KEEP THE DOLLARS MOVING!

Business is activity. Stagnation means decay. As there can be no life in stagnant waters, just so there can be none in stagnant business.

Get this fact well in mind: Business activity comes not from hoarding, but from spending.

What would the world do without its spend-thrifts? They may carry a virtue to an extreme, but as to the effect on business, better far than that of the hoarding of the miser.

We are urged to rally to the colors; we are urged to enter the army of the furrows; we are urged to consecrate our all upon the altar of our country, and we are urged to practice the strictest kind of economy.

The advice is conflicting. Our advisers should employ a different term from "economy." It is right that we eliminate waste—wanton waste, that brings good to no one.

But quit spending? Never! That way lies business stagnation, want and ultimate panic.

Imagine a community entirely independent of the outside world. It has a combined capital of one hundred thousand dollars, which is sufficient to carry on all of its business. But the cry of "hard times" goes out, purses are closed, and the result is inevitable.

The world is composed of communities. In and between these communities the public life blood (gold) must flow if life is to be sustained. But stop the flow of that life blood and industrial decay and death is the inevitable result.

We must earn, and keep on earning. And, equally as important, we must spend, and keep on spending. Not waste, not reckless extravagance, but systematic, intelligent spending that shall keep the golden life blood bounding through the commercial arteries of the nation, stimulating every nook and corner of the land to a well-nigh superhuman exertion.

We must keep the armies of dollars moving if we would keep the living armies progressing. The idleness of one will insure the impotence of the others.

GIVE FARMERS PRACTICAL AD

If all of the gratuitous advice tendered the farmers since the food crisis developed were compiled in one work, the Encyclopedia Britannica would not hold it. Possibly there was some sound sense in portions of it. Certainly the major portion of it has been the merest drivel.

It is not advice that the farmer needs. If there is a class of men in this nation today who are really familiar with every phase of their profession, it is the farmers. And it is often with a feeling of amused contempt that they read the senseless vapors of the wiseacres who essay to instruct them.

What the farmer is in dire need of right now is more man power—man power to put into effect the plans he is, perfectly capable of formulating and carrying out if he has agents to do his bidding. Let him be ever so intelligent—and as a rule he is a person of sound sense and reason—he simply cannot cultivate a hundred-acre farm by himself. But he can utilize a thousand acres if he has the man power with which to do it, for he already has the brains.

We should make no mistake in this matter. With practically the world to feed, if this year is won the farmers will play an important part in the winning, and all of the advice from those slackers who have nothing else to give is not going to help him one whit.

The most obvious fact to the farmer is that, in the approaching draft and mobilization, the first army to be raised should be an army of the furrows, and that army should be brought to the furrows from other fields of work—or idleness. And at no time will this need be more pressing than on the day of harvest.

The average farmer can extract all of the advice he needs just now from a long life of experience. What will be most effective now is bone and muscle, backed by a willing mind and an intelligence that even approaches his own.

Get the man power. The farmer will do the rest.

TIRED WORKINGMEN

"Don't overwork the husbands after they get home from a day of arduous toil in the factories," advises Dr. L. P. Kahle, chief surgeon of the Illinois Manufacturers' Casualty Association.

"A man who has worked steadily all day in a plant is not in condition to work three or four hours longer about the house," says the Doctor. "He needs his rest; he has to recuperate for a night. If his wife is inconsiderate enough to make him wash the dishes, clean the house or look after the children, she is impairing the efficiency of her husband and producing a state of fatigue which may result in some unfortunate accident the next day, for it is when a man is fatigued that accidents are most likely to occur."

INDIAN CORN

Only ten per cent of the Indian corn output of the United States is at present utilized for human food; yet, when corn muffins, corn pone or corn bread appears on the hotel or cafe menu, a large proportion of the patrons ask to be served with it. The chief reason why more food prepared from corn meal is not eaten is that more of it is not offered to those who would eat it.

There are at least sixty thousand unnecessary deaths annually in the United States, according to Professor Irving Fisher of Yale. A few of these occur among automobile racers—it is said. How strange.

Singers From the Famous Tuskegee
Institute to Be Here Chautauqua Week

WE are to have some of the good old fashioned plantation melodies sung at Chautauqua week by the Fisk Jubilee Singers from the famous Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, of which the late Booker T. Washington was founder.

These singers have traveled over the entire United States. They have been heard on some of the most fashionable lecture courses in the country and have appeared in many cities from coast to coast. Besides the old plantation melodies, which will be a feature of the two programs, they will present also folk songs, dialect readings and an address entitled "The Story of Tuskegee Institute."

The men are a highly trained group of singers, and the program promises to be one of rare interest. They will be here the fifth day.

The Chautauqua Opens in Barrington July 15, and Closes on the Night of July 20. Plan to attend every day if U can
