MILLER BROS. FUN & FACTS

Barrington, Illinois, Thursday, February 22, 1934. NO. 8

Have you ever seen a tractor like this? It's the best tractor we have ever seen.

It's always gets historical when I stay out late nights. "Physical, you mean."

"No, historical. He dips up all my post."

Recently now be punctured by the U.S.

They're always together. The winner and the nail: The shell and the shell at the end. The crab brush and the nail: The apple and the wire. Go to sleep, yes, they do. And there's a sawback: You'll find a saw there, too! The dog must have a doorknob. The dog must have a wick. The self must have a bracket. The clock must have a tick. The thing has something. (If you shimmers have a foe) I'll give you my, my cookie. Forgive me, I must have you!

We feel that we must mention it every so often: Our telephone number is 220.
