Blanket Seeks to Break Contract With D. Maloney

Would Have Maloney Continue on Present Cases; Wants New Contract

Trustee John Blanke read a report Monday evening that he had complied recommending cancellation of Attorney David B. Maloney's contract now in effect with the village. He also stated that the contract should be terminated and a new one drawn up. Mr. Blanke wanted to have Mr. Maloney continue on the present capacity with the work that he now has but any new business that comes up could be turned over to a new man if the old contract were cancelled. It was the opinion of members of the board that it is not the village's policy to change officials, as they felt a new man could not have the proper background to handle those cases now on trial or pending. Mr. Maloney spoke to the board on this matter and told them that he did not have a desire to control all of the village business and that at any time they wished to give any work to another attorney they were welcome to do so. He stated emphatically he would not have his contract broken for the reason that those cases he has started he is entitled to be paid for.

"1935 Scandals" Starring Fay and Dunn Here Sunday

"Bride of Frankenstein" Now Showing Creates "Tops" in Thrills

Eleven stars headed by Alice Fay, James Dunn, Ned Sparks and 249 breath-taking chorus beauties appear in the George White 1935 "Scandals," which come to the Catlow theatre Sunday and Monday.

The plot of the new issue of the Scandals could stand on its own even without the opulence of song, dance and comedy. It concerns a vacation-bound producer who stops off at a small Georgia town to send a telegram, and sees his own name at the local opera house. Scandalized by the subjects, and proceeds to discover some unusual song-and-dance talent buried in a back town. He brings the local talent to Broadway, whose bright lights lure a pair of lovers from their vows. The producer revives the romance and packs them back home.

Tall, lanky Gary Cooper and blonde, exotic Anna Sten are paired for the first time in a romantic team in "The Wedding Night," which will begin its run next week Wednesday night.

"The Wedding Night" is a dramatic romance in which Miss Sten portrays a modern American girl rebelling against the dictates and restraints of tradition, and Gary Cooper appears as a successful, sophisticated New York author with whom she falls in love.

"The Bride of Frankenstein," which was produced to top the horrendous in movies, will continue to thrill and chill its audience Thursday and Friday.

Crabbe, Patricia "Ellis," Andy Devine and George E. Stone in "Hold 'Em Yate," a comedy yarn of David Ruyton's.

Fate will be interested in seeing again Louise Fazenda, who, with Lou Carrillo and Ted Healy, is starring in "The Winning Ticket," the bargain night offering next Tuesday. This is a hilarious story about the family of an Italian barber who wins the Irish Sweepstakes prize.

Tidy sums in "butter and egg money" are made by farm women who use the telephone. A telephone call is a quick, easy and dignified way to sell. One call to the local market determines the highest prices being paid. Another call to each customer clinches the sale, assures delivery and often results in additional orders for poultry and seasonal produce at the best prices available. This is only one of many things the farm telephone can do at a profit. Employed every day, for a variety of uses, it can and repeatedly does show a profit above its cost. Remember, it works for small pay.

Zyg-Sommerfeld

Nuptials Saturday

A pretty wedding took place at St. Paul church Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock when Lillian Zyg of Palestine became the bride of Herman Sommerfeld of Barrington. Rev. Hermann Koenig officiated using the single ring service.

The bridegroom was assisted by Mrs. A. D. Brigham, Miss Esther Zyg, Matthias Stiglitz and Raymond Zyg.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Emma Walbaum, the bride entered on the arm of her father who gave her away. The bridal party stood before an altar background of lilacs, tulips and snapdragons, beautifully arranged. Mrs. Koenig sang "I Love You Truly" just before the exchange of vows.

The bride was lovely in a white satin gown, long tulle veil and lace cap. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Brigham wore blue satin and Miss Zyg was in peach organdy. Both attendants carried arm bouquets of tallies and sweet peas.

Miss Walbaum played Mendelssohn's recessional as the wedding party left the altar and traveled to the back of the church where many friends offered congratulations and best wishes.

A wedding dinner and reception were held at the home of the bride's parents in Palestine following the wedding service. Forty relatives and friends were guests. Mr. and Mrs. Sommerfeld are spending this week in different parts of Wisconsin and on their return will make their home in Palestine.

Open Season With One

Street Light as Game

The extremes that some people will go to avoid being in the "lime-light" is shown by the report turned in by trustee Rudolph Kocher at the board meeting Monday. Someone, apparently a child, has become so adept with an air rifle that it is no trick at all to shoot out the street light at the foot of East Lake street, leading into the park. Public service authorities state that it is necessary to replace a light there every three or four days. Despite all the shouting that is being done the culprit has not been found.

Mr. Kocher said that parents of the person responsible for the breakage may be penalized for the full amount and it is understood it is not a small figure.

THE REVOLUTION IS OVER

The decision of the supreme court throwing out the NIRA and re-defining constitutional limitations has taken rank as probably the most notable opinion delivered since the Civil war. But one of the points generally overlooked is the dramatic qualities of the decision.

For two years the new deal has gone forward with new statutes. Outstanding legal authorities who warned that they were unconstitutional were brushed aside as "Tories." Court tests were avoided by administration attorneys. For two glittering years everything went smoothly for the machine but then came the present session of congress with its new deluge of laws. Once more attempts were made to get the new statutes through before the supreme court could act, but a democratic majority itself began to think towards the constitution.

The stage was set as though by design for the court's action. A terrific drive was in progress to get an extension of NIRA. Proponents of the Wagner labor disputes bill to substitute Washington authority for local authority in employment relations were being raced toward enactment. The same was true of the AAA amendments to give the secretary of agriculture unlimited authority over handlers of agricultural products. In fact, the week of May 27 was to be the week of the big legislative drive. Then, like a scholarly professor breaking up the pranks of a schoolboy classroom, the supreme court stepped in at that dramatic moment and said, "Read your constitution."

One was suggested that the next step for the administration is a school for new deal lawyers, with the constitution as required reading. Well, the revolution is over.

Class clowns in red and white ribbons tied to the traditional trumpet handle were presented by Alsenby Palatine to Shelby North, president of the junior class for 1935-1936.
