BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1954

$2.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE, SINGLE COPIES, FIVE CENTS

Many Candidates, No Campaign for Village Election

Ten Men Seek Positions of Trustees; Three for Village Clerk

Village election next Tuesday will be peculiarly quiet as compared with elections of previous years due to a lack of tickets, leaflets and other forms of political cooperation, unless something unusual develops within these days.

The election this year appears to be something of an affair of individual interest. It has been free from mud-slinging. Overhead is the tax and standard of living of the election has not received much attention, but individual interest probably the election will be the largest in the history of the village.

At 8:30 a. m. in 5 p. m.

the view of the candidates alphabetically follows:

For Village Clerk

Carroll has served as a village trustee and has had an excellent record of the Barrington American Legion, a member of Burundi's Sons.

Salem Quintet Takes Third Place in Fox Valley Cage Tourney

The Salem basketball team topped off its season by taking third place in the Fox Valley church tournament held at Elgin last week. Salem swamped Hampshire 55 to 21 in the first round but lost a tough 26 to 19 to the strong Joliet quintet in the second round. Local players won third place without placing as their opponents in the consolation tilt forced them the game.

"Devil Tiger" and
"Hi, Nellie" to Be at Catlow Theatre

Scene Picture, Made in Asia Coming Here Friday and Saturday

"Devil Tiger," which plays the Civic Theatre Friday and Saturday, is an authentic animal spectacle picture which was nearly in the making in the Asian jungle. It is the first of a dramatic story with the tiger as the chief character.
The picture was filmed entirely in the jungle. The crew included five cameras and two cameramen. Marion Burns, Kane Rosenfeld and Harry Woods are the principal players. Among the hundreds of animals used are a tiger, a python, a bear, a hyena,
a stag, a monkey and a baboon.
The scenes were spent recording a stampede in northern Siberia, part of the story. A comical animal act, cartoon and news reel complete the program of wide variety.

Novels About Jews to Be Reviewed

Two novels having to do with life in Germany under the Hitler regime will be reviewed at a meeting of the book review group to be held at the home of Mrs. E. Harold Holmes Thursday.

"The Oppermans," by Lion Feuchtwanger, shows the disintegration, the corruption and the greed of a family of impious German Jews, according to Mrs. Robert Work, who will give the review. The author is a Jew, now in exile, who has written a number of successful novels.

"German Family," by L. C. N. Stone, is really a half-German novel, in which most of the German characters are Jews, their encounters with the Nazis are less tragic than in "The Oppermans." It is, on the whole, a cheerful book, even gay in the earlier part.

The facts given in both books are nearly identical, but Feuchtwanger's bitter sorrow for his race and for his country burden his story with his own pain.

WHAT CHANCE OF SURVIVAL

The Illinois Audubon society is embarking on a campaign to arouse public opinion and a humane sentiment against the heartless wholesale, commercialized slaughter of wild fowl that goes on year after year along our river, the Illinois. The name of our state is becoming a by-word with real sportsmen, nature lovers, and other right-thinking people. The Audubon society is not opposed to wholesome sport, including duck hunting, but this commercialized wild-fowl butchery now going on is so disgusting that real sportsmen turn away from it with loathing and contempt.

All those that know conditions among wild fowl admit that something must be done and that in a hurry. "American Game" quotes approvingly a statement by W. C. Henderson, acting chief of the U. S. biological survey, saying:

Our sportsmen must cooperate in greatly reducing the annual kill of ducks if they expect to continue the sport of wildfowling. The same authority states that 8,000,000 ducks are annually wasted by being crippled and not retrieved. Other sport journals and all meetings of sportsmen's and out-door organizations concur in this. Even the most rabid opponents of restrictions, hitherto, as e. g. ex-senator H. B. Hawes, now admit that conditions are perilous. Just think 8,000,000 ducks just wasted. How long do you think our wildfowl can stand this sort of treatment, when there are 7,000,000 hunting license owners? Do you think it is a safe and decent policy to allow any Tom, Dick, and Harry to get a hunting license, minors and non-citizens? Do you think it increases respect for a state and its laws and authorities if such a privilege can be bought in department and sporting goods stores? Do you not think that it is time for clear-thinking and patriotic citizens of Illinois do something about this disreputable state of affairs? In one of our states the hunting license, bought for a measly $1.00, entitles the holder to kill the following: 450 ducks, 120 geese, 200 coot, 240 snipe, 300 doves, 22 woodcocks, 300 rails, 120 bobwhite, 120 squirrels, and unlimited rabbits. It is similar in Illinois. Is it not time to seriously curtail the killing mania, inherited by the present generation from pioneer times?

ABUSES OF THE LAW

At a recent annual meeting of the American Bar Association it was openly admitted by prominent members that public confidence in the courts and their administration of the law is being steadily weakened.

As a matter of fact, lawyers in convention very frequently criticise the prevailing method of procedure, but so far they have done very little to correct it.

Legislators are also to blame for the present state of affairs, but as most legislators are lawyers the responsibility still rests almost wholly upon the legal profession.

By the passage of innumerable laws regulating everything under the sun, and imposing upon peace officers the task of enforcing trivial and often foolish statutes, the perpetrators of major crimes such as murder and robbery have all the better chance to escape punishment. If more attention were given to the prevention and punishment of these serious offenses, it might be possible to reduce their number. —Leader, Wellington, Texas.

Review Lessons

Every so often it is necessary for a pupil to go over the points he has learned. He repeats his rules, brushes up his tables, solves the problems once more. This is an essential step in his learning. It makes, for thoroughness, for one thing. Our minds often trick us. We think we know a fact very well. It has a pleasant familiar feeling as we remember it in passing. "Oh, I know that," says the child. The teacher says, "The teacher doesn't stop with that. She says, 'Good. Tell me all about it.'" Often than not the pupil is dismayed to find that this thing he knew so well slips from his grasp when he tries to lay hold of it. He hesitates, stammers, and fidgets and, finally says, "I knew that, but I don't know it now."

He didn't know it as well as he knew his own name. His own name has been used so often that it has become a part of himself. The fact that slipped into the haze when he tried to hold it had not been used often enough, had not been knitted into the fabric of his fact.

BARRINGTON REVIEW, BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1934

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

The change from CWA to EWA on April 1 is found by officials, after a week of experience with the new program, to have been the right idea. It has been recommended to the committee next Tuesday to give the basis for his charges.

Congress plodded ahead with its legislative program, but completed on only one piece of major legislation—the Johnson bill barring sales or transactions in future amounts in default of their debts to the United States. This measure was sponsored by Senator Johnson, of California, but endorsed by the administration, was passed by the house on Wednesday in the exact form in which it received the senate's approval and awaits only the president's signature for it to become law.

Both the country's stock exchanges and those businesses interested in floating new stocks and bonds are trying to throw off plans for actual or proposed federal control of a rigid type. Eight successive weeks of negotiations and two letters from President Roosevelt had failed by the end of March to bring the administration to a conclusion. The administration is in the senate banking and currency committee or in the house interstate commerce committee on a bill to regulate the practices of stock exchanges. The first important action of the senate banking and currency committee was an amendment to the stock market control bill to permit the federal trade commission to exclude small exchanges from regulation. This amendment was adopted unanimously April 6.

Long years of congressional debating were consumed before an amendment was submitted to the states for abolition of the "lame duck" sessions of congress, by which members often served some months after the election had been held for reelection. Just as many years have passed since antitamper was raised to change the method of electing presidents indirectly through an electoral college. As usual, the present session of congress has before it a plan to let the states vote on a change in the constitution so that the candidate's electoral votes will be given to the person who won in each state. Giving it imperial status after the election was the approval of President Roosevelt as revealed March 27 to the house rules committee.

Subject: "Doctrine of Atonement."
Golden Text: Romans 5:11. We also joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have thought. To make an idea part of one's thinking one must work it, knead it into his mind by repetition and use.

Repetition alone will not help a child to know where to go, nor enough to repeat words, accurate though they may be. That is only one form of an idea, its thinnest, most elusive and deceptive form. To grasp its values and make them useful to our thinking we have to know the idea in many forms—in action, in association with other things.

A child learns that a river is a stream of water that flows toward the sea. Suppose he never saw the boats carrying their loads up and down its course, never saw the farms turn green and bear their harvests because of its beneficial watering, never noted the difference its drainage meant to the nearby uplands—how much would he know about a river? We begin with the word but the word must be clothed and made manifest before a child knows much about it.

When you are trying to help a child review a subject, instead of hammering on the set word, try to get a new view of it by helping the child to find new associations for it.

The review ought to be the old idea with some additional sidelights. If the pupil is not interested in the idea the review will not help him at all and the way to interest him is to call up other ideas in support of the original idea.

Shetland Sheepdog Comes From the Collie Family

For a breed that was not shown at Crafts in England before 1910, nor in America before 1924, the Shetland sheepdog has made amazing strides toward the charmed circle of what are known as popular dogs, and as a breed in the Philipines.

These dogs are also known as miniature collies, and as a breed they team with traits and characteristics that are at once appealing and lovable.

With a history that is unique, this breed, of its own momentum, has crept into a very distinct place in the spotlight in dogdom, although one of the latest of the recognized breeds.

Ostensibly coming, as the name implies, from that group of nearly 100 little islands lying to the north of Scotland, one still has to account for the presence or appearance of these dogs in America where there is little doubt that they are indigenous. The term "Shetland" seems to be almost synonymous with smallness in the whole realm of live stock.

Originally the Shetland sheepdogs were little more than a monotonous series of small breeds. The working collie, introduced into the islands by shepherds from the mainland, marked the starting point of the Shetland's independent existence. These working collies were only about half the size of the show collie of today, and it is from them that they could have been made the basis of a reduced collie replica by admixture with diminutive dogs.

Many Barringtonians will be glad to hear that the Fray Payne's are back in Barrington after several years absence. They have moved to their house on Sutton road and from all reports it is very attractive. They expect to be out every weekend until Little Billy and Priscilla are out of school and then stay at the summer.
