ADmits THE CHARGE

SIX MILLION CARCASSES OF DISEASED ANIMALS PASSED BY INSPECTORS.

SAYS AGRICULTURAL DEPT.

Issue Statement in Which It Says the Animals Thus Sold for Public Consumption Were Only Slightly Affected.

Washington, May 8.—In the past six years no fewer than six million carcasses of meat tainted by disease have been passed as wholesome by its inspectors and sold throughout the United States. Officially admits the department of agriculture.

According to its own defense against charges brought by Representative Nelson that a conspiracy exists between the packing interests and the officials of the department by which the entire country is being flooded with diseased meat, it issued a special circular Tuesday in which said: "If the animal is condemned to render the meat unfit for food, the meat is destroyed for food purposes, with the contrary if the disease is slight and of such a character that the fitness of the meat for food is not affected then, of course, the sound meat is passed."

Of the theory advanced by certain agitators, men who have little or no scientific knowledge of the subject, had prevailed and the department in the past six years had condemned the meat of all animals affected to any extent with disease, there would have been taken from the food supply of the country more than $6,000,000 carcasses, the meat of which was perfectly safe, wholesome food.

"Not only would the financial loss have been appalling, a loss which every one but a demagogue admits falls not upon the packers, but upon the producers and the consumers of meat, but in addition there would have been a sinful waste in destroying each year the most of 1,000,000 food animals."

"Would this not have a tremendous effect upon the price of meat which is too high already for the pocketbook of the average man and would not the farmer who produced these food animals have been ruined all to no purpose by the scientists of the world?"

It was pointed out in Washington that ample proof of the genuineness of the charges against Secretary Wilson, Solicitor McCabe and A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, contained in the resolution introduced by Representative Nelson, was the fact that for the first time in their official lives they have been obliged to offer a defense before an official investigation is begun or one witness heard. One remarkable feature of the defense is an attack made by Secretary Wilson upon Mrs. Caroline Harriet Crane, who first called Mrs. Wilson's attention to the secret orders issued from the department of agriculture.

Five bodies are positively known to be under the wreckage.

The train was from New Orleans, and was occupied entirely by the veterans and wives and families.

The cause of the wreck has not been ascertained definitely. The train was running at about thirty miles an hour and was crossing an embankment with a trestle in the center. Just as the engine reached the trestle it was seen to rear up and leave the track. The five cars followed the engine, some tumbling down the embankment, others side on and some on the other, forming a tangled mass of twisted metal and twisted iron. Two of the cars dashed against poles of the Cumberland telephone, thirty feet from the track, demolishing the poles and severing communication with Hattiesburg.

AMPLE MEAL FOR A PYTHON

Post-Sized Goat Is Swallowed in Two Efforts, Time Occupying Space of About 15 Minutes.

Probably the finest zoological specimen of Borneo creatures ever to be seen at the hotel, says the British North Borneo Hotel. They consist of a magnificent specimen of the tiger, four orangutans, all thoroughly deftile and healthy, and last not least a 28-foot python. This latter was captured in the wild months and showed signs of wanting something to eat the other day. In consequence a full-sized goat was introduced. After the goat had tried an ineffectual "bait," the python caught him by the muzzle, and in one moment had him in his coils, killing him instantly. The python then proceeded to swallow the goat which occupied, in two efforts, about a quarter of an hour. When we saw the python a few hours after his day, there was a sort of leery smile on his face and a bulge in his middle which must have measured over four feet round. The animals are the property of Dr. Ernest, who is taking them to Europe.

CAT HAS FONDNESS FOR EGGS

Sig. Fat, Lazy Fellow Detected in Act of Tearing Open Bag and Stealing Hen Fruit.

The owner of a clever cat writes to Our Dumb Animals that the pet, "a great, fat, lazy, good natured fellow," has a fondness for eggs. Sir Tom was detected in the act of tearing open a bag containing an unpeeled bag of eggs. "Stealing back noiselessly," writes the owner, "we saw him cautiously tear the bag with his teeth and claws, stopping every little bit to listen. Finally the opening was large enough for him to get out an egg by gentle nudge. He held the egg in his mouth, jumping to the floor, rolled his prides about gently until he got it into position, and then bumped it against the table leg until it broke. When he enjoyed his "feast," the writer wonders where Tom got the taste, as he and "his ancestors for generations back were city breed."

ARE THE BEST

No. 5 A

Get Your Money's Worth

The service an engine will give depends not only on its design and quality of its material and workmanship but upon the size of its bearings, the length of its piston, the thickness of its thinnest casting, the size of its balance wheels and the strength of its various parts. Upon the size and strength of these parts depend the service you will get from the engine and it also determines the total weight of the engine. In determining the value of two engines compare their weight the same as you do when you sell your hogs, pork is worth so much per pound.

Come in and inspect our sample Stickney Engine and show us one place where any weight can be cut out without injuring the service the engine will give and then we will show you it has no surplus weight, no big useless unnecessary base—and then figure the price per pound. We will give you money's worth,
