Clubs and Lodges

The Barrington Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. R. D. Della yesterday afternoon. After the business session, which included reports of various committee chairmen, Miss Lucile Robertson talked of "Art in Dress."

Miss Robertson is a graduate of the Academy of Fine Arts and a student at the Art Institute.

She so interested her audience as to stimulate them to open discussion, and it is believed everyone present was greatly inspired, as well as helped in a practical way.

Mrs. Hand York sang three Christmas selections, beautiful and full of meaning, bringing again to each a little more perfectly the real meaning of Christmas. The social committee, Madeline Lane, Belle, Spot and Stiefelhoeber, served appropriate refreshment, while the members enjoyed a pleasant exchange of interests and greetings.

The Index of St. Ann's Society will give a Christmas party for all of the Middle West Sunday afternoon at the rectory. All children will be welcome.

The next meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held on Wednesday evening, Dec. 23, instead of Dec. 24, Christmas eve. The annual election of officers will take place at that meeting.

The American Legion will have a smoker and will serve doughnuts and cider at the next meeting, which will be on Monday night.

St. Ann's Society met this afternoon at St. Ann's parish house.

Mrs. Clyde Carr of Lincoln avenue will be hostess to the Card Club tomorrow afternoon.

Last Sunday evening there was no Epworth League Fellowship Hour at the M. E. church, but despite this fact the devotional meeting was quite well attended and Rev. Mr. Barthman the leader, discussed the topic in a most interesting manner.

The cabinet met at 6 o'clock to get ready for the Christmas party.

cons the plans for the Epworth League during the coming months. The dramatic department is to be a reality and plans are now in progress to commence activities along this line immediately after the first of the year.

The dramatic work is a new branch in the local League and it will prove to be of great interest to the young people. Plays that are really worth while are to be produced, the profits to be devoted to the furtherance of this work as well as other lines of activity in the League.

Next Sunday evening, immediately following the Christmas cantata, which is to be given by the Choir at 3:30, there will be a big Epworth League social time in the church parlors. Good eat-as in prospect, and, of course, the usual loads of social time. Following this there will be a big day for the Epworth League and all members and friends are most cordially invited to be present.

Beacon Lights for the Reindeer

The beautiful modern custom of the outdoor illuminated Christmas tree is rapidly gaining in favor. Throughout the country, people are decorating the trees on their lawns in this fashion for illumination during the holiday season.

Railroad Center Tells Romance of Galesburg

Galesburg brings up its far places. Does not tell the Panama Canal.

A plant in Galesburg makes 500 trains a day, and after effect hard-ware running $10,000 a year. Three or four plants, together consolidated make overall, all work, all day. Some of Galesburg's plants are old. The First Manufacturing Company, built, doing a national business, goes back to '71.

The Galesburg Reliable Cattle Company makes 100 tons of materials each year. The Villa Manufacturing Company makes all proof window frames, doors, etc., for them up to 700 tons of steel a year. The Winslow Block & Reinforcing Company, specialists in an oil burner, makes 100,000 a year. There are other plants. Galesburg has five banks and four loan associations, combined assets $20,000,000. It will shortly take a $600,000 sewer extension project. Here is the home of the Western Illinois University, the Illinois State Lumber Company. It has just completed a $1,000,000 "black line" from Rockwell where the plant down across the Mississippi is the source of power.

Unlimited in matter of electric power, cost, low Galesburg is developing into an electric city. The Burlington shops are switching over from steam, other large plants are planning too. Shortly the smaller plants are ready.

Galesburg has other distinctions—a city of 7,500 telephone lines. It is the only city without a telephone pole. Every wire is below ground. It is the only city where the telephone is not a nuisance. No other city in the world, it was told, has both a plan to go along. Engineers from distant cities study the plant.

Another distinction, in Galesburg who turn the first turn planer which walks down the road of history, side by side with the play and the respect to the power of devastating the world from fire, flood, ice, drought, and pest.

In its beginning, 1921, Galesburg was founded by a group of idealists. They came from Canada, N. Y., home of community production and social

That means out of a population of a little more than 25,000 that 6,500 are in its educational institutions, not counting the four co-operatives of music. Of course, it is admitted that the colleges get students from the outside. But it does show what Galesburg, practical business city of the west, has done in its efforts to develop to impart its thorough and ideal of human life to future Illinoisans.

And now for the thing that perhaps has given Galesburg more real pride than any other thing.

Edward Rob, the famous author and editor, once picked Galesburg as one of the four American cities nearest reaching the ideal; one of the four most desirable cities in which to live in this great nation; nearest the ideal most opportunities for real living, work, women and children.

(This is the thirty-third of a series of articles prepared by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce entitled "Dispersing Illinois." Their purpose is to locate, build and develop the state as a whole. The next will be published soon.)

From the Four Corners of the Earth

To Please Your Appetite—To Supply Your Wants—
This Is Our Aim—This Is the Service of Our Stores.
—And at the Lowest Prices

Keen intelligent foresight led the founders of this institution to the conclusion that only the best of the four corners of the earth could any organization proper and expand. From its very foundation the policy of this organization has been to create a tremendous growth in the minds of a public ever eager for quality food at the lowest cost.

The tremendous growth of this organization, which in 25 years is an unshakable institution of the great faith and implicit trust the people place in it, is the result of the best of the four corners of the earth. Twenty-five years ago The National Tea Company began its existence in one little store—where a chain of over 150 stores supply the needs of our patrons. The idea of doing away with the double profits and double-selling expenses made necessary here in the United States, and the policy of selling under uniform principles of selling methods, distribution, and the most efficient service to the public of life, has given The National Tea Company's chain of stores the ability to pass on to its customers the savings and to offer quality food products at lower prices.

The best service, the service that truly frequent our stores enthusiastically comment, and praise the splendid quality and the exceptional low price to be found. On every hand we are hearing those expressions of pleasure—and the reason is that the values are so genuine, quantities so good, prices so low, and best of all, they are EVERYDAY values on every commodity.

And There Is a Reason

For the past twenty-five years it has been our ever increasing endeavor and aim to serve the people of Chicago and the surrounding territories, to serve well, to serve efficiently, to supply delicious, clean, fresh foodstuffs to our patrons, to make every transaction a source of mutual satisfaction and profit. To do it the four corners of the globe have selected and necessities for your table, to please your appetite, to serve your wants, coffee from Brazil, tea from India and Java, coconut from the tropics, dates and fruit from Egypt and the Far East pineapple from Hawaii, sugar from Cuba, delicacies from France, condiments from Spain, salmon from the fisheries of Alaska, fruit from Japan, California, and flour from the vast granaries of this country, are brought to your table by the tremendous and expert buying power. Our efficient methods of distribution and selling afford our patrons all that is delicious and good to eat, fresh and clean, at the lowest price.

This has been our aim since 1900. The genuine economy has been the result of our many friends are now evidences of the attaining of these ends.

EDITORIAL

If a visitor came to school and a pupil deliberately walked in front of him or stepped on his toe without knowing his pardon, the visitor would, no doubt, consider the person very rude and also put the school on a low standard. Politeness is considered of all business people. If a clerk is kind to his customers, he will gradually lose all trade.
Many boys are seen walking around the school building with their hats on. This shows carelessness and in many cases, lack of training. But teachers are not always to blame. Many boys think it silly and "unfitted" to put their hat to a girl or take their hat off in a building, but as society demand is of a gentleman, it is not silly. A bit of politeness and respect is only a sign of good breeding and careful training.

FRESHMEN NEWS

News from the Freshmen seems rather scarce this week. Most of our members are present this week, with the exception of Bob or two. Last week there were so many absences we began to think that some people were suffering from the ill effects of the initiation.

We managed to struggle through the science test Monday, although we are still wondering why Mr. Lott gave us such a hard one, with so many drawings, and just before Christmas at that.

The returns from our Latin test last Friday were not so very good. Some of the grades were very low but the two bright fellows received astoundingly high grades. We wonder why?

We think the upper classes for their hearty and complimentary replies about initiation. It is our personal opinion that some of our members get such vivid heads that they had to come to school without hats.

As space is limited we shall have to "continue in our next installment."

B. H. S. NEWS

The Sophomores are evidently aspiring to poetical fancy and Milton, Shakespeare, and various other bibles of the literary world are adorned to the school with rare thesaurus.

honors. Here are two of their attempts, by Robert Harris and Robert Allen, respectively:
A PROHIBITION POEM
To the low part of the Amazon
Came a ship with sailors so
But all of them were very weak
The prospects of water were bleak.

From afar they had been cast
By many a fearful thalassid,
And the lack of water had made them decide

That was they were to commit suicide.

The sea was it was so warm
Many a fish it had befriended,
The sails of the ship were ragged
And the torn

And the pick of her teams ran down
To the shore.

"Cheer up, cheer up, my men," the captain cried,
"I think I see a boat."

In an instant the men were at his side,
And each other's shoulders they

They held up a comrade, stiff and stark,
And showed it to the approaching bark.

"Water! Water!" was their yell,
"Or the gulls shall carry our death yell."

"Don't you know where you are?" the helmsman cried,
"Why, you float on the Amazon's side."

And the water you're in is purer than any else."

The sailors looked with consternation wide;
Then with one accord they jumped

"This is better," cried old Jack Willy,
"I'm here."

Then the time I swam in the overflow of the deliquency."

They drank and drank till the river ran dry,
And the crocodiles were left in the sea.

So take it from me you die
Drink water instead of booze!

"Water! Water!" the captain cried,
"Already two of my men have died."

To drink the water from that river,
I really think we may see our liver.

The captain looked at the empty cask,
"When do we drink?" my men do ask.

"When do we get water?" asked the man of the boat.
"But don't worry," said the captain,
"While the ships float!"

My men said about the "drinking"
They said about the "drinking"

A short way off he did say,
And he said they all ran out.

To dance, and yell, and cheer, and shout,
Pretty soon, the ship came by their side.

"What's the trouble?" their captain cried,
"We have had no water for seven days."

We are nearly baked from the sun's hot rays,
Lower your bucket to the water below.

And drink and drink till you over-

The typewriting II class is engaged in an accurate contest. The object of this contest is to see which team made the fewer mistakes.

Lucille Martinez and Grace Johnson, as leaders of these two teams we felt that the contest will be very close race throughout.

Lucille's side is a few points ahead, but Grace's team is not far behind.

It is the understanding between the two teams that a treat is to be given the winning side. Hurrah! At last a way has been found to eliminate some of the best talent from the school.

Waiting for these books to arrive we are studying Emerson's life.

One day last week Mr. Smythe calmly announced to his history students that a paper would be expected from each member of the history class. A slight disturbance followed as some recalled vague memories of the hours spent on long papers in past sessions.

An explanation of said paper followed. Possibly the next few weeks will find students trooping down to the library to frantically search for material on the subjects they have chosen.

Why do so many women drive The OAKLAND SIX?

Women choose the new Oakland Six in preference to all other cars in its price class, not only because it is more beautiful and comfortable, but also because it is safer and easier to drive. Threading through traffic in this city is a joy rather than a task. Steering and gear-shifting are pleasantly free from effort. Oakland's proven Four-Wheel Brakes respond to incredibly slight pressure. Night driving is made simpler and safer by the convenient dimmer on steering wheel.

All of these features combine to make the Oakland Six the favored car among women, just as its outstanding mechanical advantages, including Air-Cleaner Oil Filter, Full Pressure Oiling and The Harmonic Balance—now, and new prices $70 to $350 lower—make it the preferred car among men.

STATE DELUGED WITH REQUESTS FOR LOW LICENSE NUMBERS

There have been deaths or removal from the state of holders of low numbers, almost invariably some friend or relative has written in requesting the assignment of the number. Usually there are scores of requests for each number made available in this way.

"It would be fine if we could accommodate all who make requests, but it just can't be done. The number
