Large Audience Hears Lecture on Christian Science

Before today's lecture, the "inquiry" of "truth," the promised message. The speaker said that the "inquiry" was the first step in the "inquiry" of "truth," the promised message. The speaker said that the "inquiry" was the first step in the "inquiry" of "truth," the promised message.

Mary Baker Eddy has expressed her teaching of Christian Science in her book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." With this scientific service, the most real teaching of that book has frequently been made in both mind and body. The last chapter in this book, called the chapter on "Fruitful," presents one hundred pages of testimony from those who have been healed after reading that book. Before these testimonies were published, they were examined by a committee for verification that they were not exaggerated. They were found to be the result of the healing of the human mind, and the healing of the human body, and the healing of the human soul.

With the hundreds of Christian Scientists already in existence, some say, "Why should Mary Baker Eddy want another church?" She believed that after two thousand years of the human race, she would have been far more effective if the human race had not been the church of Christian Science. Some people have claimed that she was the first to bring the church of Christian Science to the world, and that she was the first to bring the church of Christian Science to the world.

COLD GERM IS FOUND

The long-sought germ which causes the common cold has been found at last, according to the claim of Dr. Pfeiffer of the Maryland University School of Medicine, who has been on the trail of the elusive pest for seven years.

What is still more important, if it proves true, is that he has developed a vaccine which destroys the germ and thus cures the cold in short order. Dr. Pfeiffer's method will be further tested by physicians of Johns Hopkins, and the results awaited with interest.

The importance of such a discovery cannot be understood by everyone, because few persons are exempt from the discomfort and often serious consequences which arise from merely "catching cold." It is estimated that the value of time lost from work in American industry on account of common colds is not less than two billion dollars a year.

So, if Dr. Pfeiffer has really found a scientific method of preventing this suffering and waste, he will be entitled to high rank among the benefactors of mankind.

SPEED KING'S DEATH

Admirers of dardwell speed enthusiasts will keenly regret the tragic death of Major Henry O. Segrave, who died from injuries received when he was thrown from his airplane, which crashed near Lake Lehigh, near the town of Lehigh, England, on the afternoon of the 12th, while making more than 100 miles an hour.

Major Segrave was 34 years old and his life had been filled with adventure. As an aviator during the World war he was shot down by the Germans, but survived. On March 11, 1929, he drove an automobile 281 miles an hour at Daytona Beach, setting a record that still stands, and for which he was knighted by King George.

On the day of his death he attained a speed record of 101 miles an hour, beating the former world's record of 83 miles, set by Gar Wood of Detroit. Not satisfied, he made another attempt to still greater speed, and in that effort he lost his life.

The consummate grit of Major Segrave was illustrated in his last moments. It happened when the mechanic drove to the garage and he was asked if his two mechanics were safe, then lapsed into coma and died. It happened when he was taken to the hospital and he was saved, although suffering a broken thigh and other injuries.

While we may question the soundness of a speed demon's judgment, his reckless daring can not fail to excite our admiration.

PROBES LOOK SILLY

To the casual observer it would appear that the Senate's lobby investigating committee, which shut up last week, has been long pummeled by a fractured lobby, he asked if his two mechanics were safe, then lapsed into coma and died. It happened when he was taken to the hospital and he was saved, although suffering a broken thigh and other injuries.

While we may question the soundness of a speed demon's judgment, his reckless daring can not fail to excite our admiration.
