Country Shocked by News of Death of Ex-President

20 Day Mourning Period Is Proclaimed by President Hoover

The year has entered, a 20 day period of official mourning for Calvin Coolidge, the 30th president of the United States. The president died from heart disease at his home in Northampton, Mass., on Jan. 5, 1923.

On the first day of the year, the death of the nation's former president was known to be ill. In fact, he had suffered from a long illness, which was considered serious by his physician.

At the time of his death, it was known that he had been a member of the Democratic party. People who knew him said that Calvin Coolidge had been a member of the party for nearly six years, and that he had much better condition than any other member of the Congress. Leaders of the government, and the Coolidge family, were present at his funeral.

John D. Coolidge, his son, and his wife, Mrs. Coolidge, were one of the most highly regarded presidents in the country.

Change in Officials for Law Enforcement Results
in Slot Machine Campaign

With a change in law enforcement officials, the first officer of a "cleaning up" campaign, the slot machine racket, in the state, the Cook and Lake counties where the number of machines in operation had increased rapidly until a few weeks ago.

In the county following the election, Attorney Clegg, who had been making efforts at cleanup of the slot machine business. The new attorney announced that he would make every gambling den, bar, and restaurant play place that he visited a strict law, and was to be in control of the enforcement or hide the machines.

"Hide Them" Rule

That rule was passed around to pool, restaurants, bowling alleys, and stores, etc., to hide the slot machines and allied devices, and to make them a non-issue.

Attorney Mason of Lake county, who had been in office for a short time, had no slot machine or sale of beer. He had not been by saying that he was not a regulator of public places, but would not allow slot machines to be stockpiled, what they could have in their places.

In the meantime, the sheriff's office has been taking up the matter. Last Thursday a truckload of slot machines were gathered up in the city of Antioch by Sheriff L. L. Thomas and a squad of deputies.

That rule only removed the gamblers from their home taking up the matter. Last Thursday a truckload of slot machines were gathered up in the city of Antioch by Sheriff L. L. Thomas and a squad of deputies.

The village board of Antioch ordered slot machines removed from the village three weeks ago, and the issue was completed with the town, the town board, and the town supervisor, who is 10 percent of the earnings to be donated to charity, it is reported.

The effects of cleanup work has been mainly a matter of time, as slot and bingo bars in every part of both Lake and Cook counties, restaurants, pool halls and gambling facilities are the objects of location for these man-

Number of Cases of Scarlet Fever Reduced to Eleven

A decided improvement in the scarlet fever situation in Barrington has developed during the last week with eight cases recovered and a total number of persons with the disease has been reduced from 19 to 11.

Further improvement is expected this week, unless new cases develop, as there are more families will be released.

Cupid and Justice Tie Bow 30 Seconds Before the New Year Arrives

Don Cupid is a fast worker! In a race with the little 1930 model, New Year's chores, the babe with the quiver of arrows breached the tape a winner by 30 seconds to give the old long-winded grandfather credit for another year in the life.

All this refers to a marriage that took place at the home of Justice of the Peace Harry Hammel between 11:57 and midnight on New Year's Eve. The principals were Miss Elsie Blodgett and Mr. Charles Scherf of Palatine. At some time Saturday or possibly earlier, Thorkil and Elsie decided to take the big step before another year had passed around.

A few matronized attention to the wedding, however, with the bridegroom's parents, etc., but the principals worked out all of the details, scooped their plates into one basket and arrived at Justice Hammel's home about 20 minutes before the stroke of midnight of the year.

The justice was not at his office, but he was roused out of bed. Lester Smith, the bride's brother, was there to help, and the bridegroom assumed the role of the other. The wedding started at 11:57 p.m.

At exactly 12 o'clock the important announcement had been pronounced and Mr. Hammel was type, "I now pronounce you man and wife." There was no place in which to keep the cew at first, but Mr. Hammel scooped the dirt out of the side of a steep hill near his house and improvised a spot for the cattle. A chicken coop and later a hog pen were constructed in the same hill.

Harvested Ice

DesPlaines Man Who Lost Job in 1930 Now Makes Comfortable Living From Abandoned "40" in Wisconsin

What a man can do to keep his head above water after losing his job! He acts quickly enough has been demonstrated by George Harnish, formerly of Des Plaines, as related to The Review by his friend, Wilbur Harmsen of Barrington.

Mr. Harnish lost his job late in 1930 at a time when the depression first began to hold sway. He immediately took a trip through Northern Wisconsin, located an abandoned 40-acre tract on U. S. highway 51 fifteen miles from Rhinelander and purchased it for little more than a mile.

Mr. and Mrs. Harnish, the latter at one time a Barrington girl, moved to the farm, rebuilt a shanty into a house, and started to live next to nature. Mr. Harnish's first concern was drinking water. He tapped the ground under his garage home with an ordinary pipe and strainer 20 feet below the surface.

Then he cut his kitchen so that the sink would be at the place where his pump was located.

Soon afterwards the man attended a sale and picked up a good jersey mare and a saddle horse for his wife.

There was no place in which to keep the cow at first, but Mr. Hammel scooped the dirt out of the side of a steep hill near his house and improvised a spot for the cattle. A chicken coop and later a hog pen were constructed in the same hill.

But as Mr. Harnish said, the man and woman had made a comfortable living and taken care of their health where they might have remained in Des Plaines still without a job.

Some of these baskets were donated by Barrington people, but many of them came from the rural sections over Barrington, and a total of 20 baskets was donated by the Jewel Tea Co. and Jewel employees.

Each basket donator would feel well repaid for their gifts if they were to receive many expressions of gratitude from the persons who received the baskets, M.

H. Schreiber, chairman of the relief committee said this week.

The basket will be a lot of cheer into other cheerless homes and proved themselves one of the major angles of the relief work.
