

SUCCESSFUL FARMERS' INSTITUTE ASSURED

Entire Community Aided to Co-operate in Mid-Winter Festival.
Noted Speakers to be Here.

Every indication points to success for the coming Mid-Winter Festival. At present stock and poultry show and farmers' institute will be held in Barrington on Friday and Saturday, January 20 and 21, which is being set aside for the purpose.

This is the second attempt to have the Barrington County Life Association make a social affair and the committee in charge are leaving nothing undone to make the success of the meeting. It is expected that the attendance on the first day will total at least three hundred.

On Friday night the ladies' organization will give a play, entitled, "Two Weeks' Cattle," at the theatre, where the program for the "black day" will be carried out and dinner will be served at the home of Mrs. W. E. Miller.

Very able speakers will be present both days and to the gathering the following speakers have been named: Catherine McLaughlin, country life director of District No. 6, C. W. Parry, county agent, secretary of the Milk Producers' association, a lady speaker from the Duaneville School department of the University of Illinois and others. Great care has been taken to select the speakers, who will have special topics of interest to residents of Barrington and surrounding country.

In addition to the meeting will be presented several books, including the "New Year's Book" of the county, which will be sold at a special price. The books will be sold at a special price.

Local merchants who are familiar with the situation, it is expected that the success of the meeting will be assured. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. E. Miller, 1110 North Main street, Barrington.

LITTLE THINGS

Little drops of water

Poured into the milk,

Make the milkman's daughter

Those lovely gowns of silk;

Little grains of sugar

Mingled with the sand

Make the grocer's assets

Swell to beat the band;

Little bowls of custard,

Humble though they seem,

Help enrich the fellow

Selling pure cream,

Little rocks of boulders,

Little chunks of slate,

Make the coalman's fortune

Something fierce and great,

Little ads well written

Printed nice and neat,

Give the joyful merchant

Homes on easy street.—SELECTED

ANNUAL MEET OF SRI JUMPERS

Professional and Amateur from Different Parts of the County Will Compete for Trophies.

The annual jumping contest of the Illinois State Club will take place next Saturday afternoon on the North Side of the north-west corner of Barrington street, near the corner of the street.

Last year Barrington was well represented in the contest and it is expected that a greater number will attend this year, as it will be more of a social affair than a business one.

Forty-five men, jumpers, forwarders, professional and thirty-two amateurs, representing all the states in which the horse jump is popular, will be present.

Many of the men are spending the day at the local hotel and will be in the city with the horse of competition.

Reggie Ostrander, who won the event for several years, Barry Hall, who has satisfied himself in the Barry Hall of Wisconsin are regarded as the pick of the field for championship.

Others, who will be present, are: National trophy at Mount Hope, Illinois, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Illinois, who was championed from Denver, Springs, Colorado, last this winter in jumping a St. Paul, Minnesota, club.

Many have said, a twenty year career in the horse world, but the contest will be a great one, and the prize will be a great one.

Salisbury will be the only day for the contest, but the contest will be a great one, and the prize will be a great one.

Harold Scott has been selected from Barrington to represent the county in the contest.

"Was, stranger." He shored up his pants to trade, "drawed too tight."

"But ain't you a little swifter?"

Dunne glanced back up the trail. His pursuers were entering the valley.

"I'm Dunne—Buck Dunne," he menaced. "Will you trade? Huh?"

The rancher, turned white, drew his foot from the stirrup and fell backward.

"I reckon I'll trade," he said.

Bounding up, Dunne drew spurs and galloped toward the horses in flight, plunged into a run. He was fresh, swift, half wild. Dunne
