ILLINOIS NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Blitz for 100 miles of hard road in Illinois has been started. The miles show a 2% decrease in the price of construction. A large majority of the roads in Illinois are now paved, which was set as a maximum by Governor Small. For $3.10 a mile, the state can have a paved road 22000 a mile, inclosed concrete. This will be $30,000, but there is a chance of getting it down to $25,000.

In other holes, (wher) there is good grading and heavy hauling, roads cost $27,000 a mile, inclosed concrete. The low bid for these three sections of road in Marion, Illinois, was $27,000 a mile. It averaged approximately $27,700 per mile, including 2000 feet of paving given to contractors by Governor Small to construct the roads. The roads will be the work at lower price than regular contractors.

On the county road, the only county in the state of Illinois without a railroad, will, if present plans are consummated, have a paved road in a few months. At a meeting of the Nodaway and Driftwood and Leavenworth road owners, the Nodaway and Driftwood, the city of Clinton and Atwood railroad, plans were made for collecting $200,000 to be used for the paving of the road for the building of a spur on the G. & A. From Elizabethtown, the western part of the county, the road will run through the heart of the drainage district, a distance of seven miles.

For the last two years, a truck and a touring car have been up and down the river near Oglethorpe and allied Jack Lawrence, driver of the truck, and his wife, have a sum of cash and jewelry valued at $15,000 in regular club soon.

Everybody Come

THIS is a sale of many mighty bargains. Other stores will be holding sales like this two months from now, when you no longer need summer goods. We're making our summer clearance right in the heart of summer, at a time when you can get one-hundred percent service from every article you buy. A few stores may duplicate these prices two months from now—we doubt it—but none will offer better bargains.

Sale Starts Friday, July 22 Lasts 10 Days

We are quoting some prices here just to give you an idea of the values we are giving—but we have room for only a few. This is not the largest store in Barrington, but every nook and cranny of it is crowded with seasonable merchandise, and every item is cut to the quick for the next ten days.
