A BLOW FOR HORNER

The press of Illinois does not want state political interference in its private affairs and said so with unmistakable emphasis at the Illinois Press association conference at Champaign last Saturday when H. L. Williamson, secretary of the association was re-elected by a large majority.

During the last few months a feud between Governor Horner and Mr. Williamson has been developing. Without going into the causes of this clash between the governor and the newspapermen's chosen official for handling their association affairs, the fact that there was a battle of no small proportions was brought before the majority of Illinois publishers a few weeks ago.

A few publishers of democratic newspapers trotted out a candidate for association secretary to oppose Mr. Williamson in the election last Saturday morning. The governor was in Champaign on that day, and the rumor was passed through the convention that he personally was responsible for Mr. Williamson's opposition. The publishers' answer to a politician seeking to control the Illinois Press association was a resounding "No." Many democratic editors must have voted with their republican and independent colleagues to roll up such a strong majority against the governor's candidate. This may be indicative of the governors waning popularity in Illinois. We suspect the sales tax has something to do with it.

NOT YET SUCCESSFUL

President Roosevelt early in his term of office promised that if the administration made mistakes, it would be the first to admit the mistakes and rectify them.

We are not going to call the NRA a mistake as yet, if its period of existence were at an end and the results were as they now are, no one could justly say that the NRA has been successful. We feel that the first half of the period of operation is naturally the worst half. We hope that conditions during the next two months will justify existence of the organization.

It was expected that some mistakes of administration would be committed. Most of them should be overlooked. Probably the most serious mistake has been the bullying attitude of Hugh Johnson, the administrator. Mr. Johnson had the choice at the outset of employing scientific persuasion or threats of boycott. Although he has repeatedly denied the use of boycott, he has persistently indulged in threats that of an American method of forcing an issue. Just one outstanding example of this was his statement:

"The American people will crack down on Henry Ford—etc." Fortunately the American people haven't.

WARNING TO MOTORISTS

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, recently called attention to the insidious dangers resulting from the breathing of carbon monoxide. The warning said:

"Every year there is a needless loss of life due to carbon monoxide poisoning, which is caused by inhaling the automobile exhaust gas containing this dangerous substance. The breathing of this deadly gas is, undoubtedly, responsible for some accidents on the highways."

"At this time of the year, with the approach of cool and cold weather, motorists should be warned against running motors for any length of time in small private garages unless the windows and doors are open, and not at all when the doors are closed."

"Many automobile drivers experience drowsiness and dizziness while driving their cars, due to inhaling carbon monoxide from the exhaust gas, which enters the passenger space through the openings in the floor and the dash. This is a serious situation and should be avoided by proper ventilation of the passenger spaces."

BUSINESS FOR THE ALERT

"Every evening when I drive home from Chicago I pass the same newsboy on the boulevard—and invariably he is standing on the curb reading one of his papers," a local commuter told us. "I haven't time to 'waken' him, so I drive on a few blocks and buy a night extra from a boy who is alert and looking for customers."

"I have noticed that the first boy, who does all his reading on the curb—which always looks down instead of up—never carries a stock of more than three or four papers, because he probably knows in advance that 'business is going to be rotten'; and I will lay a little bet that he drags home each evening and tells Dad and Mother that people don't buy extras—and they in turn sympathize and lay it to unemployment, etc. The other boy, I have noticed, always has a big stack of papers mighty—and, he probably goes home with a pocket full of money and in high spirits."

Just two newsboys—but in a few years they will be grown up—and one of them may be operating a successful department store downtown, while the other may be working for him—and complaining about "conditions."

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

George B. Black, governor of the Federal Reserve board, declared October 13 that he believed a stable statement of the future American monetary policy was not concerned in the matter but was basing his statement on the nature of developments. Credit was then threatened by the fact that the federal reserve banks will be maintained, according to Governor Black, the stand record money over the last two weeks as necessary to meet the emergency. The governor said the 12 federal reserve banks met the emergency by freezing closed bank deposits with the result that the question of monetary inflation was again raised. One of the methods for freezing closed bank deposits which would not only take steps to relieve him of full compliance if full compliance would be but to restrict the activities of his competitors to Washington headquarters for suitable action.

Rural mail carriers throughout the country will receive larger allowances keeping of their horses and equipment on the job. The question is whether the holiday is the question which has demanded the attention of every was increased by the American Bankers Association in October, in connection with the resolution against unchecked inflation of the dollar which meant lower purchasing power to the wage earner.
