SIX DAY MEETINGS APPRECIATED BY ALL

Chauteau Meetings Closed Sunday Evening—All Were Well Attended.

WILL BE HERE ANOTHER YEAR

Local Committee Signs Contract For Return Next Season—Tickets Easily Sold.

When the Barrington Lincoln chauteau came to a close Sunday evening those who had attended it and previous chauteaus here were ready to proclaim this year's event by far the best in point of entertainment and instruction, and the members of the local committee say that the attendance was better than ever before. Thus it can be said that the chauteau was entirely successful, and no doubt all will be glad to learn that arrangements have been made for its return next year. Tickets to the number of 600, the amount required by the management, were pledged to secure another engagement.

By far the best lecture of the six days, in the opinion of most people, was delivered on Thursday by Harold Morton Kramer. He was an emphatic and a virile speaker and his active and convincing manner served to hold the attention of his hearers from start to finish. The title of his afternoon address was "Here and Nowhere," and it dealt with character and morals. In the evening he quoted the first chapter of Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," showing from whence he had received the title of his address, "Rags and Rainbows." He said he had a message to deliver concerning the times in which we live, and went on to tell of the political and social evils of the present day, as he saw them, and to suggest the remedy—strife on the part of every man to better conditions. He quoted history to prove that we are living under the best conditions that the world has ever known, and stated emphatically that conditions are growing better year by year. His complaint was that too many of us are content to pray for reforms and trust in the Lord to give them to us. "Add hands and feet and votes to your prayers," he said, "and you will get results with astonishing quickness."

After telling the men of their duty he turned his attention to the women for a few minutes, saying the women's fashions lie at the root of some of the greatest economic problems of the day. "Many women," he said, "are wearing ridiculous and even vulgar and indecent clothes under the delusion that they are 'stylish.' "Parisian fashions" as copied by the society women of this country with the fond belief that they are the "latest thing" are worn there only by the poorest of the streets, according to Mr. Kramer, and he quoted the editor of the Ladies Home Journal as authority for his statements. Closing his talk he named the seven wonders of the modern world—wireless telegraphy, the telephone, the aeroplane, the automobile, the antiaircraft, the airplane, and the X-ray—as compiled by Popular Mechanics from the lists of 200 of the greatest scientists of the world. He compared these modern wonders with the seven wonders of the ancient world, only one of which was of use to humanity of that day. Of the modern wonders he said, "We use them every day, but they have lost their wonder to us, but mind and mercy are combined in them. Can you doubt that humanity is moving forward?"

Appearing on the program that day, Mr. Kramer was the National Concert company, Miss Nell Bunson, soprano soloist, Miss Edna Crum, violinist and Miss Clara Krevlo, pianist and reader. Miss Bunson is the possessor of a clear, sweet voice and delighted her audience at every appearance, although Miss Krevlo, the reader, was probably the most popular of the trio. The solo "A Perfect Day," with violin obligato, closed the evening program.

The following day, Friday, was advertised as the big day of the chauteau, and was not in the least misapprehended. The lecturer, Dr. C. C. Crowl, secretary to the late Sam Jones, appearing in the afternoon only, delivering Jones' famous lecture, "Face, Philosophy and Fun." Before his death Mr. Jones gave Crowl the sole right to deliver his lectures and Mr. Crowl is presumed to have given an exact imitation of Mr. Jones in words, voice and gesture. Quoting Mr. Jones he said, "The next best thing to old-fashioned religion is fun." "To be happy count your blessings." "For a man to be happy he must be a success." "There is no such thing as a free lunch." "There is no such thing as a free country as in going for it." "The most heartless

TWO DOLLARS FOR WINTER MILK

Milk Producers, at Harvard Picnic, Announce Demands—Picnic Was Big Success.

Two dollars a hundred pounds for winter milk. This will be the demand of the Milk Producers' association upon the big milk buying companies when contracts for the winter supply are made Sept. 15, according to Director C. H. Potter of Elgin, chairman of the price committee.

The campaign really opened, though informally, at the big Harvard picnic of the association held last week Wednesday.

The picnic was a great success. During the afternoon, the St. Charles Boys' Home Band gave a concert from a platform in the town. The Presbyterian ladies served a dinner to those who came to the picnic.

In the afternoon there were speeches at a grove, and horse races and a ball game. Director R. F. Tuttle of Poplar Grove, who formerly had charge of the picnic, presided. Mayor J. H. Vickers gave the address of welcome, which was responded to by President Elmer J. Fellows of St. Charles. Senator A. J. Olson of Woodstock told of his interest in the cause of the farmers and Attorney V. S. Lumley delivered the declaration of independence of the farmers.

Mr. Lumley spoke of the right of franchise recently acquired by women and said it was another indication that the common people of both sexes are coming into their own. He predicted the passing of drudgery on the farm, especially by the women.

Prof. Wing of Ohio spoke on alfalfa growing. The board of directors of the association will meet in Chicago soon to frame the milk scale.

Public Service Takes Charge.
The final steps in the transfer of the property of the Northwestern Gas Light & Coke company to the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois were taken this week when the latter company took formal possession of all the works and offices of the gas company, the printed and advertising literature being changed to read Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, Successors to Northwestern Gas Light & Coke company.

Drowns in Lake Michigan.
J. H. G. Genz of Racine, brother-in-law of Henry Pliginsk, Jr., of this village, was drowned in Lake Michigan last Sunday evening when he fell from an excursion boat. His body has not been recovered. He leaves a wife and two children.

thing on earth is a society woman. I have shaken hands with society women and I would as soon shake a dead fish's tail." The entertainment for that day was furnished by Bland's band and orchestra, this organization giving the entire program in the evening. In the evening they gave a varied program of familiar, classical and dramatic selections, the most successful of which were heartily applauded. "Cinderella's Last Change," a descriptive piece was the final rendition and was very effective.

Saturday Dr. Charles A. Payne, who has appeared here several times before and is popularly known as the chauteau platform speaker in the afternoon on "The Makers of America," his lecture being a picture of America in contrast with other countries. Mr. Payne is a world traveler and has visited most every inhabitable country on the globe, and speaks with first-hand knowledge of the conditions in other countries. His comparison was most complimentary to America. In the evening he delivered a lecture on the Panama canal, illustrated with stereopticon views, which was interesting and without a doubt the best since the beginning of the chauteau. Accompanying Mr. Payne as entertainers were Carl Lindgren, singer, and Emerson Winters, accompanist and reader. Mr. Lindgren's selections were pleasing and he takes rank as one of the best singers appearing on the platform while Mr. Winters' humorous work brought forth a round of applause each time and his hearers were loath to let him go. His piano-mono-logues were especially well received.

Sunday, the last day of the six, the Lyric Glee club, four men who have traveled together in this work for a dozen years, entertained with music, both vocal and instrumental, during the afternoon and opened the program in the evening. Their work was highly appreciated.

Mrs. Nannie Currie, a suffragist and temperance lecturer, spoke in the evening.

CONDITIONS ON COUNTY FARMS

Story by Lake County's New Expert—His Experiences Among the Farmers.

Stanley F. Morse, the new Lake county farm expert, has been busy visiting the farmers of the county and securing members to the crop improvement association. The following County farm expert has been joining the association the past month. H. Sullivan, Hart, W. Leonard, Henry Remyer, F. Haink, Geo. Wesel, E. W. Riley, A. F. Grom, F. Kirsche, W. I. Martin, V. C. Davlin, Dexter Brown and Emil Winkowski.

Mr. Morse expects to be in our township again soon. During his trip through the county he has had some interesting experiences, and tells them to our correspondent as follows.

The life of a farm expert is not an easy one. As a farmer remarked the other day, "I don't believe I would like a farm expert's job. It's mighty hard to please everybody, and then there are so many natural-born kickers and knockers he has to run up against. He surely earns his pay and I don't envy him in the least." This is literally true.

There are some farmers who seem to find their greatest enjoyment in life in opposing everything progressive. No mind is more fertile than such farmers' in finding objections to the advice of the farm expert, and the expert has his hands full to be able to meet these objections in a convincing manner.

Besides this, the expert has to have great patience and self-control, restraining himself from calling attention to the many things which might be easily improved on various farms and yet the mention of which might cause offense to be taken.

One farmer who was protesting loudly that nobody could tell him anything about farming is cutting oats, thirty per cent of which were spoiled by smut, which could have been cheaply and easily prevented by the formaldehyde treatment. Another has one-half of his corn stunted for lack of a few dollars' worth of potash. Another big carnival company will be here this week at the fair grounds and will run evenings as well as in the day time. The large dining hall will be converted into a dancing pavilion and C. E. Jones will conduct a vaudeville show throughout the week. Be ready for it August 26, 27, 28.

Blitten Twice by Tarantula.
Eric Lawrence of Elgin, railroad operator at Almor, was twice bitten by a tarantula yesterday when he picked up a bundle of papers which had been in a ear containing bananas.

Lawrence leaped upon his motorcycle and speeded for Elgin where a doctor cared for the wound. While Lawrence's arm is badly swollen, it is believed he will recover.

Must Use Red Cars Marked Gasoline.
One of the important fire prevention enactments at the recent session of the Illinois legislature was the passage of the red gasoline car law, making it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine, for any retail dealer to sell gasoline to any person unless it is placed in a red receptacle labeled "gasoline" in letters not less than a half-inch high.

to lift from the shoulders of the farmer the responsibility of giving his farm the scientific details of farming. The average farmer is such a busy man that, however willing he may be to study, his work usually takes so much of his time that the scientific end of the business has to suffer. But with a farm expert to call on at any time the farmer will soon be operating his business as scientifically as any factory. Wastes will be slowly eliminated, the cost of production reduced, hours shortened, methods of buying, marketing and distribution improved and profits increased. By organizing this is the only way that this can be done.

NEWS OF THE FARM AND DAIRY

Notes of Comment and Interest to Local Agriculturalists and Local Producers.

Despite frenzied efforts of one hundred men and women of the neighborhood of Plato Center the only industry of the hamlet, the Ira J. Mix milk bottling works, was burned to the ground Monday afternoon entailing a loss of $5,000.

Attorney V. S. Lumley of Woodstock and E. J. Fellows of St. Charles have been selected as Labor day speakers for the picnic to be given by members of the Dundee Merchants' and Milk Producers' associations at Carpenter Park, Dundee, September 1.

Most farmers in this vicinity have finished cutting their grain and report better crops than they had expected. Some have already threshed and two or three tons of oats going 50 bushels to the acre and better.

F. C. Dunning of Dundee advertises that he will have a sale of high grade Holstein, Gurnsey and Durham cattle on his farm every Friday.

STEPPED ON BY HORSE.

Ten-Year-Old Boy Has Leg Broken Saturday While Feeding Horses on Father's Farm.

Homer Schaefer, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schaefer who live on a farm two and one-half miles south of this village, had his leg broken last Saturday in a peculiar manner. He was assisting in doing the chores around the barn and had entered a stall beside one of the horses to give the horse its feed. The horse crowded over, stepping on his left foot and breaking the leg just above the ankle. Dr. Shearer was called and set the broken bones, and the lad is on the way to recovery.

William Grunau, who was taken to the Hahnemann hospital, Chicago, three weeks ago for treatment after he had stepped upon a nail, is reported to be better today and the doctors hold out hopes for his complete recovery. H. J. Lageschulte spoke at length in regard to the laws in regard to the operation of blind pigs in local option territory and the duties of the mayor and trustees in this respect. He stated that he was under the belief that liquor was being sold in this village and thought that a warning by the village board to the parties which he mentioned would result in a discontinuance of the alleged offense. Another matter which he wished action taken on was the delivery of alcoholic liquors in this territory by out of town people. It seems the village attorney had asked Marshal Peters to secure evidence against these people and the marshal had a case to report where he had found a delivery of liquor in this territory by out of town people.
