Chicago Architect
to Address Owners of Homes Friday

Housing Committee
Sponsor Public
Program Friday

The well-known Chicago architect will address proprietors of homes in Barrington at a public program in the school auditorium Friday evening.

The program is being sponsored by the "Better Housing" Committee, a public service committee organized to improve the housing conditions of the city.

The architect will discuss the latest trends in home building, including the use of modern materials and the importance of proper ventilation and lighting.

The program is free and open to all interested parties.

Mrs. J. Montgomery and Miss Louise Jones Take
2895-Mile Motor Trip

Driving 2895 miles in two weeks, camping out of doors and enjoying all modern conveniences, Mrs. J. E. Montgomery and Miss Louise Jones have returned, enthusiastic over the beauties to be found in southern states.

They remained out of doors during the entire trip and slept in a tent. Among the highlights of their sightseeing were visits to the ancient buried city of Winkfield, Ky., the Pink Palace and Overton Park at Memphis, Tenn., and to several pre-dread war homes at Vicksburg, Miss.

At one of these, "Windy Hill Manor," Mrs. Montgomery had the pleasure of playing the oldest piano in Mississippi while Miss Stanton, one of three maiden sisters of pre-war aristocracy, sang songs of the old south. The youngest of the Stanton sisters is 50 years old.

While visiting Mississippi, the Barrington people stopped to see the new state capitol at Baton Rouge, reported to be America's finest, and later saw the old French quarters at New Orleans which was about to leave the harbor. They visited Galveston and Houston, Texas, Hot Springs, Ark., and the Ozark mountains where they found the beauty of October at its best and the weather delightful. They returned by way of St. Louis and did their last sightseeing at Springfield.

Reporter Blames
Barrington for Loss of Election

Herald Assumes Arlington
Voters Can't Think for Themselves

Several local citizens were furnished with some amusing reading matter by the Arlington Heights Herald of last Friday which grieved over loss of a proposed swimming pool project and blamed the decision of the Heights electorate on the Barrington Park district.

The article was printed under the heading "Barrington Caste Deciding Vote Against Arlington Heights Project." The first paragraph of the story reported loss of the swimming pool proposal at special election by 215 to 203 votes.

Then under the sub-heading "Barrington Gets Jealous," the article stated that an "over-zealous" park board secretary of this village sent a lot of letters to Arlington Heights as "exhibit A" why Arlington Heights should not build a swimming pool. The article in the Herald concluded:

"When other Barrington officials became aware that a letter from their park board, carrying figures being used as political propaganda in Arlington Heights, the secretary was instructed to send a second letter with the true facts and figures. Whether or not the said secretary was given to it prior to the final day for voting on the project.

"Thus Arlington Heights people will remain patrons of the Barrington pool."

Attend Convention
Oliver Hollister and Donald Schroeder of the Barrington fire department served as delegates to a firemen's convention at East St. Louis from Tuesday until Friday.

Delinquent Water
Users Are Warned
Service Will Stop

Meters to Be Shut Off Tuesday if Bills Are Unpaid
Monday Night

All delinquent water users must pay their bills on or before Monday, Oct. 22, or their service will be discontinued on Tuesday, Oct. 23. A notice to this effect has been sent to all delinquent water users by order of the village board.

The board meeting last Monday night instructed the Jefferson Electric Co. to pay a disputed bill of $504.03. The company had protested that its meter was faulty and the bill unreasonably high. The meter was tested by the department of weights and measures and reported to be accurate.

The Jefferson bill was not considered as delinquent but rather as one set aside for adjustment if an adjustment were found to be warranted. The bill covered service for the three months of July, August and September, 1933. It was for an amount higher than any quarterly bill charged to the company before or after that time.

Home Management Classes to Exhibit Modern and Old-Time Baby Dresses

Home management classes at Barrington high school are now working on a unit of child care study, clothing for the baby and child. As a class problem the girls have put up an exhibit of old-fashioned and modern clothing for children in the home economics room. Large dolls are dressed in the long, cumbersome clothes of 50 years ago; others are garbed more comfortably in the fashion of today. The home economics room will be open to visitors from 3:15 to 4:30 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 17, Thursday, Oct. 18, and Friday, Oct. 19. A part of this exhibit will be displayed in a window of the Lipofsky store Saturday.

'Leisure Time' to Be Discussed at
P.T.A. Meet Oct. 25

Mrs. Comer Rice of Park Ridge will give readers and character sketches in connection with a "Leisure Time" program for the P.T.A. meeting to be held at the school auditorium at 8 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 25.

Short talks of three minutes each will be given by four people representing the home, school, church and town. Mrs. Hermann Koenig will discuss leisure time in the home. E. S. Smith will explain how school trains children for a wise use of leisure time. Mrs. L. Eagle will tell how the church provides leisure time activities for its young people, and Hugh Calkins will represent the town's contribution to constructive entertainment.

Mrs. Rice is leisure time chairman of the P.T.A. suburban council to which Barrington belongs and is a graduate of the Chicago school of expression and dramatic art.

Mrs. Rice is a member of the P.T.A. and will be celebrated November 14 with a program entirely arranged by fathers of school children. Tom Robinson of Northwestern university is to be the speaker and there will be a contest in the final hour.

A Christmas program will be held the afternoon of December 2, and January 17. Preston Bradley will address members and guests of the P.T.A.

73 Members Now

The membership drive of the P.T.A. has been highly successful, according to Mrs. K. L. Lillen, chairman, who reported that 73 persons had paid membership fees during the past few weeks. Several workers had not handed in their dues to the final hour.

Newly registered members will receive their membership cards when they hand in receipts from committee workers at the club meeting Thursday night.

Dr. Fanning Takes Solo Flight After
8 1/2 Hours as Pilot

Dr. W. A. Fanning, 112 W. Main street, made his first solo flight at Trout Park, Elgin, Saturday morning after having completed eight and one-half hours of student flying under the direction of Orville Schroeder, instructor in aviation.

"I'm not changing my profession," said Dr. Fanning. "Flying will be my means of recreation, not a vocation."

However, he plans to take the examination for a transport pilot's license as soon as he has completed ten hours of solo flying. A student flyer must pass a rigid physical examination before he is permitted to fly. Then he must spend a certain number of hours in the air with an instructor.

After completing ten hours of solo work, he must pass a government examination which includes a written work as well as flying before he earns his pilot's license.

Business Men Are Invited to Joint Session on Lights

Plans for Reducing White
Way Expense Will Be Discussed

A new plan of financing white way illumination may be agreed on by village trustees, local business men and members of the Lions club at a joint meeting in the village hall next Monday night.

The village board has reported a recurring deficit in the street lighting fund and a necessity for reducing lighting or shifting the load of expense. According to a letter from the trustees, the business men throughout the village, there has been discussion of turning out the lights at 10 p. m. daily.

Another joint meeting to be held Monday night will be held by the fire chief, trustees and a representative of the Illinois Telephone Co. The purpose of this is to work out some system for speedier reporting and signaling of fires.

Mrs. H. T. White Falls
Crossing Street Tues.,
Fractures Right Hip

Mrs. H. T. White fell while crossing Main street from the Standard Motor to the bank corner Tuesday morning and fractured her right hip. She had just alighted from a Chicago bus when she slipped and fell.

She was rushed to Barrington General hospital for first aid and was later transferred to the Sheraton hospital, Elgin.

The Whites are former residents of Barrington who live in Chicago. Owing to the fact that Mrs. White is in the seventies and has been in feeble health for the past year, the accident is considered serious.

Local Legionnaires at National Convention
in Miami This Week

A group of legionnaires from the Barrington post and their wives are attending the annual national American Legion convention being held at Miami, Fla. The convention will start Saturday, Oct. 20, and last four days.

The local people who are attending are C. E. Paxton, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Langendorf, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kessler.

Chosen for State Chorus

Dorothy Dotterer and Ruth Read have been chosen to represent Barrington in the all-state chorus which is to sing at Urbana November 21. A committee of five, including the University of Illinois, made the selection. It was announced. Each school was entitled to send names of several music pupils, stating parts which they sang, and from the list, the committee chose representatives from each school.

Nine Schools Will Take Part in Fall
Play Day Oct. 20

Local H. S. Girls' Athletic Association to Sponsor
Various Events

Girls from eight adjacent schools will participate in fall play day at Barrington Saturday, Oct. 20. Play day is being sponsored by the girls athletic association of Barrington high school.

Sports will include volleyball, baseball, relay races, track and challenges, dodge ball, pine ball, ball, ball.

Schools which will participate are Dundee, Libertyville, Bensenville, Lake Zurich, Waukegan, Antioch and Waukegan. Two schools, Leydapp and Crystal Lake, were unable to accept the invitation due to other school events.

Registration for the various events will take place from 8 to 8:45 a. m. and the participants will be divided into color teams, one girl from each school being on each team. The girls will not enter with competitors as the objective, according to Miss Lucille Madsen who is in charge of arrangements. "The day is to be all that the name says, a good play day," she said.

Each school will probably bring eight girls for team play and some may bring two additional for the tennis tournament which is to be held on Jewel Lake courts. Other sports will take place at the school grounds. In case of rain, events will be held in the school gymnasium.

Barrington girls will serve luncheon to the guests at the Methodist church at the conclusion of morning events. A short program will complete the entertainment.

Building Trades Boys
Busy With Odd Jobs
Left by IER Workmen

Painting, plastering and plumbing are only a few of the jobs undertaken by the Building Trades boys in the public school under the direction of Charles Roselle. At the present time they are finishing up a series of odd jobs not completed by relief workers in connection with remodeling and painting last summer.

They are now painting fire escapes. These have been painted during the summer but the intense heat of the season made the paint peel off.

Painting of a brick sidewalk is another job. This is being built from the newly constructed boiler room to the north gate.

Work has been delayed to some extent by lack of tools, but new tools have now been ordered.

Woman's Club Now
Offers Loans to Local Graduates

Barrington high school graduates in need of partial financial assistance in connection with college work may submit applications to the scholarship loan fund committee of the Barrington Woman's club any time prior to Nov. 15. It was announced Thursday by Mrs. Eldon Gleeske, chairman of that committee.

It will be possible for the committee to help someone who plans to go to college in February.

Qualifications for applicants are as follows: necessity of financial assistance, sincerity of purpose, scholarship. The applicant must present credentials and some plan for a course of study.

If progress is satisfactory, an accepted applicant may have use of the loan fund until his or her course is completed.

The scholarship loan fund committee was organized in 1931 and one high school graduate has been helped for the past three years.

Funds for the committee are raised by means of benefit bridge parties. The sum of $120.05 was collected at a scholarship loan fund party held at the home of Mrs. F. W. Mort two weeks ago.

Applications for loans may be submitted to Mrs. Gleeske or any of the members of her committee, Mrs. Lester Higgins, Mrs. Cecil Kellam, Mrs. F. W. Mort, Mrs. Edwin Read, Mrs. E. L. Crocker, Mrs. M. J. Watkins, Mrs. Robert Work, and Mrs. L. T. York.

Applications close November 15.

Band Concert and Play,
"Hiawatha's Childhood"
to Be Presented Friday

Two programs, one musical and one dramatic, will be presented to the public at the high school auditorium Friday afternoon. There will be no charge for either program.

The first entertainment will be a concert by the high school band under the direction of W. N. Sears with pupils of junior high and the fourth and fifth grades as guests of honor.

There are now 28 pupils in the band, 26 in the regular orchestra and 22 in the junior orchestra. Mr. Sears is director of each of the groups. Besides playing in these organizations, local pupils have the privilege of receiving class instruction. These classes are held once a week with each type of instrument having one class.

"Hiawatha's Childhood," a dramatic adaptation of Longfellow's famous poem, will be presented by rooms 4 and 5 under the direction of Miss Louise Laird at 2 p. m. Friday. The entire cast will be composed of second and third grade pupils, each child having memorized a few lines of the dramatization. Principal parts are taken by Anita Koenig as Nokomis and Clarence Adams as Hiawatha. The children will be costumed in Indian garb and a forest setting will provide the background.

Park Avenue Bids
Received; Work to Start Next Week

Most of Grading Completed;
Job Ready for Pouring of Concrete

Bids have been received for materials and use of equipment for Park avenue paving, and work will probably start next Monday. Although the bids were accepted by the trustees their meeting last Monday night, they must be approved by the state highway department before contracts can be let.

The motion was made by Carroll and seconded by Cadwallader that the contracts be let to the following bidders, subject to the approval of the highway department: A. W. Davy, E. F. Wichman, Shaffer Lumber Co., and Laguarda and Hager, all of Barrington. The motion passed.

The board decided that all men wishing jobs on the Park avenue project should file their names with the village clerk.

The men will then select the men for work on this project at their regular meeting next Monday night.

Harry Van Middleworth will be engineer and general superintendent of the job. He was recommended by Carter Jenkins, village engineer, and was appointed on a motion made by Cadwallader and seconded by Schroeder. His pay will be one dollar per hour for eight hours per day.

Grading work has been underway for the last few days. The job is nearly ready for pouring concrete.

To Give Concert

Four solo champions of state and national high school solo contests of 1932, 1933, and 1934, organized two years ago as the national music ensemble, under personal direction of W. B. Parkin, will present a program of solo and combination instrumental numbers at Salem Evangelical church Friday evening.

Nature Makes Error—
Lilacs in Bloom at 430 Terrace Now

Lilacs are in bloom at 430 Terrace and are large clusters and several buds all set to bloom if Jack Frost doesn't come along and nip Mother Nature's curious phenomenon.

Lloyd Graham, who lives at that address, has been out on the premises Sunday when he made the astonishing discovery. The bush had bloomed in spring so this is a second blooming. It is growing in a sheltered corner at the north side of the house.

"Even nature makes mistakes," one man said. "Lilacs would indicate a regular handspring on nature's part. Maybe she thought that it was spring instead of fall."

G.O.P. Leaders at Lake County Rally
at Catlow Oct. 29

Program to Include Stratton,
Brooks, Church, Lyons
and Carroll

William Stratton, republican candidate for state treasurer, and C. Wayland Brooks and Ralph Church, candidates for congressman-at-large and congressman from the tenth district respectively, will be the principal speakers at a Lake county republican rally which will be held in the Catlow theatre Monday evening, Oct. 29.

Dick Lyons and William Carroll, candidates for the state legislature, will be on the program as will also the republican candidates for Lake county offices. The latter include Perry L. Persons for county judge, Lew A. Hendee for clerk, Martin Decker for probate judge, John R. Bullock for clerk of probate court, Allen J. Nelson for treasurer, Lawrence A. Doolittle for sheriff and W. C. Petty for county superintendent of schools.

The rally is sponsored by the Cuba town republican club. The theatre will be reserved for this meeting on that night, but a free movie comedy will be shown prior to calling of the meeting.

This is one of the principal Lake county meetings to be held by the republican organization. Although all of the candidates are men whose names will appear on the Lake county ballot November 6, the names of Mr. Stratton and Mr. Brooks, candidates for treasurer and congressman-at-large, will head the G.O.P. list on the Cook county ballots and will be of special interest to Cook county voters.

"Balanced Diet," One-Act Playlet, Given at Dramatic Club Program

When the high school dramatic club held its first meeting of the year Tuesday evening, a one-act play, a stunt and several musical numbers constituted the program.

This is one of the "Balanced Diet" were played by Jack Fletcher, Lois Holmes, Jean Long, Arthur Conrad, Charlotte Adams, Vernel Jeppson, Victoria Klopstein, and Earl Ritters. The play was directed by Virginia Doolittle.

A reading by Kenneth Frye, read by Janice Grabenkort and Phyllis Lines, and piano solo by Betty Schroeder completed the program.

Easterner Found Guilty of Taking
Purse With $207

A verdict of guilty was returned against Charles Stine in circuit court at Waukegan Thursday afternoon for the theft of a purse which Mrs. Katherine Goetz who lives near Rosown's lodge at Cary had charged him with stealing a purse which contained $107 in currency and a $100 bond. Mrs. Goetz was a former resident of Fox River Grove.

Stine denied the charge and pleaded not guilty. He said he knew nothing about the purse although he was the only person present when the pocketbook disappeared from her cottage Oct. 5.

The purse was not found until Tuesday morning when Mrs. Goetz discovered it in a rock garden near the barbecue stand. A large rock was covering it.

The purse was first missed when Mrs. Stine returned home from a business trip to Cary. She testified that Stine saw her place it on a table in her cottage. Only a few minutes later it was gone.

When Stine was questioned and charged with the crime, he ran from the cottage but was located by county officers in a swamp nearby. He was brought to Woodstock and placed in the county jail.

His attorney, D. Wicks, made a motion for a new trial which will be heard later.

Barrington Hills

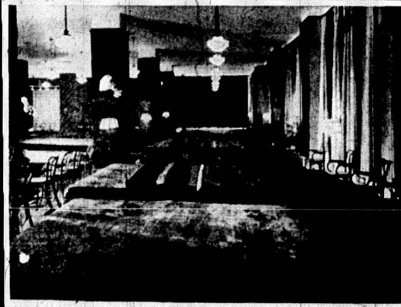

Costume Party Gay Affair

Everyone attending the Barrington Hills Country club party Saturday evening entered into the spirit of the affair and dressed up including Cope Harveys orchestra. Special mention should be made of the small drummer who with his altered little hat and goggles caused no end of fun. Decorations of the dining porch with lovely autumn tints blended perfectly with the artistic and original costumes of the guests. The prize for the best costume was won by Mrs. William Horn as Helen of Troy. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hughes as a colored preacher and his mammy took first prize as a couple while the prize for the most original pair went to Mr. and Mrs. Leslie M. Hanson who went as a couple of the gay nineties.

Before the dance, crowds gathered at the Seldon Whites and the Whipples for cocktails.

Mrs. Lawrence Vilas spent Friday night at Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hallbergers. The Hallbergers

Barrington Woman's Club

An invitation has been received from the Parkside Woman's club to attend their president's day program at 1:30 November 7 at the Community building, Byron street and Hamlin avenue.

A large group attended the opening meeting of the literature study class Thursday, Mrs. Floyd Faxon read "The Wilderness," by Eugene O'Neill. "This is entirely different from his other plays," said Mrs. Faxon. He has cast aside all old technique and has written a folk, lyrical, center wavy, a folksy play, essentially American, which strikes the heart. It is the study of the wilderness which is adolescence.

The story of the family of a newspaper man in a large "small town in Connecticut, in the year 1906. The cast includes Nat Miller, the father; Essie, his wife; Richard his 17 year old son just out of high school; three other children, and Lily, Nat's sister, who at forty-two is a typical spinster type; and Sid Davis, Essie's brother, forty-five, who has never grown up and is a most interesting character.

The play opens the morning of July 4, with the entire family making plans for the holiday. "Firecrackers going off at intervals all day long assure us that it is indeed the fourth." During the conversation Mrs. Miller reminds Nat to speak to Richard about the books she found in his wardrobe and does not consider fit reading for a 17 year old boy, Nat finds they are not bad books, in fact he has read some and is interested in reading the others. Richard is a dreamy boy, given to much reading, studying, and poetry writing, some of which he has sent to Muriel, the girl with whom he is in love. Her father deeply resents the poetry, believing it to be an insult to the youth and innocence of his daughter, and calls on Nat this morning to demand that Richard be punished.

After reading the poetry, Nat decides it is not what should be sent to a young girl, but Richard assures him that it was sent only through his great love for Muriel. After receiving word from Muriel that he must never come near her again, Richard is tempted into a double date for that evening with a couple of "swif" girls.

Late that evening the whole family is anxiously awaiting Richard's appearance. Shortly after 11 o'clock he makes his appearance—completely drunk. He had resented and resisted the girl, but when she left him for a traveling salesman had drunk until he was thrown out of the hotel. Next day he is bitterly ashamed of himself, especially when Muriel writes that she was forced to write the other note and asks him to meet her at 9 o'clock that evening. They come to a perfect understanding and become engaged. Even his return home he assures his father that Muriel will be the only girl in his life. Both his parents are pleased that he is so uplifted by his pure love for the girl and his decision that drunkenness is beneath him.

An outstanding scene in the play is the 6 o'clock dinner on July 4th, at the Miller home, in which it is disclosed that Nat and Lily were once engaged to marry.

Lily had broken the engagement 16 years ago when Nat continued to drink despite his promises. This scene plainly shows that she still deeply loves him though he comes home very drunk from an all day outing. His actions at the table keep the family in an uproar, the liquor making him mellow and benign, though he tries to appear sober.

A large number of members and guests attended the opening luncheon of the Barrington Woman's club at the Barrington Hills Country club Wednesday. This meeting marked the beginning of the 20th year of the club.

The Puruch Book Players, consisting of two men and two women, gave a very fine performance of "outstanding scenes from 'Ridgeways,'" a novel of Kentucky by Frances Rennard. It deals with five generations of the Hartison family, but could have been limited to two as far as the plot is concerned. "Ridgeways" is the name of the home of the Hartisons, built by the Hartisons, for the Hartisons.

The first scene showed Ben Hartison at "Ridgeways" three years after the Civil war. He had returned from war almost an invalid and had lived in strict seclusion since then. Ellen, the daughter of fly-by-nights, falls in love with the estate, appreciating its great beauty, and promptly decides to stay and help care for it. She is an interesting type and the story takes on vitality upon her entrance.

The next scene is three years later when Ben proposes to Ellen after he has heard ugly gossip about them. She at first refuses him, but when she understands she cannot otherwise stay, she relents.

We skip 30 years for the next scene to find Ellen, busily sewing, telling her lovely grandchild, Nancy, about "Ridgeways." Ben had years before been cheated out of it and she has been caring for it back. She explains Nancy how she must make a fine watch for herself so she may take her proper place in her ancestral home when the time comes.

Ten years later we see Nancy and Vance, her lover, in a rickety old Ford. Vance bemoans the fact that he'll be 27 before he will have enough money to marry and take proper care of her—but, almost in the same breath coaxes her to elope with him that same night.

We see them next several years later. Grand died while Vance was in France and Nancy tells her husband of the $3000 saved in Grand's insurance. Vance is so pleased that he may now go into business. Nancy, shocked, does not at first consent, but after a quarrel is agreeable. So Grand's hard earned money goes into the hardware business.

Mrs. Parach then told us that Grand's money was instrumental in getting "Ridgeways" back into the Hartison family as Vance's business prospered after the war and he was able to buy the lovely old place for his wife.

Three wrongs righted

three members of my family made happy just by changing the lighting in our home

Avoid eye strain with proper light. Send today for our free lighting test of your home.

In two out of three homes, say lighting experts, incorrect lighting threatens eyes. To protect eyes, 20 to 30 foot-candles of light should fall on the printed page. This should be properly diffused with no glare, no deep shadows, no contrasts to cause eyes to change focus frequently. Under such lighting eye tension is relieved. Your body relaxes. Your nerves relax, too.

Many homes lack correct lighting. Most women would be only too glad to give their families the benefit of safe lighting; to protect the eyesight of their children. But they have no way of measuring the kind of light their lamps give. And so night after night eyes struggle on with danger of permanent injury.

How to get it. In the last few years some wonderful discoveries have been made about proper lighting. Lighting engineers have found that just by changing the position of shades, by raising or lowering the height of bulbs, and by designing a special kind of "light reflecting" shade, these handicaps to eyesight are completely overcome. Your Public Service Store has a variety of these properly designed lamps for sale. They are beautiful as well as safe for eyes. Come down and see them and at the same time learn, from our better lighting display, simple and easy ways in which you can improve the lighting in your home. And get free, a marvelous little device called "The Lighting Tape Measure," which enables you to tell quickly whether or not each lamp in your home is providing safe light. Act at once. Don't allow the eyes in your family to struggle unaided another night.

Which is YOUR lamp? Lamp 1. Bulbs too low, sides of shade too sloping. Result—glare, deep shadows, eyestrain. Lamp 2. Bulbs at right height, shade of correct design. Result—careful light, precious eyesight preserved. FREE at your Public Service Store, Lighting Tape Measure to test your lamps. Get it today.

Restore Wild Life

Back in 1912 a volcano eruption on Kodiak Island in Alaska wiped out all wild animals with the exception of bears, and since that time the bears have been the lone wild inhabitants of the island. To restore the wild life and thus provide employment and future game for the inhabitants, the government, through a civil works allotment, has repurchased the island, at least prepared the groundwork for a real population. A number of Indians, working under unemployed guides, captured 500 animals, principally deer, marion and snowshoe rabbits. These were released principally on Kodiak, although other islands were also given small numbers of the animals.

TELEPHONE, BARRINGTON NO. 1

THE MARGINAL MAN

Judge Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo in a letter to the Woodstock Sentinel has effectively diagnosed the ills of the New Deal. Especially interesting in his lengthy and exhaustive letter is his naming and describing the "Marginal Man" for whom business and the great masses of labor have been made to stand still and wait. We are taking the liberty to reprint that part of his article which bears on the marginal man:

We have heard a great deal about MARGINAL LAND! Business has had to stand at "ATTENTION," awaiting the removal of families and communities from so-called "MARGINAL LAND" (Where the drouth was most severe) to more "Estate" districts and to a newer style of architecture, if the new styles and lines of beauty are even fully completed.

There are such things as "MARGINAL MEN," and this administration, in a hundred ways, has caused business to be stagnant and the banks to forbear making loans, and the great bodies of American labor, "regimented" and in "order" and stand still or work but a few hours per day, so that the "MARGINAL MAN" could come up with the procession and take his part in the great movement forward.

Who is this "marginal man" for whom the government is pouring out billions trying to effect his true state in society and until he arrives no one can know the value of the dollar. He is the man on the street corner TOMORROW, with his mouth wide open, "catching flies," recounting the mistakes he made yesterday:

He is the man who took an EXTRA COURSE at college and upon receiving his diploma set himself fully to the task of discovering PERPETUAL MOTION and never had a job until the present administration came into power:

He is the farmer, who was always at the greatest distance from the market because he never had anything to sell; and he is AMONG that strong, able type upon relief, since which time he has refused to work at any wage. They are few, but growing in number.

If the great body of business and the strong-hearted and loyal millions of labor have to wait until the "MARGINAL MAN" comes up, they will be standing in their present tracks when this generation has passed away.

I am not one who begrudges any dollar expended for the worthy poor, but the administration of the charity should have been kept to the local units, and the outside funds not called for until the resources of the local units were exhausted.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING

From the mass of revolutionary legislation passed by the congress and approved by the president, a few acts stand out as practical plans for speeding up the flow of sluggish dollars.

The Better Housing program which will enable home owners with incomes to borrow money for improvement of their property, is one phase of the program which should be given consideration by even the most conservative minded citizens.

It is essentially a plan to encourage those persons who have incomes to spend some of their dollars with the building trade workers and the building supply houses now when they can buy labor and material at lower prices than will prevail later. The fact that labor costs are low now is in itself a reason why many home owners will be interested in the plan.

The program is somewhat complicated. Committees have been appointed in most progressive communities for enlightening the home owners and building workers as to its possibilities. Barrington has a committee of which B. A. Schroeder is chairman. Mr. Schroeder has arranged for an open meeting of interested citizens at the school auditorium at 8 p. m. Friday. A speaker from the better housing administration will be here to speak on the subject. This is an opportunity that Barrington should not pass up. If residents of this community are truly interested in seeing Barrington improve, they will attend the meeting Friday night.

EDITORIAL SHORTS

A politician can't get elected without stating the reasons why he should get the votes. How can a business expect to be elected to success, unless it tells the people the reasons why it should be patronized?

There's no law or code restriction against putting on a little muscle and putting aside a little cash by hard work while waiting for your ship to come in.

Whenever words of comfort seem to fall short of the situation we are reminded of the cemetery salesman who was trying to sell a lot to a little old lady. He wound up by saying, "Just think, wouldn't it be a great comfort to know that after you die you would be buried beside this beautiful lake?" "What!" exclaimed his prospect, "with my rheumatism?"

Those who claim that prisoners are being pampered with radio sets in their cells evidently haven't been listening in lately.

WHAT'S GOING ON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Reports that the government was again considering currency inflation, although officially denied, overshadowed all other news developments in Washington during the past week. Apparently President Roosevelt himself started the rumors, unintentionally, when he stated at a press conference on Wednesday, in reply to a question that he thought prices should be higher. Inasmuch as higher prices were the avowed objective of devaluation of the dollar last year, this statement by the president was construed by inflationists as meaning that the government was contemplating further devaluation, the law permitting a further devaluation of 9 per cent.

Unusual importance is attached to the new term of the supreme court of the United States which got really underway during the past week, although it had its official opening during the previous week. The court will be called on to pass before adjournment next spring on the constitutionality of some of the so-called "New Deal" legislation. Probably the most important act to be tested in the supreme court is involved in the gold clause case which contests the right of the government to invalidate gold clauses in bonds. In other words, can the government refuse to redeem in gold bonds which, when issued, were declared to be redeemable in gold. Since the United States went off the gold standard it has taken possession of all monetary gold in the nation and the entire monetary policy of the administration will be jeopardized if the supreme court holds that the government must observe the gold clause and redeem its securities in gold when it has so promised.

The federal government is taking the first steps to prevent a recurrence of dust storms which this year swept millions of tons of fertile top soil off the Western plains and sifted it on to the Eastern section of the country. There are two aspects to the control program. One is the project for growing a tree shelter belt across the plains region. The other plan is to set up small local projects in an effort to halt wind erosion by increasing the vegetation cover of the land and by moisture conservation. Preliminary work on the tree shelter belt, which will be 100 miles wide, and about 1000 miles long, has been begun by the forest service with an initial allotment of $1,000,000 of relief money. Completion of the plan depends upon the action of congress at the next session, as Comptroller General McCall has ruled against further use of relief funds for the project until a definite authorization is made by congress. An area of 15,195 acres in the Panhandle of Texas has been chosen as the site of the first local project. There, officials explain, it is hoped that it may be demonstrated that conservation of the moisture will enable cover crops to grow even during dry season.

A spectacle which took place last year in the United States for the first time—the unemployed teaching the unemployed—is to be resumed this year on a greatly expanded scale. This autumn, the federal emergency relief administration is making provision for classes for 2,000,000 adults, most of whom are expected to come from the unemployed. Except in the case of a few supervisors, all the instructors are to be hired from the unemployed who are qualified to teach. A total of 40,000 teachers are to be so employed. Vocational training supplied by the FERA program will attempt in some measure to supply the need of the unemployed for education in new types of work. The importance of this phase of adult education is emphasized by Dr. William H. Stead of the United States employment service. He estimates that two-thirds of the 7,000,000 persons registered with the employment service are either adults permanently displaced from their old jobs or young people who need training to fit them for jobs. Unemployment and shorter work hours have made adult education in the better use of leisure extremely important. The FERA projects attempt to supply this need for classes in art, music appreciation, handicrafts, and other cultural activities.

GRIST from the MILL

By Clarence Miller

Babies

Babies are all wet. Always bellyaching about something. If it isn't their tummies, it's their absent teeth.

They arrive with a yell, and keep yelling afterward when something doesn't suit 'em.

You can't put 'em off. "Safety (pins) first," is their slogan.

When a baby is born, it is the mother who goes through the ordeal. But the proud papa claims the credit, waxes chesty, and passes on the cigars.

The most renowned Babe in history was born in a manger, of a peasant woman.

An infant's dependence elicits love and tenderness from the most obdurate heart. In this age of cold steel and clattering machinery thank heaven for the soothing balm of an innocent child.

We are desperately in need of babies.

When those who have lived their lives pass on there is grief, but the saddest of all deaths is when a child is snatched from the enfolding arms of its mother. The little dress and shoes, and stockings are tearfully tucked away, mementoes of a torn world that never will be quite healed.

What is a home? A palatial mansion, with a swanky limousine in the garage? Rich furnishings, artistically arranged? Sumptuous meals? A retinue of servants? Oh, no!

Here are the earmarks: Scratches on the piano, tell-tale marks on the curtains, the floor littered with toys—and a giggling child in the midst.

"There's no place like home," is glorified when there's a babe.

The Pari-Mutuel System

The pari-mutuel method of betting was invented about 1872 by a Frenchman named Couffé. It was not until 1908 that the pari-mutuel system of betting was methodically exploited in the United States. In the spring of that year it was adopted in Kentucky.

"Dig Up Buried Village"

Archaeologists uncovered near Dornum, Germany, three large Germanic villages, dating from the first centuries after Christ. Many of the relics recovered are estimated at more than 1,500 years old.

More People Buried

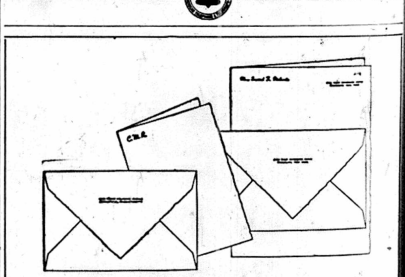

More people are buried in the Borough of Finchley, London, than are alive there.

The Pari-Mutuel System

The pari-mutuel method of betting was invented about 1872 by a Frenchman named Couffé. It was not until 1908 that the pari-mutuel system of betting was methodically exploited in the United States. In the spring of that year it was adopted in Kentucky.

"Dig Up Buried Village"

Archaeologists uncovered near Dornum, Germany, three large Germanic villages, dating from the first centuries after Christ. Many of the relics recovered are estimated at more than 1,500 years old.

More People Buried

More people are buried in the Borough of Finchley, London, than are alive there.

WHY WONDER . . . It's Easy to Find Out!

The Long Distance Operator will be pleased to quote you the cost of a telephone call to a distant business associate or customer—or you may look in your directory. You will probably discover that the cost is considerably less than you had imagined.

When you want to make out-of-town contacts, find out how little it will cost to telephone. It is more satisfactory to talk business whether in town or out-of-town.

School Children to Be Taught Simple Pledge to the American Flag

In an order issued this week to principals of Cook county grammar schools, Supt. Otto F. Aiken advised all teachers to discard the old "Pledge to the American Flag" for a new and simplified one which grammar school children will be able to understand. The old one went: "I pledge allegiance to the American flag and to the country for which it stands, one nation indivisible with freedom and justice for all." Supplementing this pledge will be: "I love my country, the United States of America, the land of freedom and right, and I salute our flag of red, white and blue which stands for courage, purity and loyalty."

C. S. Castle, 75, Dies at Oak Park; Was Former Resident of Barrington

Charles Sumner Castle, former resident of Barrington and great-uncle of the Howard Castle children, died at his home in Oak Park early Monday morning. He was 75 years old.

Funeral services were held at his late home Wednesday afternoon and burial took place in Forest Home cemetery.

Mr. Castle was born and raised on the Castle farm near Barrington. He founded the Austin State bank in 1895 and in 1910 founded the Standard Trust and Savings bank.

He was president of Standard until its consolidation with the National Bank of the Republic in 1928, when he became vice chairman of the executive committee.

Later, on consolidation of the Republic bank with the Central Trust company, he retired.

At his death Mr. Castle was a director of several banks in the Chicago area. Surviving him are his widow, Anna M., and four children.

To Address League

R. W. Muir will discuss "The Future of NRA" at a meeting of the men's league of Salem Evangelical church to be held Tuesday evening at 7:45 p. m. All men, regardless of church affiliation, have been invited to attend, according to H. G. Homuth, program chairman.

Virgin Islands Include Numerous Small Islands

The Virgin group comprises a large number of small islands—only a few of them of any considerable importance—lying to the east of Porto Rico between the Caribbean and the Atlantic ocean. They include not only those which the United States bought from Denmark, and which were formerly known as the Danish West Indies, but also a number which constitute a British colony called the Virgin Islands.

Columbus discovered the group on his second voyage in 1493. It is said he was amazed at the number of them, and feared he would not have enough sailors' names to go round—so he put them under the sacred patronage of the 11,000 martyred virgins of St. Ursula.

Danish traders early established themselves on St. Thomas, and by a sort of quarter sovereignty the island was taken under Danish administration in 1671. St. John and St. Croix and smaller islands were added in 1733. The British, meanwhile, appropriated the rest of the group.

In 1897-68 the American State department sought to buy the Danish islands. Denmark was willing to sell, and the islanders were eager for the transfer, but the United States senate refused to ratify. In 1902 a second treaty was signed, and the United States was to have the islands for $25,000,000; but the Danish upper house did not ratify. In 1917 the transfer was finally effected, this country paying $25,000,000.

Salivary Secretion of Swifts Used for Soup

Birds' nest soup, one of the world's costliest delicacies, is obtainable only at risk of life and limb, says a writer in Tit-Bits Magazine. Most of it comes from Sarawak, where in the vast, gloomy, and haunting limestone caves, studded with stalactites and stalagmites, at the head of the Miah river, the swifts that manufacture this epicurean fancy dwell in thousands amid colonies of bats and cockroaches. The edible birds' nests lie on tiny shelves and ledges, situated in the highest and most inaccessible parts of the caves, and are made of a salivary secretion produced during the nesting season.

The actual birds' nesting is performed by Chinese and Malays, who hire the caves from the government for the nesting season at a rental of £400. These men, fearless and agile, ascend up 100-foot bamboo "ropes," carrying candles in their caps to shed light, and working perilously across the ceiling, dislodge the nests with a spade-like stick. As the ground below is soft with guano deposits, the nests are not damaged. The "ropes," made of bamboo rods lashed together, are left standing from season to season, interlacing the caverns like spiders' threads.

Find Lima Older Than Curzo

Lima is older than Curzo, according to recent discoveries. Ruins undoubtedly pre-Inca, tell of a civilization 300 years older, equal to that which the Spaniards found in 1531.
