A BETTER CHAUTAUQUA

This Year's Assembly Offers Attractions Which Cannot Fail To Please—Larger Than Ever.

The annual chautauqua which is held in Barrington has set Thursday, July 18, for the opening day and will continue six days until Tuesday, July 23. The attractions have all been secured and the entertainers this year include the best that are on the platform. Our people have never had the opportunity to hear, in our own village the high class entertainments that will be given in this year's chautauqua.

Among the lecturers secured for this year are Hon. Charles E. Poole, one of the leaders of New Zealand Parliament, who has been secured after an effort of five years. If there is any man that is qualified to speak of the reforms that the American people have been adopting it is Mr. Poole. For the past six years he has been representing one of the largest and most important city districts in New Zealand and his information has been obtained first hand. William Sterling Battis, the impersonator, is known all over America's foremost interpreter of Dickens. There isn't a man who knows Charles Dickens better than does Mr. Battis, who talks, looks and acts the Dickens part.

Prof. E. L. Morgan, of the Agricultural department of the university of Wisconsin has been booked for Farmers' day and although his lecture is of more than ordinary interest to the farmer it will not be amiss for the city people to hear it also. Dr. Charles A. Payne will probably be about the most entertaining lecturer of all as his life has most all been spent traveling among and living with the different peoples in all parts of the world. He has learned their customs and ways and should give a lecture that would be highly appreciated by all. He will give stereoscopic views to the number of about 100. In 1910 Mr. Payne appeared at about 70 big chautauques.

Dr. E. L. Eaton is an old chautauqua favorite. He is especially strong on science and has several illustrated lectures on astronomy. Before and after each night lecture Dr. Eaton's large Clark telescope which is 900 times stronger than the eye will be free to all chautauqua patrons.

Dr. Harry G. Hill, is one of Indiana's best known speakers. He was in great demand by chautauques in 1911 and our people are very fortunate in securing this able speaker.

The musical talent that has been booked for this year is the best that could be secured and you should not miss a single entertainment. Bland's band and orchestra will be a big treat. With ten accomplished musicians the concert that they will give should be worth going miles to hear.

Mrs. Ance Belle Battis is an accomplished musician and soloist of unusual ability. Her selections will add charm to the program.

The Dixie male quartet is one of the strongest organizations of its kind in the south today. Besides being good singers they play saxophones and their saxophone music will be a treat for all.

Mrs. Emma C. W. Matthews is a charming entertainer both as a reader and soloist. Her dramatic and dialect readings are unusually fine and very popular in and about Chicago.

The Reimold-Aaston company are two tenor singers who are unequalled. In duet work or alone these two are bound to please the audiences with their singing.

The entertainment of Pro. Louis Williams on the "Wonders of Electricity" is one of the most unique programs ever offered to a chautauqua audience. There is not a dull moment during the entire program and the humorous and wonderful experiments keeps the audience laughing most of the time.

James R. Bartley is a born artist and his crayon work includes everything from the humorous to the pathetic. His drawings are to the eye of the audience. The story modeling is a novel feature of the program which no one should miss.

Altogether this year the program includes 30 magnificent attractions and if you want to enjoy a week of enjoyment and with the best talent that can be secured this will be your chance. The management are at a large expense to secure the best and hope that with your support they will bring even better. Don't miss a program afternoon or evening. Order a season ticket now and avoid them all.

YOUNG MAN SHOT.

William Reimer Accidentally Shot Himself Last Wednesday—Died In Few Hours.

William Reimer, twenty four years old son of Christ Reimer, a farmer living six miles south of Barrington, died at St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin just as the Fourth of July arrived amid a noisy salute, of cannon crackers, and torpedoes.

Last Wednesday night, he was shot through the arm by an accidental discharge of a rifle with which he intended to greet the morning. He was hurried to St. Joseph's hospital, but despite the efforts of Dr. O. L. Pelton, he died within a few hours.

Reimer borrowed a rifle at the home of his brother, and started for home. He was accompanied by Frank Elter and Herman Lombracht. A short distance from his house, he attempted to pull the rifle from the back of the buggy, and was off. The shot pierced his arm. The injured member was amputated at the hospital in an effort to save his life.

William Reimer was born in Hanover and lived there his entire life. Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Herman and Charles, and a sister, Miss Tillie. The funeral took place at 1 o'clock Sunday at the home, and later at the Hanover church.

Profits Shared With Employees.

Last Monday evening, the members and employees of the C. F. Hall Company held their twenty-third semi-annual gathering and a dividend amounting to $443.23 was disbursed, the checks ranging from $1.28 to $67.28. The gathering was held at St. Joseph's Hall, and a dinner was served by C. C. Clark. The guests among whom were included the husbands and wives of the clerks, numbered about thirty. Following the usual custom, each clerk, after a short speech by Mr. C. F. Hall, was handed the envelope containing his check.

The plan upon which the C. F. Hall Company has divided profits with their employees is original with them and a semi-annual dividend has been declared each six months since 1902. The company feel, however, that they have been well repaid for this outlay in the additional interest which their employees have taken in increasing the volume of the business and they announce that the plan will be continued for the coming year.

Surprised Her Friends.

Miss Magdalene Block, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Block of this village, and Godfrey A. Lindskog of Ravenswood were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Methodist church at Crown Point, Indiana, June 18. Rev. Charles M. Stockbarger performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Lindskog invited a number of her friends to the home of her parents last evening and surprised them by announcing her marriage.

The bride is one of the most popular young ladies of this village. Mr. Lindskog is an engineer and is employed by the Chicago & North-Western railway.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindskog are at present making their home with the parents of the bride and will probably reside at Ravenswood after September first.

A host of friends wish them a long and happy life.

Water Pipe For Harrison Street.

The property owners owning the frontage on both sides of Harrison street, north from Main street, are laying a four-inch cast iron water pipe in the street this week. The improvement is being made without any special assessment being levied against the property by a court proceeding. The owners have gotten together and agreed to divide the cost. It is unusual to get several owners to enter into such an agreement. The cost of court proceedings are saved which reduces the cost of the improvement considerably.

Wash-Out Near Cary.

A cloud-burst Saturday night caused quite a wash-out a few miles north of Cary on the Chicago & North-Western railway. One of the through passenger trains went down at the site of the wash-out. The train was moving slowly and fortunately no one was injured. Traffic was delayed for several hours. All through trains were dispatched via the Milwaukee division. Local passenger trains on the division were transferred at the site of the accident.

Several hundred cars of gravel were required to repair the damage.

The Fourth of July picnic at Deer Grove given by the Palatine band was attended by many from here.

VICINITY NEWS NOTES

Happenings in the Surrounding Country Which Will Be of Interest to Our Many Readers.

Miss Ethel McGuire of Roundout last Thursday night was hurled into the air and suffered internal injuries when a wooden horse attached to a "merry-go-round" left the platform and landed twenty feet away. She was taken to the hospital at Waukegan and may not recover.

Dr. Harmon T. Clendenen, a well known pastor of the Rock River conference of the Methodist church, died at Battle Creek, Michigan, on July 5, after an operation for gall stones. His last charge was at Waukegan and he is known here.

The Des Plaines Valley line of the Northwestern railway will be completed this fall and will be used to divert freight traffic from congested districts, the yards have a capacity of 4000 cars.

Latest reports of the Palatine-Waukegan electric road which is a branch of the proposed Waukegan-Rockford-Elgin traction company's plans, state that $75,000 will be borrowed at once to complete this section in sixty days.

Joseph W. Powder, 21 years old was accidentally drowned at Crystal Lake on July 4. He went out in a boat with two companions to go bathing. He jumped out of the boat into eight feet of water and being unable to swim was drowned before his companions could reach him. His body was recovered an hour later. His home was at 615 Gregory street, Rockford. He was employed as an amateur photographer with Lee McIntire of Chicago.

BASE BALL NOTES.

News About the Games Played by Barrington's Two Teams at Home and on Other Ground.

The ball game played here Fourth of July between the Clover Leafs of Chicago and the O. V.'s resulted in an easy victory for the locals. Up to the fourth inning the game was fairly interesting, the score at that time being six to five. The visitors had no chance to score after that while the locals ran their total up to 21. The game was called at the end of the seventh inning.

On last Saturday the locals were again victorious after a close and exciting game. Their opponents were the Leffingwells of Chicago and the final score was six to five. With the score 3 to 0 against them the visitors came to bat in the eighth inning and scored five runs putting them two runs in the lead. In the last half of the ninth the locals got busy again and scored three runs, winning the game. The feature of the game was a three-base hit by Hutchinson in the ninth inning which practically won the game. Pomeroy pitched for the locals and pitched a very good game.

Next Saturday the Clover's of Chicago will be here. A good game is expected.

The Fourth in Barrington.

No city or village could record a sadder Fourth of July than was existing in Barrington last Thursday. The demonstration at mid-night was so quiet and short, as compared with some years, that many did not even hear it. The citizens with few exceptions, retired early and slept late. During the day the business district was almost deserted, excepting for the arrival of many city people who visited the farms and resorts near here; a few children shot off crackers and a few young men shot off revolvers and a few, a very few, were lying; but as a saddest occurred in the village and dozens of people were out of town.

WILSON WINS IN FIGHT FOR NOMINATION

Chosen Democratic Candidate for President on the Forty-Sixth Ballot.

MARSHALL HIS RUNNING MATE

Long Deadlock Is Broken When Clark, Underwood and Foss Withdraw From Race—Indiana Man Wins on Second Ballot.

For President
WOODROW WILSON.
For Vice-President
THOMAS R. MARSHALL.

Baltimore, Md., July 2.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey received the unanimous nomination of the Democratic convention as its candidate for president of the United States after the forty-sixth ballot disclosed that he had an overwhelming majority of the votes.

The nomination was made unanimous on the motion of Senator William Stone of Missouri, manager for Speaker Champ Clark. One of the widest demonstrations in this most memorable of all Democratic conventions followed. Cheers shook the rafters. The crowd outside joined in the noise-making and soon all Baltimore was in an uproar.

The nomination came after Champ Clark, Underwood and Foss had withdrawn from the race in the climax of the most remarkable deadlock in the history of the party.

Second place on the ticket went to Gov. Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana Governor Burke of North Dakota, who was his leading rival for the honor, made the motion making the nomination unanimous.

Adopt the Platform.
The platform as prepared by the committee on resolutions was adopted by a viva voce vote.

Chairman James then announced that nominations for vice-president were in order and directed the roll of the states to be called.

The following names were presented to the convention: Gov. John Burke of North Dakota, Senator George B. Chamberlain of Oregon, Gov. Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, Governor Hurst of Illinois, Martin J. Wade of Iowa, Mayor James H. Preston of Baltimore.

Two ballots were taken. Governor Marshall led in the first and his lead increased to such an extent in the second roll call that before a third ballot could be taken Governor Burke withdrew and the nomination of Governor Marshall was made unanimous.

The first ballot for vice-president resulted: Marshall 359, Preston 53, Chamberlain 157, Hurst 77, Burke 505 23, Sulzer 3, Wade 26, Osborne 8, absent 45-13.

The second ballot: Marshall 645%, Burke 287%, Chamberlain 124%.

Masses Rapid Gains.
Wilson began the day by gaining 168 votes on the forty-third ballot. He then had 602 votes, a clear majority.

On succeeding ballots, his gains mounted higher and higher.

At the end of the forty-fifth ballot, Senator Bankhead was recognized by Chairman James.

He announced the withdrawal of Underwood and declared that since his candidate could not be nominated, he would not stand in the way of the nomination of another candidate.

Senator Stone, Clark's manager, then was recognized, and in a short speech withdrew Clark's name and released his delegation.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston then took the platform and announced the withdrawal of Foss.

Perce's Last Ballot.
At the end of his speech, Congressman Fitzgerald of New York moved that Governor Wilson be nominated by acclamation. The motion was seconded vociferously from the floor, but Missouri objected and the taking of the forty-sixth ballot was begun.

The din during the vote shook the huge hall to its rafters. The vote showed that Wilson had won.

When it had quieted down slightly, Chairman James, in a stirring voice, announced that Mr. Wilson was the nominee of the party.

Another mighty cheer burst forth from the delegates and the galleries. Everybody by this time was standing on his feet. Thousands were waving hats and handkerchiefs. Horses, which had been provided in anticipation of a nomination, were blown without cessation. The demonstration bade fair to outdo any other of recent years.

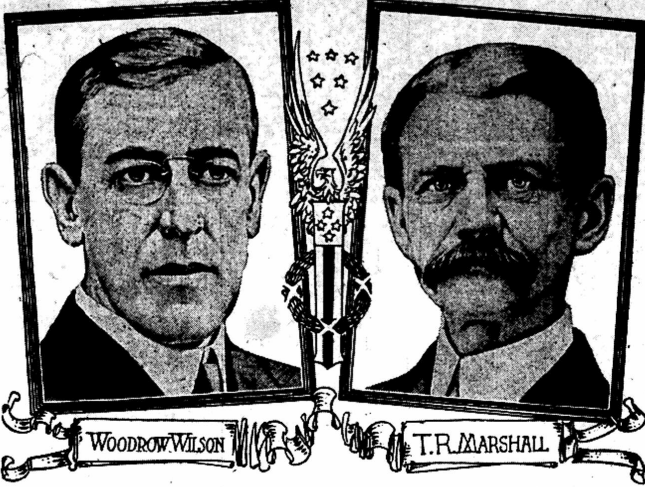

Illinois Leads Stampede.
Illinois led the stampede for Wilson. In the forty-third ballot when his 53 votes were taken from Clark.

Several other states followed, and when the second ballot was taken Wilson stood 602; Clark, 287; Chamberlain 157; Hurst 77; Burke 505 23, Sulzer 3, Wade 26, Osborne 8, absent 45-13.

On the forty-fourth ballot Wilson stood 645%; Burke 287%; Chamberlain 124%.

On the forty-fifth ballot Wilson stood 645%; Burke 287%; Chamberlain 124%.

support the candidate and the platform of his party.

Senator Bankhead said Mr. Underwood would stay in the house and perform "his great duties there without complaint."

When Senator Bankhead concluded, Senator Stone of Missouri went to the platform and asked unanimous consent to be allowed to make a statement.

Withdraws Clark.
"Speaking for Speaker Clark," said Senator Stone, "I will release—if release is necessary—any delegation instructed for him. I would not have a single delegation stay with him for a single roll call under any sense of obligation to him."

"I need not tell this convention or the friends of old Champ Clark that he will stand by the nominee of this convention loyally to the end."

When Senator Stone finished, Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston mounted the platform. He withdrew the name of Governor Foss of Massachusetts, and announced that the Massachusetts delegation would vote for Wilson.

Uproar greeted this announcement, for the nomination of Wilson had now become a practical certainty.

When the disorder subsided Representative Fitzgerald, who had just finished a conference with Murphy, took the stage. His advent marked the end of the opposition to Wilson as an organized body.

Plea for Harmony.
Fitzgerald made a plea for harmony. "We want to leave this hall a united Democracy, with victory in November assured."

In conclusion he said: "I move that the roll call be dispensed with and that the convention proceed by acclamation to nominate that distinguished Democrat of New Jersey, Gov. Woodrow Wilson."

The regular order was demanded and the forty-sixth and final roll call of the states was begun.

"Alabama, 24 votes for Wilson," called out the chairman of that delegation.

"Arizona, 4 for Woodrow Wilson," "Arkansas, 18 for Woodrow Wilson."

It was difficult for the clerk to proceed on account of the applause that greeted each response.

When Missouri was called, Senator Stone, in a voice that could be heard throughout the hall, announced: "Missouri casts 56 votes for Champ Clark."

The Missourians cheered and they were given a round of applause.

The result of the ballot was announced: Wilson, 560; Clark, 54; Harmon, 12.

Wilson had won and the nomination was made unanimous.

Days of Fighting.
The Democratic convention of 1912 will go down in history as being the most remarkable held by the party in the last fifty years. It was more fruitful of sensation and excitement than any political gathering ever held within the memory of the oldest delegate. It took seven days and thirteen sessions of the hardest and most strenuous fighting to pick the standard bearer who is to lead the party in the coming campaign. Forty-six times was the roll of states called before a winner was reached.

The first ballot was taken early Friday morning after an all night session devoted to oratory on the part of the champions of the different candidates, in which they set forth the reasons why their particular man was the man of all men to lead the party's battle for votes in November.

Story of the Ballot.
The first ballot resulted: Clark, 440 1/2; Wilson, 324; Harmon, 148; Underwood, 117; Marshall, 21; Baldwin, 23; Bryan, 1.

After the first ballot, after four ballots were taken, the next result of which showed slight gains for Clark and Wilson.

Clark started out with 440. His strength fluctuated during the night, but he wound up with an increase of four votes. His highest vote of the convention was reached on the tenth ballot, when he got 516 votes. Wilson started with 324 and that was his figure at closing time.

Eight ballots were taken Saturday afternoon, but the Clark strength steadily dwindled and Wilson's gained.

The six ballots of Saturday evening ended with Clark's vote down to 463 and Wilson's up to 407 1/2.

Eight ballots were taken Monday afternoon, Wilson's gains increasing steadily, while his chief opponent continued to drop.

Monday night brought the total of ballots up to 42, with the deadlock still tight. The forty-second ballot gave Wilson 434 and Champ Clark 420.

The rate of increase and decrease in each case being gradual.

Bryan Is Storm Center.
In the matter of noise making and tumultuous demonstrations the convention equaled, if it did not actually surpass, any political convention in history.

William Jennings Bryan was the storm center of most of the exciting incidents. The first of these was when he made his bitter fight against the election of Judge Parker as temporary chairman and lost out.

Colonel Bryan threw a bomb into the convention and started the biggest uproar that had broken loose up to that time when he introduced a resolution declaring Morgan, Belmont and Ryan enemies of the party, and placing the convention squarely on record against the nomination of any person who was in any way connected with these men or their interests, or in any way under their influence.

Bryan made a remarkably fervid speech, denouncing the predatory interests of Morgan, Belmont and Ryan in particular.

The resolution was carried by a vote of 325 to 150.

Saturday Bryan again threw the convention into disorder when, in changing his vote from Clark to Wilson, he made an attack on Murphy.

New York and again took the stage called "Ryan-Morgan-Belmont crowd."

He declared emphatically that he would support no candidate who owed his nomination to the votes of the New York delegation.

Career of Governor Wilson in a Nutshell

Woodrow Wilson (christened Thomas Woodrow Wilson), born of Scotch-Irish antecedents, Staunton, Va., December 28, 1856.

Went with family—his father, a Presbyterian clergyman, being called to a new field—to Augusta, Ga., 1858.

His father being engaged as college professor, Columbia, S. C., went to that city, 1873.

Entered Davidson's college, North Carolina, 1873.

Forced by ill health to refrain from study for some time, entered Princeton, 1878.

Entered law department, University of Virginia, 1878.

Began law practice in Atlanta, 1882.

Entered Johns Hopkins college for post-graduate course, 1883.

Married Miss Ellen Louise Axson, Savannah, 1885.

Published first book, "Congressional Government," 1885.

Became professor in Bryn Mawr college, then went to similar place in Wesleyan college, Connecticut, and became professor of philosophy and law in Princeton in 1890.

Chosen president of Princeton, 1902.

Nominated for governor by New Jersey Democrats, September 15, 1910.

Elected governor, November 6, 1910.

It was as a lawyer that Woodrow Wilson first made his bow to the world, and as president of Princeton he became more widely known, but it was as a reformer that he achieved the limelight, and it is reform that landed him in the New Jersey governor's chair.

Born in Staunton, Va., December 28, 1856, he was christened Thomas Woodrow Wilson, but in his youth he cut off the "Thomas" because, he said, he wanted to use only one name, and Thomas W. Wilson would have been too commonplace.

Graduating from Princeton in 1878, he practiced law for two years in Atlanta, Ga., before he became an educator. He taught history and political economy for three years in Bryn Mawr college, and was instructor in the same branches for two years in Wesleyan university before he was engaged as a teacher of jurisprudence and politics in Princeton, his alma mater.

He became president of Princeton August 1, 1902, and held that position until October, 1910, when he resigned to become governor. In 1886 he married Miss Helen Louise Axson of Atlanta, Ga.

Governor Wilson holds A. B., LL. D., Ph. D. and other degrees from Princeton, University of Virginia, Johns Hopkins, Brown, Harvard, Williams, Dartmouth and Yale universities.

Gained First Fame as a Writer.
It was as a writer that Mr. Wilson first got before the people as a politician.

His prophet is not without honor save in his own country, and through his writings and after-dinner speeches Mr. Wilson was being talked about as a reformer long before the people of New Jersey considered him personally.

As far back as 1904 the people in the west were "talking about" Wilson as a presidential possibility, but New Jersey knew nothing about him or about it, and again at Denver, in 1908, he was "spoken of."

But it was not until 1910 that the people of the state's adopted state "discovered" him.

Then the Democratic bosses of the corporation-ridden state decided that it was time to elect a governor.

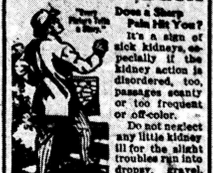

Considering reformers, they picked on Wilson as a "man of the hour," and ran him. Wilson was elected, but the bosses were so sure of their hold that they had "picked a lemon," for no sooner did "prezzy" have his long legs entwined about the governor's chair rungs than he began loudly to deny the bosses' belief that they had "picked a lemon." He defied the defying was good, and he made a noise that was heard throughout the country.

Whenever You Use Your Back

A TYPICAL CASE—

W. M. Robinson, Warren, Illinois, writes: "I had kidney trouble for years. It was a sign of sick kidneys. My back ached, my kidneys acted in disorder, too, passages empty or too frequent or of color."

Do not neglect any little kidney ailment for the slight trouble runs into dropsy, gravel, stone or Bright's disease, and may end in death.

Use Doan's Kidney Pills. This good remedy cures bad kidneys.

Some men find it cheaper to stay married than to pay alimony.

When in need of good laxative give Doan's. This is a trial and is convinced of its merits. It is made entirely from herbs.

One always thinks there is a lot of money to be made in any kind of business that he isn't in.

Singing and the Lungs.
It is well known that singing, like whistling, is a fine exercise for the lungs, and some doctors advise those who fear consumption to go in for singing for this reason.

At the same time, however, of course, do not advance the claim that singing alone will save anyone from or cure consumption. Acquire the habit of taking the big deep breath, which is a primary requisite of any kind of singing, bad or good, and the physical joy derived from it will never allow you to relapse into lazy breathing.

GOOD NIGHT'S SLEEP.
No Medicine So Beneficial to Brain and Nerves.

Lying awake tonight makes it hard to keep awake and do things in day time. To take "tonics and stimulants" under such circumstances is like setting the house on fire to see if you can put it out.

The right kind of food promotes refreshing sleep at night and a wide awake individual during the day.

A lady changed from her old way of eating Grape-Nuts and says:

"For about three years I had been a great sufferer from indigestion. After trying several kinds of medicine, and maintaining after I stopped eating Grape-Nuts, and so on, but in a few days that craving, gnawing feeling would start up, and I would vomit everything I ate and drank."

"When I started on Grape-Nuts, vomiting stopped, and the bloated feeling which was so distressing disappeared entirely."

"My mother was very much bothered with diarrhoea before commencing the Grape-Nuts, because her stomach was so weak she could not digest her food. Since using Grape-Nuts food is as well as before, and she doesn't think she could do without it."

"It is a great brain restorer and nerve builder, for I can sleep as sound and undisturbed after I stop eating Grape-Nuts as in the old days when I could not realize what they meant by a 'bad stomach.' There is no medicine so beneficial to nerves and brain as a good night's sleep, and so you can enjoy after eating Grape-Nuts."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

When you get above things? A very good question, and one that is asked by many people, and the answer is: "Grape-Nuts."

IF YOU WOULD TALK WELL.

Don't tell the long stories and don't tell any unless you have the gift of telling a story well. Nothing is so maddening as to have to listen to long drawn out stories, where probably the point is forgotten.

Rarely if ever talk about yourself. Women talk too much about their personal affairs—their illnesses and the details of operations, their help problems, and their trials with dress-makers.

Now stop and think when you are tempted to do this and ask yourself, Is this the sort of talk I like to hear from others? Is this really of any interest to my friends?

Discriminate between talking for your own and talking for other people's pleasure.

Animals' Ability to Learn.

Animals which have never met with an electric current become sensitive to it in a marked degree, thereby disproving the theory that animals possess only traits that are due to natural selection by a long process of the "survival of the fittest." This sensitiveness is called "galvanotropism" and is rather a body blow to Darwin's theory.

Obedience Not Always Good.

Obedience is good and indispensable; but if it be obedience to what is wrong and false—good heavens, there is no name for such a depth of human cowardice and calamity; spurred everlastingly by the gods.—Thomas Carlyle.

Notice To Muzzle Dogs.

Attention is called to the owners of dogs, who permit them to run at large in the village of Barrington, to chapter XIV revised ordinances of the village. Section 1 provides "That between the first day of July and the fifteenth day of September in each year, no dog shall be allowed to run at large within the limits of the village of Barrington without being securely muzzled with a good and substantial wire, gauze or leather muzzle, securely fastened on so as to prevent it from biting." A penalty of not less than $10 nor more than $100 is provided for violation of this section. It is also the duty of the village policeman to kill and bury any dog not having a muzzle fastened on as provided in this ordinance.

The village marshal has been instructed to strictly enforce the ordinance and all owners of dogs are hereby notified to comply with its requirements forthwith.

Final Special Assessment Notice.

IN THE MATTER OF THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENT OF THE VILLAGE OF BARRINGTON FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF WATER MAINS ON LIMITS OF THE VILLAGE AND OTHER STREETS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all persons interested that the Board of Local Improvements of said Village has heretofore laid in said court in said cause a certificate showing the cost of the work, the amount reserved for interest, and also that the improvement has been constructed in substantial conformity to the requirements of the original ordinance therefor.

The hearing to consider and determine whether or not the facts stated in said certificate are true will be held in said court on the 26th day of July, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock A. M., or as soon thereafter as the business of the court will permit.

All persons desiring may file objections in said court before said day, and may appear on the hearing and make their defense.

Ordinance No. 468.

(New Series)
ANNUAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

Be it ordained by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Barrington:

SECTION 1. That for the purpose of defraying all necessary expenses and liabilities of the Village of Barrington for and during the fiscal year ending April 30, 1913, there are hereby appropriated the several sums of money hereinafter mentioned and specifically set forth, that is to say:

For interest on bonded indebtedness.....	$ 650 00
For payment of maturing bonds.....	2000 00
For paying the necessary miscellaneous and incidental expenses of said Village....	1500 00
For maintenance of streets and alleys.....	2500 00
For salaries.....	1400 00
For lights.....	1000 00
For maintenance of water works.....	3500 00

SECTION 2. That said several sums above mentioned, the aggregate amount to which is Thirteen Thousand One Hundred Fifty ($13,150.00) Dollars, are hereby appropriated as proportionate fractional parts of said amount of Thirteen Thousand One Hundred Fifty ($13,150.00) Dollars, and in case of failure to receive or collect the aggregate sum of Thirteen Thousand One Hundred Fifty ($13,150.00) Dollars, the deficiency shall be deducted pro rata from said sums.

SECTION 3. All unexpended appropriations for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1912, are hereby continued for the purposes for which they were made.

SECTION 4. This ordinance shall be published in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 5. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage.

Passed this first day of July, A. D. 1912.

JOSEPH D. ROBERTSON,
Village Clerk.
Approved this first day of July, A. D. 1912.

Some of the Entertainers Who Will Appear Here

Hon. Charles H. Poole

One of the leaders of New Zealand Parliament has been secured for the Lincoln Circuit after an effort of five years. If there is any one man especially well qualified to lecture on the reforms which the American people are adopting year by year, it is Mr. Poole.

William Sterling Battis

Is known from coast to coast as America's foremost interpreter of Dickens. These isn't a man who knows Charles Dickens better than Mr. Battis, who talks, looks and acts the Dickensian characters.

Prof. E. L. Morgan

Of the Agricultural Department of the University of Wisconsin is the speaker for Farmers' day in each town. His lectures while of special interest to farmers, will prove a treat to both country and city people alike.

Bland's Band and Orchestra

In presenting Bland's Chautauqua Band and Orchestra we believe that we are giving our patrons the biggest musical treat ever appearing on our program. With ten accomplished musicians, five of them concert soloists, an extra fine brass quartet, string quartet and xylophone, the program can not fail to please even the most fastidious.

James R. Barkley

Mr. Barkley is a born artist. His crayon work includes everything from the humorous subjects to those which brings tears to the eyes of the audience. Many years experience in this work all over the United States has taught him what the people like to see most. The clay modeling is a novel feature of the program which no one should miss.

Mrs. Ancie Belle Battis

is an accomplished musician and a soloist of unusual ability.

Her selections will add charm to the program. Mrs. Battis will sing several songs while Mr. Barkley, the crayon artist, illustrates them in beautiful colors.

Dixie Male Quartet

This quartet is undoubtedly the strongest organization of its kind in the south. Thomas J. Kellam, the manager, is a cultured, highly educated Christian gentleman, a talented teacher and composer. He has a world wide reputation as a writer of sacred songs which have probably been used in nearly every church in the north.

Emma C. W. Matthews

is a charming entertainer both as a soloist and reader. She is a supervisor of music in the Chicago Public Schools and a teacher of elocution in a private school.

Prof. Louis Williams

will give a lecture on the "Wonders of Electricity."

His Natural Self

If anybody had given a party with a prize for the most helpless husband there was not a bit of doubt that Docky would have gone home with the prize under his arm. This was an indisputable fact, for his wife said so and she should have possessed expert knowledge on the subject.

"If you should turn James Docky loose in the middle of a desert," she often said, "with an cash in plain sight, that helpless man would turn and walk the other way and die of starvation. Here I am, wearing myself to a shadow remembering to remind him of what he ought to do or telling him where he put his pink striped shirt or getting him more towels when those in the bathroom have slipped down back of the tub! You'd think that the man never heard of the back of the bathtub the way he forgets to reach behind it! He's more trouble than a family of ten children! I declare, his helplessness dooms me to become old before my time."

She never knew where he had put his umbrella when there was a rain storm that he had to go out in. He was petrified with a dismal sort of horror if he had to hunt out his own apparel. It was on record that once when they were dining out Mrs. Docky had gone on ahead to spend the day he didn't come. When finally they telephoned him he told his exasperated wife with tears in his voice that somehow he couldn't possibly get a white tie on that looked right.

"Where are you getting your dress ties from?" Mrs. Docky inquired with an awful premonition.

"From the little drawer to the left in the top of the chiffonier," rectified Docky, pathetically.

"Those," breathed Mrs. Docky over the phone, "are my white summer belts! Look in the drawer below!"

She often said with pathos that if James would only refrain she would be the happiest woman on earth.

It was nothing short of tragic then when Docky had to go west on business and his return was delayed three months. Mrs. Docky worried incessantly over him. "If he wasn't so helpless," she said, "it wouldn't be so hard, but he'll lose everything he has and will come home with his cuffs tied on with strings! He won't be able to find a thing and nobody will look out for him and he'll leave a pair of pajamas hanging in the closet of every hotel room he's in! I'm afraid he won't get enough to eat, because he never knows what he wants and always insists on my picking out things on the bill of fare."

When at last Docky returned home his wife looked him over carefully. His coat was on right side up and his right shoe was not upon his left foot. He was wearing his own hat, his linen was presentable and he was short only one pair of pajamas.

"Do you feel well, James?" Mrs. Docky asked, anxiously.

"If I felt any better," declared her husband, "I'd be sick abed from it!"

At breakfast Docky put sugar and cream on his berries as nonchalantly as if he had always known how. He picked up his umbrella from behind the door and produced his gloves airily. When he had gone Mrs. Docky set down and breathed hard. She could not understand it.

That evening it was still worse. Docky dressed without once asking where anything was. When his wife said that she had come to put in the shirt studs Docky looked surprised and said they were already in. He even got out his silk hat and brushed it, whistling cheerily, while Mrs. Docky stood around making futile efforts to help him.

She was pale and not herself all evening and persisted in trumping her partner's ass. When they started home not only did her husband find his own wraps, but he got here and helped her into them.

She did not speak all the way home. When Docky turned on the hall lights instead of waiting for her to do it she fled upstairs to hide her emotion.

Just when Mrs. Docky had reached the point where she decided that the queer feeling which possessed her, meant that she was going to die Docky came with hesitating steps into the room.

"Dear," he murmured, "I can't find the soap—it isn't in the soap dish—and where are my bedroom slippers?" It was then that his wife cast herself upon his bosom and dissolved in a flood of tears. "It—it's probably slipped down on the sidewalk!" she sobbed. "They're in your closet, behind your egg-top shoes! Oh, James, you haven't seemed natural till this minute! I thought I'd lost you! I don't like to have you look after your personal! It doesn't seem natural!"

"Well," primed the enlightened Docky, "I would worry! I guess I haven't returned enough in three months so you're really nervous! Say, I wish you'd help me—I can't get this damned tie on!" "Then let me help you,"

Self-Explanatory.
"Why do you think I can't get this tie on?"
"Because I want her to help me."

One of the most impressive of all the old ruins in Rome is the great Coliseum. It was in this open air amphitheater that the cruel spectacles were witnessed—gladiators fought in mortal combat, Christians were made to fight starving lions and tigers. Death was inevitable. Troubles of the Borrower.
"Only a couple of months ago you said you'd share your last dollar with me," said Jones, who was unsuccessfully attempting to negotiate a loan. "I know I did, old man," replied the one who was doing the tightwad act; "but I haven't got down to my last dollar yet."—Judge.

Don't overlook our "business notice" column. It's one of the most interesting departments in the paper.

Humming Birds' Journeys.
In its annual travels the humming bird finds its way from the central parts of the United States to the interior of South America. In its annual migrations the birds usually make a rapid dash northward, and on the return trip they straggle along leisurely.
