its success.

Is he thoroughly informed regarding the issues of this campaign? Read his speeches and his writings, which for nearly 20 years have been a part of the political literature of the nation. Is he sincere, brave and determined? Even his political opponents now admit it.

I have had a close personal and political acquaintance with this man, whose name Nebraska presents, since he entered political life. I can testify from observation as to his political conduct before he was known to fame, and I can testify as to his integrity as a crusader of old Nebraska presents his name because Nebraska claims his dwelling place, and proudly enrolls him among her citizens; but his home is in the hearts of the people.

I obey the command of my state and of the party of the Democracy of the nation, when I offer the name of America's great Commander, Nebraska's gifted son, William Jennings Bryan.

Many Second Nominations. Speeches according to the nomination of Mr. Bryan were made by Mr. Robert B. Gleason of North Carolina, George Claude A. Swanson of Virginia, Augustus Thomas and Hon. James T. Heflin.

LIKE THE OLD MINING CAMPS. Women Are at a Premium in the Panama Canal Zone. One place in this world where women seem to be at a premium is in the canal zone. The women employed in the zone are very few in proportion to the total number of 4,500 employees of the government. 207 are women. Their salary is about what the average man makes here in our cities, or in actual figures they make $73.90 a month. It is not that the government prefers men employees to women, but that the women are so expensive that struggling for men that the latter are employed instead. Many of the women are employed as stenographers, typewriters, copyists, timekeepers and clerks, although the great majority of them are either teachers or nurses. The chief woman clerk receives a salary of $175, whereas the lowest salary is $25 to a matron. The women are very few in the zone to visit tourists and unless seldom return to the United States. It is a pity that a woman of wit in the isthmus that almost every girl who goes to the zone marries an ambitious young man who knows there is no other life in one way if not in another.

A Quick Grower. William M. Mauss, Chicago's industrial commissioner, recently visited New York, and with great success pointed out to the New Yorkers Chicago's many advantages as an industrial center. Praising his great city at a dinner, Mr. Mauss smiled and said: "Indeed, the quick growth of Chicago is as remarkable as that of Tin Can."

"A native praised Tin Can to a tenderfoot. 'Only six years old,' he said, 'and the next young town in the west.' 'Tin Can the finest young town in the west? No sense!' said the tenderfoot. 'I don't like it in all history.' 'You don't' exclaimed the native, astonished. 'When were you there?' 'Last week.' 'You don't like the native, but you ought to see the place now.'"

The Rub. "My!" exclaimed little Billy, as he gazed at the lithograph. "I'd like to be a giraffe. Just think how easily he could get over the top of the baseball fence." "That's all right," replied Tommy, "but there is another time when you wouldn't want to have a neck like a giraffe."

"When is that?"

"Why, in the mornings when your ma begins to scrub your neck with soap and water."

Orator Declares Western Statesman Is the Man Above All Others Eminently Worthy of the Party's Leadership.

Denver, Col.—The Hon. Ignatius J. Dunn, on behalf of Nebraska, urged the claims of William Jennings Bryan as the party's logical candidate for the presidency, before the Democratic national convention, in the following speech:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention: Crimes arise in the life of nations which endanger their institutions, and at times, imperil the advance of civilization.

Every people that has left its impress upon history has had its successes. For many years, and especially during the last 12 years, these very men have been in control of the Republican party; they have financed every campaign of that party for a quarter of a century. These exploiters of the people, whom the president has so scathingly denounced, have given their enthusiastic support to the Republican candidates and policies. They held their hands upon the trust funds of insurance companies and other corporations and turned the plunder over to the Republican committee. The money thus filched from the innocent and helpless, purchased Republican victory, has not been repaid.

Where do we find these men today? And where are the "swollen forces" of which we hear so much? Just where we would expect to find them—supporting the Republican ticket and furnishing the sinews of war for the Republican committee as usual.

Republican Party Arraigned. The reform adopted by the late convention shows that the Republican party in truth represents. In framing the platform every genuine reform which has been advocated by the people is included and repudiated. The Wisconsin delegation called that one or two reform planks be placed in the platform and for its pains was denounced as a Democratic. The convention by a vote of eight to one refused to approve the platform which the president for four years has been urging upon his party. The mask of hypocrisy has been torn from the face of those who pretend to favor the reforms advocated by the president, and it is now apparent why the "system" admired Taft and hated the senator from Wisconsin.

When compelled to choose between an appeal to the conscience of the nation in defense of its platform and candidates, on the one hand, and the millions that the special interests may be dependent upon to contribute on the other, that convention rejected the people and continued its alliance with Mammon.

If the charges made by the president are true—and they are true—they are indeed cause to face with a situation as grave as any in our history. How shall it be met? The good sense, patriotism and self-sacrifice of the people alone can remedy present evils.

Democratic Must Furnish Leader. To wage a successful fight we must have a leader. The Republican party, dominated by the seekers of special privileges, cannot furnish him. Republicans who really believe in the powerlessness, the efforts of the president have been futile.

The Democratic party must furnish the leader which present conditions demand, and he must be a man known to be free from the influences that control the Republican party. He must be a man of superior intellect, sound judgment, positive convictions and moral courage—one who will meet the issue of hypocrisy with the sword of truth—one who knows no surrender. He must have a genius for statesmanship; he must be a man of high character, whose every action must have ability to formulate policies and courage to defend them.

But above all, he must have faith in the people. He must not only believe in the right of the people to govern, but in their capacity to do so. And he must be a man whom the people know and trust.

The Democratic party has many distinguished men who might be chosen as leaders; but it has one man who above all others possesses the necessary qualifications and is eminently fitted for this leadership. He is a man whose nomination will have no doubt as to where our party stands on every public question. His genius for statesmanship is shown by the constructive work he has done in proposing reforms, and by the ability with which he has fortified his position. But we may go farther.

For a few months since, he visited the principal nations of the world. He came in contact with the leading minds of Christendom, and the world abroad recognized his greatness and paid him that tribute justly due to men of high attainments.

In the most distinguished peace convention ever assembled in our country, he proposed a plan which, if adopted, would prove more effective than any arbitration treaty that has yet been made, and as the president has secured its approval by the representatives of the 26 leading nations, there can be no doubt of its success.

Is he thoroughly informed regarding the issues of this campaign? Read his speeches and his writings, which for nearly 20 years have been a part of the political literature of the nation. Is he sincere, brave and determined? Even his political opponents now admit it.

I have had a close personal and political acquaintance with this man, whose name Nebraska presents, since he entered political life. I can testify from observation as to his political conduct before he was known to fame, and I can testify as to his integrity as a crusader of old Nebraska presents his name because Nebraska claims his dwelling place, and proudly enrolls him among her citizens; but his home is in the hearts of the people.

I obey the command of my state and of the party of the Democracy of the nation, when I offer the name of America's great Commander, Nebraska's gifted son, William Jennings Bryan.

standard bearer of his party in this gigantic contest.

Since time began no greater tribute was ever paid to any man by a free people. He is recognized to-day as the most representative citizen of the nation, the peer of any living man.

Friends and foes have learned that he was shaped in that heroic mold in which the world's great patriots, statesmen and leaders have been cast. Strong in People's Affection.

First nominated when ten years younger than any other presidential candidate ever chosen by a prominent party; living in a state 500 miles farther west than that in which any president has ever lived; he has grown in the affections of the people as the years have passed.

Speaking and writing freely on all subjects, his heart has had no secrets and his friends have increased in numbers and in confidence.

Without an organization to urge his claims; without a campaign fund to circulate literature in his behalf; without patronage to bribe a single voter; without a predatory corporation to coerce his employees into his support; without a subsidized newspaper to influence the public mind; he has won a signal victory at the primaries and has become the free choice of the militant Democracy of the nation.

Forming in one unbroken phalanx, the entire nation has rallied to California, and from Michigan to the overglades, the yeomanry of the party have volunteered their services to make the party of the Democracy; and they will not lay down their arms until they have made him the nation's chief executive.

Nebraska's Democracy, which saw in him, when a young man, the signs of promise, places in nomination as the standard bearer of our party the man who in the thrilling days of '98 and 1900 bore the battle-scarred banner of Democracy with fame as unsullied and fidelity as spotless as the crusaders of old Nebraska presents his name because Nebraska claims his dwelling place, and proudly enrolls him among her citizens; but his home is in the hearts of the people.

A Proxy Father-in-law

By C. B. LEWIS

Copyright, 1906, by Associated Literary Press

It was reported of the Hon. John Sharpe that he had but two fads where other schemers and speculators and owners of railroad lines had a dozen. One of his fads was the P. and G. railroad, in which he owned a controlling interest. He knew every foot of its roadbed and kept himself posted on all details.

His other fad was that his daughter, Edith, having finished her school days, should interest herself in the P. and G. even as he had. If she had been cut out for an old maid or a business woman she might have obeyed orders literally, but as it was she had to assume an interest she did not feel.

The Hon. John lived in Chicago, and his pet line was further west. When tired of making money and fighting other lines on the Stock Exchange or by some sly coup, he would order the general superintendent or other official into Chicago to report details and plan improvements.

If it wasn't the general superintendent, then it was one of a division or a civil engineer and bridge builder. He had them at his house that his daughter might better and secure experience, and when they had departed he would go over the matter again with her to make sure that she understood.

When the civil engineer engaged in building the bridge over Centennial creek was called in by Edith and met. The Hon. John was in high feather that day. He had secured a mail contract over a rival line and had been told that the bridge could be built for $25,000 less than the estimated expense. He stretched his courtesy to invite the engineer to dinner and to ask Miss Edith to play the piano afterward.

Then two or three things happened that he didn't take cognizance of, although he was rated a keen and observant man.

From that night Miss Edith began to take more interest in railroad matters, especially in the department of bridge building and Mr. Havens, the engineer, sent reports that seemed to necessitate his visiting Chicago much oftener than before.

As punctually as the clock the Hon. John Sharpe took a trip over his line in his own private car every three months. Miss Edith had accompanied him twice before her sudden great interest had come to the surface, and her enthusiasm over the third trip, especially as she didn't take cognizance of it, was so great that he had to be patient her golden hair and feebly observed:

"You are your own father's daughter, after all. You will come back better posted on the railroad business than any other girl in America."

"It must take a very brainy man to construct such a bridge as I have heard you and Mr. Havens talking about," she demurely suggested.

"I don't, my dear—a very brainy man."

"And one pretty certain to rise in the world?"

"Um—yes."

The Hon. John had risen in the world, and he took care to let her know it. But he was rather opposed to any one else rising, especially any body employed on the P. and G. road.

"Yes, Mr. Havens may rise in his profession," he reluctantly admitted, "but you must remember the social golf now existing between us. I or you and I are the owners of the P. and G. road. Mr. Havens is an employee."

Ten days previous to the start on the third trip the Hon. John discovered something that threw him into a fever of doubt. It was not that his daughter in her enthusiasm to learn more about railroad bridge building was writing to the engineer for further information about the cantilever principle or that he in reply was telling about the tensile strength of steel and the strain put upon it under certain conditions.

It was that a feeder to his line was about to pass into other hands unless he could secure enough proxies to prevent this at the election to be held in Denver. He took off his coat and started in, and he came home one night with a weary face to say to the daughter:

"My dear girl, always remember that the first principle of railroading is to get possession of the road."

"But if you can't get enough of the stock?" she asked.

"Then get the proxies. Buy, borrow or beg, but get them. It is with proxies that I shall get control of the P. and G. I need only a thousand more votes, and they are in Denver waiting for me."

The Hon. John was rubbing his hands when his car left Chicago. He enjoyed coups, and he was on his way to make one. He felt just a little sympathy for the already routed enemy. Defeat would come with a dull thud, whereas he rather preferred something of a battle first.

"Proxies, my dear," he said to his daughter as he took a bundle of them from his pocket and thumbed them over—"proxies are the powder and ball to desolate the ranks of the enemy. Blessed be proxies!"

At Santa Fe business defeated him half a day. He had scarcely left the car when Mr. Havens made his appearance and was received with smiles and a blush.

The talk between him and Miss Edith began about the bridge over the Centennial, but gradually came down to less scientific and more interesting things.

He referred to a list she had given him in her last letter and assured her that he had acted on it, and he solicited her permission to ask her father a certain momentous question before the day had expired. That afternoon when the train had pulled out Miss Edith fluttered around for a bit and then timidly asked:

"Father, what will happen if you fail to get that thousand proxies you are counting on?"

"Why—why, I'd be knocked into a cocked hat, daughter. But I can't fail. I know just where they are. I shall receive a wire at the next stop. I am glad to see you so interested in the matter. Proxies are the powder and ball, and I'm sure of the proxies."

Half an hour later the Hon. John was stumping up and down the car and roaring at the top of his voice. He had received the expected wire and had been informed that the party on whom he depended had sold the stock at a sharp advance. This was the biggest setback he had received in five years. It meant a staggering blow to the P. and G. While he stamped and roared his daughter kept very quiet.

When he had got through smashing the English language he sat down hard and wiped his forehead and looked at the young lady with despairing eyes.

"Father, I don't think we are beaten yet," she said in reply.

"But we are, daughter. Those proxies are certainly in the hands of that infernal M. and W. gang, and they have got me tight. To think that I left it in the hands of Chivers to betray me! Why, I deserve to be sent to an idiot asylum."

"But the game may not be lost after all. You know you have been trying to make a railroad woman of me for a year past."

"But that miserable Chivers sold out his stock on me!" shouted the father as he brought his fist down with great bang.

"Yes, dear, but that's a part of the railroad business. If Chivers sold his stock some one bought it, and some one has the right to vote it in the meeting tomorrow."

"But the M. and W. gang have got it, of course!"

"Perhaps. It's a part of the railroad business to find out. You don't want me to stop at grade, sidetracks, switchbacks and bridge building, do you?"

"My dear father, remember that the first principle of railroading is to get possession of the road, the next to get track of stock and proxies."

"Oh, I, you know something," he said after a long look into her face.

"Well, suppose the M. and W. gang didn't get that stock?"

He gasped for breath and turned pale.

"Suppose that a gentleman interested in our road got it?"

The Hon. John sat with his mouth open.

"Suppose that a gentleman, a real nice gentleman, a gentleman interested in—oh, you, got the stock with the idea of helping us out?"

"My thunder, but I'd break his ribs hugging him! Out with it, girl! Don't keep your old dad on the books this way."

"Well, then, Mr. Havens is in the Pullman ahead. He had to come up to Santa Fe to buy the last of the bridge stuff down. As he knew how much you wanted control of that feeder and as he knew how interested I was in the railroad business he—"

But the Hon. John had sent the letter for Mr. Havens to his room. An hour later there was a knock on her door.

"Say, young lady, you think you're smart, don't you? Well, here's the letter as she appeared."

"In your daughter, you know."

"Um—yes. Well, Mr. Havens that bridge over the Centennial has got to be finished before there is any further movement."

"But you are the superintendent of the P. and G., and if you learn any more about the railroad business it will be from him. You are a little too apt for him."

A Persian plaque in the South Kensington museum, London, bears witness of clever relief and brilliant color a romantic tale, part legend and part history. Nobody knows the proportion of each.

At all events it is declared to be an incident in the life of marum V. of the Sassanian dynasty. Bahram, according to legend and plaque, was a wonderful archer. During one of his hunting expeditions, on which his favorite wife had accompanied him, he shot a sleeping antelope with such precision as to graze the animal's ear. The antelope awoke, belling himself smartly annoyed by a fly, put his hind hoof to his ear to strike off the fly. A second arrow sent by the royal hand felled the antelope's hoof to his horn.

The king's wife merely said, "Practice makes perfect," which touched the pride of her royal spouse.

Indeed, as the penalty for her plaiting she was sent out into the mountains to perish, but instead found shelter in a village. Here she lodged in an upper room attended by twenty steps and, having found a calf, carried it up and down every day. The king, peering by four years later, was amazed at seeing a young woman carrying a cow up a flight of twenty steps. The lady again took occasion to remark, "Practice makes perfect," whereupon she unweaved, was recognized and restored to favor.

Enough to Keep Him Waiting. "I hate to have my husband find a borehouse."

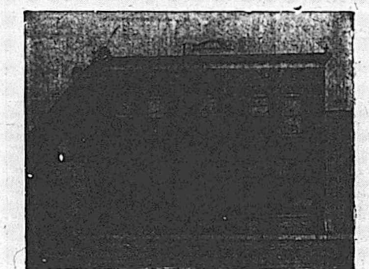

"Why?"

"He always brings it home, until it up and then waits around for luck to strike him."

"Well?"

"And there never was such a man for finding borehouses."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Democratic National Convention at Denver Listens to Party's Battle Cry

Denver, Colo.—With cheers from 10,000 throats, with a swell of political oratory, and the inspiring spectacle of a vast multitude of people, the Democratic national convention began its deliberations Tuesday. The session, lasting a little over two hours, gave the opportunity for the awakening echoes of convention enthusiasm, the keynote speech of the temporary presiding officer, Theodore A. Bell, of California, and a unanimous tribute of homage and respect to the memory of the late Grover Cleveland.

It was a stirring scene which spread before Chairman Taggart when with uplifted arm he sought to bring order out of the confused babel of sound and motion.

Following Mr. Taggart's remarks the secretary read the official call of the convention and Bishop John J. Keane of Wyoming was introduced to deliver the invocation, delegates and spectators rising to their feet at the request of the chairman.

The temporary organization was announced as follows:

Temporary chairman—Theodore A. Bell, California.
General secretary—Urey Woodson, Kentucky.
Assistant general secretary—Edwin Sifton, Washington, D. C.
Assistant secretaries—Charles S. Northern, Atlanta, Ga.; H. C. Richmond, Fremont, Neb.; C. A. Nash, Portland, Me.; Edward Cahill, Springfield, Ill.; Will Reid, Ravenna, Wyo., and Frank B. Ross, Indianapolis, Ind.
Reading clerks—William McElroy, Rock Island, Ill.; T. F. Smith, New York city; William E. R. Byrne, Charleston, W. Va.; C. J. Gavin, Denver, Colo.; Ross F. Hornebeck, Little Rock, Ark.; and Joseph L. Kelly, Indianapolis, Ind.
Sergeant-at-arms—John I. Martin, Missouri.
Chief assistant sergeant-at-arms—J. C. Fenn, Indiana.
Chief doorkeeper—Eugene W. Sullivan, Illinois.

Tally clerks—Hubby LaFoon, Madisonville, Ky.; V. Allert, London, Md.; E. E. Murphy, Leesport, Kan.; Thomas H. Lovelace, St. Louis; Thomas B. Collier, Memphis, Tenn.; and C. C. Ernst, Decatur, Ill.
Messenger to secretary—W. V. Richardson, Danville, Ky.
Parliamentarian—N. D. Crutchfield, Ky.

Official stenographer—W. M. Blumberg, Washington, D. C.
Chaplains—Tuesday, Rt. Rev. James J. Keane, archbishop of Wyoming; Wednesday, Rev. C. F. Reimer, Denver, Colo.; Thursday, Rabbi Samuel Korch, Seattle, Wash.; Friday, Rev. P. T. Ramsey, Denver, Colo.

Bell Tolls of Party's Aims.
Temporary Chairman Bell then delivered his speech. He arraigned the Republican party for alleged failure to keep its pledges to the people, and outlined the aims of the Democracy. He deplored that the party has an enemy of corporation power, and concluded, claiming that the checking of corporate abuses was the only aim. Given in a few words, Mr. Bell's speech commits the Democratic party to the following action: Tariff reform, Asiatic exclusion, Volstead peace, Deep waterway, Injunction restriction, Post banks, Pacific navy, Campaign publicity, Anti-Trust law, Railroad stock control, Railroad valuation, Election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

He declared the party would strive for the elimination of the following: Trust protection, Federal injunctions, Lawless rich, Criminal monopolies, New currency law, Republican congress, Child labor, Corporations in politics, Confiscation pretenses, Trust extortion, Special privileges, Republican extravagance.

Permanent Organization.
The roll call of states for the membership of the committee on rules and order of business, credentials, permanent order and resolutions followed. Henry D. Clayton of Alabama was announced as permanent chairman, and the rest of the temporary organization was made permanent.

Honor Memory of Cleveland.
Resolutions of respect for the memory of Grover Cleveland were adopted, and as a further mark of respect the convention adjourned until Wednesday.

Tribute to Grover Cleveland.
The following resolutions were offered by T. J. Duane of Omaha, who will place William J. Bryan in nomination:

"As it has pleased the ruler of the universe to remove from our midst Grover Cleveland, late president of the United States, who has three times been the candidate of the Democratic party, be it

"Resolved, That we, the delegates of the party, in national convention assembled, recognize in him one of the strongest and ablest characters known to the world's statesmanship, who possessed to an extraordinary degree the elements of leadership, and by his able, conscientious and forceful administration of public affairs, reared honor upon his country and his party, and

"Resolved, That we hereby express our deep sorrow at his death and extend our warmest sympathy and that resolution to his family, and that this resolution be spread upon the records of the convention and a copy be forwarded to Mrs. Cleveland, and

"Resolved, as a further mark of respect to his memory the convention do not adjourn until 11 o'clock noon Wednesday."

When the convention reassembled Wednesday the chief business of the day was not prepared to report, and an adjournment was taken until eight o'clock that evening, when a permanent organization was effected and Henry D. Clayton, permanent chairman, delivered his address.

This is a Democratic year. Democratic ideas are now popular. Democratic values taught by our party and as urged as a gospel of their own. Measures and policies of Democratic origin are now pretentiously advocated by the leaders of the Republican party. It is no longer anarchistic to declare private monopoly to be indefensible or that the great transportation companies should be governed and controlled by public law. Former questioning of the decision of a bare majority of the supreme court in the income tax case cannot now be heard, because of the greater noise of the vehement and emboldened denunciation of judges and judicial acts that have shocked the country. A demand for revision of the tariff is no longer a threat to destroy our industrial system. Trusts are not to be tolerated even by the Republican party. We need not now enlarge on the list of Republican admissions and promises for election purposes only. The Republican party has made marked progress in promises to the people, and much greater progress in selfish interests and special privileges. This party, guided by expediency and campaign necessity, would camp this year on Democratic ground.

Accounting Demanded.

"The Republican party having had full control of the federal government for more than a decade must give an account of its stewardship. Its pretentious claims, largely without foundation and largely exaggerated, will not suffice. Let honest investigation reveal the bad and defective laws passed by that party; violate policies maintained; reforms rejected; the real panic and its consequences; promises broken; disimulation practiced; incompetency confessed by its failures to meet urgent public needs; and establishing this incompetency by the appointment of junketing commissions to investigate the alleged purport of that party so long in control and of such boasted legislative wisdom what legislation is required by the country. Against the Republican party, so degenerate and crafty, is a capable, determined, honest Democracy in sympathy with all just public demands and asking in its behalf the candid public judgment. To that judgment the issue must be committed. We are not prepared to permit our cause to that fine and true sense for the right we know distinguishes the American people."

In this quadrilateral contest Mr. Roosevelt has identified himself with Mr. Taft. Mr. Taft has identified himself with Mr. Roosevelt. The Republican party has inseparably identified the two together. To praise one is to praise the other; to criticize one is to criticize his pursuing shadow. And so, I must say, if it should appear to any one that in nothing and denouncing abuses and favors on the part of the present administration any injustice is assumed, I urge the impossibility of separating the present occupant of the White House from his own anointed one.

President's Policies as Party Asset.
"It has been made evident in the pending campaign that the Republican party has inseparably identified the name of Roosevelt and will rely upon the president's policies as a treasured asset. The president has advertised himself and his policies with a frequency and ability that surpasses the best efforts of the shrewdest press agent. A distinguished Republican, a former cabinet officer, once publicly proclaimed the president to be the greatest exponent of the art of advertising the world has ever known. The country has been told and not allowed to forget that in his opinion his energies have been devoted to the completion of many high purposes and that if his work is yet incomplete it is so only because his undertakings were too vast to be carried to success during his term of office. My policies must continue. So the champion of these would transfer office and power to his favorite cabinet minister, and his spear is to have a fellow. The pretense is that the fight must go on under the leadership of a man who has been the last for shall have surrendered or lies inglorious in the dust. The nomination of his would-be successor was largely accomplished by the use of official patronage and coarse machine methods and has delighted the chief apostle of strenuousness and at the same time has not perturbed the conscience of the one-time civil service reformer, now the boss and adept in the bestowal of public plunder and forgetful of all his resounding moral commonplace. No fair-minded American could read the daily account of the recent political dolage at Chicago without feeling mortification and regret; mortification that a permanent should have so abused his power in indicating to a great party his choice as successor, and regret that the party should have submitted to a cowardly humiliation that was as manifest as it was degrading.

What are the policies that constitute the capital of the Republican party in this campaign and that are relied upon to support the candidacy of Mr. Taft?

Democratic Idea Appropriated.

"To recall Democratic platforms, speeches and measures is to convince any man that the president's policies are Democratic. The president's public utterances were derived from an avowed familiarity with the teaching of our party. His utterances that are Democratic have given him his only claim to be a reformer and have contributed more than all else to the popularity he has enjoyed. The heart and the party are committed to unflinching adherence to the policies of Mr. Taft."

MAIN PLANKS OF PLATFORM.

Important Utterances in the Declaration of Principles.

The main planks of the platform are as follows:

"We favor an immediate revision of the tariff. Articles entering into competition with articles controlled by the trusts should be placed upon the free list."

"We favor an income tax and a national inheritance tax to reach those 'wollen fortunes' now in existence."

Both nation and states should ascertain present value of railroads, measured by cost of reproduction; prohibit issue of any more watered stock or fictitious capitalization; prohibit railroads from engaging in any business which breaks them in competition with their shippers, and reduce transportation rates to a point where they will yield only a reasonable return on the present value of the roads.

Emergency currency should be issued and controlled by the federal government.

Both nation and states should ascertain present value of railroads measured by cost of reproduction; prohibit issue of any more watered stock or fictitious capitalization.

We are opposed to the admission of Asiatic immigrants who cannot be assimilated with our population.

We favor such a modification of the law relating to injunctions as will first, prevent the issuing of the writ in industrial disputes except after notice to a judge; second, permit trial before a jury; and third, allow a jury to be summoned in all cases where the alleged contempt is committed outside the presence of the court.

"Equal rights to all and special privileges to none." is the overarching issue at this time.

We insist upon legislation, state and national, making it unlawful for any corporation to contribute to campaign funds, and providing for publication of the election of all individual contributions above a reasonable minimum.

We favor the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

We favor the vigorous enforcement of the criminal law against trusts and trust magnates.

HITCHCOCK IS CHIEF

IS CHOSEN NATIONAL CHAIRMAN OF THE REPUBLICANS.

SELECTION MADE BY TAFT

Vorys Put in Charge of Campaign in Ohio—George R. Sheldon of New York Elected Treasurer.

Hot Springs, Va.—Frank H. Hitchcock of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee and manager of the national campaign; George R. Sheldon of New York, treasurer of the national committee, and Arthur I. Vorys of Ohio, member of the national committee in charge of the Ohio Republican headquarters, which are to be in Cincinnati. This was the result of the meeting of the executive committee of the Republican national committee here Wednesday.

At the eight members of the executive committee were present and their report was unanimous. The entire action of the committee was an approval of the recommendations of William H. Taft, the nominee of the Republican party for the presidency, who presided.

The selection of Mr. Hitchcock as chairman was expected, as the presence of all the factions of the party who would be likely to make a fight against his appointment had not developed any purpose to oppose his selection. He was known to be the choice of Mr. Taft and several of those who had been called in consultation with Mr. Taft subordinated their personal differences in deference to the wishes of the presidential nominee in the selection of the man who is to manage his campaign.

The designation of Mr. Vorys to be in charge of the national campaign in Ohio is regarded as a solution of the embarrassment arising from the selection of Mr. Hitchcock in preference to Mr. Vorys. By this arrangement the campaign in Ohio will be in a sense separate from the rest of the country. Vorys will be accountable only to Mr. Taft.

It is stated that Mr. Sheldon's appointment was upon the recommendation of Mr. Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the committee since 1892. It is also stated that his selection has the approval of President Roosevelt, with whom he was a classmate at Harvard. Mr. Sheldon is a close personal friend of Mr. Bliss, whose counsel will be at his command relating to campaign funds.

Property Loss is $1,500,000 and One Person is Missing.

Boston.—A fire, believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion of a locomotive spark, and fanned by a brisk northwest wind, swept nearly a quarter of a mile of the harbor front of East Boston late Wednesday, causing a property loss estimated at nearly $1,500,000. Much of the loss falls upon the Boston & Albany railroad.

Daniel Sullivan, a watchman, was reported missing and it is thought he perished in the flames.

New York.—A loss estimated at nearly $200,000 was suffered Wednesday at College Point, L. I., by a fire which destroyed Zedden's hotel and casino, Deussen's casino and a number of small adjoining buildings.

Honduras City Holds Back Revolutionists for Three Days.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras.—Armed revolutionists from Salvador, after capturing the town of Gracias, attacked Choluteca, the capital of the department of the same name, which lies about 70 miles southwest of Tegucigalpa. The residents of Choluteca strongly resisted, holding back the revolutionists for three days. Volunteer forces in large numbers are now on their way to both Gracias and Choluteca to assist in driving back the insurgents, who, it is said, have proclaimed Manuel Bonilla president.

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

GOVEY FOR SENATOR

about the wool over the bad roads. For these reasons and others I am in favor of both the state and national governments paying a good share for the building of roads. Millions of dollars are annually appropriated to maintain the waterways of the country. It is time something is done by the national government for the building of hard roads.

CHICAGO'S REPRESENTATION
If the city of Chicago continues to increase in population as it has the last decade it will soon have more people than the rest of the state. Cook county now has twenty-five of the members of the Legislature. When we are all proud of this great city and of its rapid growth and development, there is a deep seated conviction of the people of the country and is shared also by many of the thoughtful residents of Chicago, that Chicago should never be allowed to control the state by having a majority of the members of the legislature.

Philadelphia and St. Louis. There are a great many reasons which I have not here the space to enumerate why this should be done. I am in favor of a constitutional amendment so that it may be accomplished at once. It takes a two-thirds vote of the Legislature to pass a resolution for a constitutional amendment. We haven't the votes now in the country to do it, but I think it can be accomplished if handled diplomatically. It ought to be done by all means before another appointment of the state is made.

LOCAL OPTION LAW
One of the important measures passed by the last general Assembly was the local option law. I supported this measure, believing that on such an important matter as the regulation of the sale of saloons, a matter so vitally affecting the administration of our municipal affairs and the welfare of the public, both from a moral and an economic standpoint, that the people should have the right to express themselves whether they wanted saloons in their communities or not. This law differs from the old law in that it instead of leaving it to the decision of the city as a unit, it was purely voluntary matter and there was no means of carrying out the expressed wish of the people. The result was that in several cities of the state where a vote was taken and carried for saloons, the city council nevertheless issued licenses in defiance of the will of the majority as expressed at the polls. The Local Option Law is simply a provision for carrying out the wishes of the majority as expressed by their votes on the saloon question. A legislator opposing a measure of this character would in my judgment be in an indefensible position.

It would really be saying to his constituents "I am not willing to give you the right to decide this matter. I know what you want on the saloon question better than you do yourselves."

The local option law is a "home rule" measure, those who voted for it in the legislature voted to give to every community the right to govern themselves in this matter.

In conclusion I would say that if you think I have been honest with you for the last four years as your representative, and that my record is such that I am entitled to your further consideration as a legislator, I shall be glad to receive your support for the Statehouse on the 8th day of August at the primaries.

At the Majestic.
Ralph C. Herz the talented character actor will make his debut in vaudeville at the Majestic Theatre, Chicago, Monday July 13th in a series of character and humorous monologues, some of which have constituted the most pronounced successes of the Majestic comedy hits of the past few seasons, the last being "The Soul King" in which Mr. Herz shared the honors with the incomparable Danish dancer, Genee. Another big spectacular act will be offered by the Pianissimo, who are as their name would imply, experts in the art of piano playing. Claude and Fannie, two clever young people, will be seen in an interesting one act playlet called "Fanny's Decision," which tells the story of an ex-fatherweight champion and his love for a young girl whom he has taken under his care. Charlotte Townsend and company will present another playlet called "The Troubles of a Working Girl," one being a Telephone operator and the other an actress. The Jack Wilson trio will finish one of the principal elements of the programme with a funny sketch called "An Upright in Lakeland," and the Orpheus Comedy Four will be another of the amusing features. Others who will take part in this bill are the Four Readings, the great Martell Family, and a number of others equally entertaining.

TO ICE PATRONS
All persons who are delivered may leave orders with Roy C. Myers, phone 433, and our warehouse will deliver.

Police were ordered to require saloon keepers to raise curtains in their places of business at 11 o'clock so as to permit an unobstructed view of the interior after closing time. An ordinance was presented restricting the number of saloons in Palatine to five until such time as the population shall be at the ratio of 500 to a saloon, also prohibiting the granting of a license for any location except where there are now saloons.
