Spenge as in Animal.

Nothing is less like a living crosture than the common bath sponge, yet the fact remains that sponges do forms a very impérant species of the animal kingdom, eating their food and living their lives much as any other animal would do. The serval satisfacts of a sponge commences with the separation from the parent of a tirty particle. This partiels, whirling through space, event ally attended fined to a ploce of reck, and from that one the lower lives own lives the common comminst, with some species of the sponge hantly.
