Why He Bought Solitude.

African Explorer (dumbfoundled)—"What, you, Clarence Vere de Vere, in the heart of darkest Africa? What in the world are you doing here?"
Clarence Vere de Vere—"I'm waiting the necktie Miss Darling gave me for Christmas. I just wanted her I would, you know!"—Puck.

Eve.

The woman in us still presents a sweet life that began in the garden; and our undertakings are weighed in an Eve as fatal as the mother of the miseries.—Joseph Glanville.

RELAPSE FROM VICE

The Tramp Printer's Commonplace "Take" and Story He Added Thereto.

By DANIEL BERGIL.

When Bud Williams blew into the Palladium office one cold winter day, he was received with an effectiveness that nearly took him off his feet. Not that Bud did not understand the situation. Only it was rather unusual. He knew that old Bently did not enbrotherly love but that the editor was very dry of printers.

Bud was no stranger in the Palladium office. Indeed, it was one of his regular stops. He invariably came (as he arrived in all the other towns on his somewhat extensive route) in a state of mental, moral and physical and financial collapse. He generally came to a case at once as he was a light-weight compositor and in a week or two would knock out strings that would make the regular fellows green with envy. But when he got his money generally at the end of the first week, surely at the end of the second—well, that was the end of him for the present. He flagged John Barleycorn at once and never wavered in his allegiance until all his money was gone. He was in condition to be hauled before the police magistrate and receive a 30-day sentence on the stone pile or, if the lockup was crowded, be given two hours to get out of town. Then we would see him no more for months.

On this particular occasion he was more ragged, disreputable and ghastly than usual—certainly not an object to be welcomed with high honors. But old Bently had just had the tax list dumped on him and had two printers sick at home and was in a great hurry. For he it known to the untitled tax list in a country newspaper office is a most important thing, not only as regards the great emoluments therefrom, but also because it is a big job of typesetting and absolute must appear promptly at the appointed time.

So it happened that old Bently greeted Bud as a long-lost brother and before the latter had fairly caught his breath (although the rest of us had) he found him in front of a case with great "takes" of tax list copy in front of him and old Bently putting things about a bonus on all strings excepting a given amount per day.

Bud had been at work about three days when he gave the Palladium the scoop which made him famous in the office, and with cost old Bently his valuable services so far as that particular tax list was concerned.

Each afternoon just before the paper went to press Bud was pulled off the tax list to help out in the last grand rush before press time. Naturally he caught the last end of the limited telegraph service enjoyed by the Palladium.

On the particular day in question he caught a dispatch from Omaha—almost the last dispatch before "go." For a moment there was the swift click of the type, when a crash that drew every eye in the room. Bud's "stick" was on the floor, its contents the office and Bud was hanging onto the case with trembling hands and a face so white as to give grave cause for the most serious apprehensions.

EVENTS AT LAKE ZURICH

News of Beautiful Summer Resort and the Progressive People Who Reside There.

Defeat Semi Pro's.

In one of the most interesting games of the season, Lake Zurich defeated the "Morgan Park Stars" Sunday by the score of 6 to 4.

The victory is the more creditable since the Morgan Park team has won the majority of its games in the Inter-City league.

Lake Zurich has not lost a single inning game this season and has defeated most of the strongest teams throughout this and adjoining counties.

A game has been scheduled with the Waukegan for Labor day when the two teams will battle for the honors of the Lake county championship. Edwin Peasey of the naval training station at Lake Bluff will do the twisting act for the locals.

At the county fair the Lake Zurich team attracted a goodly crowd of on-lookers and people from the surrounding country, and passed off very pleasantly. A stand was maintained where ice cream, lemonade and confections were sold, and several fancy, pillow covers and other fancy-work articles were raffled to add to the revenue.

A Chicago band, although small, furnished excellent music throughout the day and a good ball game in the afternoon added to the pleasures of the event.

Bert Fuller visited the Lou Geary family last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Geary, Mrs. Nora Fuller and Miss Helen Parish visited McHenry one day last week.

Messrs. Fred Grimm, E. A. Fiske and Lou Geary and wife transacted business in Waukegan Saturday.

The dance given Saturday evening at Oak Park pavilion by James Foreman and Fred Schumacher was not very well attended, although the one given at Bicknase's pavilion the same evening had a fairly representative patronage. Another dance will be given at Bicknase's pavilion the coming Saturday evening.
