DESTROYING FREE SPEECH

Governor Lowden very wisely has called attention to the fact that alleged champions of free speech who aim to paralyze this government in its fight for the institutions under which free speech is guaranteed in reality threaten to destroy that priceless freedom. "If we lose this war," says Governor Lowden, "real free speech will be lost." The pacifist gang which seizes section and calls it free speech is doing its best to force dictation upon the allied democracies that are ranged in opposition to Germany's intolerable aggressions.

Alderman Toman expressed similar sentiments in the Chicago city council when he asserted that the demoralization of Russia was due to the vapors of the sentimental shouters for abstract rights working hand in hand with the paid agents of the German government.

The people of the United States believe in free speech. That essential right and every other right possessed by self-governing people will fall if the Kaiser wins this war. The duty of the hour is to destroy, effective prosecution of the war. The passengers on a disabled ship in a storm who should add to the disorder by interfering with the efforts of the captain to save their lives and their property would be no more foolish than these noisy and irresponsible malcontents and self-advertisers who seek to introduce confusion and disaffection into the present situation.

Free speech is one of the fruits of enlightenment and progress for which the nation is fighting. It is but one of the aspects of liberty. The lesser good cannot exist without the greater. The effort to hide opposition to the government under the cloak of a demand for free speech is a seditious quagmire in a time like the present is a mere shabby subterfuge that can deceive none but those devoid of sound judgment.

Americans cannot be fooled as were the Russians, new to the ways of liberty. The people of this nation know the difference between false cries meant to deceive and real assaults upon free institutions such as are being made by Germany's furious autocracy.

UNITED STATES LEAST IN DEBT

The national debts of the allies range from twenty-seven billions to one hundred and sixty dollars for each inhabitant, while that of the United States is only eleven dollars.

In view of the fact that a new liberty loan is among the probabilities of the near future, these figures have significance. They teach us that our Uncle Samuel is really rich a plutocrat, in fact; and not only that, but that he has no poor kin. His children, too, are prosperous and out of debt.

In fact, many of our brothers and cousins are veritable Croesuses. They have been protected and encouraged in the pleasant pursuit of the dollar until their coffers are full to overflowing. Uncle Sam has been the most indulgent guardian. He has smiled as they piled up their dollars, asking only that they contribute to his modest needs, and allowing them to keep the lion's share.

The ancient Hebrew gave the title of his increase to the God who prospered the labors of his hands and granted the increase of his herds and his flocks. And he thought himself not at all ill-used, at that.

But remember that the Hebrew gave "as the Lord had prospered him." Are Americans going to do as well?

Are the representatives of Big Business ready to give as they have been protected? Where they have amassed in millions, will they give in proportion? Special stress was laid on the effort to make the last loan a "popular" loan. Those whom the "Lord had prospered" were not importuned.

The next loan is up to the Midases, the Croesuses, the favored sons of an indulgent parent. Will they rise to the occasion and prove that their wealth is in worthy hands?

"CARRY IT HOME"

In the effort at nation-wide economy, no one move will have greater efficacy, provided it be systematically and universally practiced, than the move to eliminate the expense of special delivery of commodities that has grown to such enormous proportions in this country.

For many years now the custom has been growing with the growth of the telephone service, until in almost any part of the country if the lady of the house wants a paper of pins or the mother of the house needs a tumbler or an auto, a telephone call brings one to the door as readily and promptly as the other.

This is particularly a modern practice. Our forebears lived in a more primitive way of purchases. We, under the spur of necessity, can and should do likewise.

There are two angles to the proposed reform that should appeal to the public. First, the direct saving to the purchaser. This, in the aggregate, is bound to be enormous, as the expense of delivery throughout the country has grown to huge proportions. Second, the releasing for other more needed service the telephone capital and equipment now tied up in the special delivery of merchandise. Thousands upon thousands of horses, wagons, autos, trucks—to say nothing of men and boys—are now engaged in this work, which is to a large extent entirely superfluous. There is a vital need in other channels for all of this force, and it should be released and be made available where it is so badly needed.

Among the economic reforms none is more important. Get the "carry it home" spirit. You will profit by it, the dealer will profit by it, and the country at large will be the greatest gainer of all, as it will eliminate one of the most wasteful of all practices.
