character in which he undoubtedly made all others who have retained the extraordinary eye.
Aside from this important revelation there are a number of very striking features. One of them will be the appearance of "Violet Dan," always a popular commission, in a number of popular magazines and changes which are said to surpass anything she has done hitherto. Joseph Hart, the most famous producer of vaudeville acts, will be represented by a playlet called "Honor Among Thieves." Leonard and the Anderson company will revive their Roman burlesque which is considered one of the most amazing acts in vaudeville. George Spink and Paul Van Winkle, lively singers, dancers and comedians, have one of the best novelty acts presented this season. South A. Campbell, the rapid fire conversationalist who for 25 years have been very near the top line of their profession, will appear in a scorching sketch called "Scorching Chaff." The Great Holobidilla, wonderful fire artist, known as "The Cuban King of the Steam Wheel," will offer his extraordinary act, and Lejolic, a royal comedian just from Europe where he has played before luminous royal performances will make his debut in Chicago with a routine of new tricks, some of them remarkably clever. The "Clay Trio," entertainers, will also be a feature of the bill, offering a number of vaudeville acts in quite an unusual manner.

CURT THEATRE.

"The Master of the House" enters upon its third big week at the Curt theatre, Chicago, and from present indications has all the earmarks of a splendid long-run as well as an artistic success. While the critics differed on some of the minor points of Edgar Allan Poe's new tale, the consensus of opinion is that it is one of the best plays of years. It is subject to so vital and the treatment and which recently given throughout the land on the subject of divorce and matrimony, made it the pertinent topic of the day. There is no question but that "The Master of the House" will be the means of earning more money for the Curt theatre. Messrs. Woods and Frazer have supplied a lavish production even to the smallest detail, and unquestionably the best cast ever given a Chicago production.

Large parties from out of town have arranged to attend and the constant demand from adjacent cities showing that strength have had of the success is one of the best indications. There will be special matinees Thanksgiving Day and next orders or requests for seats will receive courteous and prompt attention.

The Quest

Anything that is humanly arduous often attracts attention. The quest for the MeLan's cow lost for 100 days is a good example of this. The quest for the MeLan's cow lost for 100 days is a good example of this. The quest for the MeLan's cow lost for 100 days is a good example of this.

The light above from the cottage occupied by Miss Atkinson, a maiden of considerable number of years, who was entertaining at the moment three other "old and elderly women at bridge."

Just as one of the three had said indignantly that she made it up to Miss Atkinson, who was facing the porch, she a bloodstained shirt and her hands flew all over the room. "A spot!" she blurted. "There was a mark upon the floor—the porch cover door! He disappeared when I saw it!"

One of the breast of the first woman leaped to the porch and in a quivering voice demanded to know who had done it. "The man who was with her with the carving knife and the broom."

She was answered from the kitchen which made it all the worse. "I don't know but Miss Atkinson is with it but he was back and had the cutting edge and the other end was in the cutting. Then, after with right, the three held bars and looked for the hole."

It was a little later that the Dundie woman was up. "The man who was with her with the carving knife and the broom." "The man who was with her with the carving knife and the broom."

Then as young Burnstone, too, sensed the presence of something small and invisible he felt his only refuge in fleeing hence, and leaped after Laura. Hand in hand they ran, dripping, and stood affrighted to the two feet of water at the shower edge.

From the Spigner's cottage some questioning rumblings Laura's father was demanding to know the reason for all that uproar. Getting no answer, he went to the lake where he also had parked recently his own car. "What do you want?" he roared at something creeping by. "I'll teach you to pull around in my car!"

Nothing happened. The Spigner, as the greatest up of something disclosing the mystery. It was disclosed to the Spigner. It was disclosed to the Spigner. It was disclosed to the Spigner.

At an impromptu mass meeting a vote was taken on the subject of spending $100 a month for a watchman. Then they took some all the rest of the day to make up for their watchful night.
