CHILD JESUS IN ART

BY REV. ELLIS E. DRAKE

All know that the story of the birth and childhood of Jesus the Christ, told with such wonderful simplicity in the New Testament, had taken deep hold upon the heart and the imagination of Christians of all ages and of all climes.

The world over, no other part of the gospel history has given so many themes to poets and painters. No other narrative has been so often illustrated by so many famous artists. It is easy to see some of the reasons which have made it a favorite subject.

First, there is the religious interest which centers in the entrance of the Divine Saviour into the world. Such an event, for all who believe in the Christian religion, must have a profound significance. It is the sunrise of faith, the beginning of a new spiritual world, the laying of the cornerstone of the kingdom of heaven on earth. Even if the artist himself were not sure of this, did not altogether believe it, he would know that other people believe it; and by the imagination he could see what a supreme importance was given by the faith of Christendom to the brief and simple story of the birth at Bethlehem.

Second, there is the human interest which clings to the ever beautiful relation of motherhood and childhood. The tenderest and most unselfish love is that which a true mother looks upon her little child; the most perfect innocence and trustful joy are revealed in the deep eyes of the baby who smiles into the face of his mother bending over him. The paintings of the Child Jesus and the Virgin Mary have drawn into themselves the best thoughts of men concerning the gracious secret of maternity and the unstained bliss of infancy.

Fantastic Legends.

Third, there is the poetic and pictorial interest which grows out of the incidents of the story, the strange contrast between the heavenly significance of the birth of Christ and its outward circumstances, the blending of light and shade, joy and sorrow, hope and fear, angelic songs and earthly persecutions. All these varied elements, centering about a single figure, afford a field of illumination and illustration such as art loves.

My first advice, then, to those who wish thoroughly to appreciate and enjoy these pictures would be to read and reread the gospel of St. Matthew from the eighteenth verse of the first chapter to the end of the second chapter, and the first two chapters of St. Luke's gospel. Then it would be wise to read some of the later legends which were woven in the apocryphal books, and in the medieval poems and narratives about the birth and childhood of Christ. Many of these legends are curious and fantastic, evidently allegorical and symbolical. They have none of the simple directness and quiet restraint of the Biblical history. They are, in effect, clear illustrations of that native trait of the human mind—familiar to every one who has tried to tell a true story to a child—the craving for picturesque detail.

"How did it happen? Where did it happen? Who was there? How did they look? What did they do afterwards?" These are the questions that children ask when they hear a story; and these are the questions to which men have given fanciful answers in the apocryphal and medieval legends, such as the protevangelium of St. James, the gospel of St. Thomas, the gospel of the pseudo-Matthew. The history of the nativity of Mary, the golden legend of Jacbus de Voragine, the poems of Konrad of Passau, Walther at Rheban, Abbeß Krowiwa, and the traditions given by Justin Martyr, St. Jerome, St. Bernard and many other writers.

Much of this legendary and symbolical material was taken up quite naively by the painters and embodied in their pictures. Suppose you have a picture of the Annunciation which represents Mary as passing through a garden when the angel came to her; that is in accordance with the Protevangelium, which says that Mary was chosen by lot from among the virgins of Nazareth to spin the royal purple of the Temple veil; one day, as she was returning from the fountain with her pitcher of water, the angel met her and said: "Hail, thou who art full of grace!" and when she went back to her spinning he came again to her to complete his message. If the picture represents Mary in the house, working at the veil, the artist has chosen to show us the second appearance of the angel. The emblems which the artist put into their pictures are significant. The pot of lilies at Mary's side, the lily-branch in the angel's hand symbolize purity. The olive-branch borne by the dove means peace.

Or here is a picture of the nativity which shows the Child and his mother and Joseph in a cave. This is according to the account of Justin Martyr (and quite in harmony with the customs of Palestine), that the stable of the inn where Christ was born was a grotto in the rocks. Here perhaps you see the ox and the ass bowing their heads before the child. This is told by the gospel of the pseudo-Matthew in fulfillment of the prophecy of Isaiah: "He shall know his owner and the ass his master's crib." Here, again, is a fascinating supernatural light radiating from the child, so that shepherds who have just entered must shade their eyes. This detail is given in many legends.

How the Story Develops.

The five chief points around which the paintings of the birth and childhood of Christ naturally group themselves are: (1) The Annunciation; (2) The Nativity; (3) The Adoration of the Magi; (4) The Flight into Egypt; (5) The Home at Nazareth.

1. The Annunciation comes from the first chapter of St. Luke, and with it are associated two minor incidents, the visit of Mary to her cousin Elizabeth, and the birth of John the Baptist, the forerunner of Christ. The painters have delighted to show us the virginal beauty and meekness of Mary; the joy with which the angel brought his message; and the awe and wonder with which she received the new conception of her son as the Son of the Highest, the Saviour of his people. No picture of the Annunciation is good in which this wonder and this joy are not expressed. In addition the painter has chosen to put in many details to make us feel the innocence and lovely grace of Mary's life; if he has shown us the quiet work with which she is busy; the sweet order of her room which images the tranquillity of her soul; this also is well. But the great thing is that he should perceive and show, as simply as possible, the charm of that perfect figure of maidenhood, no rude peasant girl, but one with royal blood in her veins and heavenly thoughts in her heart.

The Nativity.

2. The pictures of the Nativity have a greater variety of incidents and of modes of presentation. The simplest are those which show Mary and Joseph in the stable with the child; then come those in which the angels appear, or the shepherds came to pay their adoration; another conception represents the mother alone with her babe adorning him or nursing him. Pictures of the presentation in the temple, and perhaps some of the Madonna and Child belong to the general theme of the Nativity because their central idea is the advent of Christ as a little babe.

Here the painters have found a wide field for imagination, and have used large liberty in expressing the feelings with which different persons drew near to the holy child. Mary is almost always shown as wondrously happy; sometimes, as in Murillo's "Adoration of the Shepherds," lifting the cloth that covers the child and displaying him with gentle pride.

3. With the Adoration of the Magi, a new element comes into the scene. These wise men from the east, whether they were kings or not, were the representatives of the outside world.

There are pictures which show the Magi on their journey led by a star, sometimes shining in the form of a babe in the sky; and others which show them at the court of Herod asking their way; and others which show them being warned by an angel in a dream not to go back to Jerusalem; and others which show them returning by sea to their own country. But the great majority of painters have chosen the moment at which the gifts of gold and frankincense and myrrh were presented to the child. Here there is room for splendid color and dramatic contrast.

4. The Flight into Egypt is the contrasting companion-piece to the Adoration of the Magi. The one brings the great world into the dwelling of the Child Jesus; the other carries the Child Jesus out into the great world.

Story of the Flight.

The pictures of this subject fall into two main divisions: those which represent its actual journey and those which show the Holy Family resting, either by the way, or in the land of Egypt. The paintings which deal with the latter theme—commonly known as the Repos—include some of the most beautiful works of art, especially during the last three centuries. Many details have been introduced from the legends of the flight, in which the apocryphal "History of the Nativity of Mary" is particularly rich. This is one of them: "The Holy Family rested by the road beneath a date palm and Mary desired to eat of the fruit; but it hung high above her head. Joseph, being weary, was not able to climb the tree. But the Child Jesus knew his mother's wish, and at his command the tree bent down its branches. Then he thrust his fingers into the sand, and a spring of water gushed forth. The next morning Jesus thanked the obedient tree, and promised that one of its branches should be carried by the angels and planted in Paradise."

The Triumph of the Innocents.

The landscape is half shadowed by night, but the moonbeams weave a slimy radiance over plain and the distant hills where the watch fires are growing red. In front marches a sturdy son of toil. The mother, a noble woman of Palestine, carries the child in her arms, happy and fearless. But who are those little children that run and frolic beside the travelers? They are the spirits of the murdered innocents of Bethlehem, set free to follow the infant Saviour, and knowing that through him they have entered by the gate of death into eternal joy. Three tiny ghosts in the rear have not yet felt his presence nor caught sight of him, and the pain and terror of mortality are heavy upon them. But the others are radiant and rejoicing as ransomed souls; and at their feet rolls the river of life, breaking into shimmering bubbles in which the glories of heaven are reflected. Joseph does not see the spirits. I doubt whether even Mary sees them clearly. But Jesus recognizes his former playmates with joy. He leans from his mother's arms to greet them, holding out a handful of wheat, the symbol of the bread of Heaven.

It is all mystical, visionary, unreal! Or is it a true picture to the eye of what faith beholds in the religion of Jesus? Surely if this gospel has any meaning it is the bringing of light and blessing to the suffering little ones of earth; a deeper compassion and a tenderer care for them, and the promises of a heaven full of happy children.

ILLINOIS NEWS TERSELY TOLD

Danville.—Entering the offices of the Homer Moore & Sons' poultry house in the basement section of the city two robbers, a negro and a white man, held Harry Stine, the bookkeeper, up at the point of a revolver and robbed the safe of $125 in cash and $466 in checks. Fifteen men were working in the basement of the building at the time. The negro compelled Stine to follow him into an adjoining room while the white man looted the safe. While the door of the safe was open the little steel chest was locked but the robber had little difficulty in opening it with a hatchet. Threatening to kill Stine if he followed, the robbers made their escape by way of the front door.

Bradford.—Mrs. Rose L. Thompson of Bradford, holds the record of making a $175,000 apology. She tendered it to her sister, Mrs. Anna L. Boyen; her sister's husband, Asmus Boyen, and Dr. J. P. Pitts. She had been sued by her sister for $50,000 for slander. Boyen had sued her for $100,000 and Dr. Pitts demanded $25,000, because she had been referred to him as a "shyster." When Mrs. Thompson apologized and agreed to "cause no more trouble" the suits were dismissed by agreement.

Chicago.—A green leather case containing $15,000 worth of jewels belonging to Mrs. Samuel K. Martin was taken from him in the Lake Shore railroad baggage office and found an hour later in an elevator shaft, where it had been thrown by the thief. From the story told by Mrs. Martin it must have been snatched from the counter where she left it, supposedly by a thief who followed her into the baggage room.

Chicago.—Lucene Goodnow, a South side beauty and well-known artist, has been wooed and won by Kiohor Inukai of Japan, who can trace his lineage back 1,000 years, and in whose veins flows the blood of royalty of the ages of long ago. The affair is the result of a romance which started two years ago in the Art institute, where both Miss Goodnow, who is 21 years old, and Inukai were students.

Chicago.—In the brief space of two minutes, during which the bull leaders lost control of the market, $400,000 in paper profits disappeared from the Patten deal in wheat on the board of trade. The bears, smarting under the lash so vigorously applied by the Patten crowd in the last few weeks, turned on their opponents with desperate show of fight and in a vicious attack put the bull leaders on the defensive.

Mount Vernon.—Fifty Jefferson county farmers have banded together and made a $400,000 game preserve of their farms, which adjoin. The location is ideal for the purpose, having plenty of water, shade and cover for all kinds of game. The state warden will stock the preserves and it will be run under the direction and protection of the state. The preserve will be about the largest in the state.

Zion City.—The ban upon smoking in Zion City, pronounced by the late Alexander Dowle when he founded the religious community, has been destructively lifted. A deed has been filed to property in Zion in which the customary clause making the instrument revocable in the event the rule against smoking is violated, is omitted.

Kewanee.—A. P. Willoughby of St. Louis, has announced he will establish a factory here to manufacture casing machines. The plant is expected to employ 50 men from the first. Efforts are being made to induce Chicago people to start a cannery here in connection with Mr. Willoughby's new plant.

Chicago.—Providing for an increased bond issuing power of $30,000,000, the Chicago charter bill which will be sent to Springfield next month with the important amendments to the convention is now being drafted by a committee composed of Milton J. Foreman, Edward Merriam and Frank Shepard.

Springfield.—The supreme court Saturday denied a motion for a writ of error and supersederas in the case of Frank Bryant, sentenced to hang in this city Friday, December 18, for the murder of Thomas Grady, whom he killed in order to get money to go to Chicago to see his sweetheart.

Freeport.—Caught by a rapidly ascending elevator in the Cosmopolitan life building, William M. Brady, a prominent figure in Chicago and Patriarch Militant circles, was crushed to death.

Hard Job to Unhose Paul Revere.
One of those final men who insist that facts are facts only when riveted down by spot witness affidavits and vouchers of identity from generation to generation says that Paul Revere must "move on" out of history into fiction and take Longfellow's epic with him. If it must be tradition, let it be a star and Boston's "ragged rick" won't be lonely-looking elbows with the men of Semper, Irvy and Thurgood and other heroes in the twilight haze. However, the ride has been made in imagination by millions of boys and girls who became fathers and mothers and even grandfathers and grandmothers to more riders. One and all, they took it for "true or it wouldn't have been printed," so it boots little whether that midnight trip to Lexington happened or Longfellow invented it. Paul Revere is in saddle to stay.

That charge into a hot place at Bala-klava never occurred as the poet de-writes it, but the readers of Tour-gene's classic on recitation days was the little rehearsal for thousands of schoolboys who in the states really charged with Lee's "Jeb" Stuart and Grant's "Little Phil." War is always what Sherman found it, but the spirit to "fight on horseback, footback and every other back" when nagged too far makes for peace as much as a big beet and in the same way. Also, if Paul Revere could be unhosed by col-lection with a little thing like "histor-ical truth," "Horatio" at the bridge, "Arnold Winkler" and "The White Plume of Navarre" must go too. The new thought has it that to believe an idea is fact hard enough makes it fact regardless. For certain purposes, not-ably sleepwalking dry rot in a na-tion's backbone, this gospel bubbles with common sense.

It was not laziness nor decline that kept Mark Twain from launching a new joke on his seventy-third birth-day. He knew that seventy-three for him was a joke on Mr. Oler that the whole world would appreciate.

Londoners have the big head be-cause plants have been put in their subway. Some of our subways have been planted and replanted and not a few sane people are kicking to have them transplanted.

That postgirl who has "gone into lit-erature" is probably getting ready against the inevitable to give Editor Roosevelt a choice of weapons.

So marvelous is our climate that one may step from summer into winter and not be aware of doing a stretch.

The Uplift in the Mountains.
Lincoln university, for the support of which money will be solicited in connection with the Lincoln centen-nary, is not merely another education-al aid nor is it a useless competitor with other institutions. It is main-tained for the practical training of mountaineers who but for their open doors will live without half a chance in case they stay in the mountains and fight against enormous odds if they leave the hills for crowded marts. In its ambition the university may be called an experiment. But the mission proclaimed is not farfetched. There is need of uplift work in these very mountains.

Farther south in the mountains of Georgia a young society woman of St. Louis established a pioneer "settle-ment" a few years ago which has proved that the idea of carrying culture to the poorest soil is worth while. Be-ginning with five boys in 1902, she now conducts an establishment comprising a laundry, truck farm, school and library and dairy, the work being done by pupils, some of whom pay their way by labor. However ignorant and ragged at the start, the material of the

A Spelling Reform Trust.
England also has a simplified spell-ing society, and the scheme to make everybody snub each old friend as "through" and "rited" and give the glad hand to "thru" and "rit" meet with the same chilly reception over there that it got when first offered to the American public. People are usu-ally ready to cry out reform in the streets, but when asked to set them-selves in order are quick to retort that that particular reform should wait awhile. The English, who insist upon "sp" as a sine qua non in the proper spelling of "favor" and "labour" long after we have abandoned it, may well spar for time in the spelling reform.

London's simplified spellers evident-ly took warning from the failure of the American big stick to force the re-form through. The secretary of the English society boldly proposes a con-spiracy in the restraint of spelling as it has been taught. He wants Ameri-cans and English to join forces and empower an "international committee of experts" to push the new spelling campaign throughout the English speaking world. It is easy to guess the methods the commission will employ. Several high class periodicals in this country now force the new forms upon the reader. English publishers will follow suit, and the conspiracy will gradually buy up or drive to the wall the reactionary press. But it will take the curse of the spelling of those who can't learn either way correctly.

Again Germany will have to help us out with potatoes to eat. Our own crop seems set to improve. German farmers raise three kinds of potatoes and are careful in the selection of seed. For table use they have developed one kind, for starch to be turned into food and another kind and a third for feed-ing stock. Seed for table use and for starch is brought to the highest per-fection. The leavings make seed for the fodder crop.

That true fixed up between the kan-ner and the German nation, called the "peace of Potsdam," will doubtless live in the history of diplomacy among the treaties made to be broken and broken.

Even Carnegie's and Rockefeller's explanations at St. Peter's gate that they gave away all they had in good works will not bar out the leading question, "Where did you get it?"

The Gentle Beggar.
Recently a man who lived like a prince on the money of the better hearted people was brought within the tolls of the law after he had begged and squandered $100,000 or more. His was an easier task than might be sup-posed. Nearly everybody is charitable when brought face to face with suffer-ing believed to be genuine. Persons who aim to live by their wits discover this and choose means to the end. This man was begging letters.

Many people do not find it difficult to turn away from a touching hard look-story if the teller of it looks dis-tressed. But it is different where the story comes from one who is decent in appearance. Self respect seems to be a badge of worthiness, and one will often give a dollar to a well dressed man more cheerfully than a nickel to a brazen faced tramp. Thus the gentle-beggar thrives, and his example is far more pernicious than that of his dis-solute and the hoodlums who are shunned rather than pitied and ekes out but miserable living.

Unless to ask 1908 to call around again on tiddling it goodly. Few per-haps could coax up such an inclination anyway, for it is human nature to think that every good can be bettered, given a fair chance. Still, the time is sure to come when we recall 1908 as we do an old friend with whom we've had differences—willing to forget the differences for one good handshake. The bad might have been worse, and any good is worth making the most of as we find out sooner or later, some-times too late. And there's that bumper crop.

Many old school farmers are saying that if Uncle Sam will give them cheaper prices, transportation facil-ities halfway decent and parcels post, they will uplift commission can tackle some other job.

Now that Taft ascribes his election to mere luck some who went way down to dig up a respectable looking contribution to boost the game must wish they had their money back.

Letter writers of prominence should waste a man on their thousands but the independence party will be doing business in 1912 also.

CASTRO'S BOAT

GUARDSHIP ALIX IS CAPTURED BY DUTCH CRUISER.

IS TOWED TO WILLEMSTAD

Gelderland's Prize Greeted Joyfully by People of Curaçao—Venezuelan President Talks on Way to Cologne.

Willemstad, Island of Curaçao.—The Dutch cruiser Gelderland came into this port Sunday morning towing the Venezuelan coast guard ship Alix with the Dutch flag flying and a Dutch crew on board. The Gelderland captured the Alix off Puerto Cabello on Saturday.

The seizure of the Alix was in accordance with the plans of the Holland government when instructions were issued to the three Dutch war ships now in these waters to make a demonstration off the coast of Venezuela and to capture any Venezuelan ships of war or guard vessels that they might find. The arrival of the Gelderland at Willemstad was greeted with unbounded enthusiasm by the people who noticed the cruiser's approach, and soon the entire population were down to the water's edge to welcome the return of the Gelderland, towing the first of the enemy's ships, as though from a great conquest.

Naturally the people of Curaçao, who have long been clamoring for activity on the part of the Dutch government, are greatly rejoiced over this evidence that Holland has at last begun active measures against Venezuela.

Parla.—President Castro of Venezuela and his party left here Sunday for Cologne, where a consultation of physicians will be held to determine upon the advisability of an operation on the president. It was expected that if found necessary Dr. Israel probably will perform it at Berlin.

On the train Sunday Castro accorded an interview to a representative of the Times, saying that as he was leaving France he felt at liberty to receive a journalist.

The interview, while guarded, fully confirms the representations made by Castro at Santander to the effect that he was desirous of settling Venezuela's outstanding diplomatic difficulties and, so far as France is concerned, had already made the first steps in that direction.

Castro Cheered in Berlin.

Berlin.—President Castro of Venezuela and the members of his party arrived here Monday evening. The train reached the Zoological Garden station on the edge of the city, somewhat later than expected, but it was awaited by a dense crowd of people who had gathered out of curiosity.

As the train steamed into the depot the president was greeted with shouts of "Long live Castro." There was a general lifting of hats and much cheering.

Members of Castro's suite stated that the president had sent a dispatch to Emperor William from Herbolzheim, in the German frontier, stating that he had come to Germany for medical treatment and expressing profound homage to his majesty. According to the same authority, when he learned the news of the capture of a Venezuelan vessel by the Dutch cruiser, Gelderland he was not greatly affected, merely remarking that there was no such vessel in the Venezuelan service.

MANICAC HOLDS UP VILLAGE

Edgewater, N. J.—Proclaiming himself to be "John the Baptist, come to save the world," an armed fanatic, wrought up to a high pitch of maniacal fury, terrorized this village for a full hour late Friday. He appeared suddenly on the main street, brandishing a revolver, held up the proprietors of several stores, exchanged many shots with a hastily formed posse and at last was wounded by the police as a mob of citizens ran him down. In all the fusillade no one was hit but the maniac himself, and his wounds are not regarded as dangerous. He says he is Oscar Pomeroy of Nebraska.

REVENUES BELEAGUERED

PRESIDENT AGAIN DENOUNCES THE CANAL CHARGES.

MESSAGE TO THE SENATE

Roosevelt Uses Strong Language Concerning New York World and Joseph Pulitzer—Wants Letter Prosecuted.

Washington.—President Roosevelt Tuesday afternoon sent to the senate a statement concerning the purchase of the Panama canal property by the United States, denouncing in strong language charges that there was anything wrong in the acquisition by the United States of the Canal property.

These charges, he continues, "were first brought to my attention as published in a paper in Indianapolis, called the News, edited by Mr. Delavan Smith. The charges were malicious and libelous in character and false in every essential particular. Mr. Smith shelters himself behind the excuse that he merely accepted the statements which had appeared in a paper published in New York, the World, and to suggest 'what changes, it is idle to say that the known character of Mr. Pulitzer and his newspaper are such that the statements in that paper will be believed by nobody; unfortunately, thousands of persons are ill informed in this respect and believe the statements they see in print, even though they appear in a newspaper published by Mr. Pulitzer.'

"The charges form, partly, a libel upon the United States government. I do not believe we should concern ourselves with the particular individuals who wrote the lying and libelous editorials, articles from correspondents, or articles in the news columns. The real offender is Mr. Joseph Pulitzer, editor and proprietor of the World, editor and proprietor of the World, editor and proprietor of the World. Mr. Pulitzer has been guilty in form of libel upon individuals, the great injury done is in blackening the good name of the United States people. It should not be left to a private citizen to sue Mr. Pulitzer for libel. He should be prosecuted for libel by the United States government. In point of encouragement of inquiry, in point of infamy of wrongdoing, there is nothing to choose between a public servant who is guilty of blackmail, a public servant who is guilty of financial dishonesty, or a man guilty as Mr. Joseph Pulitzer has been guilty in this instance. The attorney general has under consideration the form in which the proceedings against Mr. Pulitzer shall be brought.

PEACE WITH JAPAN

ACHIEVEMENT OF SECRETARY ROOT A WORTHY ONE.

Americo-Japanese Compact, Brought Into Being by Republican Administration, Is of Immense Moment to the World.

The United States and Japan have set down in black and white their mutual sentiments concerning the points upon which their interests touch.

This briefly, but in one important particular, may be summarized the meaning of the identical notes which Secretary Root and Ambassador Takahira exchanged in the state department at Washington. The two governments wish to encourage the free and peaceful development of their Pacific commerce; they desire the maintenance of the status quo upon these waters; they have no plans for aggression upon each other's territory; they seek equal trade opportunities in China, and they will use all peaceful means to assure the integrity and independence of that empire.

These are simple formulations of friendship. The sole clause which is more than this is the mutual pledge of the two powers to communicate with each other with the purpose of reaching an understanding, should any event arise to disturb the principles of the compact.

In this "interchange of notes" there is no technical treaty between this country and Japan. Yet its moral and political effect will almost certainly be far greater than that of an intricate, devious and ponderous agreement worked out after the fashions of the recent diplomatic. For this is the new diplomacy at work—in its "shirt sleeves." If you will, upon the broadest problems of progress, seeking its goal direct and unobscured by the mental and verbal mazes of medieval statecraft.

In its largest sense the thing which Kihito has given us is an Americano-Japanese peace compact. It brings to a fitting close not only his own career as secretary of state, but also the great record of Theodore Roosevelt, pacificator. It follows up the work of the treaty of Portsmouth and it adds another link to the chain of peace agreements which is quietly encircling the earth. It justifies the attitude of our people toward Japan in the war as a nation which respects the ground beneath the feet of jingo alarmists of the Hobson type.

These are results, clear, tangible and permanent. The people instinctively approve of them and they want more like them. It will be an unwary statesman who tries to overthrow the peace compact of Roosevelt this winter upon the technical plea that the sacred privilege of the senate has been invaded.

FATALITIES IN GARAGE FIRE

Chicago Mother Leaps with Child and Both Die.

Chicago.—With men and women of Chicago's most exclusive and fashionable residence section as horrified spectators, two persons, a mother and a child, received fatal injuries in a garage fire Friday night.

Two others were burned so badly they are not expected to live. While Mrs. George M. Pullman, Mrs. Scott Cunningham, Mrs. Stanley Field and other leaders of Chicago's social world stood by watching the flames, Mrs. Florence Carr, wife of a chauffeur employed by James K. Dewling, threw herself from a window of the burning building to the ground below, carrying in her arms her young son.

Arthur Meeker placed the key in his auto and raced across the city toward the nearest hospital. The boy died soon after the hospital was reached. Mrs. W. Thomas of Montgomery Ward & Co. used his automobile to convey the mother to a hospital. She died as the machine was rushing across the streets.

Tariff Hearings

Chairman Payne's reply to Mr. Van Cleave is clear and sufficient. The program of the ways and means committee as to hearings was widely advertised. Everybody was invited. Come one, come all. Producer and consumer were respectfully requested to show up at state time and manufacturing developments have wholly or in part rendered unnecessary and consequently burdensome and injurious.

Better Wait for New Congress

Since Mr. Taft has announced his determination to have real tariff revision there have been a number of "hurry up" cries from the protectionist interests clamoring for revision by the present congress. The same interests now pleading for haste have for years demanded no change at all. Why not? Would they not fare better with a hurried revision by a congress that has been friendly to them than with a more successful revision by a congress elected on a pledge of honest tariff reform? But the country is now disposed to wait for the new congress who will be sought to be revised by the friends of revision, not the enemies of revision, and there are more friends and fewer enemies in the congress than there are in the congress current—Kansas City Star.

IN FAVOR OF COMMISSION.

Plan of Business Men to Secure Genuine Tariff Revision.

It is reported from Washington that the ways and means committee of the house intends to ask congress for authority to subpoena witnesses and obtain testimony by compulsion among the woe of the "converted" standstillers who are complaining of distrust and premature criticism is the indisposition of leading manufacturers to appear before them. Experts like Messrs. Van Cleave, Miles and Carnegie have declined for various reasons to give testimony to the committee, and pretty plain intimations have been made that the methods pursued by it, as well as the time allotted to important schedules, do not admit of satisfactory and trustworthy results.

Instead of resorting to subpoena threats, however, the converted standstillers might with advantage ponder the significance of the resolution just adopted by the directors of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Here is an influential and powerful body of business men proposing to congress "the creation of a nonpartisan tariff commission to which shall be intrusted investigation and recommendations introductory to tariff revision." The manufacturers and merchants of the middle west evidently have no objection to their fellow business men of New York and other industrial centers as to the sort of revision likely to result from the present tariff and the existing machinery, says the Chicago Record-Herald.

The directors of the Chicago Association of Commerce have wisely asked the other commercial organizations of the country, or such as have not yet expressed themselves, to adopt resolutions similar to theirs. Let the converted standstillers in congress understand the position of the business community. They are really "converted" they will favor nonpartisan, nonpartisan and scientific investigation as the condition of "genuine" revision. A tariff commission would not need to drag witnesses to its hearings or to appeal to any legal "big stick." Men of ideas and knowledge would be asked to appear before it and submit their data and their recommendations.

Taft's Problem

President-elect Taft is already faced to face with the same perplexing difficulty that has harassed the present administration. He has plenty of opponents of that administration have been the first to try to "take Taft" into camp.

They want no tariff tinkering, no currency legislation, no postal savings banks, no labor legislation—in fact, pretty nearly every one of the plank of the party which they would like to have thrown onto the wood pile of political reminiscences.

Judge Taft is essentially a man of peace. He deprecates war. He is not in the least inclined to fight when honor is at stake. He wants no conflict with his party brethren.

But if these men ask him to repudiate his solemn pledges and the promises of his party, we imagine his ponderous fist will come down with significant emphasis and there will come forth something that will sound very much like an explosion.

Judge Taft despises sham, and hypocrisy, and dishonesty is kind, generous, self-sacrificing, but he must not be expected to stultify himself. He must not be asked to violate his sacred word. He will not do it—he will be true to the people who have placed him at the head of the nation.

Campaign Nationality

Mr. Bryan thought he was scoring heavily when he ordered his party to report its receipts before election day. But he was mistaken. To the extent that he had imagined, the country had not accepted the statement that the president had three times been elected, been bought, and is in danger of being sold a fourth.

Now as to the two reports. The Republican national committee has received about $150,000. The Democratic committee about $600,000. But those figures do not represent all the money that was spent in the campaign. Some of the state elections, and especially where the saloons were active, must have been expensive; and money spent state tickets did its share in promoting the fortunes of the kindred national ticket.

Still, when everything has been taken into account, it is plain that corruption did not stalk abroad in this latest campaign, and the conclusion seems safe that it did not stalk abroad in the campaigns of 1896, 1900 and 1904. Publicity is all right, and serves a good purpose, but, alone, it will not eliminate money as an improper agency in our elections. The problem remains unsolved.

Better Wait for New Congress

Since Mr. Taft has announced his determination to have real tariff revision there have been a number of "hurry up" cries from the protectionist interests clamoring for revision by the present congress. The same interests now pleading for haste have for years demanded no change at all. Why not? Would they not fare better with a hurried revision by a congress that has been friendly to them than with a more successful revision by a congress elected on a pledge of honest tariff reform? But the country is now disposed to wait for the new congress who will be sought to be revised by the friends of revision, not the enemies of revision, and there are more friends and fewer enemies in the congress than there are in the congress current—Kansas City Star.

ATTRACTIVE TRIFLES.

Artistic Gifts That Take Little Time to Make.

The mission photograph frame is carried out in heavy green lines. The colors used in embroidering the conventional design are the dark shades of green and the bronze browns.

Pretty opera bags are always a welcome gift, and a half yard of hand some ribbon will make up into a most desirable receptacle for glasses.

Candle shades covered with pale pink baby ribbon in little chubby loops are attractive and as presents would please most housewives.

Perfumed coat and skirt hangers are popular, and so are the ribbon cases that contain the glass tube hatpin holder.

Really beautiful utility cases that can be hung upon a wall or rolled for traveling are made from ribbon. To make such an article get half a yard of ribbon that is six inches in width.

Turn down an inch wide hem at the top and along the bottom gather and sew on a thin piece of silk the same color. This is then divided into pockets and the upper edge stitched. Runners the length of the case, dividing it into sections, should then be put on the inside.

Through these articles of the toilet such as a shoe horn, button book, manicure implements, etc., and a sewing outfit with pocket for needles, spoons of thread and silk scissors and all such necessities are put. A little pin cushion is not farly at one end. The pockets receive bolts of baby ribbon, buttons and all the trifles that go to furnish a workbasket.

Cardboard boxes neatly covered with ribbon and furnished with three spools of baby ribbon in dainty colorings are a gift within the skill of the amateur seamstress. A loop should be added inside the cover to hold a couple of bodkins and a pair of tiny scissors.

A ribbon covered glove case is equally simple of construction. It should be interlined with perfumed cotton and finished with a soft silk lining. A pretty finish is to turn back one corner, holding down with a bow of ribbon.

Another acceptable present that can be made by the artistic girl is a set of playing cards, hand painted. These are sure to give pleasure if given to a woman who entertains largely.

Those in the form of floral wreaths cut out so they slip on over the edge of the tumbler are new; also dainty figures of women copied from some old painting and provided with paste-board backs so they stand. These figures can carry big muffs as reticules that can be lifted and show a blank space for the name underneath, thus making them available later for framing when pasted to a flat surface and surrounded by a gift mat.

A BRIDGE PURSE.

A Useful Trifle to Carry When Playing the Game.

As there is no sign of the fascinating game of bridge losing its attractions for smart society, the bridge purse seen in the illustration will be an acceptable gift for the girl who likes to make her game more exciting by playing a penny or so a point.

To make the purse commence with 85 chain, miss 1 chain, 1 double into every stitch, 1 chain turn.

Second row—1 double into 70 stitches (taking up in this and every row the two top threads), 2 chain, miss 2 double, then 12 double into the next 12 double, 1 chain turn.

Third row—12 double, 2 into the 2 chain of last row, 70 more double, 1 chain turn; repeat these last two rows until you have worked 20 rows altogether—that is, 13 stripes—then 1 double into end of stripe, 4 treble into next stripe, 1 double into next stripe, 1 double into next, 5 treble into next, repeat three times, 1 double into next, 4 treble into next, 1 double into next (the last stripe), and fasten off—this is the right side—then fold together and sew up on the wrong side.

For the chain loops: Cut off a length of silk about five yards and with it crochet 1 double on to the inside of the purse on the right hand side 25 chain, draw through the first loop of 2 chain, 2 double on to the ring, 25 chain, draw thread through the next loop, 2 chain on purse, and repeat until all the loops are filled (this requires a little care so as not to get the thread entangled, but it saves breaking off and threading in the end every time); then do double crochet marked for Death.

Three years ago I was marked for death. A grave yard cough was tearing my lungs to pieces. Doctors failed to help me and hope had fled, when my husband got Dr. King's New Discovery," says Mrs. A. C. Williams, of Mac, Kentucky. "The first dose helped me and improvement kept on until I had gained 50 pounds in weight and my health was fully restored."

This medicine holds the world's healing record for coughs and colds and lung and throat diseases. It prevents pneumonia. Sold under guarantee at Barrington Pharmacy. 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

The Japanese Cook.

The Japanese are a most imitative and observant nation and copy everything they see with minute fidelity. A Newport man engaged a Japanese valet, who was very attentive and satisfied him. His duties rarely took him into the kitchen, but when he had a chance of watching the cook he did so with extraordinary interest.

The cook caught a severe chill and left somewhat suddenly. The lady of the house was in despair, as she could not replace him. As last the valet announced diffidently that he thought he could cook a little, and the mistress gladly agreed to give him a trial. The first thing he saw was the stove and his feet in a bath of hot mustard and water. The lady wanted to know what on earth he was doing. He replied that he saw the cook do that when she was peeling the potatoes, and nothing would persuade him that this was not a necessary part of the process.—New York Times.

This is Worth Reading.

She wished to break it to him gently. "I have decided," she said, "to return your ring."

He, however, was a resourceful man, who did not believe in letting a woman get the better of him.

"You needn't bother," he replied. "I buy them by the dozen."

Mother—Just run upstairs, Tommy, and fetch baby's nightgown. Tommy—But when I saw that ring was going to be unkind to your new little sister she'll put on her wings and fly back again to heaven. Tommy—Let her put on her wings and fetch her nightgown.
