"All you have to do is to read the paper, Sam."

"No," said Sam. "You don't need to know anything more about Sam than that in order to place him in his class. Then another child raised his hand. 'That's the city where the children died in the Black Hole, isn't it?'"

"Yes," answered the teacher. "The English were in India. Why didn't they leave them away from a country that treated them like that? They have no much trouble because the people don't want them there. Why do they stay there when they are not wanted in other people's country?"

"That from 10-year-old Richard asked the question. Give the children a chance to ask the questions. You do so by listening for awhile. Help them to find the answers in their references books."

It is not hard to ask the questions. The children will continue to be asked to answer the one question that is asked their way.

It is not possible for a child to get and work in a subject and know very little about it because his mind is never questioned the subject. And it is not possible for a child to know a subject without a subject and get something out of it only because the teacher did not happen to ask the question that would reveal the vein of knowledge he was at. If a child does the question the teacher is informed about the question and the child is better informed on his subject.

DERING THIS TO THAT...

number of motor accidents shows a steady increase, and individual care on the part of motorists is necessary to secure a greater degree of safety on the streets and highways.

Early twilight and the tendency of motorists to keep windows closed in the dark are conditions which easily can be met with individual care in driving. Allowing more time for reaching the home and the careful application of the brake and use of mechanical or hand signals when the course of the car is changed are important to safe motoring in the fall.

2,000,000 Game Fish Distributed in State

Distribution of more than 2,000,000 game fish, from three to eight inches in size, has been completed by the department of conservation. It has been announced by Director C. F. Thompson. This delivery covered 14 counties in the state. Shipments are being made from the state's hatcheries at Rockford, Geneseo, Wyand, McHenry, and Yorkville.

Patents

The terms patent pending without applied for mean that an application for patent has been made at the United States patent office but the patent has not yet been granted. When the word patent is used it means that a patent actually has been granted.

Bird Lore

An interesting paper on the birds and trees of Southern Texas was given by Mrs. Hattie Porter, at the regularly monthly meeting of the Barrington Bird club, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Tinsley, Tuesday evening. A few of the "birds" Mrs. Porter spent several minutes on Southern Texas, where she has lived and plant life. Her paper was full of information concerning many different and curious birds of the region, along with an account of the particular surroundings in which they might be found. In the afternoon, the paper was read by the president.

Two entertaining readings were given, the first, "The Unhappy Bird," by Miss Betty Schmitt, and the second, an amusing story of the big sisters, by Vernal Johnson.

Rain, Snow, Cold, Slower
Driving Speed, Adds Miles to Casings

Automobile tires applied in the fall or early winter, average approximately 50 per cent longer wear than tires initiated into use during the spring or summer, according to J. S. Glove, local Goodyear dealer.

This surprising statement is based upon information resulting from a study by Goodyear technicians, of the operation of tires on hundreds of buses in all parts of the United States.

"The reason for the increased mileage is quite obvious when some of a tire's peculiarities are known. Tires operate in a winter season. In winter time, the combination of hot weather and fast driving generate sufficient heat in a tire to greatly stimulate wear."

"In the fall and winter seasons, however, rain, snow and cold definitely add to the life of tires by keeping them cool. Thus, too, average driving speeds are lower during the winter months and this contributes further to increased life of tires."

Poison Ivy, like several other plants with similar names, is not an ivy, but is merely called by that name because of its resemblance to the real ivy. Poison ivy belongs to the same family and genus as the sumac and is a totally different plant from the English ivy.

Moan Affects Clocks
Although pendulum clocks may keep perfect time over a period of 24 hours, their mechanism is affected slightly twice each day by the gravity pull of the moon.

Referendum
Referendum has several meanings. It is a direct popular vote on a proposed measure. It is also a note from a diplomatic agent to his government, asking for instructions.

Cleveland's Affliction
About three months after his second inauguration, President Grover Cleveland noticed an ulcerated patch in his mouth. He sought medical care at once. The army surgeon immediately suspected a malignant condition. There was no delay. The President consented to an operation, but only on condition that it would be kept a secret in order that the public might not be alarmed. The operation was performed in a dramatic way and the details of it were not revealed until twenty-five years later when it was described in a magazine article—Hypothetical Magazine.
