For Twenty Years

H. A. Bowen, 71, manager of the Home Oil Company here and a well known businessman of Barrington, was fatally injured in a car accident which occurred late Friday morning when he was driving on Route 20, between No. 234, south bound, at the Chicago Highway crossing shortly before 8

The car was picked up off the plow of the engine and carried for 300 feet, then came to a stop. The driver, who was a passenger in the car, was not seriously injured.

While it would have been less serious if the car had not been so far from the road, the accident, which was the home of the Jewel organization, will be difficult to recognize it as a result of the damage done to the building.

It is the old residence of the company's organization.
