Canned Goods and Made-Over Clothes Contest Announced

Cash and Merchandise Prizes to Winners at Annual Farmers' Institute

Home canned goods and made-over garments will be displayed as features of the domestic contests to be held in connection with the Farmers' Institute, to be held at the Zurich High school this fall. Rules governing the women's exhibits are announced this week and prospective entrants may apply.

In the judging contest, open to all women and girls, there will be three classes of original fruits, meat, vegetables, and a class of meat and vegetables, each only one jar of each kind. All jars are to be judged in accordance with the state and national canning and home canning standards.

There will be cash and valuable merchandise prizes for the winners of entries and for first exhibits.

For the contests in made-over garments, there will be one class of entries, including dresses, gowns, and coats. A few sentences describing the original article and including the cost of new materials, must be included with each made-over garment. Each exhibit may enter only one garment of each type. The prize-winning garment will compete in a state contest.

Great Lakes Naval Station Resembles a Desolated Village

Great Lakes Naval Station, the newest of the Great Lakes naval stations, on the north shore, and a scene of busting activity like a deserted village since its creation by the air but 55 men. Presently, it is now a piece of abandoned land, guarded by 40 marines with rifles as routine as watchmen.

The only remaining touch of naval life is supplied by Rear Admiral T. C. Clark, who has 11 officers who did not leave the station in an 80-day stay, making the end of naval life at the station after September 1.

Admiral Arthur Christie, his staff will have their headquarters at Chicago, the new administrative and executive center of the Ninth Naval district.

Fourteen naval men were transferred from the Great Lakes to new assignments Friday.

Sight-seers are visiting automatically the station, which is closed with its addition to the navy. Sixty of the 55 men are permitted to admit entry to persons who have business and business only at the station.

Even the expansive towers and great drill fields now mow. This is the first sign of deterioration of the once great camp that turned out thousands of men during the World War.

Opinion is divided on the fate of Great Lakes. Some think it is permanent, and as a naval training center, either alone or in conjunction with the naval air station, will be secured under Secretary of the Navy Arthur Swanson.

On the other hand, the present naval school, which is intended to prove disastrous seems intent on continuing the navy on the Atlantic and Pacific seaways. With Norfolk and Narragansett on the east and Bremerton on the west, the question is, as on the seacoast, is not east for a mid-western training station, the opinion of those who believe Great Lakes Naval Training station from now on, is dead.

Lake County Taxpayers Fail to Make Rush to Avoid First Penalties

For the first time taxpayers took advantage of the time extension to pay taxes to avoid the penalty that became effective Wednesday morning, according to reports from the county treasurer's office.

Friday was the biggest collection date, according to Jay R. Morse, with $1,400,000 in taxes paid. The amount on Saturday morning was 1,000 less, and receipts dwindled on Monday, the day before the holiday.

The next penalty will go into effect on August 1, which is the date for the second and final payment.

Chinese Civilization
The civilization of China goes much farther back than that of Japan. As a matter of fact, Chinese civilization is the oldest in the world. Japan about the first century A. D. In modern times, however, Japan has outstripped China in many respects. Japan having adopted western civilization to a much greater degree. While Japan has shown a capacity equal to that of any other known people and while its manners and customs and certain institutions were modified in accordance with the Chinese culture, it has kept much with European and American civilization.

"ABSORBING" THE TAX

Some merchants in border cities of the state are advertising that they are absorbing the sales tax. They are partially justified, in so advertising because they are desperately trying to prevent loss of business to merchants in cities across the state line through an unfair trade condition imposed by their own state government. Some merchants in cities which are not located near a state line are claiming absorption of the sales tax. These merchants are not justified in so doing.

Fundamentally it is wrong for anyone to advertise that which he does not have or can not do. No merchant is absorbing the sales tax. No merchant can absorb the sales tax and operate his business at a profit. A two per cent net profit on gross sales would be Eutopia to a retailer in almost any line. Merchants who claim to absorb the tax really do not such thing but in reality add the amount to the selling price without showing it on a sales slip or otherwise. That is not a difficult thing to do at a time when prices are changing rapidly, but it seems like a foolish thing to do.

When all is said and done the ultimate consumer and not the merchant is the man who pays the sales tax. The consumer should not be deceived by advertisements of absorption. He should be told that he pays the tax, reminded that he pays the tax and should not be permitted to forget it.

The Illinois 2 per cent retail tax is a vicious piece of legislation. It is purely and simply the means of oiling a dangerous and rapidly growing political machine. One out of five persons residing in Cook county is in Horner's political dole. The funds for the infamous political dole are now to be gouged out of the rest of the population through the sales tax. The big political machine will gain supporters, the hundreds of thousands of people on the dole. Unless the rest of the population becomes thoroughly aroused to the situation, the machine will become so powerful that it will be almost unbearable.

No one can arouse the population against the machine by advertising that he is "absorbing the tax." The one sure way to defeat the machine is to impress upon every consumer the fact that he is paying for the dole every time he buys a piece of merchandise.

YESTERDAY IS DEAD!

You young fellows just out of school. You have had a tough time the last two years. You were anxious to go to work. Nothing opened up. You felt you were butting your heads against a stone wall.

The Star passes on to you a phrase it saw the other day—to you and to the others who joined your ranks this spring. That phrase is, Yesterday is Dead!

The country has been bogged down before. It is going to pull right shortly, just as it always has pulled out. But mark this. Business is not coming back just as it was before. It never does, after going through the wringer.

A lot of the old leaders and old methods have passed out. A new bunch of aggressive and resourceful young fellows are stamping up to grasp new opportunities.

For yesterday is dead!

New opportunities, mind you. Not the opportunities of the last decade. Those are gone. If experience is a guide, recovery will not come in orderly fashion, along the old lines. Keen men will see business chances here and there even while things are at a low level. Chances that grow out of the depression with its changed demands.

Perhaps these will lie in new products of science, in inexpensive novelties, in house cooling in cheap farm lands. Men who live in the past will overlook these opportunities. They will be thinking of things as they were in 1929. So they will fail to see the new conditions and take advantage of them.

But the alert young crowd will jump at the new chances, develop them, build up with them as business builds up.

Yesterday is dead!

Have you heard of the flu-flu bird that flies backwards? It wants to see where it has been. It doesn't give a darn where it is going. Don't be a flu-flu bird.

You youngsters, seize any decent job that offers. But keep your eyes open. Be ready for new conditions, new ideas. Your humble job may have possibilities that the old order did not reveal.

Remember, Yesterday is Dead—Kansas City Star.

A jigsaw puzzle fan would have no trouble in putting a smashed milk bottle together.

Prize fighters are peaceful men. Their blows are worth money.

A person who reads much doesn't ask many fool questions.

Intelligence is very much the knack of knowing where to find out what one does not know.

OUR

WASHINGTON LETTER

By National Editorial Association
(Special to the Review)

Washington, July 5—No speech has ever haunted more folks than the spirit of change now fluttering around official Washington. There is a call for a change everywhere. Not alone in the government, but in the country, government personnel provoking unrest but the collision of new ideas but old principles is felt in every corner of the nation. Idealists, impatient of the slow march of their policies, are gaining on the stubborn others.

There is undoubtedly a class struggle raging as the relationships between employers and workers are revolutionized by law almost overnight. Affairs move with such haste that the public is not yet fully aware of what is occurring into what policies for tomorrow. Back of it all goes a fervent prayer of the people that their experiments designed to restore prosperity will not run out with a minimum of disappointment. It is typical of the American philosophy of taking a chance that "something is better than stagnation."

The new administration is making its political future on the operations of the industrial recovery act. The new administration has said that this will be re-organized in four months. To this end, Gen. Horner, the federal industrial administrator, is running his program on an independent basis.

The new organization which will derive the greatest benefit from the application of the new law are acting peevish. Union spokesmen are acting peevish. However, they largely believe that every employer back to work. Secretly they express the hope that workers will be held down. Industrial leaders, while divided into lines by the new law, are cooperating with labor unions because of the new law.

The new situation varies widely. Fields are fairly clean and advanced in growth, while all the way from just organized to the most advanced in wheat, the price of wheat is fair to good but yields will not measure up to straw indications. State winter wheat yield is about 10 bushels per acre, but the new average is 10 bushels per acre.

The corn situation varies widely.

The many windows in our church provide a surprisingly cool and breezy atmosphere. This with the good music and the hearty church message, will make possible for you a refreshing hour at 10:35 o'clock, that will last through the day and the whole week.

Mr. Donald Titterton is the soloist of the morning. The pastor's theme will be "Happiness Comes Acceptance." The organist is N. O. Pague, superintendent.

Say Human Hair Does

Not Grow After Death

It is quite generally believed that hair continues in growth after death, and many strange stories have been told along this line. This is not true, says Woman Magazine, it was believed that hair would never grow again after death, but this was not true.

The number of hairs in the corn shell this spring was 40,499,000 per head or an average of about 4 per head, or 100,000 per square centimeter.

The hair of the human body,

Mr. and Mrs. George Walgren, 216 Franklin Street, returned Sunday evening from Beloit, Wis., where they had spent the week at the fifth national convention of the Evangelical Women's Union. Mrs. Walgren was a delegate to the meeting in the church in Beloit. While away, Mr. and Mrs. Walgren visited in Ontario, Canada, and spent some time at Niagara Falls.

Mr. George Elfrink, Mrs. Harold Groberg, and Mrs. Vernon Schroeder of Barrington were judges at the annual meeting of the Evangelical Women's Union, held at the First Baptist church in Northfield Sunday evening. Rev. Theodore Sohr is pastor of this church. Mrs. Sohr and daughter Edith Louise of Barrington attended the contest.

Mrs. Edna Pihk of Beloit, Wis., attended the funeral of Mrs. C. O. Witter at Barrington Saturday.

Washing Water
Engineers of the Department of Agriculture have found that water leaking from a faucet in a stream the size of a pin wastes about 150 gallons a day.

Birds of the Bills

There are 280 references to birds in the Bible, according to a recent story in American Field. Ornithologists say that 115 are of general use in the sense that they refer to any particular species. Of the species mentioned by name the dove holds first place being mentioned 35 times. The eagle is mentioned 32 times. The swan and hawk are mentioned 12 times each. Reference is made 11 times to the owl, 10 to the pigeon, 7 to the sparrow, 6 to the stork, and 5 to the pelican. The crane, pheasant, and quail are mentioned, and all are referred to any particular species. Of the species mentioned by name the dove holds first place being mentioned 35 times.
