BRIEF MENTION OF NEWS ABOUT TOWN

Happenings of the Week Told in Short Paragraphs—What's Doing in Our Hasting Village.

The Portia club holds its second meeting of the year this evening at the home of Miss Rose Volker.

Members of Barrington's "summer colony" gave a private dance at the village hall last Saturday evening.

The macons commenced work this morning laying the building tile for H. D. A. Grebe's new residence on Cook street.

The Charles Bourkland auction sale on the Howarth farm four miles west of this village took place today. W. Peters, Barrington's popular auctioneer, cried the sale.

The Topping property on Applebee street, offered at auction Saturday afternoon, was purchased by George J. Hager for $1,800. The property consists of a lot 49x132 feet and modern house.

The Barrington Mercantile company has sold to R. R. Hammond a Runley Oil Pullis-horse power traction engine which is to be used principally for plowing. The delivery of the engine was made yesterday.

H. B. Banks & Company are this week closing out their men's furnishing goods at cut prices, and will in the future conduct only the tailoring department, utilizing the whole of their store for that purpose.

John Baumgarten has commenced the erection of a large barn on his farm five miles southeast of this village. He had a barn raising Monday in which a large number of neighbors were present to assist in the work.

The Lake county petit jury for the October term of court has been drawn and contains the names of George Atkins and Edward Homuth for Cuba township, H. L. Grantman, Sr., Wauconda township, and Henry Hapke, Els township.

Joe Cliney of Hebron, who worked here at the Bowman Dairy company's plant last winter and was a member of the local I. O. O. F. lodge, committed suicide by hanging at Waukegan, Wisconsin, last week Wednesday. The funeral was held at Harvard Monday.

Marshal Peters arrested Elmer Witt Sunday for exceeding the speed limit with his motor cycle. He was released on his promise to appear before Police Magistrate L. H. Bennett Monday morning. He kept his promise and pled guilty to the charge. He was fined $5.00 and costs $3.00, which he paid and promised to be more careful in the future.

E. D. Prouty returned home from Loma, North Dakota, Monday, where he has been for several days looking after the harvesting of the crops on his farm. We understand that there has been a fairly good crop of small grain in that vicinity and were told that he sold his oats for 35 cents per bushel and barley for 55 cents per bushel from the machine.

The Veteran Relief Corps, No. 3, of Elgin invited the local Women's Relief Corps to meet with them at Elgin Tuesday. The invitation was accepted and the ladies planned to make the trip with automobiles, leaving early in the morning so as to visit Lord's park where they expected to eat their lunches, which they prepared to take with them and attend the meeting of the corps in the afternoon. On account of the rainy weather Tuesday morning they were obliged to abandon the trip and instead met at their hall for a "work day," preparing articles for the bazaar which is to be held November 19. About thirty ladies were present and we are told that dinner and supper were served from the lunches prepared for the trip to Elgin.

Save the Seed Corn.
Attention of farmers is called to the need of care in the saving of seed corn this year. The prospects are that there will be a scarcity of good seed. Prepare early for selection of seed from the good fields. Those who have a year-old, well-preserved seed may find that there is a good demand for what they have. The seed should be kept in a dry, warm place; this is true for any year, but it is especially essential this year on account of the poor quality of the seed corn in many localities.

The absence of high rents and high priced assistants enables Miss Jukes to sell fashionable hats cheaper than they can be purchased for in metropolitan stores, and she offers you as choice a selection. Visit her store and see the approved styles for fall and winter. They will be on display commencing next Monday.—Adv.

BOARD IN ADJOURNED SESSION.

Village Trustees Met Monday Evening—Transacted Little Business.

At an adjourned meeting of the board of village trustees held last Monday evening at the village hall, Edward Peters reported that the leaks in the large sewer leading to the septic tank had been repaired and that the tank was working in good shape. Sidewalks were ordered built on Hager street from Main street to Mrs. Neimeier's residence. A report from the village attorney on the legality of delivering beer into anti-saloon territory was to the effect that, in his opinion the local option law was being violated. It was not decided at this meeting to take any action, and the board adjourned until the next regular meeting which will occur October 6.

JUST MILK.

Once upon a time there was something called Milk. It was generally liked. People went so far as to say that it was not only useful as food, but palatable as well, and was enjoyed by all ages. But that was long ago. Many of us cannot remember how long ago it was. We have never known any Milk like that.

Milk today is a very awful thing. It is full of very bad bacteria, so full that we often wonder how the good bacteria died room to dwell in their own home.

And Milk is of many kinds. There is raw milk, parboiled or pasteurized milk, inspected milk, certified milk, fermilac, bacilac, and others too numerous to mention. We should hesitate to accept anything labeled just "Milk." It might be from a natural cow—a cow that had never been infected with tuberculosis, a healthy cow that just fed on grass in the meadow, was milked by hand both night and morning, and had the milk strained from a tin pail into a tin can, from which it was poured into a bowl and so fed to the children.

This presents rather a dreadful picture, so we will not dwell on it. Let us instead turn to the milk of science, which any intelligent person may recognize very easily.

Of course the name Raw Milk exists, but it would be a piece of pure stupidity in this age of scientific living for anybody to think of supplying simple, fresh, cooled raw milk direct from the cow. It is not to be thought of, it is unscientific. Almost everything worth while can be accomplished by scientific progress and enlightenment. But not that.

Oh, dear me, no! Then, as good raw milk is not to be thought of, we have next that delectable product called pasteurized milk, which is scientifically parboiled. Of course we have nothing to do with the things that are parboiled into things like visiting germs, and other substances that will not divulge their identity after the parboiling.

Inspected milk has a very artistic sound, and vies with certified milk in commanding our admiration for the exclusion of most of the germs that milk is really free to. Consequently, when this modern invention is a day old in ordinary temperatures, where in the right nature of things it would ferment and become nice sour milk, or buttermilk, it so refuses instead, and becomes offensive, unfit for any purpose whatever. So for the old-fashioned

ANNOUNCE THE PRICES FOR WINTER'S MILK

Bowman Prices Considerably Lower Than Producers Demand—Few Are Signing up.

This morning the Bowman Dairy company announced the prices it will pay for winter milk for the coming six months. They are five cents higher than the Borden prices, announced four days ago, and 12 cents lower than the prices the dairymen are asking.

The dairymen in all towns where there is a branch of the Milk Producers' association, and that means almost every town in the dairy district of northern Indiana and Illinois and southern Wisconsin, have placed their milk in the hands of a milk board, giving this board power to sell the milk at the best prices obtainable, and they are confident that they will be able to secure the price they demand. Some plan to erect community factories and others plan to ship their milk to Chicago, contracting with small dealers, nearly all of whom are willing to pay the prices demanded, if the large bottling and condensing companies do not meet their demands. The Bowman price, month by month, are as follows per 100 pounds:

| Month | Price |
|----------|--------|
| October | $1.75 |
| November | 1.85 |
| December | 1.90 |
| January | 1.90 |
| February | 1.75 |
| March | 1.65 |

This is an average of $1.80 for milk testing from .81 to .87 in butter fat. The contracts provide that milk falling to 3.5 in butter fat test will be reduced two cents and a further reduction of two cents will be made for each one-tenth per cent below this figure, while a premium of two cents will be paid for 3.8 milk and an additional two cents for every one-tenth per cent above this mark. An additional 10 cents per hundred is also given dairymen whose barn scores 65 points or better upon inspection under the Chicago board of health rules. The contract is in all respects identical with the one in operation this morning at only one man signed up at the local factory this morning and reports from neighboring villages where there are Bowman factories are to the effect that there are very few signers any where.

The producers' association asks an average of $1.72 per 100 pounds, 22 cents more than the contract price of the large bottling and condensing companies for the corresponding six months last year. The association price is based on 3.5 milk. For each additional one-tenth per cent they demand an increase of four cents per 100 pounds and allow a like reduction for milk testing under 3.5. It is likely however that they will accept the stipulations of the contracts of the buyers in this respect if these companies come up to their price.

The local milk board consists of C. F. Hawley, Fred Kirschner and A. L. Robertson, and members of the association are awaiting their call for a meeting before voicing their individual opinions, but the general theory seems to be that the producers will put up a stiff fight before accepting the prices offered by either the Borden or Bowman companies, and men who should know claim that the dairymen have control of the situation.

The milk of 60 or 61 big dairies of Dundee has been sold to the National Milk Flour company of Gilberts at five cents above the association price, and the Richmond Smith company of Chicago, which buys from can shippers, is making contracts at the association price of $2.07.

HONOR GAYNOR'S BODY

LIES IN STATE AT LIVERPOOL—REMAINS EN ROUTE HOME.

New York's Former Mayor Dies at Sea—Succumbs on Deck of Steamer Baltic.

Liverpool, Sept. 15.—The body of William Gaynor lay in state Friday night at the foot of the grand stairway of the town hall at Liverpool.

It was an unprecedented honor that Liverpool paid the dead executive of the American metropolis, for never before had a man in state in a historic edifice covered with the Stars and Stripes and with the British Union Jack draped over its foot, the casket rested on a catafalque brought here from Westminster Abbey, London, and on which has reposed the bodies of many of England's most famous men. It was last used at the funeral of Field Marshal Lord Wolseley in St. Paul's cathedral last March.

Six policemen, who were relieved at intervals, stood at attention around the casket all night and continued their duty until the body was removed from the town hall Saturday for the sad homeward voyage on the Cunard line steamer Lutetia, on which a special mortuary chapel has been prepared. Eight uniformed quartermasters will form the guard of honor during the voyage.

Minister Ascerts He Threw Remains Into River—Fate Marriage Ceremony Performed—Murder Committed While Victim Was Asleep.

New York, Sept. 16.—With the arrest Sunday of Rev. Hans Schmidt of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, charged with the murder of Anna Amuller, a servant, the mystery surrounding the finding of the dismembered body of a girl in the Hudson river was solved. Schmidt, according to the police, has confessed. He attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat.

"I killed her because I loved her so much," he said. "She was so beautiful, so good. I could not let her live without me. I had made up my mind that she and I could live together. I was a priest and must remain with my church. I could not let her go away from me."

Bobbing out this confession of his crime, the priest was locked up in a cell in the Tombs prison, where, instead of collapsing, as might have been expected, he calmly went to sleep.

The solution of this, the most baffling murder mystery of years, was brought about by tracing the pillow slip in which the upper section of the dismembered torso had been wrapped.

At police headquarters Schmidt was subjected to a severe grilling by Inspector Paurot. The inspector, when this was over, said: "Schmidt has admitted to us that he rented the flat and took the girl there. He said he had known the girl for more than two years and was infatuated with her. At midnight, on August 31, he said, he quietly let himself into the flat with his own key. Miss Amuller was asleep in bed, but he crept over to her side. He had a large butter knife in his hand. He cut her throat before she could make an outcry. He believed he had killed her and carried her into the bathroom."

The autopsy had shown that the girl was dismembered while still alive, and the absence of blood in her veins had given rise to the belief that the person, who had cut her to pieces had drained her blood vessels so that in disposing of the body there would be no trail to follow.

The police searched the rooms of Father Schmidt in the parish house and found a marriage license issued to "Anna Amuller" and Hans Schmidt.

The address given was a number in East One Hundred and Fifty-ninth street and the police declare that it is fictitious. The license was issued on February 24, 1913.

BOMB PERILS OTIS

PUBLISHER OF LOS ANGELES TIMES SENT INFERNAL MACHINE BY MAIL.

BLAST PREVENTED BY JAP

Servant Calls General's Attention to Package and Police Expert Discovers Heavy Charge—Second Attempt Made Upon Editor's Life.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 15.—The life of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis was threatened for the second time on Tuesday when he received an infernal machine through the mails. General Otis is publisher of the Los Angeles Times which was blown up October 1, 1910, by the McNamara brothers.

That he escaped injury probably was due to the watchful eye of his Japanese servant, who received from the postman an infernal machine mailed in this city and called his employer's attention to it.

The infernal machine directed at the life of General Otis was found at his residence a few hours after his newspaper plant had been destroyed through the efforts of the McNamara conspirators.

The latest attempt on his life was attributed by the general to agencies friendly to those whose conspiracy evoked in the destruction of his newspaper plant and the killing of twenty-one men three years ago, but the police and postal authorities believe something might be developed from the theory that the Mexican question had a part in it, pointing to an insurrection demonstration against a ranch company in which General Otis is heavily interested.

In lower California two years ago Industrial Workers of the World joined the "direct action" element of Mexicans in an effort to establish a Socialist commonwealth in a district where General Otis owns much property.

A few weeks ago there was an outbreak caused according to report by the employment of Chinese in the lower California. The young man, California, but General Otis asserted at the time that none were employed by him.

Chief E. H. Felt, a powder expert in the police department, took the machine to a sparsely inhabited section of the city, near the Los Angeles river, where he exploded the bomb, which tore a great hole in the ground. The wrappings were given over to the post office inspectors, who began an investigation.

Chief of Police Sebastian inclined to the theory that the bomb had been sent by some person violently opposed to General Otis' newspaper policy with regard to the Huerta administration in Mexico. "It is possible," he said, "that some of the disgruntled Mexicans sought to kill the newspaper man whom they believed to be supporting Huerta."

General Otis, who is a close friend of former President Porfirio Diaz of Mexico, is largely interested in the California and Mexico Ranch and Cattle company.

President Huerta Says Permit to Remain in Mexico Will Not Be Renewed.

Mexico City, Sept. 15.—In spite of the rumors which dealt impartially with attacks upon Huerta, an army uprising and the assassination of the president, Independence day came and went with nothing to mar the holiday apart.

Politically, the great event was the reopening of congress and the reading of the president's message.

In his annual message President Huerta promised to spare no efforts to bring about the unrestricted election of president and vice-president of the Mexican republic next month, declaring that it would constitute the greatest triumph of his career to turn over the office to his successor with the country at peace, as he hoped to do.

The provisional president drew a distinction between the attitude of the government of the United States and that of the people of that nation, saying "the tenaciousness of our diplomatic relations with the government of the United States is not the same, though luckily not with that people," had put Mexico into a state of apprehension.

The period of six months allowed American warships to remain in Mexican waters by special permission of congress will expire next month. In his message the president said that of such permission should not be granted.

Efficiency. The modern method of accomplishing two things at once in the performance of a man's household duties was recently illustrated by a North Cambridge young man. Japanese Courtesy. A country where courtesy is a business, and business but a gentle arousal, reflects its peculiarity in the most trifling details of conduct. Such a country is Japan and such a detail recently came into notice when a city electric bureau of Tokyo asked the patrons of its street car lines how they preferred to be addressed when it was necessary to urge them to "move up." Out of the 2,719 suggestions sent in the Independent selects and translates six, as follows: "Those not getting off, to the middle, please!" "The middle is more comfortable!" "I'm sorry, but all move on by one strap!" "There's a pretty girl about the middle of the car!" "A pickpocket has just come on board!"

The municipal authorities frowned somewhat upon the last three suggestions, but the conductors will be taught to use some of the other forms.

It is possible that the Japanese hope to enjoy an efficient traction service on such terms. Apparently they hope to, and we pass along the Japanese idea as a helpful hint to the gentlemen who jerk a gang on the rear of our own street cars.

MUCH COAL MINED IN THIS STATE

Illinois Breaks Records of Production in 1912.

59,885,226 TONS OF FUEL

Out of the One Hundred and Two Counties, Fifty-One Produce From Six Different Beds.

Springfield—According to word from Washington, D. C., Illinois coal mines broke all records of production in 1912, when 59,885,226 short tons, valued at the mines at $10,294,338, were taken out, and the 102 counties in Illinois, 51, or just half, produced coal. Coal formations have been found in practically three-fourths of the entire state, and the coal area is estimated at 35,660 square miles—a larger area than in any other state east of the Mississippi river and exceeded only by the coal fields of North Dakota and Montana in the entire country.

Coal production in Illinois is from six different beds, but the exact correlation of the beds is in doubt. What the geological survey generally designates as bed No. 7, in southeasterly Illinois, is identical with No. 6 in the southwestern part of the state. Bed No. 5 is by far the most important one in the state. It averages six feet in thickness, extends over a wide strip of territory and is mined at depths varying from fifty to 100 feet. Nearly 60 per cent. of the total output of the state is taken from this bed, and if to the coal reported as from No. 6 is added that reported from No. 7, the percentage from this bed would probably exceed 80. The mines operated on No. 6 coal, about 275 in number, average a production of over 100,000 tons each.

Bed No. 5, which is the one chiefly worked in the Danville district and in the north central and southeastern parts of the state, is second in importance and produces over 25 per cent. of the total. Bed No. 2, or the "Big Muddy," produces a little over ten per cent.

The biennial shutdown which has become a regular incident in the spring months of the even years in Illinois coal mining occurred as usual on April 1, 1912, but this year it was in marked contrast to the preceding one of 1910. Trade conditions in 1912, while not all that might be desired, were better than in 1910 or 1911, and in order to take advantage of them and to prevent the further loss of markets through the intervention of West Virginia coal the operators did not prolong the strike. The miners were given an advance of five cents a ton and work was generally resumed after an idleness of thirty to sixty days. In 1910 operations were suspended for nearly six months and some markets were lost that have not been recovered. The statistics of production in 1912 show that the relatively short time loss, as compared with 1910, was made up partly through a greater intensity of labor before and after the suspension, and partly by increased production with machines.

The production in 1912 reached the highest record ever attained, exceeding the previous maximum, 53,679,118 tons, made in 1911, by 6,206,114 tons, or 11.5 per cent. The value increased $10,774,860, or 18.1 per cent. from $59,519,478 in 1911 to $70,294,338 in 1912.

The increased labor efficiency is exhibited by an average output per man in 1912 of 1767 tons against 701 tons in 1911.

In spite of the increase of over 6,000,000 tons in 1912, Illinois fell below West Virginia in tonnage and continued third in rank among the coal producing states. With regard to the value of the output, however, Illinois beat West Virginia by more than $1,000,000. It was surpassed by that state in tonnage. West Virginia's output in 1912 exceeded that of Illinois by 6,901,461 tons, whereas in value Illinois had the advantage by $7,502,104.

The explanation lies in the fact that the operators of Illinois are favored with large consuming markets close at hand, while the producers in West Virginia must ship their output to distant points, with the disadvantage of transportation expenses. On the other hand, natural conditions in Illinois well as lower labor cost are favorable to the West Virginia producers, and a great part of the advantage gained by Illinois in one way is lost in another. The average price per ton in Illinois in 1912 was $11.7, against $11.11 in 1911. The average price for West Virginia coal in the two years respectively was 96 cents and 90 cents. In fuel value West Virginia coal will average about 20 per cent. higher than that of Illinois. The average selling value of Illinois coal is from 30 to 35 per cent. higher than that of West Virginia.

State Aid for Roads.

The board of supervisors of Clinton county decided to operate under the new Tice road law, thus insuring good roads in this county. An appropriation and tax levy for $4,000 was made, thus guaranteeing a like amount from the state. The actual work will be started next year. A county superintendent of highways will be appointed from the following certified names: J. W. Means, Charles Wilton and Ben Bond of Carlyle, H. J. Holtkamp of Aryston and W. S. Stimulation of Posey.

Many Expected at Farmers' Congress.

With the completion of preparations for the thirty-third annual session of the Farmers' National Congress which meets in Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 23-26, advance reports indicate the largest national gathering of farmers ever assembled, 1,000 delegates have been commissioned from Illinois and Governor Deneen will be present at the opening session to greet the representatives of the farmers of the nation. Ohio is sending a delegation of 800, with Governor Cox of that state at the head. Governor Clark of Iowa has issued commissions to 500 farmers from the Hawkeye state. A special train from Baltimore will bring 200 Maryland farmers under the leadership of J. H. Kimble, secretary of the congress. Six hundred have been named in Wisconsin and 400 in Minnesota, together with other large delegations from Indiana, Missouri, the trans-Missouri states and the south.

The Farmers' National Congress is the one great non-political federation of farmers' organizations. For over thirty years it has exercised a powerful influence in matters pertaining to rural improvement and has used its influence in the states and Washington for the securing of laws in the interest of agriculture. The session this year is particularly interesting on account of two important matters which have received the encouragement of the congress for several years past.

One of these is the establishment of the new bureau of markets in the department of agriculture, the other is the indicated approaching legislation with reference to a national system of rural credits, which is hoped will relieve the farmers of the United States of approximately one-half of their present interest burden now amounting to a total of approximately $500,000,000 annually. Both these subjects will be discussed by the best informed men in the country. Special attention will also be given to the subject of improvement of the rural schools.

Dr. E. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, will deliver an address on this subject, followed by a general discussion. Oliver Wilson, head of the National Grange; F. B. Mumford, head of the Missouri Experiment station; Joseph E. Wing, the famous correspondent of the Breeder's Gazette; Dr. George F. Conrad of Nebraska, chairman of the National Association of Conservation Commissioners; and F. C. Eckhardt, soil expert of the Kalamazoo, are among the prominent speakers who will address the congress.

June and July Warm Months.

June and July were marked by their unusual heat and the dry weather in some sections of the state, according to the report handed out by Section Director Clarence Root.

The mean temperature averaged four degrees above the normal. The extreme readings were the extreme north; the greatest, in a number of cases, extending five degrees, were in the central and southern counties. State records have been compared since 1876 and since that time there have been but two warmer Augusts, viz: 1881 and 1900. The mean for Illinois for the summer of 1913 (June, July and August) was 76.7 degrees. This was exceeded only in 1901 with a mean of 77.6 degrees.

The temperature was high throughout most of the month and the maximum readings at the various stations occurred on several dates. The maximum was near or above 100 degrees throughout the greater part of the month in the south, but in the north it was below 90 degrees. There were one to five degrees higher than ever before recorded in August and at five other stations the record was broken. At Springfield the record was 94 degrees. At other stations there were as many as 28 with 90 degrees or higher and 10 or 12 with 100 degrees or higher. The heat came from the south and a prostration at Springfield. As an illustration of the continuity of hot weather the following figures for stations in the various sections may be of interest.

The data are for the number of days this season to September 1, for 90 degrees or higher and 100 degrees or higher, respectively: Dakota (north), 2; Dakota (central), 2; Dakota (south), 2; Springfield (central), 55 and 5; Mount Vernon (south), 61 and 14. The previous record was 46 and 6 (in 1901). The coolest weather appeared in the early part of the third decade, but many of the stations had a minimum on the 20th and several on the 5th.

Fish Drought on Rescue Work.

The annual rescue work by Illinois fish wardens has commenced. Men equipped with seines will visit along the shore of the Illinois, Mississippi, Rock, Fox and other rivers, and remove all fish which are in danger of perishing. The long continued drought has greatly reduced the flow of water in the various rivers of the state and the spawning of the creeks have gone dry. At all places where the fish are in danger of dying on account of the low water they will be removed.

MORGAN on the ISTHMUS by E.W. PICKARD

CRUCIFIED BY THE SPANISH

Panama, P. I.—It is not given to many men to destroy a city so utterly that it is never rebuilt. That is what Capt. John Morgan, the master buccaner, did in 1871, when he led his band of cutthroats down from the hills upon Panama. After he had finished with that big, flourishing city there was so little left of it that the Spanish name for the city was changed to the coast and there built a new Panama—the Panama we know today.

The story of Morgan's justly famous exploit, often told, never grows stale. It is a wonderful story of desperate bravery, endurance, suffering and ruthless cruelty, and as John Esquemeling was the first to relate it in detail, so he has been the best. Howard Pyle has well said: "In the case of the Esquemeling history, it could be decided hands off. One touch of the modern brush would destroy the whole tone of dim colors of the past made misty by the lapse of time."

So I wish I had space to quote the entire story of Morgan and Panama as Esquemeling who was one of the band, tells it. Some of it, at least, must be given in his quaint language, beginning with the capture by a part of Morgan's fleet of Port San Lorenzo at the mouth of the Chagres river. Says Esquemeling:

"Captain Brodie being made commander, in three days after his departure from St. Catherine's arrived in sight of the said castle of Chagres, by the Spaniards called St. Lawrence. This castle is built on a hill, surrounded by strong palisades, or wooden walls, filled with earth, which secures them as well as the bay of water or by the sea. The castle is divided into two parts, between which is a ditch thirty feet deep. The castle has but one entry, and that, by a drawbridge over this ditch. The land it has four bastions, and to the sea two more. The south part is totally inaccessible, through the craggyness of the mountain. The north part is surrounded by the river, which here is very broad. At the foot of the castle, or rather mountain, is a strong fort, with eight great guns, which guard the entry of the river. Not much lower are two other batteries, each of six pieces, to defend likewise the mouth of the river."

"No sooner had the Spaniards perceived the pirates, but they fired incessantly at them with the biggest of their guns. This castle was situated in a small port about a league from the castle. Next morning, very early, they went ashore and marched on through the woods to attack the castle on that side. This castle lasted two of the clock in the afternoon, before they could reach the castle, by reason of the difficulties of the way, and its mire and ditches. The pirates, who had been sent to guard the castle, their guides served them very exactly, yet they came so high the castle at first that they lost many of their men by falling. They were in an open place, without cover."

"The pirates bravely assaulted the castle, sword in one hand and fireball in the other, but were repulsed with heavy loss. The pirates then took under cover of darkness, there happened a very remarkable accident which occasioned their victory. One of the pirates being wounded with an arrow in his back, which pierced his body through, he pulled it out boldly at the side of his breast, and winking a little cotton about it, he put it into his musket, and shot it back to the castle, but the cotton being kindled by the powder, fired two or three houses in the castle, being thatched with palm leaves, which the Spaniards perceived not so soon as was necessary; for this fire meeting with a parcel of powder, blew it up, and killed many of the Spaniards, and less consternation to the Spaniards who were not able to put a stop to it."

"Full advantage was taken of this by the buccaners, and they set fire to the palace of the governor, and the other within them, despite 'many flaming pots full of combustible matter, and odious smells, which destroyed many of the Spaniards. The governor, the English gained a breach through which they fought their way to the heart of the castle. The Spaniards who remained alive cast themselves down from the castle into the sea, choosing rather to die thus (few or none surviving the fall) than to surrender to their lives. The governor himself retreated to the corps de guard, before which were placed two pieces of cannon; here he still defended himself bravely, and was killed with a musket shot in the head."

In a few days Captain Morgan arrived at the mouth of the Chagres, and organized the expedition against Panama. He took his men by boat up the Chagres as far as Cruces, near a village called Cruces, where he landed them for the overland march. Leaving 160 men with the boats, he started through the jungle with about a thousand. For days they struggled on, suffering intensely for lack of food, for the Spaniards and Indians had destroyed the villages and crops along the way. At one point they found a number of leathern bags, and "made a huge banquet" upon them. At another a few sacks of meal, some plantains and several jars of wine were discovered in a cave. On the sixth day after leaving Cruces "ascending a high mountain, they discovered the South Sea. This happy sight, as it were the end of their labors, caused infinite joy among them." Then they came to a vale, where they found plenty of cattle, and their period of starvation came to an end with a monstrous feast. "Cutting the flesh into convenient pieces or gobbets, they threw them into the fire and half-carbonized or roasted, they devoured them, with incredible haste and appetite; such was their hunger, as they more resembled cannibals than Europeans; the blood many times running down their beards to their waists."

That evening the pirate band came in sight of Panama, and pitched their camp, which was in a narrow gorge, bordered all night by the guns of the city. Next day Captain Morgan led his thousand bold men down the hillside and confronted the forces of the governor of Panama, consisting of two squadrons of horse, four regiments of foot and a huge number of wild bulls driven by Indians. The Spaniards began the battle, but their horse were useless, owing to the softness of the ground. The foot were held in check by the fire of the pirates, so the wild bulls were driven forward but frightened by the noise of the conflict, the animals ran away. After two hours of fighting the surviving Spaniards fled within the city walls. Six hundred of their comrades lay dead upon the field. Morgan at once attacked the city, and though the defense was desperate, many of the pirates being killed, Panama fell within three hours. What Morgan did to the devoted inhabitants in the effort to find all their hidden treasure is too horrible to relate. Soon after the capture of the city, the Spaniards were ordered to be killed. Morgan, through Esquemeling says the confiscation was started by Morgan, though he laid the blame on the Spaniards. Anyways, as the houses were almost all built of cedar, the entire city was soon consumed by flames. Some three weeks later "Captain Morgan departed from Panama, or rather from the place where the city of Panama stood, of the spoils whereof he carried away him 175 beasts of carriage laden with silver, gold and other precious things, and a great number of Europeans, men, women, children and slaves."

Of old Panama nothing remains but the ruins of the cathedral, the tower of St. Stanislaus' church and the fragments of a few other stone and brick structures. For more than two centuries they have been buried in the jungle, but are now being brought to view by the efforts of the Panama government, which is having the untold treasures cleared away from the ruins.

The visitor to the Isthmus should not fail to make the trip down the Chagres river to the ruins of Panama. The scenery along the river is beautiful, and the great stretch of ocean beach—clean, hard, green and purple sand—over which the waves breakers roll—ideal for bathing.

The massive walls of Fort San Lorenzo still stand on the hill at the mouth of the Chagres, and the bones of cannon balls left by the Spaniards are yet there. In the dangerous of the castle are piles of rusted iron—furniture of the castle hoped for by the bodies and limbs of Morgan and his buccaners.

NEWS NUGGETS FROM ILLINOIS

Quincy.—Mrs. Anna E. Hopkins, eighty-six years old, died from a broken neck. Mrs. Hopkins fell down a stairway. She resided in Quincy thirty-five years.

Bloomington.—McLean county supervisors in quarterly session started the constituents by voting, 22 to 15, against taking advantage of the Tice good roads law. The action was followed by strong protest and efforts are being made to have the board reconsider its action.

Zion City.—The city council passed a "curfew" ordinance, which will go into effect September 21. After that all children under fifteen found on the street alone after 9 p. m. in summer and 8 in winter will be subjected to arrest. The penalty for violations of the ordinance is a $10 fine.

Champaign.—John Snyder was arrested charged with the murder of Harold Wilson, last June. Grand jury investigation of the murder showed that Snyder gave Charles Roughton the blow with which Roughton killed Wilson. Roughton has been under arrest since the killing.

New Lenox.—Fire which destroyed the C. B. Hillier store in New Lenox also destroyed the postoffice and its contents. The loss in stamps and mail was $10,000. Adjoining buildings were burned and the entire business section threatened. The total damage was $20,000.

Dixon.—The Lee county board of supervisors adopted resolutions commending the action of the administration in establishing convict road labor camps, and urged that the system be enlarged to include all able-bodied men in the city, county and state institutions. The board visited Camp Hope in a body.

Granite City.—Mrs. Oscar V. Punek, eighteen-year-old bride of a clergyman, was arrested on a charge of wearing men's clothing on the street. A police sergeant discovered her at a drug store soda fountain. She explained that she was frequently wear male attire for protection from affronts while accompanying her husband on pastoral visits in foreign labor settlements. Her arrest was a humorous and an interpreter in a steel plant.

Chicago.—New headquarters for the Illinois Equal Suffrage league have been leased in the Tower building, corner Madison street and Michigan avenue. The suffragists will move October 1. The new offices contain three large rooms, including a general assembly hall, a reading room and an office for the heads of the organization. The lease was signed by Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, president of the league.

Carlyle.—Jesse Burnett a young farmer living southwest of Posey, has been arrested on a charge of arson. He was charged with burning a barn which he was to wait the action of the grand jury. Bond was furnished for $2,000. The big packinghouse and the building in the Wainwright fruit farm, three miles southwest of Posey were burned, at a loss of more than $3,000. State fire marshals were called in to investigate, resulting in the arrest of Burnett.

Rochelle.—Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Sheedle, both over seventy-five, were found in their home here unconscious from asphyxiation from gas. Neighbors noticed the curtains drawn and broke into the house. A jet in the hall was found, and the open gas jet. Both died, according to physicians.

Mattoon.—U. T. S. Rice, a preacher-broker, indicted for embezzlement, was taken from his home in Mattoon where he has been under guard of deputies to the Charleston sanitarium to await trial. The move was made because of the fact that Rice was popular feeling that Rice would escape from his residence. The prisoner was driven 12 miles in an automobile ambulance and was guarded in the sanitarium by three deputies. Additional claims have developed before the grand jury. Robert Ginn, a Coles county farmer, is said to have been defrauded of $11,000, and William Fitzpatrick, a Mattoon business man, is short $4,000. These cases indicate that the loss of Rice's defalcation will amount to $100,000.

Jacksonville.—The thirty-third annual convention of the Christian church of Illinois closed after choosing Dr. Deane H. Jones for the 1914 meeting and electing the following officers: President, Stephen S. Gunn, Champaign; vice-president, J. I. Gunn, Champaign; secretary, H. M. Jenner, Long Point and Ralph Gallo, V. Clinton; board of directors, J. P. Darr, Peoria; E. M. Smith, Decatur; and H. H. Smith, Bloomington. Resolutions were adopted condemning the liquor and white slave traffic, the law against the reading of the Bible in public schools and the appointment of J. Vopelka, a brewer, as minister to the Balkan states.

Galesburg.—Guy H. Allen faces prosecution by the state for abduction and by the federal government for alleged violation of the Mann act. Allen is said to have left his wife and child in the hands of a woman named Blanche Deane, seventeen years old, to run away with him to Kansas City. Elmer E. Dubree, the girl's father, followed the fugitive and has since been arrested for abduction. The man waived extradition and was brought back to Galesburg. Federal authorities have taken Allen into custody and he is held in sufficient evidence for his prosecution under the Mann act.

Man's Thoughts VS. God's Thought

By REV. H. L. RALSTON
Secretary of Compassionate Department
Meady Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Isa. 55: "Let the unrighteous man forsake his thoughts."

This appeal seems strange, for Christianity is in station on its rationality, and rationality implies thinking. God says, "Come, let us reason together, though your sin be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow, though they be red like crimson they shall be as white as wool."

Think ye of Christ? There must be some reconciliation between this claim of reason and the text.

In the first place we must have in mind the person receiving the appeal. He is unrighteous. He may be contrasted with the wicked man referred to in the same verse, but the matter of his unrighteousness, or unregenerateness is the thing now to be held in mind. Then we must consider the sphere of thought. The man is not asked to forsake all his thinking, for in some things his thoughts are correct, indeed more correct than those of the righteous man. Those things belong to the unregenerate state and he thinks rightly on them. Ministers ought to preach to their congregations on subjects that are not spiritual, and many that are in the pews know far more about the subject than the preacher, and often smile at his ignorance. The unrighteous man thinks quite properly on finance, commerce and politics, but when it comes to spiritual things he is out of his realm. Here the person who may be of very limited intellectual attainments may be his instructor. The African or Korean may know far more of spiritual things, because born again, than the educated European. Thus we find that the appeal is to the unrighteous person, and the sphere of his thoughts is the thinking, where the unrighteous man is asked not to think. And why?

The words of the Lord, "My thoughts are not your thoughts" imply that there is some unfavorable comparison between the thoughts of the Lord and those of unregenerate man. God's thoughts are certainly always right. If this be said, it is a thinking, and certainly wrong. When man stands naked before God this fact will be demonstrated to the confusion of mankind.

We may also say the unrighteous man should forsake his thoughts because they have been shown to be usually wrong. That man has some quite correct thoughts in the spiritual sphere may be conceded, or responsibility would be lessened, but the law of his thinking is wrong. Habitually his thoughts are wrong. A comparison of man's thoughts and those of the Lord as given in the Bible clearly demonstrates this. When Jesus was brought to the Pharisees and they thought in their prayers they should be heard for their much speaking, that is, a prayer 20 minutes long, as good as an act for ten minutes long. The Bible declares that men thought God to be as one of themselves. Simon Magus thought that the gift of the holy spirit could be had for money, and the apostle pronounced a fearful curse on him. He has successors in these days. Naaman furnishes us an illustration of how men think as to the conditions of redemption. He thought that the prophet Elisha would come out and call on his God and pass his hand over the place of the leprosy—but nothing of the kind. He was simply instructed by the prophet, who did not seem overwhelmed with the great Syrian's magnificence, to dip seven times in the Jordan, and his flesh should be as that of a little child. How, squarely are man's thoughts on redemption opposed to God's simple plan of redemption by repentance and belief?

Again, as long as man is unregenerate he has a principle in him that vitiate all right thinking on spiritual subjects. He is so constituted that he will think as he thinks, and lie at the door. The stream cannot be pure if the fountain is foul. One of the tests of a man's regenerate state is his relation to the spiritual subjects. He sees things differently, a new world has been opened to him.

Another reason for forsaking his thoughts is that he is wasting time in doing that which has already been done, even conceding that he thinks rightly. One may ask in wonder, am I not at a religious service, not out for myself? No. It has already been thought out, and the record is in the Bible. Hence one may say this in relation to the spiritual subjects. He has thought all these things out. No man could have done it.

This is an age of ready-made things, and a ready-made story, not a piece of furniture, nor prepared foods. This is an age of ready-made things, and if we have the guaranty that the ready-made man can be made, God has thought all these things out. No man could have done it.

"It is the Efficiency of the Telephone that Makes it Irresistible to a Great People whose Passion is to Get Results."

So says Arnold Bennett, our distinguished English guest and commentator.

"The European telephone is a toy and a somewhat clumsy one," he continues, "compared with the inexorable seriousness of the American Telephone. The instance with which the communication is given, and the clear loudness of the telephone's voice in reply to yours, are phenomena utterly unknown in Europe."

Nothing on earth in the nature of a public service approaches in efficiency or universality the Bell System in America.

Women Covet Operations

When a woman suffering from some form of feminine disorder is told that an operation is necessary, it of course frightens her.

The very thought of the hospital operating table and the surgeon's knife strikes terror to her heart, and no wonder. It is quite true that some of these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but thousands of women have avoided the necessity of an operation by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This fact is attested by the grateful letters they write to us after their health has been restored.

These Two Women Prove Our Claim.
Cary, Maine.—"I feel it is due to me to tell you that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a weakness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost anything."

Now answer this question if you can. Why should a woman submit to a surgical operation without first giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that it has saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

For 80 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs. It has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

IN THE FATHERLAND

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS FROM THE GREAT GERMAN EMPIRE.

WHAT'S DOING IN OLD HOME

Summary of the Most Important Happenings in the Land of the Kaiser—Timely Items for the German Readers.

The German athletes had to go to America for an instructor, and they hired Dr. Alvin C. Kraenzlein, a German-American born in Milwaukee. Dr. Kraenzlein will be given complete charge and will be assisted by four directors, who in all probability will be Americans. He will make his headquarters in Berlin, while his assistants will travel throughout the empire giving pointers to athletes who are likely to make the Olympic games to be held in the recently erected stadium at Berlin. Germany has sought the services of Dr. Kraenzlein for over half a year, but the athletic director held out because he desired to take up dental work, which he had followed intermittently in the last ten years. He returned recently on a year's tour of Europe, where he had studied advanced dentistry. It is understood one offer was made to Dr. Kraenzlein early in the year and this offer was improved upon recently. It is said that Kraenzlein will receive about $50,000 for his five years' service.

Berlin appears to be an extraordinarily healthy place for the aged, who there are in the greatest numbers. A feature of the figures is the much greater number of old women in proportion to old men, and with every decade above seventy the proportion increases astonishingly. In Berlin the number of men between seventy and eighty is 12,294, while the number of women is 18,204. For Greater Berlin the figures are 20,645 and 37,520 respectively. Of persons between eighty and ninety, women are in an enormous majority. For Berlin the figures are 2,024 men and 5,371 women, and for Greater Berlin, 3,189 men and 7,810 women. Berlin has a large number of non-agearians, and of these three out of every four are women. In Greater Berlin there are 364 women who have passed their nineteenth birthday, but only 111 men.

Judging from the official returns just published, Austria-Hungary's consumption of beer seems to be steadily decreasing. The total output for 1912 was 14,744,000 barrels, which was nearly five per cent. less than the preceding year.

The Landsturm reeling district in Lower Bavaria returned the Centrum candidate to the reichstag, so that the election did not change the political complexion of that body.

Grape vine lice have been seen in large numbers in Austria, Hessen-Nassau and Rheinsau. Energetic measures have been taken to prevent the spreading of the dreaded pest.

Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador in Washington, has induced the German government to reconsider its decision not to take part in the Paris exposition in San Francisco. Nothing will be done, however, until congress has disposed of the tariff one way or the other.

Bohring for kalin in Hannover led to the discovery of a vein of petroleum at a depth of 1,600 feet. Since the beginning of this month 100 barrels of oil has been taken out every day. Spectators look no time in buying land around the place. The National-Zeitung is responsible for this information.

Brig.—Two more officers of the German army's flying corps were killed in an aeroplanes accident here. Lieutenant von Eckenbrecher and Lieutenant Prinz, both young men, were testing a new aeroplanes over the military aerodrome when the left wing collapsed. The aviators were crushed to death.

Strasbourg.—Another German military aviator, a non-commissioned officer named Kahl, died as the result of injuries received in an aeroplanes accident. He was a trial flier at the camp where his machine fell 100 feet. The fuel tank burst and he was fatally burned.

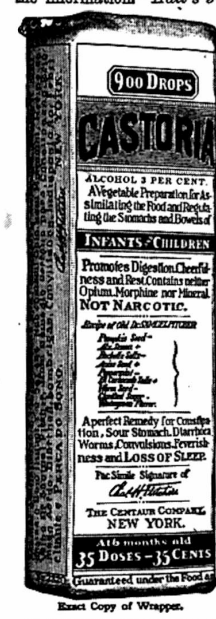

The Berlin police spent 24 hours of feverish investigations and examinations, all brought about because an American woman threw a bouquet of roses from a hotel window as Kaiser Wilhelm was passing on his way to the military maneuvers at Timpelhof. The bouquet bore a ticket inscribed "To the great German emperor."

The closing of the accounts of the city government of Berlin for the past year shows that the city has been well managed from a financial point of view, the surplus being over $1,000,000. Some of the departments managed by the city are exceedingly profitable. The city authorities are naturally jubilant over the result.

The competition for designs for a new German embassy building at Washington by the government was won by Prof. Bruno Zoller, the leading architect of Berlin.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrup, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamilton, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. E. Clauson, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

You haven't the slightest conception of the new world movement which is now taking place. You are intensely kind, and a mental slave to the opinions laid forth by your daily paper. I am a true feminist, an individual seer, bound by no ties, seeking the highest, not expression in advance art forms and acknowledging no preconceived standards. Will I marry you? Of course I will. THE BEST TREATMENT FOR ITCHING SCALPS, DANDRUFF AND FALLING HAIR

To allay itching and irritation of the scalp, prevent dry, thin and falling hair, remove crusts, scales and dandruff, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, the following special treatment is most effective, agreeable and economical. On retiring, comb the hair out straight all around, then begin at the side and make a parting, gently rubbing Cuticura Ointment into the parting with a big soft flannel hair brush over the end of the finger. Anoint additional partings about half an inch apart until the whole scalp has been treated, the purpose being to get the Cuticura Ointment on the scalp skin rather than on the hair. It is well to place a light covering over the hair to protect the pillow from possible stain. The next morning, shampoo with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Shampoos alone may be used as often as agreeable, but once or twice a month is generally sufficient for this special treatment for women's hair.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 25-p. Skin Book. Address post-free, "Cuticura," Dept. L, Boston.—Adv.

MADE RULES FOR COMPOSERS

Frederick the Great, Talented Musician Himself, Laid Down Imperative Orders.

Frederick the Great was the most distinguished musical amateur of his age, and his position gave him the power to regulate the style of composition employed by the musicians of his period. For instance, he made the following rules to be followed by operatic composers: "All the principal singers must be of the first and different in character, as an adagio, which must be very cantabile to show off to good advantage the voice and delivery of the singer; in the capriccio the singer, in the display part in embellishing variations; then there must be an allegro aria with brilliant passages, a gallant act, a duet for the first male singer and the prima donna. In these pieces the big forms of measure must be used so as to give pathos to the tragedy; the smaller forms of time, such as two-four and three-eight are for the secondary roles, and for these a tempo minuetto can be written. There must be the necessary changes of time, but minor keys must be avoided in the theater, because they are too mournful."

Another Area.
"The prima donna fell down in the opening to that aria."

"Lucky days! So did our cook."

Most men are too polite to adhere strictly to the truth.

"Forget It"
If any desire becomes insatiable—and the desire to succeed may become so—there may result the most exhausting emotions. Frequent despair and depression, irritability and unreasonable anger may be frequent with a man who is unduly anxious to attain what he calls success. He will think too much about his mistakes unless some one dares to say to him, or he can say to himself, "Forget it!"

Holiday Enjoyment.
Few things are more delightful than a holiday which has been well-earned by conscientious, earnest work, bravely done throughout the year. A complete change in surroundings, interests and occupations should be part of a beneficial holiday. Resting does not mean idleness or cessation from activities or companionship.

Putting It Clearly.
"Beatus, what's a alibi?" "Dat's proiv" dat yob was at a prayment in whar yob wasn't in order to show dat yob wasn't at de crap-game whar yob was."—Life.
