

Grace Moore's "One Night of Love" to Be Here Nov. 18-20

Had His Mate With Smaller Coming Saturday

For adventure is the expression in his mate, which led at the Catlow and Saturday. Another as Taran and his June, experience, romantic, "punch" incidents, the hearts of the obitaries alike. Neil Hamilton's appearance is to tell what is and how viewing "One Night of Love" the Catlow. Monday and Tuesday seem suddenly a lot of meaning. These have followed in a premiere at Barrington was an excellent success at the Metropolitan. A Smash Hit! The ending of any picture is some comments. Liked it four stars. The most charming of the musical picture in Hollywood. An entrancing romance, comedy, and scenic settings with the operatic and the dramatic, rare. The story is a girl who goes to study voice with a rare American. He is also a musical teacher who claims her affection, but she is constrained to be pragmatic because of an agreement with him not to inject a love affair into their artistic association.

Determined into the story are a number of opposite sequences which permit the glorious vocal achievements of Miss Moore to further the musical plot. Tullio, master, and Lyle Talbot, her supporting cast. A delightful short subject which will precede the showing of "One Night of Love" is the color cartoon, "Poor Cinderella."

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week brings to the City screen, "Servants' Entrance" which features the first time since "State Fair" Janet Gaynor and Lew Ayres. In their newest roles Janet portrays a merry million-heiress, who goes from riches to poverty and back again, while Lew, as a chauffeur, ascends from poverty to riches.

Janet wishes to become a useful woman to learn to cook, sew, take care of babies, and the disciplines through the front door of her palatial home, and makes her way to the servants' entrance of a big house, masquerading as a maid. It is here that she meets the chauffeur, Lew. To win his love will require revealing her identity becomes Janet's amusing problem and her ingenious intrigues provide delightful entertainment. In addition to Janet Gaynor and Lew Ayres, the cast includes Ned Sparks, Walter Connolly and Louise Dresser.

Indians Fought Over Buffalo

With buffalo meat for food, but fain hides for clothes and lodges, fashioning weapons, tools and implements—small wonder that the mighty animal became a strong incentive. Early Indian wars, especially between the mountain Indians (Dine) and those of the plateau (Apache) and the conquest came through centuries for the choice but
