needed for police cooperation in Cook county was freely admitted.

That the suburban police do not have to secure any more authority than they already possess other than to make it possible for them to render assistance in any department where needed, was made clear by the attitude of the police chiefs present.

The expense of the plan as it has been outlined in the public press here would be practically no more than has already been entailed in the carrying on of police work in Cook county and much better results could be attained thereby, it is contended.

A Frankenstein

A Frankenstein is a person de-created by his own works. The term is often erroneously applied to a monster. In Mary W. Shelley's "Frankenstein, or the Modern Prometheus," published in 1818, Victor Frankenstein is a young Swiss student who, while attending a German university, constructs a hideous monster out of materials obtained from cemeteries and dissecting rooms, and endues it with life by means of galvanism. Many Are Killed by Tire Blowouts

The safety due to increased speed of motor cars is becoming more and more a matter of life and death. Don't be misled by cheap or even guaranteed safety against blowouts made for standard high pressure tires. Consider the facts: These very tires—supposedly safe against blowouts—actually blow out. And accidents which are caused by them are killing more people than any other cause of death. It cannot replace a life or a limb. The truth is that no tire requires standard high air pressure can be blown out. For high pressure is the only way a low pressure tire can be blown out. General Tire Company, only General Tire Company, is the only tire company that permits running on 30 to 40 per cent less than standard air pressure without sacrificing mileage. Why risk your life on limitations or substitution when it is so easy to have real blowout-proof tires, the safest, easiest riding tires about? Get complete information about them from Pure Oil Sales Station at Main and Hough streets, exclusive General Tire dealer in Barrington.

Lake Co. Gets Limited Dose of Recovery Money

Lake county has not as yet received its share of the federal $25,000,000 grant for recovery money, although there is a strong possibility that additional recovery aid will be granted.

According to an early estimate Lake county has been granted enough to cover the cost of two railroad viaducts at Roundout under the C. M. & St. P. P. & E. J. & E. three landings for highways, two subways under the railroad tracks at Lake Park and four blocks of paving in Wheeling.

The above list is Lake county's share of the $15,000,000 granted Illinois out of $1,200,000,000 to be given in the recovery act. The state is to receive $2,500,000 more to complete the grant.

The beautification work along the shore will be carried on along shore highways. There will be landscaping on the shore from Lake Bluff to the shore line (and the highway to the shore line is not designated). Cook county line to Highland Park, and Highland Park to Lake Bluff.

When Education of Deaf Started The first attempt to teach a deaf child recorded in the United States was in 1776. From 1773 to 1776 there was a deaf boy in John Harvard's school, Fredericksburg, Va.

It was not until the early Nineteenth century was concerted action taken to educate deaf children. Francis Gall of Boston, whose deaf son was sent to Edinburgh to be educated at Thomas Braidwood's institution, became much interested in the subject. With some ministers, he organized a census of Massachusetts deaf, when 72 deaf were found. They then estimated 500 deaf in the United States and urged the creation of a special school.

Old Libby Prison The old Libby prison, which was moved to Chicago in 1880, was torn down in 1890 and the Coliseum built on the site. The outer wall of the prison was used in constructing the Coliseum, which was built in 1900. The war exhibit, which was housed in the prison after it was taken to Chicago, is in the possession of the Chicago Historical society. The organization also has a pair of the wooden shutters and the main door of the prison on exhibit in its Civil war room. Most of the building material is supposed to have been disposed of by the men who wrecked the building in 1890.

This belief, Smith, an archaeologist, points out, is entirely without foundation. Many mounds were used for burial of the dead. Excavation often reveals the remains of human skeletons. In some cases, the mounds are of great interest. They throw light on the prehistoric culture of the Indians.

Dance Pupils Perform at Century of Progress and in Benefit Program

Barrington dancing pupils of Miss Olive Swanson were combined with the pupils of her dance studio in Elgin in the presentation of "The Dance of Time" at A Century of Progress on Elgin day. The children also appeared recently in a program given at the Trier home, Hanover Hills, proceeds of which went to the Camp Algonquin benefit fund.

Miss Swanson attended the Saturday afternoon of the Chicago Association of Dancing Masters, at the Congress hotel where she was privileged to see the world's most famous teachers and experts of the dance in all its forms perform. The artists also performed at the fair.

When Hair Turns Gray Many authorities believe that hair turns gray because the hair follicles where it is born no longer furnish the oxydizing agent that oxydizes the pigment. Others think that the color is still there, but is hidden by air bubbles which form to take place of the shrinking hair cells. These give the hair its gray appearance, and when enough of them have formed they make it white.

Although opinion on what turns hair gray is divided and nobody has been able to satisfactorily explain how hair can suddenly turn white overnight from terror or grief, we know that the first gray hairs to appear in a scalp are bigger and stronger than the rest. We also know that in extreme old age the hair grows thinner and finally becomes fine and short like those on the scalp of a baby.

When Balloons Carried Mail During the siege of Paris in 1870, 35 balloons carrying mail rose from the beleaguered city, and 47 of them landed safely beyond the encircling German lines. It has been estimated that 100,000 letters were sent out of the capital in this way. The first balloon was the so-called Neptune. It left Paris, September 23, 1870, and carried 250 pounds of letters. The second was the Citta di Firenze, of Italian construction, with 300 pounds of mail, and the third was nicknamed the United States, "because it was composed of three small bags, tied together." The fifth balloon, unnamed, was brought down near the German lines, and both armies fought for its cargo, consisting of postcards, stamped at 10 centimes.

Know-Nothing Party Was Result of Immigration

The Irish family unit the revolutionary movement in Europe in 1848 and 1849 were the causes of great migration to the United States. The Know-Nothing party, which arose shortly after, was in large part a reaction of protest against this increase in the foreign-born population.

It was a secret, political party or society, variously known as "The Sons of St. Patrick," "The Order of the Star-Spangled Banner," and the American party. Because of the secrecy and the numbers which members are said to have made to all inquiries concerning its activities—"I don't know," it came to be known popularly as the Know-Nothing party. It advocated a policy of "America for the Americans" and favored a 21-year residence qualification for citizenship. From 1854 to 1857, partly due to the dissolution of the Whig party, it carried elections in seven or eight states and figured in the national campaign of 1860. By 1860, however, it had entirely disappeared.

Explorer Tells of Three Hours Spent in the Active

To be lowered into the crater of Stromboli, clad in an asbestos suit and wearing a helmet strong enough to resist falling stones, with a breathing apparatus to save him from asphyxiation, was the exciting experience of an explorer.

The rope with which he was lowered into the depths of the crater had to be asbestos-covered but it should slip on like tow, and let him fall into the inferno below. Yet he remained down for nearly three hours, actually leaving his rope and making observations on the crater's floor.

On returning from his hazardous expedition, he said: "It was like being in hell to watch the fury of the volcano. The boiling lava was reminiscent of the sea in a storm. Every now and then great waves rose and, exploding, hurled over the rim of the crater masses of burning lava hundreds of big stones, and clouds of ash. On the floor were pits, ten to twenty deep, into which the lava fell, and from there it would erupt in a series of smaller eruptions. The lava was so hot that it would burn anything that came near it. The lava was so hot that it would burn anything that came near it. ## Mysteries of Human Ear

Still Awaiting Solution

The mechanism of the human ear has been known through long ages, but the manner in which it conveys definite information to the brain is another matter. The world is still far from a final pronouncement, however, learnedly one may speak of sound waves striking the eardrum of the ear and establishing a vibration which is communicated to the brain by a row of white bones attached to a series of smaller bones. These bones, which are extremely light, rest on the eardrum and the other bones of the ear. The bones are so light that they are almost invisible. ## Dog's Nervous System

The nervous system in dogs is highly developed, as most dog owners know; the brain is seldom in repose, for even when asleep twitches and suppressed sounds in form as he is dreaming.
