Nine Boys Get Awards at Scout Court of Honor

Nine Scouts Receive Awards at Court of Honor H. L. Eagle Speaks

Awards for having complied with certain qualifications were presented to the nine Barrington boy scouts at the court of honor held at the Salem Episcopal church Monday evening.

Scoutmaster Harris Clark of Trip 21 presented second class awards to Arnold Kohner, Gerard Wilkins and Chester Lane of troop 10 and Edna Fisher of troop 20.

Scoutmaster Olin Sommerfeld of troop 20 presented first class awards to Herbert Knott, Robert Koegel and Glen Hagan of troop 20 and to Malcolm McAdams of troop 21.

Scoutmaster J. H. Brown of troop 10 presented medals for merit and good carrying to Robert Olin of troop 20.

The outstanding boy scouts are those who get ahead and learn something. Mr. Bell, district superintendent of the scout, told the audience and then went on to describe various phases of scout work.

Mr. Eagle of the Methodist church, gave a closer relationship between father and son and added that scout work begins where the father leaves off.

He clinched his message with the remark that "scouting will bring you to be physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

The Barrington boy scout troop No. 10, formerly sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, is to be sponsored by the Salem Episcopal church from now on.
