

For the last eight weeks citizens of this state may confidently look forward to almost complete freedom from epidemics of all kinds with the possible exception of typhoid fever and diphtheria. This is because the state has been almost entirely free from these diseases.

LAKE ZURICH REVIEW

75 Per Cent of Lake County Tax Money Received

County Treasurer Predicts Balance Due in Half in 60 Days

Lake county tax money is being received at a faster rate than in the past, according to J. R. Moore, treasurer.

Approximately 75 per cent of the 1932 assessment tax money has been collected. Mr. Moore predicted that close to 90 per cent would be collected by the end of the next 60 day period.

While figures were presented on the collections up to August 4 these do not include all of the money mailed to the treasurer and some of the big accounts that have been paid, including the tannery, Public Service company and Morris Blumberg, in payment for J. Blumberg, the Negro individual taxpayer in the county.

The money that has been cleared through the county treasurer's office amounted to $1,639,815.44 at 5 o'clock Saturday night.

That figure does not include a considerable amount of money that may reach as high as $5,000 more, the treasurer advised.

"I am working with a staff that can handle an extraordinary business which accounts for the fact that I cannot give definite figures as to date. If I placed a bet today in the office to bring the receipts up to the minute it would cost 25 per cent, and I would not take it," Mr. Moore said.

The total amount of taxes to be collected this year amounts to $3,255,306.73.

New Films on Health to Be Shown at State Fair

The first public showing of a series of motion picture films on health and hygiene produced by the state department of public health, and for Illinois will take place at the Illinois Lounsbury chapter Monday evening.

The production, pasteurization and distribution of milk, the remarkably successful fight against diphtheria, and the important series rendered to the people of the state by the diagnostic laboratories. Photographed by the assistant director of the health department, these pictures, which would ordinarily cost from $500 to $1000 each, were produced at a cost of less than $100 each. The two-reel picture on milk shows every step in the production and distribution of clean, wholesome milk, tracing the process from healthy herds on the farms, through the milk depots and pasteurizing plants to young children seated at the dining room table.

Following the picturesque and colorful Illinois scenes the picture emphasizes at each point those special sanitary measures necessary to producing and maintaining safe, clean, wholesome milk.

William Stratton Will Head G.O.P. Ticket Next Year

Lake County Man Announces Candidacy for Office of State Treasurer

William J. Stratton, formerly secretary of state, has announced that he will head the state republican ticket next year as candidate for state treasurer. Mr. Stratton was defeated for reelection to the office of secretary of state last year by a very narrow margin in the face of the democratic landslide.

In announcing his candidacy in answer to a request from the Lake county republican central committee, Mr. Stratton said in part:

"As a candidate, I pledge you and the people of Illinois that, when elected, I shall give to the administration of the office of state treasurer the same painstaking effort I gave as secretary of state. In 1928 as a candidate for secretary of state, I pledged that all public funds received by me, while under my control, would be deposited in reasonable banking institutions of the state and all interest earned on such funds would be publicly accounted for and would accrue strictly to the benefit and profit of the state treasury. This pledge was faithfully carried out.

Inasmuch as the republican nominee for the office of state treasurer has become the party standard bearer throughout the state in the general election next year, I feel that I should state my position on certain questions that are now and no doubt will be paramount issues in next year's general election campaign.

"First, as a citizen and a loyal republican, I feel that I should state my position on certain questions that are now and no doubt will be paramount issues in next year's general election campaign.

borrowing and spending will restore permanent prosperity.

"Second, as a republican, believing in the doctrines of Abraham Lincoln, who declared this should be a government of the people, by the people and for the people, I cannot approve the setting up in this country of any kind of dictatorship, whether by bureaucrats or by a so-called 'brain trust.'

"In our own state, under the false pretense of public economy, laws have been passed by the democratic legislature and approved by the democratic governor, whereby democratic politicians in high office have been granted power to impose greater tax burdens upon the public without allowing the voters and taxpayers any chance for an effective expression of their views."

600 Officers Organize in War on Kidnapping Racket

One of the outstanding events of law enforcement in the nation was recently held in the auditorium in the central building in Springfield, Ill., at the headquarters of the sheriff, state's attorney and chiefs of police for the purpose of forming an organization to blot out kidnapping in Illinois.

The meeting was attended by 600 law enforcement officers of the state, from Cook county to Cairo, and plans were formulated to stop kidnapping in Illinois. In his address to the law enforcement officers, the governor said in part:

"I propose that all the heads of law enforcing agencies in the state

THE responsibility of a general director to those who have responsibility in his line is as great as that of any other professional man to his clients. If not greater, we always accept this responsibility with a sense of solemn obligation to the best possible service and in every other way protect the interests of the family involved.

UNTIL WE LEARNED BETTER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels.

It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced.

Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, which renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars, which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies cost as much for one car as for a million. That alone explains why all-steel bodies are not used in all cars.

But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost.

For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense.

We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change. We could see only one reason for retaining a mixed wood-and-steel body—nailing the metal on, instead of welding an all-steel body into a strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper—for us.

Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not much stronger structurally than its wooden frame. In all American climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car lot gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact—dented perhaps, but not crushed.

Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933.

In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack or leak.

The all-steel body is more expensive—to us, but not to you. By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable.

Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it.

The one-piece all-steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.

UNTIL WE LEARNED BETTER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels.

It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced.

Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, which renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars, which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies cost as much for one car as for a million. That alone explains why all-steel bodies are not used in all cars.

But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost.

For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense.

We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change. We could see only one reason for retaining a mixed wood-and-steel body—nailing the metal on, instead of welding an all-steel body into a strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper—for us.

Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not much stronger structurally than its wooden frame. In all American climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car lot gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact—dented perhaps, but not crushed.

Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933.

In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack or leak.

The all-steel body is more expensive—to us, but not to you. By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable.

Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it.

The one-piece all-steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.

Our Patriotic and Economic Duty

TO PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S PLAN

As We See It

THE food and grocery distributors, because of the many conditions within the trade, one of which is the handling of large quantities of perishable farm products, were given a Code by the Administrator containing 48 hours as maximum working hours of employment.

The purpose of the National Industrial Recovery Act is to employ people at a living wage which automatically brings about greater purchasing power so that producers, mills, factories and commercial organizations will have more business as a result of this added employment and increased purchasing power.

Grocery store hours during normal times have averaged 7 1/2 hours weekly, and to reduce these hours to any great extent and bring them closer to maximum labor hours would defeat plans and aims the N.R.A. wishes to accomplish. It, therefore, becomes

IN WASHINGTON
(Weekly News Review of Important Events at the National Capital)

A price policeman to protect consumers from profiteers has been set to work by the agricultural adjustment administration. The new "watchman" is Dr. Fred C. Howe, consumers' counsel, acting under the new farm act. He will do his work by factually summarizing, easily understood by housewives, and will not use more forceful persuasive means. Will he intend to do so, he said, "I will be going to try to see that consumers are protected at a time when the administration is trying to pull the farmers and workers out of the present economic trouble. Conditions are changing so rapidly that month-old figures are of little use to consumers, so we plan to report data each week. First, we will publish retail prices on bread, milk, meat and other everyday food necessities. The field staff of the department of agriculture and labor will gather these figures from 20 cities and from over a thousand stores—department, chain, and specialty food shops."

The Home Owners' Loan corporation, the $200,000,000 corporation formed by the Federal Reserve Bank, is considering a policy of "going to home owners instead of waiting for people to come to the bank. Officers of the corporation announced that the new policy was being considered by the mortgage holders, largely in the hands of these working relief.

The federal trade commission is drawing up rules which will require groups acting on behalf of security holders to file with the commission a complete information as to their activities. In many instances, it has been charged, the commission has been misled by the activities of these groups.

MAKE IT PAINFUL
(From Murphysboro Independent)
"Painless taxes" are good for the tax spenders. They are bad for the taxpayers. When a tax is invisible it is easily forgotten. Or the blame for it is placed on the wrong blame may rest on "high taxes."

Are railroad rates high? Maybe it is because of the policy of soaking the railroads with high taxes. Are public utility rates high? Maybe they are kept there in part because the companies have to pay such stiff taxes.

You can't have your cake and eat it. Therefore the Independent congratulates the local merchants on their attitude in regard to the sales tax. The state wanted them to pay it in the "overhead." It wanted the merchants to become tax collectors and not let anybody know anything about it. The tax spenders could then go on to enjoy the benefits of spending this money without accepting the blame for collecting it.

Street Plan. They will keep their present prices unchanged and simply add the 2 percent tax to the selling price on all articles more than 25 cents.

LOOKING UP
As the always vivid Frank Kent said in the Baltimore Sun, the extraordinary thing of the moment is that recovery has come before the recovery program has gotten started. None of the three billion public works dollars have been spent. The first agreements under the Industrial Control Act have just been signed, and have not yet had time to produce results. The vast farm plan is still in the prospective stage. Yet business is looking up. The psychological effect of bills designed to aid recovery unquestionably were a factor in getting things in motion.

Domestic prices recently reached the highest level in close to two years. Current upward movement has been the best sustained in more than a decade.

We are informed that the farmers of the U. S. A. are refinancing. We are going to consult a good farmer and learn how he does it so we may go and do likewise.

Wandering
From This to That

Lost Hudson Canyon
An undersea canyon rivaling in magnitude the Grand Canyon of the Colorado; a spring sending up millions of gallons of mineral water from the floor of the sea; a pinnacle rock extending from the floor of the sea to the surface; and other natural phenomena as impressive as any found on dry land have been discovered by the coast and geologic survey during its 116 years of surveying the coastal waters of the United States. R. H. Loken, assistant chief of the division of hydrography and topography, states that the submerged canyon of the Hudson river, which lies about 50 miles off the entrance to New York harbor, is one of the most remarkable natural features revealed by the soundings of the survey. By taking a chart of this section of the coast it is possible to trace what geologists say was undoubtedly the course of the Hudson river millions of years ago, before the eastern seaboard subsided and brought the shore line to its present location at Sandy Hook and Cape Hatteras. About 3 miles from Sandy Hook soundings reveal a canyon which at one place is more than 2400 feet deep and found 3 miles wide from rim to rim. This gorge extends for about 20 miles before it spreads out fan like and merges with the bottom of the sea. When Ponce de Leon was sailing along the Florida coast in 1492, he discovered a "lost river" which may have unknowingly sailed directly by the gigantic ocean spring which has been found 3 miles off the shore and nine miles south of the city of St. Augustine.

Edm Hilch
The dead trunk of chestnut trees scattered about the shore of the northeastern part of the United States may soon be joined by additional millions of dead trunks from the Dutch elm disease, which has assumed epidemic proportions in this country. The scientists of the department of agriculture are in the thick of a campaign to stamp out the blight which is threatening to kill the chestnut trees. It is hoped, says R. Kent-Battle, of the bureau of plant industry, that it will be possible to eliminate the pest which is infected with the Dutch elm disease and thus prevent the elms from being destroyed as the chestnuts have been.

Beattie says that 141 authentic cases of the disease have been discovered since the first case was reported a few weeks ago. The infected trees have been found in an area of about 150 square miles in the States of New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania.

Leads in Autos
Nearly three-fourths of all the motor vehicles in the world are in the United States, where there is one for every five persons. The total number of automobiles in the world is about 35,000,000. The United States has about 24,000,000. The number of automobiles in the United States is about 24,000,000. The number of automobiles in the United States is about 24,000,000.

Orange Grove at Museum
A large orange grove, about 100 acres in extent, has been planted in a tropical forest has been newly installed in the United States National Museum. The grove is the property of the National Museum. The grove is the property of the National Museum.

From Out of Chicago
Attendants in the Art Institute of Chicago, which contains the official Century of Progress Exhibition of Fine Arts, find that about 90 percent of the visitors to the art galleries are of town people. Very many are from the South and West, and are attracted by their soft, pleasant language. "Come on, Ah! find Whittier's Mother," this query. Visitors come from all quarters of the globe. The museum is a place of interest to all.

Lost Power of Flight
More often than not wild swans and Canadian geese lose all power of flight for several days after they have reared their young to the flight stage and are released. At such times they become easy prey for the natives of the colder climates where breeding takes place.

REVIEWPOINTS
More Burdens on Harrington
The Harrington village board is considering borrowing between $125,000 to $400,000 from the federal government to enlarge and reconstruct the Harrington sewer system and disposal plant. This loan has to be paid back within 20 to 25 years at the interest rate of 4 1/2 percent. The cost to the property owner is estimated to be from $150 to $175 per front foot in the populated area. The village, or $75 to $87.50 per 50-foot lot, plus the interest charges.

Only about one-half of the cost of the sewer system built a few years ago at an approximate cost of $200,000 has been paid. Besides, payments are running behind on the assessments placed against the property owners a few years ago for paving the village streets. Many taxbills have already been delinquent, not only for the last year, but for several years previous. The business men of the village are burdened with many unpaid bills, because residents have no work or too little work to be able to pay them. A mass of encumbrances has developed around the village bonds issued when the street paving job was launched, with no apparent sign of a solution to the over-indebted, duplicated or forced bonds. Besides these various obligations, the property owner, the village has substantial public light bills, attorney bills, policemen, etc.

Shall the property owners in the village consent to have another financial burden, the village board is considering a loan of anywhere between $125,000 and $400,000 placed upon their shoulders. If they do, they will be forced to pay the interest on the loan in order to pay all of our sewer and paving assessments. The village board is considering a loan of anywhere between $125,000 and $400,000 placed upon their shoulders.

The many windows in our church provide a surprisingly cool and breezy worship place. This, with the good music and the heartening Gospel message, will make possible for you a refreshing hour at 10:30 o'clock, that will last through the day and the meeting of the five engineers asked, under consideration the present disposal plant sufficiently large and modern to consider it so. It seems to me that the village should take the following steps:

The Harrington village board is considering borrowing between $125,000 to $400,000 from the federal government to enlarge and reconstruct the Harrington sewer system and disposal plant. This loan has to be paid back within 20 to 25 years at the interest rate of 4 1/2 percent. The cost to the property owner is estimated to be from $150 to $175 per front foot in the populated area. The village, or $75 to $87.50 per 50-foot lot, plus the interest charges.

North Chicago
Locals' Slugging

for North Siders

Barrington to Test Mettle
Sunday on Stancak Bros.
Crack Lake County Unit
The team defeated North Chicago 11 to 1 Sunday at the local park. It was a surprise in schedule the local manager discovered at the last moment they had booked the North Chicago team when they expected they had booked the local team. The local sluggers continued their heavy hitting by pounding out 11 runs with nine of them for extra bases and three visiting pitchers. Shutt and W. Altonburg with three hits and a home run and a triple made the game miserable for the opposing pitchers. Pryke, North Chicago catcher, started for the batters with three hits.

Not Sunday the local outfit scored one of their throughest games of the season when they tangled with the powerful Stancak Brothers team of Waukegan. In three tough games that these teams have met, the local sluggers have won two and lost one. Although all of the games have been close.

Barrington Road Is Open Between Routes 22 and 5

With the Barrington road paved and open south to Highway 5 (U. S. 20), motorists are making use of that route into Chicago and as a convenient link with highway extending north to Chicago.

Barriers have been removed from the section of the road so that vehicles may go through, although the shoulders have not been added to the two mile stretch north of the Algonquin park intersection. Road signs there now indicate to use caution when traveling over that part of the road.

The Barrington road now extends from highway 22 to highway 5, a distance of about 14 miles. The distance between Hillside avenue and highway 5 is 11 miles.

Fool Water Tested

"Fool for testing" is the report from the state department of public health, department of sanitary engineering, after testing and analyzing samples of water from the North Park swimming pool recently.
