LET BUSINESS DO IT

Day by day in every walk of life more and more persons are being converted to the old principal of laissez faire. They are fairly forced to that theory by the costliness of socialism now practiced by both state and federal governments.

We are not complete laissez faire adherents ourselves, but we firmly believe that business and business only can put idle men permanently back to work. If unhampered by costly and in many cases absolutely unnecessary government regulations and if freed from the heavy tax burdens of today and the cloud of heavier burdens tomorrow, business will improve steadily and will create employment to cut down then unmber, of men now out of work. This fact was convincingly proven during the first week or two after the banks' re-opening. The president first pulled a masterly stroke by straightening out our financial disorder. He then obtained authority to cut down the federal expenditures more than half a billion dollars. Agriculture, stock markets, industry and business in general showed a marked degree of improvement. The general public even caught the idea of improved conditions through curtailment of government costs, and people began to spend money.

improvement. The general public even caught the idea of improved conditions through curtailment of government costs, and people began to spend money.

Closely on the heels of the plan for trimming expenses, the administration offered gigantic plans for creating employment, helping agriculture to improve, taking over home mortgages and farm mortgages, all at the almost inconceivable cost of seven or eight billion dollars. The stock market and grain market responded with a resounding crash, business in general is not now moving ahead.

On Saturday consumers in Illinois will start paying money in the form of a sales tax. This device is for the purpose of raising money to feed the unemployed. Business will be given another severe set-back and more people will be thrown out of employment. We invite your attention to a news item appearing on another page of The Review in which are listed 22 taxes paid in one line of retail business. Why, oh why, can they not see that the dole system will not improve conditions. Business released from its taxation bondage will put men back to work which is more satisfactory in every way than the present plan of doling out subsistance in every way than the present plan of doling out subsistance to families of men not at work.

WASTING LIFE IN THE U.S. A.

WASTING LIFE IN THE U. S. A.

Statistics just published reveal that 33,500 Americans lost their lives in motor accidents during 1931, while more than a million, or approximately one per cent of the population, sustained injuries in these accidents. This is an appalling record and the unfortunate part is that the figures for the past dicade have shown a steady increase from year to year. Americans have several rather unenviable records as compared with other nations—records of the greatest amount of crime, of the highest fire loss and of the largest accident rate of any country in the world. Devotion of citizens to the principles of law and the maintenance of order and the electing of honest, capable officials will remedy the first, while carefulness will do away largely with the second and third. Too much rush and too little thought of the consequences are characteristic weaknesses of the average American and these accident figures prove it. It is hoped that when the figures for 1933 are published, they will show a decrease and that the campaign to promote safety will continue to bear fruit more fully in the future—Record, Muskegoneffeights, Mich.
