

BARRINGTON REVIEW

VOLUME 25, NUMBER 7

BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1913

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

BRIEF MENTION OF NEWS ABOUT TOWN

Occurrences of the Week Told in Short Paragraphs—What's Doing in Our Hustling Village.

A girl was born last Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Holtz, who resides 3½ miles south of this village.

John Howe, tax collector of Ela township, was in this village yesterday receiving taxes from local people who own property in his district.

Dr. D. B. Richardson vaccinated all of the pupils of an Algonquin township school yesterday. There are a number of small-pox cases in that vicinity.

J. C. Burkitt of Arlington Heights sold three Studebaker "20" automobiles this week to local people, the purchasers being Herman Ebel, Henry Berger and John Hause.

A Chicago moving picture concern has rented the village hall for next Thursday evening. An announcement of the show they will give will be found in another column.

A cartoon with Harry Lauder, the Scotch comedian, as a subject, from the pen of W. J. Cameron of this place, was published last week in the Western British American, a Chicago weekly paper.

Members of the board of village trustees Friday inspected the ditch on Russel street about which Mr. Keeler has been making complaint. The master will probably go into more thoroughly at the next board meeting.

George Carmichael, Jr., celebrated his fifth birthday anniversary Tuesday afternoon by giving a party to which a few of his young friends were invited. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carmichael of Garfield street.

Rev. Father T. F. Leyden of Freeport will conduct services at St. Anne's church next Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Father Leyden was a resident pastor of Woodstock about 30 years ago and the church here was included in his parish.

The "Trip Around the World" to be given by the members of the Baptist Young Peoples' Social union on Friday evening, February 14, Six "countries" will be visited and it will be novel, and without doubt an enjoyable entertainment.

George Preston, who has been the tailor for H. H. Banks & Company since they started in the business, has returned to Chicago. He talks of opening a shop of his own at Palatine. His former employers expect a new man the first of next week.

F. K. Bunnstead finished his work for his new Lake County directory here last Friday and the copy will be placed in the hands of the printers at once so that the books may be issued about April 1. He has raised the price of the book from five to six dollars.

Mrs. Fred Hunter of Franklin street went to Chicago Friday to see her husband who is at the West Side Hospital, and remained until Monday. She says that Mr. Hunter is improving rapidly and expects to be out of the hospital in a few days. They plan to return to Chicago to reside as soon as he is well.

Mrs. F. L. Seavers of South Hawley street entertained seven ladies from Chicago last Saturday at a luncheon, in honor of her birthday. Those present were Madeline Allen, Cameron, Earl Finch, James Thompson, P. J. Cullin, David Wood, Elmer Hendricks and Will Dawson. Mrs. Seavers was the recipient of a gift of six glasses as a souvenir of the occasion.

H. D. A. Grebe says that he has located the young man who took a sum of money from his cash drawer last week. The boy is at Elgin, he says, and tried to communicate with him yesterday. Mr. Grebe expects to talk to the boy or his father today and will probably be able to effect a settlement. We were in error last week, Mr. Grebe says, in stating that the boy's father refused to be responsible.

One of H. R. Hammond's teams ran away last Saturday afternoon and ran into a mile, team of Mr. Hammond's, severely injuring one of the mules with the wagon pole. The men and team were engaged in hauling corn from one end of the depot when the accident occurred. The wagon pole entered the side of one of the mules up to the neck, the mule making a very ugly wound which it was thought would prove the death of the animal. Dr. Glavin, who has been caring for it says it is in a remarkably much better condition now than it was.

A wedding supper was served at the bride's home and in the evening a dancing party was given at the village hall.

Mr. Tippie is employed on the George Williams farm. The McFarland family are new comers here, coming to this village from England last summer, and conduct a boarding and lodging establishment in the Austin house on Cook street.

NEWS OF THE FARM AND DAIRY

Notes of Comment and Interest to Local Agriculturalists and Milk Producers.

The fifth International Good Roads Congress will be held at the hotel La Salle, Chicago, February 26 to March 2.

The employees of the Borden condensed milk company won the prize last month for "factory efficiency" among the Borden factories throughout the United States.

McHenry county is making rapid forward strides in the matter of up-to-date farming. A soil improvement association has been formed and Delos James of Huntley, a graduate of the agricultural college of the University of Illinois, has been appointed soil expert and farm advisor.

Fred Witt's auction sale is being held today. Rudolph Wierholt's was held yesterday and was well patronized. John Balmer takes place tomorrow and Edward Horn will sell Tuesday. William Feigenhauer, Jr., will sell next Thursday. No further sales in this vicinity have been announced as yet, but it is understood that there will be one or two more. Mr. Peters will cry all of these sales and also severa more near Gilmer.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES.

ST. ANNE'S

Services will be held next Sunday morning promptly at 9:30 o'clock.

During the Lenten season there will be devotions every Sunday evening at eight o'clock, which will be followed by a short sermon.

BAPTIST

Morning worship at 10:30 o'clock.

Evening worship at 7:30 o'clock.

Sunday school at 11:45 a.m.

Pre-Sunday devotional service Saturday at three o'clock p.m.

Covenant meeting the last Saturday of each month.

SALEM

Sunday worship at 10:30 a.m. and 3:00 p.m.

Sunday school at 9:15 a.m. George St. Johnsoefer, superintendent.

K. L. C. E. meets at 6:45 p.m. Clarence K. Muller, president.

Prayer services Tuesday and Wednesday, 7:30 p.m.

Choir meets Friday evening.

General missionary meeting held first Wednesday each month at 1:30.

Woman's Missionary society meets first Thursday of each month, Mrs. H. Sodt, president.

Mission band meets first Sunday of each month at 1:30.

Monthly offering of the church is taken on the second Sunday of each month.

Wednesday school council meets first Wednesday evening of each month at 7:30.

The pastor will gladly respond to calls. Phone 115-M. Herman H. Thoren, Salem parsonage.

METHODIST

At 9:30 a.m. next Sunday the classes will meet. The effects of the Sunday school contest are seen in the high average of attendance, it was 90 last Sunday. The spirited singing led by the orchestra is an attractive feature.

The collection on Sunday was added to the amount given by the public congregation for the "Freedmen's South."

At 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. there will be public worship with preaching by the pastor of the church.

Commencing next Wednesday evening, there will be special religious and evangelistic services at the church each evening except Saturday.

The pastor will be listed in the meeting of the Rev. J. E. Robertson, pastor of the Methodist church in Palatine.

A very cordial invitation is extended to all who may be interested in such Lenten services to attend and assist in and profit by the meetings.

Temple—McFarland.

Mrs. Emma McFarland of Cook street and Henry Tupper of Ela township, were married Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at the Baptist church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. G. E. Lockhart, the pastor of that church. The church was crowded and descriptions of the wedding say that it surpasses any in the history of the village in the splendor of all its details.

A wedding supper was served at the bride's home and in the evening a dancing party was given at the village hall.

Mr. Tippie is employed on the George Williams farm. The McFarland family are new comers here, coming to this village from England last summer, and conduct a boarding and lodging establishment in the Austin house on Cook street.

A VALENTINE.

MEN'S BANQUET IS A BIG SUCCESS

Eighty Serv'd at Men's Club Annual Social—Program by the Most Prominent Villagers.

The fifth annual banquet of the "Barrington Men's Club" took place last evening, as a commemoration of Abraham Lincoln and the fiftieth anniversary of the liberation of the American negro from slavery. As in preceding years this banquet was largely attended by prominent people of this village representing various nationalities and creeds, who have been amalgamated in this "Melting Pot"—the Men's Club—where personal differences and opinions have been eliminated and harmony evolved, making all present at the meetings and entertainments of the club feel a friendly interest in one another. Few towns possess such an organization and those who have failed to affiliate would do well to become members.

The dinner was served at seven o'clock in the Methodist church parlor by the ladies of the church sewing circle and in itself was delightfully appetizing and abundant, prettily arranged with flowers and ferns. Eighty ladies and gentlemen were pleased with the repast and the program which followed it.

President H. H. Hubbard presided as usual although just recovering from illness, but an active part and is enthusiastic in his work.

Rev. O. F. Mattison, toast master, enlivened the evening with witty remarks and pointed stories which amused for the manner in which they were delivered by the reverend gentleman "of the cloth." Mr. Mattison has sincere friends in Barrington in all denominations.

The talk given by Rev. H. H. Thoren of the Salem church, opening the program, held the close attention of all who would gladly have listened longer to his excellent discussion on the emancipation of the negro as being an act of Providence. Rev. G. E. Lockhart of the Baptist church is a convincing speaker and in his topic, "Lincoln as a Model for Young Men," stated clearly the especial attributes of Lincoln for a young man to consider. From these two ministers one gathers many thoughts for private meditation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Nish of Barreille were here on business.

Miss Gladys Munger of Elgin visited over the week end with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Geary recently welcomed a baby girl to their home.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Walmuth of McHenry Tuesday, February 4, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tomisly of North Crystal Lake are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Pratt.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Geary of Grayslake announce the birth of a ten pound son Monday February 10.

Miss Leah Glymph of Lake Bluff and Mr. Lentzen of Lake Villa were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Sodt.

Mr. Golding, wife and daughter spent Sunday here.

They were accompanied home by Mrs. Jane Neville who had just returned from a two weeks' visit with relatives here the last of the week.

Mrs. T. Allen was quite ill the last of the week and under the doctor's care.

Ed Stanley of Chicago was a guest Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen.

Mrs. Kamphaus was confined to the home with a severe attack of tonsillitis the last of the week.

Mrs. Harry Jensen entertained her sister Miss Mabel Felt of Algonquin at her home here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wolf attended the funeral of Woodstock Saturday, Mrs. Wolf's sister, Mrs. Minnie Thompson.

SCHOOL NOTES

The board of education gave the pupils and teachers a holiday yesterday, Lincoln's birthday.

Don't forget the concert given by the school band tonight. Come, enjoy the evening and encourage the boys.

Sixty of spring (roller skates and marathons) have been noised for some time. The present cold snap might cause us to think that those signs are not reliable.

Pupils and teachers are arranging for the fifth annual school exhibit to be held March 14. Work of the pupils for the current school year will be on exhibition.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate in this vicinity have been recorded:

Edie V. Wilmot to H. W. Ebel, lot 14, Heisels subdivision, Barrington, w. d., $400.00.

W. M. Wilmot and wife to H. W. Ebel, lots 8, 9 and 10, Heisels subdivision, Barrington, w. d., $1000.00.

H. Meyer and wife to William Luens, tract of land in w. d., section 10, Wauconda township, w. d., $1000.

A. J. Raymond and wife to August Deinlein, w. d. lot 1 and w. d. lot 2, block 2, Wauconda, w. d., $1000.

H. C. Meyer and wife to A. C. Schowman, part n. w. 1 section 10, Ela township, w. d., $500.00.

Anna Meyer and husband Orlin Luens, 20 acres in northwest one-fourth, section 5, Ela township, q. c., $1000.

Dr. Barber, Optician will be in Barrington at Dr. Shaeffer's office Tuesday February 13.

Carson paper for next the Review office. Two sheets eight by 12 inc. 25 for 2500 copies.

Notice to Taxpayers.

I will be at the office of the Public Auditor in Elgin on Friday, February 13, to receive taxes for the town of Barrington commencing Saturday, February 14, and every day next week.

Bring description of property you wish to pay on. L. H. BENNETT, Collector.

Pay Your Taxes.

I will be at the office of the Public Auditor in Elgin on Friday, February 13, to receive taxes for the town of Barrington commencing Saturday, February 14, and every day next week.

Bring description of property you wish to pay on. L. H. BENNETT, Collector.

For Village Trustees.

I hereby nominate myself as a candidate for office of village trustee, subject to the general election of the voters of the town of Waukegan.

GRONCE F. ATKINS.

The Owl club masquerade ball will be held at the village hall this evening.

LAKE ZURICH.

E. A. Fleke made a trip to Chicago Monday.

H. L. Prechin made a business trip to Waukegan Tuesday.

George Foreman made a visit to Barrington last Monday.

Mrs. Emil Frank and daughter Anna were Chicago visitors Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Hukkerbucker ice company has sent the village treasurer a check for $25.00 for cutting the woods on the lake.

John Howe, the tax collector, has started to collect this week, he will be at Emil Frank's place Lake Zurich every Tuesday and Saturday, the Gilmer store every Monday morning, and at Sauer Bros. store at Long Grove every Wednesday morning.

Six bids for building the new school house were given in last Saturday. Ernest Branding was awarded the contract, his bid of $750.29 being the lowest. The directors are now taking steps to see what can be done in changing the present location of the school house as great many people think the old location is not very desirable on account of being close to both railroads, making it very noisy and also dangerous.

Comedy in Four Acts.

"Her Ladyship's Vice," a comedy in four acts, will be given at the Lake Shore Pavilion, Lake Zurich, Illinois, Saturday evening, February 22, 1913, under the auspices of the Ladies Lacrosse Club.

Cast of characters:

Captain Charles Basford, E. M. Schaefer
Sir Thos. Melbourne, L. C. Hockmeyer
Sir John Phillips, E. M. Peddler
Joseph Luxton, I. O. Ellison
Lady Melbourne, M. C. Bicknase
Lady Betty Everline, C. L. Prechin
Nora Jones, E. Schneider
Tickets 15, 25 and 35 cents.

A dance will be given after the show. Their will be a special train which will leave Palatine at 7:30 P. M. and return at 1:00 A. M.

QUENTIN'S CORNERS.

Arthur and Walter Witt visited with their parents this week.

Mrs. D. Smith is spending a few weeks with her daughter Mary Catlow.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervil Young visited Sunday with Fred Peddler's folks.

Fred Peddler and family spent Sunday with relatives at Lake Zurich.

John Wilhelms will move to Palatine after working years in this vicinity.

H. L. Rockleman of Palatine called on J. Strauss Jr. on Sunday.

Daniel Sturm is going to enlarge his barn this summer and put it in first-class shape.

Miss Milla Klemenschmidt visited a few days last week with her sister Elsa Kruger.

Charles Kausel is spending the week in Chicago visiting with his brothers Ben and David.

Arthur Sturm claims to be the boss rabbit hunter as he has bagged about forty this winter.

J. Sturm Jr. & Sons were at Prairie View last week with some stock for the Chicago market.

Charles Kellogg has rented the Leacock farm for a term of years and has moved there already.

Fred Klinchmidt intends to raise party by a number of neighbors last Sunday in honor of his birthday.

Our tax collector John Howe is out collecting taxes in the township of Ela. They are a little more this year.

Fred Eichler has returned from Wisconsin where he has bought land and reports 18 inches of snow and 20 degrees below zero.

The people of this vicinity are sorry to hear of the sad news of the death of Miss Ollie Jenkins. She was one of our former teachers, and was well thought of by parents and scholars.

John Smith has bought out his partner in the moving picture show business and is now owner alone of their entire circuit. He gave his first show at Park Ridge Tue-day evening and says that he had a most excellent audience. He has purchased a new Edison machine which will remain in Barrington all of the time.

Rural route men are somewhat alarmed at a recent order of the postmaster general that the rate of all rural letter carried by railroads a brilliant and commendable record. The order also applies to letter boats. Carriers declare that they will be the object of attack of all the heads of the highly prided Hoistmen herds on their routes.

BARRINGTON REVIEW

MILES V. LANEY, Pres. L. E. PADDOCK, Ed.
All communications should be addressed to the BARRINGTON REVIEW

TELEPHONE 44-11. BARRINGTON, ILL.

Current Events Related in Paragraphs

Washington

The United States senate passed what is known as the Webb bill, that prohibits the shipment of liquor from any other state into a "dry" state, or, as expressed in the bill, "when intended to be received or sold in violation of the law of the state to which the shipment is made." This bill has already passed the house.

The house of representatives, by a vote of 92 to 8, passed a bill prohibiting the intermarriage of whites with Ethiopians, Malays or Mongolians in the District of Columbia.

Attorney General Wickenden announced that he had reached an agreement with the representatives of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads for the dissolution of the great Harriman merger as decreed by the Supreme court.

The United States revenue cutter service broke all its previous heroic and humanitarian records during the fiscal year of 1912. Thousands of human lives and hundreds of tempest tossed vessels, valued with their cargoes at nearly $1,000,000, were saved from the perils of storm-swept seas by the little cutters which guard the coast.

Charges of incompetence and mal-administration of the reclamation vice are made and an appropriation of $25,000 is requested for a congressional inquiry that will deal broadly with reclamation projects in a report which was sent to the house by the committee on interior department expenditures.

United States Census Director Durand in his annual report recommends that mail carriers be used in gathering statistics for the census.

Seven men caught in the government's gold-bucketship "united in 1910 pleaded guilty to gold content in the District of Columbia supreme court and paid fines aggregating $50,000.

Secret reports of the navy department and the state department from all the Central American capitals except that of Costa Rica, tell of plans for a half dozen rebellions. The navy department took immediate steps to guard American lives and property by issuing orders to four warships to proceed to ports in Nicaragua and Honduras.

The state department acted promptly upon the complaint of American Minister Beaufre to the effect that he had been grossly libeled by the newspaper Cuba in Havana, instructing the minister to request the Cuban government to prosecute immediately the authors of the libelous statement.

Domestic

Edward Payne, former president of the First of Boise, state bank, was found guilty of having made false reports to the state banking department by a jury at Boise, Idaho. Eugene D. Payne, a son, jointly indicted with his father, was acquitted. The jury was out nineteen hours.

While armed members of a Houston (Miss.) mob, estimated at 1,000, held the First of Boise, and its deputy grand, Davel Rucker, a lawyer, tied to an iron gurnet, seated with oil and set fire. Then a man stepped forward and fired four shots into Rucker's body, killing him.

A double murder, in which Mrs. Gennaro Romano, aged fifty-two, and her son, John, aged twenty-two, were hacked to death mysteriously, was discovered at Milwaukee.

Fourteen of the crew of the tugboat Monarch were drowned when the vessel struck a submerged snag in Tchula lake, in Mississippi, and sank.

With an automatic pistol in each hand, Alex von Rehren, a military school graduate, aged twenty-four, old, walked through his father's factory in Evansville, Ind., and shot to death three Negro workmen, who had been giving him trouble and at whose hands he had suffered violence.

Word was received in St. Louis that the house of Representatives, now in session, has voted to allow a $100,000 building on a Lexington avenue site in New York, which was one of the latest gifts of Mrs. Helen Gould Shepard.

Resumption of the hearings in the so-called "Black Sox" case, in which the McNamee dynamiting conspiracy has been rejected by United States District Attorney Miller of Indianapolis.

Resumption of the hearings in the so-called "Black Sox" case, in which the McNamee dynamiting conspiracy has been rejected by United States District Attorney Miller of Indianapolis.

As a result of a fierce battle between striking coal miners and police authorities in the Kanawha district, near Mucklow, W. Va., thirteen persons are dead and at least a score injured, some seriously. Twelve of the dead are strikers and four were members of the mine guards and railroad police.

Prof. Emory R. Johnson, of the department of transportation of the University of Pennsylvania, in an address in St. Louis, said coastwise vessels passing through the Panama canal should pay toll to obtain necessary funds for the maintenance of the canal.

The cruiser Detroit, recently discarded by the United States navy, may see service under the Greek flag in the war against Turkey, according to reports published in New York.

The so-called "boot and shoe last trust," fixing, it is alleged, the price of practically every last sold in the United States, was dissolved by the federal court at Detroit, Mich.

Foreign

Capt. Robt. F. Scott, British explorer of the antarctic, and his party of four companions, were overwhelmed by a blizzard March 29, 1912, on their return journey from the south pole. The entire party which made the final dash perished. They reached the south pole on January 18, 1912.

Tariff concessions have been made by Brazil on a number of products from the United States as a result of diplomatic representations made by the state department through the American embassy at Rio de Janeiro.

Six persons were killed and 65 were seriously injured in political rioting in Tokyo. The premier of Japan, Prince Katsura, was stoned by a mob in the streets. His resignation has been demanded by the people.

Marion Berolzheimer, who was American vice-consul at Vienna from 1895 to 1897, committed suicide there by shooting. Mr. Berolzheimer recently had been ill and suffered from insomnia. His illness, it is believed, prompted his act.

Discovery of a plot to revolt and make Felix Diaz, military director for the greatest part of the regular Mexican army garrison in Mexico City mutinied, released General Diaz and Gen. Bernardo Reyes from prison, attacked the national palace and captured the arsenal in the suburbs. General Reyes was killed in the fighting at the palace, in which 250 fell, among them many women. Two Americans are among the slain.

British Explorer and Four Aids Die in Blizzard.

ANTARCTIC EXPLORER WHO PERISHED

Capt. Robert F. Scott.

SCOTT PERISHES AT SOUTH POLE

FIND GOAL ON JAN. 18, 1912

News Taken to New Zealand by Steamer Sent to Bring Party Back Home Which Left June 1, 1910.

London, Feb. 11.—Capt. Robert Falcon Scott and four of his comrades are dead—victims of the frozen south.

They reached the south pole January 18, 1912, and then perished miserably in a driving blizzard on the journey back.

After attaining the pole they faced about for the return to civilization. For two months they struggled to get back to "One Ton Depot," which they had established 150 miles north of the ultimate south.

Diary of One by One.

One by one they died. Seaman Evans died from consumption of February 1. Captain Oates died from exposure on March 17. Captain Scott, Lieutenant and Dr. Wilson died from exposure and starvation during a blizzard about March 29.

The whole world mourns the loss of these heroic victims of the horrors of the antarctic. One consolation is that before they died they achieved their aim.

News of the tragedy comes from the Terra Nova, which arrived at Christchurch, New Zealand, with the remainder of the ill-fated expedition, under command of Lieutenant Evans.

The Dead.

Following the list of the dead: Captain Robert Falcon Scott, Royal Navy, commander.

Lieut. E. A. Wilson, chief of scientific staff, biologist and artist.

Lieut. H. B. Bowers of the Royal Indian Marine, in charge of the commissariat.

Capt. E. C. Oates of the Innsular Dragons, in charge of the dogs and ponies.

Petty Officer Edgar Evans, in charge of bridges and equipment.

Thus the British antarctic expedition, which set forth with such bright hopes, has ended in a tragedy unmatched in polar annals since the disaster which befell Sir John Franklin and 129 officers and men in 1847. All England is mourning today. Nay, from the shades of meadows arriving at the Royal Geographical Society's offices, the whole world is mourning with England in the calamity which has befallen her sons. From the king down, everyone feels it a personal loss.

The tragic news reached London early Monday, but was not made public.

Mermaid Suspicion.

"Why wouldn't you pay attention to Dustin Star when he suggested pouring oil on the troubled waters?"

"Everybody thought it was another little scheme of his for boosting the price of oil."

Getting On.

"Has Miss succeeded in getting into society yet?"

"No; but she's rising in the social scale. She's being snubbed by a better class of people this year than last."

"Not at all. I couldn't possibly buy over one thousand than he buys himself."

One Advantage.

"When you lie in bed late your muscles relax, your nerves become fussy, digestive action slows down and all sorts of ills result."

"Still, you ain't likely to get run over by an automobile."

Jumping From the Smell.

"Who's going to pay for your new husband?" "Aren't you taking chances, my dear?"

"Not at all. I couldn't possibly buy over one thousand than he buys himself."

PATTEN PAYS FINE

CHICAGO SPECULATOR ENTERS PLEA OF GUILTY TO CORNER IN COTTON.

$4,000 IS PAID IMMEDIATELY

Attorney for Grain Operator Declares Pool Was Not Formed With Any Thought of Wrong Doing—Litigation Was Too Expensive.

New York, Feb. 12.—A plea of guilty was made in the federal court Tuesday by James A. Patten, the Chicago cotton and grain speculator, to the sixth count in an indictment charging him with restraint of trade in running a cotton "corner."

The sixth count charges that Patten and his associates, Col. Robert M. Thompson, Wm. P. Brown, Mr. Hayne and Eugene Scales, agreed under a contract to buy practically the entire raw cotton crop of 1909 in order to hold it out of the market until November 1, 1910. To the seven other counts in the indictment Patten pleaded not guilty, and they were not pressed by the court.

Judge Mayer, first, told Mr. Patten $4,000, which was paid immediately.

The government charged that their acts constituted restraint of trade. The defendants demurred and carried their case to the supreme court, which recently ruled against them.

George W. Merrick, Patten's attorney, issued a statement saying that his clients had agreed to pay out any compensation of the guilty of any moral turpitude or of offending in the slightest degree against any law or proper rule of conduct."

"Although the Sherman act has been in force for more than twenty years, it was never before supposed that a contract of the kind in question violated it," he said.

The British litigation has been a source of great expense and care to my client, and he is now, however, unwilling further to litigate, and so he makes this plea for the purpose of concluding a litigation that, if continued, would entail still greater expense, trouble and annoyance, both to himself and the government."

Bad Story is Told.

Some half an hour later the fact became known that the entire party accompanying him on the expedition had perished during a blizzard case through to be followed later by a Central News dispatch reading:

"Christchurch, New Zealand, Monday.—Captain Scott reached the south pole on January 18 of last year and there found Norwegian settlers and records. On their return (word here is undefined) the southern party perished. Scott, Wilson, Evans, Bowers died from exposure and want during a blizzard about March 29, when eleven miles from One Ton Depot, in latitude 79° 46' degrees south, or 155 miles from the base at Cape Evans. Oates died from exposure on March 17. Seaman Edgar Evans died from concussion of the brain on February 17. The health and extent are not yet known, but it is stated to be of grave character."

British Explorer and Four Aids Die in Blizzard.

British Explorer and Four Aids Die in Blizzard.

15,500 TURKS DIE IN BATTLE

Balkan Fight Will Go Down in History as Battle of the Whole Balkan War.

London, Feb. 13.—The Balkan battle will go down into history as one of the most bloody engagements of the Balkan war.

A total of 15,500 casualties was suffered by the Turks in the disaster on Tuesday, the third day, when they fled in panic to the ships in Charkevo.

The Bulgarians buried 250 bodies of their slain foes and 3,000 more Turks dead were left strewn over the battlefield. In addition to the 5,500 killed, more than 10,000 Turks were wounded.

Detailed accounts were given by Scott, who described the defeat as an utter rout, a night battle, when he was surprised by the Turks in the disengagement of two divisions at Charkevo, which were intended to turn the flank of the Bulgarians operating along the ultimate lines.

At six o'clock on Tuesday morning the Bulgarians swept down suddenly. The battle waged from 10 p.m. on Tuesday last month for New Zealand, and the heart-breaking news of the calamity awaits her there. Her little boy Peter, just growing up to years of understanding, and who is described as the image of his father, is staying with Captain Scott's aged mother at Henley-on-Thames. Mrs. Scott left England in the spring and came to New Zealand.

Part Consists of 82 Persons.

London, Feb. 11.—The Terra Nova sailed June 1, 1910, for New Zealand and the south pole. It was joined by Capt. Robert F. Scott a few days later at Cardiff. The expedition consisted of twenty-eight officers and scientists, in addition to a crew of 82, including the picked men of the British royal navy. The party were current at the time the Terra Nova sailed for the antarctic, December 14, 1912, to bring back the Scott party, that some of the members of the relief expedition had expressed grave doubts as to whether Captain Scott and his fellow explorers would ever return. The reason was given for these doubts, but they were freely brushed aside.

Last Word From Explorer.

The last direct word received from Captain Scott himself was brought by the commander of the Terra Nova from the southern ice regions when she returned to Akershus, New Zealand, in January. The brief message was in Captain Scott's own handwriting and said:

"I am remaining in the antarctic for another winter in order to continue and complete my work."

Tiffs Begin to Move.

Washington, Feb. 13.—President Taft began Tuesday to make the White House ready for the occupancy of Woodrow Wilson. Scores of articles belonging to the president, Mrs. Taft and their children were moved.

Fellow Party in Tokyo.

Tokyo, Japan, Feb. 12.—Bishop Samuel Fellowes had his party of Chicago, with the international quartette which is accompanying Fred Smith and Raymond Robins, also of Chicago, arrived here Tuesday.

Princess Victoria Lulu Engaged.

Berlin, Germany, Feb. 12.—The official Heirloom Assessor, in an extra session, announced the engagement of Princess Victoria Lulu, daughter of the German emperor, and Prince Ernst August.

HOLIDAYING IN THE WINTER

AN IMMENSE AMOUNT OF MONEY SPENT BY WESTERN CANADIANS IN WINTER SEASON.

"An unusually large number of Western Canada people are leaving or preparing to leave to spend the winter in California."

The above statement of news clipping from a Western Canada paper early in December. In the same issue were items of news conveying the intelligence that hundreds of Western Canadians were also taking a trip abroad, spending the Christmas season "home," as they yet term the old land. The Scandinavian element participated largely in the holiday business of the railroads and the steamships, but they all are return tickets. Early in December the east bound trains and boats were loaded, and an estimate furnished by the railroad people gave upwards of twelve thousand as the number who would make the Christmas holiday visit abroad. This does not mean that these people are leaving to the extremes of the winter, nor for the climatic conditions whatever. They have come out to Canada and have done so well that they can afford the hundred and fifty or two hundred dollars or more that it takes to carry them across and back. When they come to Canada they did not have that much money all told, but now they are wealthy and on their return will bring some of their friends with them.

Then there are those, too, who on their wheat farms have made sufficient money that they can afford to take a holiday, and what better winter holiday ground could they have than California? How many in other farming districts of the continent could afford the money and the time that these people can?"—Advertisement.

EXCELLENT!

"Are you first in anything in school, Earlie?"

"First out of the building when the bell rings."

RED, ROUGH HANDS MADE SOFT AND WHITE

For red, rough, chapped and bleeding hands, dry, fissured, itching, burning palms, and painful finger-nails, with shapeless nails, a one-eighth Cuticura cream is the best emollient. Soak the hands, on retiring, in hot water and Cuticura Soap. Dry, anoint with Cuticura Ointment, and wear soft bandages or old, loose gloves during the night. These pure, sweet and gentle emollients preserve the hands, prevent redness, roughness and chapping, and impart in a single night a velvety smoothness and whiteness as much desired by women. For those whose occupations tend to injure the hands, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are wonderful.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Samples of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."

Adv.

Credit and "Confidence."

First Bank Official—I just loaned $150,000 on his business.

Second Ditto—Is his business good enough to warrant it?

"Sure! He showed that he was employing over fourteen hundred children."—Life.

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

The Way of It.

"Have you got a cook yet?"

"No, but one is coming today to see if we suit her."

—ADVICE FOR COOKS.

The American powder to be shaken into the shoes for tired, aching feet. It takes the sting out of the feet and relieves the pain. A delight sold everywhere. See Barber's Address A. G. Compton, La Ray, N. F. Adv.

Agreeing With Her.

"I was a fool when I married you!"

"Yes, and you married a fool!"

Dr. Palmer's Pleasant Pillets first put up 40 years ago. They remain as invigorating as ever. Write to Dr. Palmer, 1000 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. Price 25c.

The best cure for kleptomania may be arrest, cure.

—DRUGS FOR KLEPTOMANIA.

Take one "PHENOB QUININE" 1000 mg. in water. It is a safe and effective drug.

—DRUGS FOR KLEPTOMANIA.

Take one "PHENOB QUININE" 1000 mg. in water. It is a safe and effective drug.

STUDY HIGH PRICES

PARTY THAT CAN DEVISE PLAN TO REDUCE THEM WILL WIN IN NEXT ELECTION.

SO BELIEVE THE LEADERS

Democrats Say Reduced Tariff Will Solve Problem, Republicans Assert This Will Lower Wages Also—Progressives Have Other Ideas.

By GEORGE CLINTON.

Washington.—Washington leaders of the three parties, Republican, Democratic and Progressive, say that the party which can devise a plan to reduce the high cost of living will be the party to be assured of victory the next time there is a chance for the people to vote on national issues. The leaders add that while the parties and the people are talking about the tariff, the trust, currency, battleships and other things of importance, they are thinking mainly on the price of beef, butter, eggs, coffee and sugar.

In a measure the Democrats seem to believe that the high cost of living can be reduced by reducing the tariff. Now just as naturally as rain falls out of an overburdened cloud, the Republicans answer that if the customs are cut prices will go down, but wages will go down with them and that men will leave money to be better off with less money than they were with more money and high prices. The Progressives say that there is a way to solve the high cost of living and it is not to be found through the tariff. The duties, they say, should be cut to a considerable degree, but not as much as the Democrats desire, and that this cut with other things yet to be definitely determined will reduce the cost of living without reducing the rate of wages.

Are Studying the Problem.

The high cost of living is to be investigated by a non-party body, but whether it will reach any conclusions of value of course remains to be seen.

The Democrats are going to study high prices in connection with legislation affecting the trusts, the tariff and the currency. They say that the trusts keep up the high cost of living and that the tariff is the chief cause of the trust and so they hope through legislation and tariff legislation to accomplish the thing which seemingly all people want to be accomplished.

The Progressive party, as has been noted before in these dispatches, has established a working bureau for the purpose of studying the problem of the high prices for food, raiment and rent. There is a man and a woman connected with the Progressive party who are at once economists and social service workers. These men and women have studied the economic problem in the hope that they might find some means of relieving the condition of the poor in the congested districts of the big cities where wages are comparatively small, families are large and prices are big.

Some of the Republicans say that the Progressives can go ahead along these lines of investigation if they choose to, but they will find that the line will lead into the realm of supply and demand and natural causes generally.

It is only a few of the Republicans who say this as a final answer. Those who are in the party in Washington, who insist that the high cost of living is the real big problem of the day and that the Republican party can get back into power if it shall present a plan which seems adequate to its solving. For this reason Republican economists are to study economic conditions and to present them to the party in the future, but it is plenty of time to make them available in the congressional campaign one year from next fall.

Who Will Head This Committee?

Washington dispatches have discussed thoroughly the subject of which school of Democratic thought is to control the next session. It seems, it has been said in this correspondence, before that the Democrats who say they are of the more progressive school will be in the majority of their party in the Senate and will control the committee on Interstate commerce and other matters of party moment. The subject of seniority of service and the claim which it has to recognition in the matter of committee chairmanships also has been discussed and reasons have been given why Senator Tillman, who is the ranking Democrat on the committee on Interstate commerce, may not be chosen by his Democratic colleagues to preside over that important body.

If Mr. Tillman prefers the chairmanship of the naval committee, on which he is at present the ranking member of the minority side, and foregoes all claim to the chairmanship of the committee on Interstate commerce, who will be named as chairman of this committee which probably will have before it for consideration the most important legislation to be undertaken by the Democratic administration?

It was the Interstate commerce committee of the Senate which formulated the railroad rate legislation and which brought into being the Interstate commerce commission. It deals largely with trust matters because the committee on Interstate commerce is the committee of the Senate which has the most important legislation made in the last years as a whole can be a power for good or evil.

Gore May Be Promoted.

If Mr. Tillman does not become chairman of this highly important committee there are three other Democrats now in the minority side who might be chosen to the minority side becomes the majority side. Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma, is a member of the committee. He is fairly well down on the list, but there is a feeling that the progressive Democrats may attempt to give Mr. Gore the chairmanship because it is his turn to have the chairmanship of the claims of seniority of service. Senator Newlands of Nevada and Senator Clarke of Arkansas rank Mr. Gore in the Democratic membership of the present Interstate commerce committee.

The Democrats are going to consider long and deeply before they come to a conclusion the question of the Interstate commerce chairmanship. The present chairman of the committee is Moses E. Clapp, progressive-Republican, of Minnesota. Holding membership with him are two progressive Republicans, Albert B. Cummins of Iowa and Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin. If these two members of the present Republican majority on the committee retain their membership in the committee as minority representatives when the Democrats are in control, the feeling is that the progressive Democracy in attempting Interstate commerce legislation may count upon the support of the progressive Republicans whose records in the Senate show that they have been for advanced laws in all matters pertaining to traffic between the states.

Inauguration Gossip.

President-elect Wilson's decree that there shall be no inaugural ball puts the inauguration ceremonies on an almost strictly official basis. There is no chance now that there will be as much as a reception in the capitol in the evening, and it is very doubtful that there will be no reception at the White House, which is not large enough to accommodate the thousands of people who certainly would throng to the place to shake the hand of the incoming chief magistrate.

It must not be understood that the opposition to the reception in the capitol will be unanimous. It was not based on a wish to belittle the inaugural affair, but it came from the belief that the new president would find himself a victim, rather than a hero, before midnight of March 4, if strenuous reception ceremonies were forced upon him after his hard work of speechmaking and press-reviewing during the daylight hours.

No visitor who had intended to come to Washington for the inaugural ceremonies should feel inclined to stay away because there is to be no ball, and probably no reception. The chances are that this will be the case, and the most singular decision enough to make up for all that has been left out of the program. It must not be forgotten that there is to be a huge woman suffrage parade on March 3, and it is definitely known that if the weather is at all favorable this parade will overshadow in its human interest the display that the men are to get up the next day.

Weather Won't Stop Women.

The women are hoping for bright skies and for a temperature of 50°, but the promise of their militant leaders is that no matter what the weather, their followers will show the courage of their convictions, and will march in snow, sleet and rain just as they would in sunshine. It is understood that every woman who marches will be given a distinctive garment to identify her as a suffragette. In this way this will make the affair a "uniformly uniformed" one, but the day the weather is warm these garments will be thrown aside, and the women will appear each after her own manner of interpreting the fashions of the day.

It is probable that congress before long will take up the matter of the suffrage of the future and make some kind of definite provision for them.

Washington Memorial Hall.

Already there is in congress a bill looking to the erection in this city of a huge and beautiful marble building to be known as the George Washington Memorial. Congress is not going to appropriate money for it, but the structure will be built by the government.

The subject of seniority of service and the claim which it has to recognition in the matter of committee chairmanships also has been discussed and reasons have been given why Senator Tillman, who is the ranking Democrat on the committee on Interstate commerce, may not be chosen by his Democratic colleagues to preside over that important body.

It was the Interstate commerce committee of the Senate which formulated the railroad rate legislation and which brought into being the Interstate commerce commission. It deals largely with trust matters because the committee on Interstate commerce is the committee of the Senate which has the most important legislation made in the last years as a whole can be a power for good or evil.

SENSE OF DIGNITY

Something Finer Than One's Normal Self, and More Elevating Than Passion.

By H. M. EGBERT.

"A marriage has been arranged and will shortly take place between Miss Estelle Lambert, only daughter of Rear Admiral Charles Lambert (retired) and Mr. John Hewlett, the well-known senior partner of Hewlett & Mason, 82 Wall street. The news of the engagement has occasioned considerable speculation among the friends of the bride and groom.

John Hewlett, seated at his desk in his spacious office, smiled very grimly as he read the insinuating paragraph in the society paper which had been sent to him, marked, by some one who preferred to remain anonymous. It was well that he had done so, for John Hewlett was not a very popular admiral, and had been known to repel insults with good measure on more than one occasion.

But he only thrust the sheet contemptuously into his waste-paper basket, and then, having sorted the correspondence upon his desk he closed it with a slam. He had arranged his affairs; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated by her beauty, had invited her to the house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in Hard-ware Preferred.

John Hewlett was forty-three. From

the age of eighteen to thirty he had worked in a foundry, striped to the waist, the bulky and overlord of a motley crew of hard-bitten workmen.

The education, painfully and laboriously acquired by the aid of a few books studied when he should have been sleeping, enabled him to break free from his enslavement. In five years more he was a man of average education and moderately rich; at forty he had entered

Wall street, and during the years he had become the equal of the most audacious free-lances in the financial district. He had made millions, had been flattered and courted; then, at forty-three, he had fallen in love for the first time in his life. He had met Estelle's father at his country club, and the old admiral, captivated

by her beauty, had invited her to the

house of his son, and the two had been

soon engaged. John had arranged his affairs to the last detail; he had settled his obligation to the last penny; now he was to settle his moral obligation which weighed on him more than the mass of his entire fortune, wiped out in a day by the sensational slump in

BARRINGTON REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1881
MILES T. LAMEY, PUBLISHER
L. B. PADDOCK, EDITOR

Published every Thursday afternoon at Barrington, Illinois, and sent to all class matter at the Barrington post office.

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance.
Advertising rates made known upon application.

All copy for advertisements must be received at least two weeks in advance to insure publication in that week.

Cards of thanks, resolutions of commendation and all other correspondence, which are given for pecuniary benefit must be paid for.

All communications should be addressed to the
BARRINGTON REVIEW

TELEPHONE 51-R. BARRINGTON, ILL.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1913

A SENSIBLE ORDER.

The Southern Pacific has ordered its employees to stop all rice throwing by wedding parties, at stations or on trains of the S. P. system. This jar the romantic notions of wild-eyed wedding guests, but it is one of the most sensible little things that a big railroad company has ever done. If there ever was a custom that contained more idiocy or hair-brained galantery than that of deluging brides and grooms with rice, upon their departure on a wedding journey, we have never been able to notice it. We almost believe that one cause for the decrease in marriages in this country is the awful hazard that a young couple has to go through, of late years, from the fool wedding guests. Young people with any degree of modesty or timidity would almost be scared out of getting married, after seeing what is often done to tantalize and torture a young wedding couple after the ceremony and before they depart on the wedding journey. Fourth of July's are being made safe and sane. Let weddings be made the same. And the S. P. deserves thanks for having started the reform in that direction.

The Oriental Dancer.

Charles Frohman, at a dinner at the Metropolitan club in New York, condemned a certain, outrageously immodest Oriental dancer.

"She must have a nasty mind," Mr. Frohman said, "to dance like that."

"Oh, don't be too hard on her," said a plain sight. "She may not understand you know. Consider how young she is."

"I deny," said Mr. Frohman, "that she's as young as you imply; but I'm bound to admit that, even though not young, she's certainly a striptease."

Subscribe for the Review.

THEY SAY THAT

It is a fine thing to be able to win without a crowd and to lose without a whine.

By the time a boy is ten years old he has walked 40 miles—hunting for his cap.

If you believe in prayer, pray that you may never hear what your friends say behind your back.

The man who never forgets to be polite to his wife is polite enough.

Fashion is a peculiar influence which makes a woman drap herself in a horse blanket and think she looks stunning.

There is no fool like the fool who tries to fool himself.

CUPID'S ESPECIAL DAY IS THAT OF GOOD ST. VALENTINE.

CUPID, more potent than any other authority known to man, has decreed that on St. Valentine's day those of opposite sex shall exchange missives and epistles, either comic or sentimental, in which the fancies of the sender or receiver are set forth in prose, in verse and in emblematic pictures. Now there is no custom without a reason, but the reason for this cannot be found in the life of the good saint who is made to indorse this custom with his name.

He is reported to have said:

"No one rises to accuse him of casting sheep's eyes on any Roman maiden. He was a bishop or pope of Rome who stood steadfast to the faith during the Claudian persecutions, and for that faith was cast into jail, where he died his keeper's daughter of blindness. His soft quill pen and yarrow is the emblem of Cupid, blind himself, to bring upon his votaries a similar blindness, not to cure it.

"Now was there anything comic or sentimental in the fate of St. Valentine when the miracle was made known to the world? The saint was beheaded with clubs and then beheaded him. What was left of him is preserved in the Church of St. Praxedes at Rome, where a gate, now known as the Porta dei Popoli, was formerly named in his honor Porta Valentini, or Saint Valentine's gate," says Williams in his "Curiosities of Popular Customs."

Bailey's English Dictionary (1872), under the subject of Valentine, says: "About this time of the year—February—the birds choose their mates, and probably thence came the custom of the young men and maidens choosing valentines or special loving friends on that day."

Francis Douce (1807), discussing the same subject, says: "It was customary to put the names of young women into a box, from which they were drawn by the men as chance directed and the Christian clergy, finding it difficult or impossible to ascertain which saint was represented, introduced at least a religious aspect by substituting the names of particular saints for those of the women."

"But see how strong is the old Adam in the hearts of the unregenerate," comments Mr. Walsh. "Wanton youth was not satisfied to imitate the holy fathers and sainted for the sake of the flesh, in heaven. It longed for tangible flesh and blood here on earth—flesh and blood of that delightful variety which has a spice of the devil in it and is known as woman."

"In the latter part of the sixteenth century" (according to Rev. Albin Butler) "the church, in the person of St. Francis de Sales, once more stepped to the rescue of the few of St. Valentine's day. St. Francis sternly forbade the custom of valentines or giving boys in writing the names of girls to be admired and attended on them, and to abolish it he changed it into giving billets with the names of certain saints for them to honor and to which particular saints.

But in the end the boys and the girls triumphed over the saint. Nay, the girls triumphed also over the boys, wrestling from them their exclusive privilege of choosing mates.

Last year an old man who had been the recipient of a comic valentine which had stung her to the heart, and which she had torn to shreds, it was made with a rawhide and a limb of the law. She demanded the name of the person who had sent her the objectionable missive. In vain she was assured that the factory was the last place in the world to learn the name of the sender. When told that the factory sold combs, she turned to a jobber who had purchased from her.

But the man who never forgets to be polite to his wife is polite enough.

Fashion is a peculiar influence which makes a woman drap herself in a horse blanket and think she looks stunning.

There is no fool like the fool who tries to fool himself.

ELIMINATION.

The elimination of nonessentials is a mighty factor in success.

Petty men with paltry minds who are constantly worrying over the unimportant features of their work, are as thick as sand-fess and just about as valuable.

Whenever you see a book-keeper so busy rewriting records and compiling statistics that he can't get time to keep his books in balance, you are looking upon a man who will soon drag his pay from the overseer of the poor.

A man spends more effort than a dirty one, but the digger who stops to wash his spade between each shovelful of earth will not dig a very large hole.

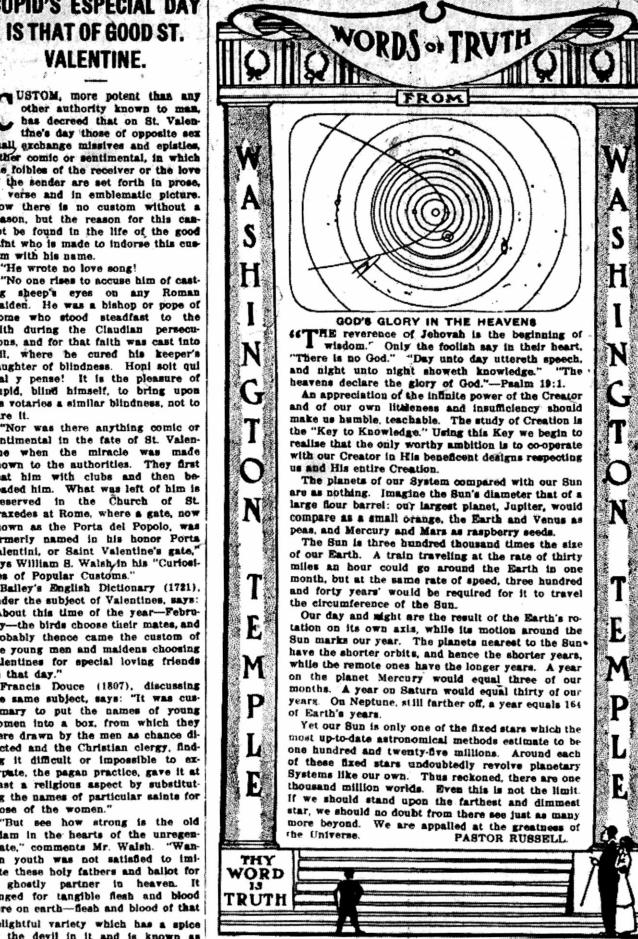

When you start to dig a hole, the important thing is to get the hole dug; and no man can lay a brick, sell cell groceries, write a good book or run a bank, until he has learned how to eliminate.

The man who is too busy to throw off the mind the unimportant things will always be doing unimportant work, just as the humor will stop a man from writing the day goes before he turns his attention to business, and if a humor should suddenly turn up he would have to start all over again, because he would not be prepared for anything but a comic.

The elimination of the worthless is the herculean task of the man who is not bound toward the States. There are only 26 hours in a day, and the man who cannot eliminate what is not worth while has no time for the things that are.

Now there is only one way to eliminate dead work. Learn how to do it. Then you can eliminate directly by putting them out; but to your heart on business you must turn it to business ground in West.

THE BARRINGTON CHOCOLATE SHOP

ICE CREAM, CANDIES, FRUITS, CIGARS, TOBACCOES.
Home made ice cream furnished for all social functions, $1.00. Special price in lots of ten gallons or over. Phone 57-R.

"61" FLOOR VARNISH

Gives a hard, shiny coating—easier to

LAMEY & CO., BARRINGTON

EGGS FOR HATCHING

If you do more to keep good hens than poor ones. That's why I wish to tell you about my Ranch Island Eggs. I have about 70 hens and have been getting from 30 to 50 eggs a day all winter without special feeding. I believe this is a very good record and that it would pay all obliging raisers to try this strain for egg laying. I will offer settings from these hens at a very reasonable price as soon as you want them.

PERCIE R. JAMES

Hot Drinks

—such as Beef Tea, Tomato Bouillon, Hot Chocolate—are invigorating these cold days. Try one.

F. O. Stone

I CATER TO PARTICULAR PEOPLE

YOU SHOULD TAKE PURE AND PLEASANT DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY. YOU WILL GET QUICK AND PERMANENT RELIEF.

Stops Cough, Loosens Chest, Soothes Inflamed Throat, Nose, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs.

Start Taking It at Once.

Dr. King's New Discovery was originated 43 years ago. Its wonderful power to stop coughing, cure colds, relieve bronchial and lung affections, made it quickly popular. Its use steadily increased. Now it is undoubtedly the most used prescription for coughs and colds in the world. Millions of bottles are sold annually, and thousands testify to its merits by testimonials and continued use.

The Largest Magazine in the World, TODAY'S MAGAZINE is the largest and best illustrated magazine published at 50 cents a year. Five cents a copy covers all newscasters. Every lady who appreciates a good magazine should send for a free sample copy and premium catalog. Address, TODAY'S MAGAZINE, Canton, Ohio.

Valentine parties are still in popular favor, and those who have not the ability to write love-songs or design sentimental valentines frequently go to artist friends and even to professional artists. I have prints of valentines made. At these parties each person exchanges valentines. French imported valentines run as high as $200 and $300, according to the richness of the lace and other trimmings, but these expensive valentines are rarely kept in stock.

Dr. King's New Discovery Soothes Irritated Throat and Lungs, stops Cough, Relieves Headache, relieves Colds, Coughs, Inflammation, Inflamed Throat, Tastes Nice. Take No Other; Once used always used. Buy it at the Barrington Pharmacy.

Notice
All persons having any claim against
Mary E. Shubert are requested to present same to the undersigned at once.

M. T. LAMEY.

Never!
"Poets," bubbled the dreamy eyed young versemonger, "are born, sir, and not made." Old Joe, the apothecary, exclaimed the long suffering doctor in an apothecary, "and did you suppose any one would want the credit of making
'em?"

Dr. King's New Discovery is the most used prescription for coughs and colds in the world. Millions of bottles are sold annually, and thousands testify to its merits by testimonials and continued use.

Why experiment with unknown and untried remedies? Pleasant, tried and true. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed by your druggist to help you or money refunded. Get a bottle to-day. Keep it for emergencies.

"Typhoid pneumonia had left me with a dreadful cough," writes Mrs. J. E. Cox of Joliet, Ill. "Sometimes I had such awful coughing spells I thought I would die. I could get no help from doctor's treatment or other medicines, till I used Dr. King's New Discovery. I owe my life to this wonderful remedy, for I scarcely cough at all now." Quick, safe, and reliable for all throat and lung troubles. Sold by

BARRINGTON PHARMACY

Bell Telephone System

Your Proposition has merit. You have faith in it. An earnest, straightforward telephone talk will put it through.

It is not necessary, nor is it always advisable to disturb a busy man of affairs by a call in person.

You may be able to obtain his most concentrated attention by a brief, pointed talk over the telephone. Go directly to the "brains of the business;" to the very thought center which weighs and decides.

The Long Distance Telephone is a most courteous and effective method of approach.

Chicago Telephone Company

J. H. Connelly, Dist. Mgr.

Tel. No. 5003

Chopped Meat

is a nutritious food that should be more generally used. On a side of beef there are many pieces that will not cut to advantage, but are as sweet and tasty as the best steak. We chop it for you, with or without an onion, and give you a dish for your meal that is both satisfactory and economical.

ALVERSON & GROFF

PHONE 57-R

CASTLE, WILLIAMS,
LONG & CASTLE, Attorneys at Law. 801-817 National Life Building, 29 South La Salle street, Chicago.

HOWARD P. CASTLE, Evening Office at residence, Barrington; Telephone number 112-M.

SUPPLIER & BELL, Attorneys at Law. Office, Suite 420 Ashland Block. Telephone Central 5210. Chicago, Illinois.

G. W. SPUNNER, Residence, Barrington. Telephone 107-J.

R. L. PECK, Lawyer. Residence, Palatine, Illinois. Office: 1414 American Trust Building, Chicago. Telephone Central 595.

THE BARRINGTON BANK of Robertson, Plagge & Co. John Robertson, President; John C. Plagge, Vice President; A. L. Robertson, Cashier.

D. R. C. O. VAN ARSDALE, OSTROPATH. Mondays, Fridays—9 a. m. to 6 p. m. BARRINGTON; Moved to Grace house, Station street.

Chicago address: 202 Trade Building, Cor. Wabash and Randolph Sts. Telephone Central 3736.

MILES T. LAMEY, Insurance and Notary Public. Insurance written against Fire, Lightning or Tornadoes. Companies represented by me have paid every loss in full and promptly, to the satisfaction of the assured. Telephone 51-R.

You'll find many bargains listed each week by our advertisers. Get the habit of reading the ads; it will pay you.

Better than spanking

Spanking will not cure children of wetting the bed, because it is not a habit but a dangerous disease. The C. H. Rowan Drug Company, Chicago, Illinois, have discovered a strictly harmless remedy for this distressing disease and to make known its merits they will send a 50 cent package securely-wrapped and prepaid, absolutely free to any reader of the Review. This remedy also cures frequent desire to urinate and inability to control urine during the day or night in old or young. The C. H. Rowan Drug Company are an old reliable house, write to them to-day for the free medicine. Cure the afflicted members of your family, then tell your neighbors and friends about this remedy.

C. H. Rowan Drug Co., Dept. A793
Chicago, Illinois

Brief Personal Items

ABOUT THE VISITOR AND VISITED

New Advertisements.

C. F. Hall
W. A. Lake
H. D. A. Grebe
Public Service Co.
H. B. Banks & Co.
Barrington Pharmacy.
Moving Picture Shows. (3)
Barrington Mercantile Co.
Chicago Telephone Company.

Miss Eva Castle is visiting relatives in Austin.

Mrs. Emil Frick was a Chicago visitor Tuesday.

Mrs. Ezra Meier was a Chicago visitor yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bowen were Chicago visitors Tuesday.

J. V. Wing of Crystal Lake transacted business here Friday.

William Swartz and son Harry called on old friends at Cary Sunday.

Mrs. John Tomiski Miss Mary Smith of Cary were in this village Friday.

Miss Marie Dolan of Irving Park called on Barrington friends Saturday.

Edith Meyer of Garfield street entertained about 20 friends Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Carrie Garrott of Chicago visited local friends and relatives Sunday and Monday.

Robert Furby of Chicago visited his brother, Dr. J. H. Furby, from Saturday to Tuesday.

George W. Blackman expects to go to Elgin Saturday on business and be gone two or three days.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

H. D. A. Grebe is one of the Cook county grand jurors for the present session and is in Chicago doing jury service today.

Ford Furby of Chicago returned Saturday from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thordike and

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. O'Halloran motored from Chicago and spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Severs of South Hawley street.

Joe Catlow returned Monday noon

from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rochebach at Wheeling.

Tuesday of last week he returned from a two months' western trip, taking in the principal cities of the western states and spending some time with a son and brother in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents here.

SERIAL STORY

EXCUSE ME!

Novelized from the Comedy of the Same Name

By Report Engines

ILLUSTRATED
From Photographs of the Comedy by Henry W. Savage

Copyright, 1910, by H. E. T. Co.

SYNOPSIS.

Lieut. Harry Mallory is ordered to the Phillipsville, and he and Marjorie Newell, his wife, leave for the West. The car prevents their seeing Marjorie until the train is taking on passengers. Porter has a lively time with an Englishman and his wife, and with a young man. The slopes have an exciting time. They are to be married in a mile. Wellington bound for Reno to get a divorce. He boards train in mudlin condition, late, and is late. The car is also bound for Reno with some of the passengers. The latter blames Mrs. Jimmie for her marriage. The former blames Mr. and Mrs. Temple for their vacation. They decide to get married. The evidence of his calling. Marjorie declines to be married. The train starts while they are lost in farmland. Passengers join Mallory's classmates. Marjorie is distracted. Lieut. Lathrop, who has a son in the war, and old sweethearts, Annie Gattie, a fellow passenger. Mallory vainly hunts for a place to sit. Wellington has a fit. Mallory hears Little Jimmie's voice. Later, he is seen with Mrs. Jimmie. Mallory reports to Marjorie his failure to find a preacher. They decide to pretend a quarrel. Mallory gets a birthmark. Mrs. Jimmie discovers Wellington. Mallory is to be married. An unsuccessful hunt for a preacher. Dr. Whitcomb, a physician, and Mrs. Temple is induced to let Wellington smoke a cigar. Sight of preacher on a station wagon gives him hope, but he takes another train. Miss Gattie, who has a son in the war, borrows from passengers. Jimmie gets a cinder in his eye and Mrs. Jimmie takes him to the doctor. Mallory resumes. Still no clergymen. More passengers join the train. Mallory's behavior of different couples. Marjorie's jealousy is increased by Mallory's appearance and attitude. Mallory's jealousy. Preacher boards train. After the preacher escapes, Mallory by leaving from another. Mallory's detection moves Marjorie to convert. The last day on the train brings Mallory to the altar. His wife, Marjorie, and Mallory gets a Nevada marriage. However, Marjorie refuses to be married by a divorce drummer.

CHAPTER XXXV.—Continued.

Temple and Mrs. Temple looked at each other in dismay, then at the flask and the cigar. "It's the West," they stammered.

Wellington stared at his wife: "Lucratia, are you sincere?"

"Jimme, I promise you I'll never smoke another cigar."

"My love!" he cried, and seized her hand. "You know I always said you were a queen among women, Lucratia."

She beamed back at him: "And you always were the prince of good fellows, Jimmie." Then she almost blushed as she murmured, almost shyly: "May I pour your coffee for you again this morning?"

"Pleas, life," he whispered, and they moved apart in the aisle, arm in arm, bumping from seat to seat and not knowing it.

When Mrs. Whitcomb, seated in the dining-car, saw Mrs. Little Jimmie pour Mr. Little Jimmie's coffee, she choked on her. She vowed that she would not permit those odious Wellingtons to make a fourth of her and her Sammy. She resolved to convert Sammy that she had changed her mind about divorcing him, and order him to take the first train west and meet her half-way on her journey home.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

A Dusi for a Bracelet.

All this while Marjorie and Mallory had sat watching, as kingfishers shadow a pool, the door where through the girl with the bracelet must pass on her way to breakfast.

"She's taking forever with her toilet," sniffed Marjorie. "Probably trying to make a special impression on us."

"She's wasting her time," said Mallory. "But what if she brings her mother along? No, I guess her mother is too far to get there and back."

"Her mother comes," Marjorie decided. "I'll hold her while you take the bracelet away from the—friend that comes to you. Quiet, here comes!"

"Waiter, we're an urgent of arrant cowards!" "Er—ah—"

"You just grab her!" Marjorie explained. Then they relapsed into a fit of impatient attention. Kathleen seated in and, seeing Mallory, the greatest little scold, who, when she was a child, had been a terror, had been jounced back with a breath-taking smile. Kathleen turned and ran off both of them.

Several of the other passengers were just returning from breakfast and they were shot and scattered all over the car as if a great chain of human beads had burst.

Women screamed, eyes rolled, and then while they were still screaming hospitable smile. "May I have a word with you?" "Yes, you can, you dear boy." Marjorie winced at this and writhed at what followed: "Shant we take breakfast together?"

Mallory stuttered: "I—I—no, thank you—I've had breakfast."

Kathleen scowled with a jealousy of her own: "You seem to be getting along famously for mere train-acquaintances."

"Oh, no," Mallory amended, "I mean I haven't had breakfast."

But Kathleen scowled with a jealousy of her own: "You seem to be getting along famously for mere train-acquaintances."

"Oh, no, I haven't time," she said, and sat down. "Mamma will be waiting for me. You haven't been to see her yet?"

"She's all night."

"For me?"

"No, for papa. He's such a good traveler—and he had such a good start. She really kept the whole car awake."

"Too bad," Mallory condoned, perfunctorily, then with a sudden eagerness and a fit of indigestion: "I see you have that bracelet still."

"Of course, you dear fellow. I wouldn't be parted from it for worlds."

Marjorie gnashed her teeth, but Kathleen could not hear that. She gushed on: "And now we have met again! It looks like fate, doesn't it?"

"It certainly does," Mallory asserted, bitterly; then again, with zest: "Let me see that old bracelet, will you?"

He tried to lay hold of it, but Kathleen had giggled coyly: "It's just an excuse to hold my hand." She swung her arm over the back of the seat a respectable range, and Marjorie made a wistful, even jealous, face. She then, finding that Mallory did not pursue the festive hand, brought it back at once and yielded it up:

"There—be careful, someone might look."

Mallory took her by the wrist in a glibber manner, and said, "So that's the bracelet? Take it off, won't you?"

"Never!" it was said on. Kathleen protended, sentimentally: "Does you remember that evening in the moonlight?"

Mallory caught Marjorie's accusing eye and lost his head. He made a ferocious effort to snatch the bracelet off. When that onset failed, he had recourse to entreaty: "Just slip it off, Kathleen. I'll take care of it." Kathleen, who had been watching with tantalizingly Marjorie urged more strenuously. "Please, let me see it."

Kathleen shook her head with aspunction: "You'd never give it back. You'd pass it along to that train-acquaintance."

"How can you think such a thing?" Mallory demurred, and once more made his appeal: "Please, please, stop it off."

"What on earth makes you so anxious?" Kathleen demanded, with sudden suspicion. Mallory was stumped, till an inspiration came to him: "I'd like to—get you a nice one. That one isn't good enough for you."

Here was an argument that Kathleen could appreciate. "Oh, how nice of you, Harry," she giggled, and had the bracelet down to her knuckles. When a sudden instinct checked her: "When you bring the other, you can have this."

She pushed the circlet back, and Mallory's honest look at the gesture, the great frank and smiling steadiness of his eyes, caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free his hands. She caught Kathleen's arm and, while his hands pleaded, his hands urged: "Please—please let me take it—for the measure—you know!"

Kathleen read the determination in his fierce eyes, and she struggled frantically to free

"A FRONTIER CHILD"

A 2-Reel 101 Bison Special
For Friday Evening's Show

Also: "A Mid-Channel Romance" and "Father's Bust," a comedy by the producers of "Keeping Mable Home" and the "Six Cylinder Eloperation" which was shown here recently. 4,000 feet of film. A good show is assured.

10c to all

Two Shows, 7:15, 8:30

R. W. GRACY

"The Boys of Lost River Basin"—a 3-reel special at Village Hall

Thursday Eve., Feb. 20th

See "Bud," the youngest cowboy in the world featured in the greatest and most thrilling western pictures ever produced. Played in Chicago too nights at 50c. Also another good reel.

Admission Only 10c

MOVING PICTURES

Village Hall, Saturday evening, February 15

Over and Under the Sea—2 Reels and two good comedy

FOR NEXT TUESDAY—His Little Pard—Oh You Mother-In-Law—Thelma

Prices 5 and 10 cents

Shows: Every Tuesday and Saturday
Matinee Saturday afternoon at 1:00

You don't have to strain your credit to buy and keep a Ford. In first cost and after cost Fords are as economical as wonderful in performance and purse-satisfying in durability.

Runabout - - - - - $525
Touring Car - - - - - 600
Town Car - - - - - 800

The factory is 14,000 orders behind, but I have several unsold cars on hand and this is your opportunity to purchase one. It may be impossible later in the season.

Prices quoted above are f. o. b. Detroit with all equipment. An early order will mean an early delivery.

D. C. Schroeder

Five Weeks to Easter

—the time when everybody spruces up. Don't put off ordering your Easter suit. Our spring samples are complete now—why not get your pick instead of waiting until the other fellows have selected the choicest fabrics. The best dressed men in town all wear our clothes.

Cleaning, Pressing and Repairing for Ladies and Gentlemen.
All work made for and delivered. Phone 104-R

H. B. BANKS & CO.
MERCHANT TAILORING
MEN'S FURNISHINGS

Improved Roads

Employing convicts in the preparation of road building material.

One of the plants in the platform adopted by the state good roads convention at Peoria in September favors the use of state prisoners in the preparation of roads for the state highway department, and their actual work on the roads under an honor system. When practicable Illinois prisoners are now used to crush rock for road work, but the delegates to the Peoria convention demanded that more men be thus employed and that they be provided with modern machinery, so that greater quantities of stone may be turned out.

There is a humanitarian reason underlying the use of prisoners in outdoor work, such as stone crushing. It gets the men into the air and builds them up physically and mentally, and, above all, from physical disease and broken mining and building in Colorado, under Warden T. J. Tynan, the state prisoners build more than a mile of fine road a day, at a big saving to the state.

Union Men Favor It.

Among the delegates to the Peoria convention of the Illinois Highway Improvement association none were more insistent on a convict labor plan than the representatives of the labor unions, headed by President Edwin W. Wright of the Illinois State Federation of Labor.

Wright Pleads for Convicts.

In a statement entitled "Pull Us All Out of the Mud," President Wright says:

"Organized labor has repeatedly demanded the complete abolition of shop work in the penal institutions of the state, and the use and application of open employment for the service wards of society. We have gone on record time and again as favoring the preparation of stone ballast and other material for use in country districts, and for the actual building of the roads if it can be done without degrading the uniform. We do not desire to deprive him of what shreds of manhood and self-respect as remain in him following his incarceration in the county jail, his trial and sentence, and the months which society may exact of him within prison walls before he is trusted again in the open air."

"We all rejoice in the progress science has made in the care and treatment of the insane. The day of the torture chamber has gone from our mad houses, the shackles and bars are things of the past. Pleasant surroundings and healthful conditions have restored the physical balance of hundreds of these patients."

"Why not take a single step forward in an effort to return the morally sick man to society as a useful citizen? True, he must be punished; he must realize that he has offended against the law and against society. Let him work, but let him work in the open air. It is not necessary to poison him as well as punish him. Few convicts ever return to society physically or mentally cured."

While society justly punishes the criminal is it fair to punish the man and the woman who have led upright lives in forcing upon them the reputation of the prison worker? In certain lines of industry the prison contractor has either wiped out the free shop entirely or has retained it merely as an annex the better to confuse the purchasing public.

Partially Solved the Question.

"We have partially solved the prison problem in this country, but only partially. Organized labor favors open house work in employing convicts in road making, and will do all in its power to further such a reform. The slogan of the business men to 'Pull Illinois Out of the Mud' by the extension of the employment of prisoners in state institutions in the preparation of materials for roads, and the use of state prisoners—under state direction—in actual road work when practicable, has a cheering sound."

"Good roads spell prosperity. Yes, and the closing of the prison shop spelled happiness in the workplace for our industrial workers. It may be suggested that the free workers will suffer. Nonsense. We have 9,141 miles of roads in the state, and only 8,914 miles have been improved. Twenty years of convict road building has not displaced one free worker. Indiana has only 37 per cent of improved roads, Ohio 27 per cent, Wisconsin 16 per cent, while Massachusetts has 49 per cent."

"Give the convict a chance, make him work, but keep his body and mind as clean as possible. Give the free worker a chance to live under honest competition. Pull us all out of the mud."

Highway Space Wanted.

The legislative committee which investigated the subject of Illinois highways found out that the traveled roadway ranges from 8 feet in some localities to the full width of the four rods reserved for the road in others. Rural mail carriers reported that a wagon track 8 feet wide took the road and that when the ground was soft the full width of the road was often used.

The average space wasted, the legislative committee found, was 12.5 feet in Hardin county and 12.5 for Livingston. The average width for many of the northern and central counties is more than 10 feet. The average of the southern and western counties is 14.4 feet.

It can be seen that thousands of acres of land on the public roads in some

Electric Power Pumping

The most practical and economical way to assure a plentiful and constant water supply for

Home Office
Dairy Farm
Garden, Etc.

Municipalities can operate their water works systems cheaper by electric pumping

We Furnish the Power

Public Service Company of Northern Illinois

Liberty.

We know the austere condition of liberty—that it must be recognized over and over again; yes, day by day; that it is a state of war; that it is always slipping from those who boast it to those who fight for it—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Cowardly.

A man may praise a woman's pie, but that's no sign he will eat it!—Buffalo News.

Business Notices

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Modern eight room cottage for $2,500; $1,500 cash and balance on time to suit purchaser. For particular call or address this office.

FOR SALE—The room house situated on one acre lot of the best soil sites in the hills. For particular call or address "A" care of this office. 5-2

FOR SALE OR RENT—The Shubert farm, containing 204 acres just east of the village of Barrington. Apply to M. T. LAMEY, Barrington, Illinois.

HORSES FOR SALE—Call or telephone 128-M-2. HARTWOOD FARMS.

FOR SALE—Cord wood. HARTWOOD FARMS, Barrington. 11

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Farm containing 160 acres situated three miles west of Palatine, well improved for dairy, farm, turkeys, hot and cold house. Call or address CHARLES HORN, Telephone 12 J-2, Palatine, Ill. 7-2

WANTED

WANTED—Grl wants general house work. Inquire at this office.

Big Ten Days' Sale

New Goods at Bed-Rock Prices

This is your opportunity to make your dollars do the most for you. This ten days' sale gives you one-fourth to one-third more goods than your dollar regularly buys. So don't miss it, but stock up with new goods at this sale.

A nice new lot of Dress Ginghams, for this ten days' sale only 5 cents a yard. Another fine line of 10c quality Dress Ginghams, this sale only 6 cents a yard. Dress Prints, 8 cent quality, for this sale only 6 cents a yard. Flannelled Dress Goods, 12 cent quality, for this sale only 9 cents a yard.

$1.00 a yard Fancy Dress Goods for this sale only 60c, 65c and 75 cents a yard. 50 and 60 cent quality Dress Goods for this sale only, 25c, 35c and 38c a yard.

17 and 18 cent quality Cambric Muslins for this sale only 11 cents a yard.

14 cent quality Tennis Flannels for this sale only 10c a yard. 10 cent quality Tennis Flannels for this sale only 8c a yard. 9 cent quality Tennis Flannels for this sale only 6c a yard. Underwear, for this 10 days' sale we will make a special cut price on all Men's, Women's and Children's underwear. It will pay you to buy your underwear here this week.

Bed Blankets, for this sale Bed Blankets will be sold at 45c, 65c, 75c and 95c a pair that are all worth 50 cents more on the dollar.

Sheetings, a special price will be made on the 9-4 and 10-4 Bleached Sheetings this week easily saving you 4 and 5 cents on every yard.

Big Dandy Bread, 5 cent loaf, this week's price 4 cents.

DANIEL F. LAMEY

Emil Frank

Lake Zurich, Ill.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO

CONFECTIIONERY

STATIONERY AND POSTCARDS

PATENT MEDICINES

SCHOOL BOOKS AND SUPPLIES

C. F. HALL

DUNDEE

COMPANY

ILLINOIS

ANNUAL PRE-INVENTORY SALE

A closing out of all broken lines and a general reduction of stock in every department. A sale of great importance to you.

All reductions are made from our actual selling prices and not from imaginary values.

$2.10 BULK PETTICOATS

All colors, the blacks and whites included, same quality of muslin silk as the best 35 cent skirt.

Up to number 100 width.....10c

Gingham, new goods for spring. 4-12c, 7c, 8c, 9c

Embroidery and Embroidery Insertions, mill lengths.....5c

All wool spring suitings, light grey and tan, 35 inch.....80c

Light green Cheesecloth.....80c

Calf Button, Patent Colt or Kid, button or lace shoes, all solid goods in up-to-date styles.....$1.98

Boys' school shoes, kid or lace face.....$1.00

Ladies' fine dress shoes, Patent colt and dull leathers.....$2.50

Fine tan calf shoes for ladies', new spring styles.....$3.00

Mill Remnants of 10 cent Outing Flannels.....5c

Infants' Kid Shoes, button or lace.....50c

Standard Cravats.....5c

Ladies' Shoe close out: Lot 1.....75c

Lot 2.....80c

Lot 3.....$1.00

Ladies' Rain Coats, manufacturers' samples, choice

.....$2.00

Close out sale of lace and silk waist, mostly black.....$1.50

50 cent knee length flannel Petticoats.....20c

Black Satin Petticoats Specials.....60c

SALE OF BLACK SATIN DRESS SKIRTS

24 Garments, the black dress skirts, formerly priced from $7.98 to $14.00 sale now.....$5.00, $6.50

PARTY DRESSES

Traveling Men's Samples: 4 Garments made of lace and ribbon, original cost $16.40, sale now at.....$7.50

Examine these samples.

BLACK JACKETS

Sale of black cloaks, big reduction on every garment. Unusual values obtainable at.....$5.40, $6.00, $6.50

Remember Reduced Gar

For Others: Show

Ground Trip Ticket $1 per

Show by Train.

CASH DEPARTMENT STORE