

Maloney Believes Attorney General May Help Village

Kerner May Intervene in Sewer Case to Sustain Water

Attorney General Otto Kerns may intervene in the sanitary sewer case for the purpose of enjoining the state sanitary water board act, found unconstitutional by Justice Paul Farthing of the supreme court in his decision on the Harrington case.

The following information was received from the state's Attorney General: "I have advised you that since the rendering of the decision in the sewer case, this office has had the assistance of the state engineer (Harry Ferguson, chief engineer of the sanitary water board) regarding the sanitary water board act. As I advised you, I want the desire of the sanitary water board that the state of Illinois through the attorney general, intervene in this proceeding. We have been in constant touch now assured it is the intention of the attorney general to intervene in this case, for the purpose of endeavoring to sustain the sanitary board.

Money Asked for Rehearing

The village has filed application for a rehearing of its case and may take encouragement from the probable assistance to be offered by the attorney general. The Illinois Municipal league officers also are being solicited for assistance. Members of the village board have expressed the hope that the village to be such that modification of the early decree is sought. Should the village engineering plans now before the federal public works administration be approved, the village would not have local credit to obtain a loan and proceed with the plans.

That part of the Farthing decision which interests the attorney

Section three of the sanitary water act, "therefore violates the duty imposed and taking of private property for public purposes without compensation clauses of the constitution." And the legislature sections 2, 3, and 15 the legislative council may have no right to act, as but little if anything is received that is valid which has any force or effect. The act is therefore void in toto."

LAKE ZURICH REVIEW

Lake Zurich Basketball
Teams End Home Season
With Triple Victory

The Lake Zurich men's basketball team ended their home season with a pair of victories over St. Paul of Barrington Tuesday night. The heavyweights won 17 to 11 and the lightweights won by a 21 to 17 score. In a certain sense the Lake Zurich girls defeated the Crystal Lake Aces 15 to 6.

In the season just ended the heavyweights had a record of 8 wins out of 24 games while the lightweights won 7 out of 21. The girls had the best record, 15 victories and only 6 defeats.

Lake Zurich Community
Woman's Club

When the Lake Zurich Community Women's club met at the Elia Township high school Friday afternoon, the conservation committee with Mrs. Charles Wendell as chairman, had charge of the program.

Mrs. H. R. Lawrence of Elmhurst spoke on "Lilies," explaining in a most interesting fashion the manner in which the lily is grafted on California privet to insure a bloom on two years, while our rose bushes require several years of growth in order to bloom. The Hill Nursery located at Dundee sent a representative who gave an educational illustrated talk on evergreens. Seven types of evergreens, namely fir, spruce, pine, hemlock, arbutus, juniper, and yew, were described and the picture of each shown. Pictures of the right and wrong method of landscape planting were enjoyed by the club.

Miss Ethel Rudinski, secretary to the principal of Elia Township high school, left her typewriter long enough to sing for the club and their friends.

The social hour was in charge of Mrs. Harold Hans, Mrs. Charles Weaver, and Mrs. George Gross. The dining room was unique in that small pots of shamrocks were used for the center piece of the service table, and other decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's day.

The Reading Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. A. J. Crawford Friday March 23 and The Epilepsy of America. To James Truett Adams will be reviewed by Mrs. J. L. Flanagan. This is a story of the American people and the spirit which has brought them through crises in the past and which must be trusted to preserve them in the future. It is a panorama of American life from Columbus to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The tenth district federation meeting will be held at the High Land Park Woman's club April 10.

The Handcraft class, which meets every Tuesday under the supervision of Mrs. Marion Merzgold, is now devoting its time to the making of articles to be sold at the club bazaar in July.

The library is open every Tuesday afternoon from 2 until 5 p. m. The library has recently been checked, and the librarians, Mrs. Alan Hughes announced that only five books have been lost since the library was organized three years ago. This is a remarkable record and all those who have served on the library committee are to be commended for their work.

Mail man finds freedom from furnace worries!

An interview with Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Wernicke, 15741 Marshfield Avenue, Harvey, Illinois

Mr. and Mrs. Wernicke are planning a new room in the basement now that the coal bin has been eliminated and there is no soot or dirt. The picture shows them going over their plans.

LET A U.S. Postman tell you what it means to have gas heat—and be free of furnace worries! I start my route pretty early in the morning," says Mr. Wernicke, "and I have to be out a good many hours during the day. Naturally, with our old heating unit, I worried about the furnace all the time. The house was either too hot or too cold. I never knew what was going to happen next. But now that we have gas heat, I never even think about the furnace. No more coal to shovel. No more dirty ashes to haul. And it's a treat to come home to a house that's always cozy and warm."

Thousands switching to gas or rates go down
Imagine your home free from soot, dust, dirt, and furnace drudgery! Imagine getting just the temperatures you want, night and day, by adjusting a little thermostat on the wall. Why put up with furnace worries any longer, when rates for gas heat are so low? Think of it—gas heating rates are now only half of what they were during the 1930-31 heating season. And—you can try gas heat without investing one cent! We will install a burner in your present furnace or boiler at our own expense. You pay only the rental on the equipment, which amounts to $3 a month in the average home. This charge is included with the bill for the gas you use. You try it for a month, two months, a year. And if within the year you find that you are not completely satisfied with gas, we will take it out at our expense and replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. But—if you decide to keep gas heat—as we think you will—the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment.

Act now!
Don't delay! It is pure folly not to investigate this liberal offer on gas heat when it brings so many comforts and conveniences. Call your nearest Public Service office for full information.

To Review "Foot of Venus"

Mrs. R. H. Hammond will review "The Foot of Venus" by George Conyon for a study group at the home of Mrs. Robert Work at 2 p. m. Thursday. The story is a vivid picture of the turbulent twelfth century and of one Peter Vidal, troubadour, soldier, lover, worshipping at two shrines, that of Venus and of Justice. It is a story of the crusades when Richard the Lion-Hearted was changing the map of Europe, when the Pope, the Venetian Dose and the emperor of new Rome were all powerful. It is the middle ages, dramatic, romantic, and fearfully tragic, fascinatingly told and beautifully written.

through work on public projects. This employment in FERA is to be confined to the needy and it is to be under local instead of federal supervision, but essentially the idea of work in return for relief is to continue.

In Barrington the village hall and scout cabin jobs undoubtedly will be completed under FERA.

Corn Shredder Throws

T. Grounke, Local Farmer; Arm Broken, Face Cut

Tony Grounke, 35 years old, who lives on the George Elfrink farm three miles east of Barrington, broke his arm and suffered severe facial lacerations last Thursday morning when he was caught in the belt of a corn shredder that was running. He had been trying to put some dressing on the belt when the accident occurred. Mr. Grounke was thrown to the ground with such force that his arm was broken in two places, just above the wrist and near the elbow, and his face was bruised, one laceration above the right eye requiring several stitches.

Double Pneumonia Causes Death of B. Grandy, Palatine

Ben Grandy, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Grandy, died at his home in Palatine early Tuesday morning after a brief illness. He became ill at his work last Friday and pleural pneumonia developed, causing his death. He is survived by his wife, two small children, his parents, his father-in-law, three sisters, and a brother.

Mr. Grandy, a graduate of Palatine high school, was a star in school athletics, and once held the conference record for javelin throwing. He was well known in Barrington, having competed against local boys in athletic meets.

Funeral services will be held at the Palatine M.E. church Friday afternoon with burial at Hillside cemetery. Rev. Bloomquist will officiate.

PADDOCK, LYONS STATE VIEWS

Cooperating in a state wide movement to urge legislators to divert some of the indirect tax receipts, such as from sales of gasoline and tangible personal property, to the local school funds, throughout the state without increasing the rates of any of these taxes, The Review on March 8 sent telegraphic messages to this effect to three representatives and one senator from the seventh and eighth districts.

Representatives Emmett McGrath and Anna Wilmarth Ickes failed to answer the messages and state their positions on this subject.

Senator Ray Paddock answered with the following message:

"Barrington Review: Your telegram expressing your views regarding pending school legislation received. It seems to be the general feeling, as I find it with many members of the senate, to relieve the schools of their difficulties by enacting legislation that would provide funds from the liquor revenue, or the sales tax revenue, rather than to increase property tax. This is provided for in house bill No. 107, or senate bill No. 55.

"Can assure you that I cannot support any legislation that will provide for an increase in the tax rate. Yours very truly, Ray Paddock."

Representative Richard J. Lyons replied as follows:

"Editor, Barrington Review: I have your telegram of recent date and not only will consider your suggestion, but I heartily concur with your views that we cannot increase taxes and we should oppose any boost in the gas tax or the occupational sales tax. In my judgement the moneys for school purposes should be diverted from the present liquor taxes and the income from the sales tax instead of increasing the burden in any way. The sales tax money was allocated for political purposes in my judgement, in an attempt to lull property owners into the idea that they are receiving a reduction in their property tax bill. The fact is that the average small home owner and the farmer will receive a reduction in his state taxes of about $4 or $5 per year, while on the other hand, he will pay out of the other pocket, $20 to $25 per year in the form of a sales tax, the benefits of which go only to the tremendous estates and not to the small home owners or the farmers. I will vigorously oppose any additional burden at this time.

"Permit me also to congratulate you upon your brilliant editorials in regard to the tax situation and in regard to the sales tax. I read them—every one—and they are highly instructive. Thanking you for your interest which I believe every newspaper should have that is interested in the welfare of the community and with all best wishes, I am very truly yours, Richard J. Lyons."

A Broken Day

Miss Maria made out her daily plan after morning exercises arithmetic drill, special emphasis on minus seven. Written arithmetic—special emphasis on a man had and a man gave away—with special attention to Peter and Catherine. Period by period she carefully set down, as all good teachers set.

Miss Maria felt the first setback of what was to be a broken day when the principal escorted two Indiana boys full of fight to the platform. "Dear, dear, I suppose they will talk half an hour. There goes my arithmetic drill." They did talk a half hour and the children leaning far over the edge of their seats took in every word, war whoops and all.

"Well," said Miss Maria, "as the class filed into their seats with rather more noise than usual,"

"as little bit behind this morning but we will work hard to make up. Row one, stand seven take two—"

The door opened and in walked the superintendent, note book in hand, spectacles adjusted to the seeming angle. "Good morning, Miss Maria. I've just come in to see how well these children are getting along. Perhaps they would like to read for me."

Miss Maria glanced in secret. This meant getting out the readers.

Somehow they got through the morning. The afternoon session opened in comparative calm. "I may as well try to get in the drawing lesson. The supervisor will be along and those spring pictures aren't ready for my thought, Miss Maria. "Monitors, give out drawing material." The monitors did, bang, bang, bang, went the drawing material. All out on record time, lined up in the yard for inspection.

When the class trooped back the classroom was a sight. A stray breeze had wandered in and the clean white drawing sheets were littered about the floor. "Monitors, pick up the papers. Martha, lift the pans. Peter, bring a fresh package of paper. We will paint spring pictures."

"I'll tell them point as long as they like. There's no sense in trying to stick to a schedule on a day like this," said Miss Maria to her astonished and bewildered self. That afternoon as Martha put the blackboard rubbers away and Peter counted the readers, and the class sat ready for the bell, Clara looked up at her teacher and said, "Didn't we have a good time today? Just like a party." A broken day comes as a welcome break in the child's routine. It doesn't feel as bad about it as you do perhaps. Anyway it is not so much to have a routine to become so firmly set that it cannot be broken without catastrophe. When it comes make the best of it.

Ohio's Early Meat Supply

The abundance of wild turkeys in early Ohio caused them to be sold in market for only 12½ cents apiece. A good deer sold for $1 or less. Hogs became so numerous in the woods that many of them became a value and multiplied greatly until the War of 1812 gave their flesh a value as they were killed. In fact, hogs were so easily raised that thousands were never seen by their owner until they were to be killed them.

Weapons Developed Slowly

During the Eighteenth and early Nineteenth centuries firearms were not very effective. Benjamin Franklin, at the outset of the Revolution, seriously considered the possibility of arming the American troops with the longbow as a cheaper and more effective weapon than the flintlock musket.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

Government loans to industry are on their way. One plan for aiding business and trade with federal cash was already before congress in the form of a bill as the past week closed, and another plan was almost ready to go before congress. Either or both may be passed. The bill pending before congress would give the reconstruction finance corporation the right to go into the general banking business either in cooperation or competition with commercial banks. The RFC would lend at least 75 per cent of the loan would be repaid. The bill was drawn by the RFC itself after the senate banking and currency committee had asked the corporation for a measure of which the latter approved. The second plan, carefully worked out by the treasury and the federal reserve board, had the implied backing of President Roosevelt, who said he had not even seen the RFC bill before it went to congress. The treasury reserve board plan calls for a new system of intermediate credit banks for industrial loans. A bill creating them was completed and ready to go to congress by the close of the week. The banks which it would establish would be 12 in number, located in the 12 federal reserve cities. These banks would lend directly to small industries for periods ranging from three to five years or the banks would discount for other institutions similar loans which these institutions had extended to industry. The banks would be owned by the reserve banks or by the government. Small business need for working capital, which both of the plans were seeking to meet, was the reason for the bill. The RFC bill, on the other hand, had NRA code conferences when small plants and stores working under the codes declared that they need.

Slow in getting under way, the public works program is expected to reach its stride during the coming spring and summer. Favored as a means for early recovery, it proved a disappointment to its sponsors who felt that the work was not getting under way fast enough. In reply, it was explained that some of the projects, particularly local ones, could not be started overnight. Besides, effort was made to avoid graft and political complications.

Swirling around the labor section of the national recovery act is a group of controversies that threaten the country with the greatest wave of strikes in its history. At the center of the trouble, with its defenders and attackers, is the mass production industries are seeking to entrench them.

Like a time leak which may spoil disaster for a mighty ship, or dam, the $2,000,000,000 in greenbacks which the house of representatives proposes be issued to pay the artists' bonus might let in upon the country a devastating flood of printing press money. This is understood at the white house to be President Roosevelt's objection to the plan. It is the reason which he gives for threatening to veto the bill if it ever reaches his desk. If Congress is to pass the bill, it will run along year after year pending and printing until the country is buried under fiat currency, according to the president's views.

Barrington Girls End Cage Schedule by Losing to Arlington Heights

The Barrington girls' basketball team ended its season Monday night by losing to Arlington Heights in a rough game, 22 to 12. Arlington led 15 to 5 at the half and each team scored seven points in the next two quarters. This is the first year the local girls have played together and although they only won 4 out of 14 games during the season, many of the losses were by close margins and to much more experienced teams. The personnel of the team has been as follows: Etta Mae Hutchinson, Mildred Bielech, Elsie Marshall, forward; Della Klipenstein, Marian Johnson, center; Jo Parke, Gladys Kemper, Mary Edith Parke, and Eunice Rose, guards.

Seniors Capture Inter-Class Meet by 1-Point Margin

Junior Cagers Threaten in Final Minutes; Game Ends 20 to 19

The finals of the Barrington high school inter-class tournament ran down the curtains on another basketball season last Friday night as the seniors gained the championship with a spectacular 20 to 19 win over the juniors in the final game. The seniors, composed mostly of first team reserves, had to fight off a last minute rally by the junior group, which had four bronco regulars in its lineup. In order to win, the seniors had to make a long shot, a two free throws, and a sleeper by the juniors while the seniors were only making a single goal. During the third quarter within one point of a tie as the game ended. Klipenstein featured for the seniors with three timely baskets, two of them pretty, long tosses from near the middle of the floor. Capuli, senior forward led the scoring with seven points. Coopers, Gaters, and Workman stood out for the juniors. Third place in the tournament went to the sophomores who defeated the freshmen 22 to 12 in the consolation game. The freshmen tried hard to win but lack of sophomores was too hot—missing all kinds of pivot and one-handed shots for a high total of 19 points.
