Family Habits Handled Down

Hundreds of family habits are handed down not by physical or mental heredity but by "social heredity," notes a writer in the Detroit News. Ability to swim or play games usually well is largely due to physical heredity, but all healthy people play games passably well entirely from custom. Eating with one's knife or talking loud in depots and on trains or gossiping about neighbors runs in some families but fortunately is not inborn.

Marginal Land Defined

The National Land Use Planning committee defined marginal land as "land where the agricultural output just equals the input, including a proper allowance for depreciation and interest on capital other than land and labor of the operator and his family. Submarginal land is that where output falls below the balance, and supermarginal land, that where output rises above."

William Powell in 'Reckless' Sunday at Rialto, Elgin

Following three teaming experiences with Myrna Loy—in "Manhattan Melodrama," "The Thin Man" and "Evelyn Prentiss"—William Powell has been co-starring for the first time with Jean Harlow, in "Reckless," which opens at the Rialto theatre, Elgin, Sunday.

"Reckless," a lavish musical picture, was produced by David O. Selznick with Victor Fleming as director.

The cast includes Franchot Tone, May Robson, Ted Healy, Ned Pendleton, Robert Light and Rosalind Russell.

"I've tried to figure it out—why I should be treated so nicely by the picture public," he says, "but it's got me puzzled."

"It's true that I'm doing the best I can in my new picture role, but I don't think I'm quite as good as I am supposed to be. It's a sort of philosophy for me to be expanding, but I always was known as Hollywood's biggest worrier, and I believe that there's a spark of an inferiority complex tucked away in some corner of my carcass."

First Cannon Tubes of Metal or Made of Wood

Early war engines included the catapult, employing twisted fiber or silk for propelling power; the ballista, a large-sized catapult, and the onager, a machine employing the principle of the springboard for projecting missiles, says a writer in the Chicago Tribune. A small catapult had a range of about 400 yards, a larger and heavier one a greater maximum range. Missile engines took various forms as they were developed up to the time of the invention of gunpowder, though it is rather unlikely any of them had a greater range than the 1,000 yards of the supergun invented by Archimedes.

The introduction of gunpowder into the business of war in Europe early in the fourteenth century changed completely both weapons and missiles, though the change was not so abrupt as might be supposed. For a long time, for instance, the old missile engines remained almost the equal of early cannon, and the longbow stood as superior to the earliest small arms employing powder. Cannon were invented before muskets and pistols. First cannon were called bombardards and were nothing more than tubes of metal or tubes of wood bound with metal. These bombardards, some of which were constructed to great proportions and capable of hurling missiles weighing as much as 1,500 pounds, had a maximum range of not more than 2,000 yards, a majority, however, shooting extreme distances of much less than that.

The Palomino Horse

The term palomino is simply one word used to describe the painted horse, that is, a horse showing red, orange, yellow, white and black, or white and another color, in some instances of three colors. The painted horse so common in the West is a descendant of the Spanish horse brought to America by the Spanish conquistadores. The striking coloration has not resulted from any careful breeding. On the contrary horses of this type are allowed to run on the range for a part of the year as a rule, and their breeding has been rather a matter of chance.

Alloys Compete With Steel

Light alloys of non-metallic resins that have a strength comparable with steel are strong competitors of metals. These substances have long been associated with pipe stems, lunch trays, brooms, and other novelties, but now they are being made into castings for heavy manufacturing equipment with success. Used with asbestos fiber, resins can be molded into pieces of almost any size. The resulting "castings" are much lighter than similar ones of iron.

Greeks Considered the Feet

The ancient Greek ideal of the foot was that of an undeveloped hand and they endeavored in their sculpture to impart that hand-like character to their feet.

Reports that the western meadow lark is migrating eastward from the Fox river valley and is being seen in this vicinity were included in bird experiences related by thirty members and guests of the Barrington Bird club, entertained at the home of Mrs. Howard Castle on Grove avenue, Tuesday evening. Miss Marion Schroeder was assisting hostess.

Plans for a "Bird Masque" in fall were discussed and it was announced that a lawn fete, with similar features as last year, will be held in July.

A game of identifying birds according to the pictures completed the program after which refreshments were served. Mrs. W. J. Pretzel and Robert Plagge were the contest.

Republican Grass Riots Meeting at Arlington Heights

Plans for moving the fire alarm from its present location on the village hall to a tower to be erected at the Chicago and North Western by members of the village board

Monday night. This change would

A resolution was passed, hiring

Four Local Scout Leaders Complete Course in Camping

Four local scout leaders will be included in a group of fifteen who will be awarded certificates Tuesday evening following completion of a course of training in troop camping. They are H. G.

Homuth, C. H. Fisher, F. Johan-

son and M. F. Lewellen.

With men from Des Plaines and Park Ridge, they had studied all methods of camping, especially stressing the planning, programing and leading of troops of boys in individual troop camps, set up according to the minimum standard of scout camping.

All members of the course

spent last week-end at Camp Ob-

Da-Ko-Ta. "Open house" was held at the camp Sunday in spite of rainy weather, and quite a number of scouts and their families were guests.

Local scouting activities for the month will include a board of review Monday evening, June 24, at 7:30 p. m. and a district committee meeting Thursday evening, June 27. Court of honor will be held July 1.

Because of the great national Jamboree to be held in Washington the last two weeks of August,

Camp Ob-Da-Ko-Ta will operate

for just six weeks. H. H. Collins of this village is a member of the committee of the northwest suburban council.

Two local boys have decided to attend the national jamboree—

Paul Pohlman of troop 10 and Bruce Bierman of troop 29.

Seeks Army Survey of

Fox River for Project

Another survey of the Fox river and lakes in its course will be made by army engineers for the purpose of determining whether a series of dams shall be built to provide better irrigation for the adjoining lakes and a series of recreational lakes for the metropolitan area, if an effort of Congressman Ralph Church is successful.

The first survey was made three or four years ago and the unfavorable report on it submitted prior to the drought of last year. That report concluded:

"The board reports that no improvement of this stream for irrigation, in connection with power development, flood control, or irrigation or any combination thereof is justified at the present time."

Since this report was made, the waterways improvement association through J. R. Dawson of Fox

Lake has been making great efforts to have an appropriation for improving navigation on inland lakes in Lake country.

Congressman Church's efforts to obtain a re-survey was reported by his secretary.

WHAT A CAMPAIGN!

The big Barrington Review weekly payroll subscription campaign ended last Saturday afternoon. And what a campaign it was!

From the standpoint of the candidates who worked hard and faithfully for six weeks, from the standpoint of the Barrington Review which underwrote an expensive and valuable group of awards, and from the standpoint of the public which generously supported the workers, the undertaking was an unqualified success.

It was successful for the candidates all of whom received liberal pay for their work. Every one (except the first prize winners) who turned in at least one subscription during the period was paid a 20 per cent commission. Four of the candidates won additional cash bonuses and two of them won valuable major awards.

The contest was a success for The Review primarily through the good will built up by such a clean, stimulating employment-giving undertaking. A much larger family of readers is also compensation for the newspaper.

It was a success from the standpoint of the many citizens who accepted the opportunity to subscribe for their home town newspaper at a reduced rate and who may expect to receive an even better newspaper as the result of the expansion brought on by the work.

Probably the greatest benefits from this campaign will go to the advertisers, both display and classified, who can reach a large number of additional customers once a week as the result of the subscription list extension. Heretofore an advertising medium beyond comparison in its own community. The Review should and does have additional result-getting power for the advertisers now.

The Review is grateful to the candidates who entered and worked diligently until the close. We only wish that a major award might have been possible for each one of them, but of course that would have been out of the question. We are grateful that the high type of contestants helped us maintain a fair and clean campaign—one which was a credit to themselves and to The Review. Part of the credit for the strict honesty prevailing throughout is due to E. E. Troxell, manager from Liner Co., who insisted on engaging only men and women of the highest character as candidates.

HOME EDUCATION

"The Child's First School Is the Family"—Froebel

Issued by National Kindergarten Assn. 5 W. 40th St. New York

Co-operation

I was nursing in Mrs. Wetherbee's home. She is a nervous, hard-working woman and a great talker. She has a boy and a girl. One day a few minutes after she had mopped the kitchen floor, the little ones raced through the room leaving muddy marks behind them. I saw it and waited for the storm to break. It did. The children stood before her, but bodies only, for their eyes and minds were on the out-of-doors play to which they were eager to return. When she had delivered her tirade they rushed off, not replying until called in at supper time.

"I don't know what to do about them," she confided to me. "I slave for them all day long, but what do they care?"

I tried to point out wherein she failed, but her eyes were blank. She refused to see that she was at fault.

A short time later I was called to the Simonson home. There were two small children, here, also, and, as it happened, I went to the kitchen one day just after Mrs. Simonson had mopped her floor. She was laying clean newspapers about from one door to the other. I watched. The children came to the door; saw the papers, and passed.

"O, Mom's mopped," cried the boy. "Think we better go in!"

"Let's wash our feet at the hose and let the sun dry them," answered the little girl. Then we won't track in any mud."

They had a merry time wash-

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Up and up, to pass the nine-billion-dollar mark, goes the yellow mountain of gold in the treasury, now exceeding 40 per cent of the total monetary gold in the world.

In economic theory, this situation should spell a run-away inflation, raising American prices so that other nations might sell goods here more readily and Americans would find it more difficult to sell abroad. With the trade balance made "unfavorable," gold would then be sent abroad to settle balances, and would lead, say the theorists, to a world-wide spread of prosperity.

Why is not this happening? Answers Secretary of State Hull: "Because nations refuse to trade on a mutually profitable basis, insisting on selling but not buying."

Saw Banker-Economist Edwin W. Kemmerer: "It is happening, but very slowly."

The new NRA begins its 94 months of life, no vast machine for business control but largely a fact-finding body.

In approving, 41 to 13, a resolution passed by the house, the senate adds an amendment extracting the last talon from the Blue Eagle. This restores to operation the anti-trust laws, with drawing from the president the power to suspend such laws for business agreeing to minimum labor regulations.

Faced with the choice of accepting the amendment or beginning a struggle that could not be concluded before the old NRA's death hour on June 16, the president agrees to the amendment, signs the bill.

Receipts by the United States on account of war debts: June 15, 1935.

From Poland: $145,000; paid—$165,000.

From Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, France, Great Britain, Hungary, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia: paid—$180,744,000; paid—nil.

Explanation from defaulting nations: Situations unchanged since it first became impossible to meet payments due to lack of dollar exchange; that is, to refusal of America to buy foreign goods.

Finland, making payment, could offer no such explanation. Finnish purchases of American goods since 1930 have been cut 60 per cent; sales to America have fallen only 10 per cent, leaving a trade balance "favorable" to Finland of about $3,000,000.

Catlow Hurls No Game in Jewel Softball League

Leads Team to 7-0 Win; Only the Man Reaches 1st on Error

Kate (Jack) Catlow crashed through with the ultimate in perfect performance last week when he hurled a 7-0 victory over the Jewel softball team. The only man to reach first base was Catlow himself, and he did so on an error by the first baseman.

"Jack" powered down the opposition in the first inning, hitting for a home run and a double. He also scored the fifth when Grobner's error reached first on an error. Grobner's error was the only one of the game, and it was one of the classiest games in Jewel history. "Jack" will be remembered as a star outfielder on the local high school team a few years back.

In another game played, Rick's boys gave a close 5-4 decision to the team of the Jewel. Rick's boys gave a close 5-4 decision to the team of the Jewel. Rick's boys gave a close 5-4 decision to the team of the Jewel.

Rain Keeps Bears Idle Again Sunday; To Play Cary Next

When rain postponed the Bears' scheduled game with the Elgin Parkettes, Sunday, it marked the third time this year the local baseball club has been forced to postpone a game because of inclement weather conditions.

On May 12 the slated opener with Libertyville was called off because of rain and the Decatur boys' team with Long Grove was also postponed for the same reason. Coincidentally all three were to have been home games.

In case the worst case of rain and baseball weather has been experienced for some time.

Face Cary Sunday

Provided the weather catches up with itself, the Bears will meet the face-saving Cary Indians in a game at the local field, Sunday. Cary has been playing good ball lately and will be a tough nut to crack. The Indians have lost only one game this year and their list of victories includes a win over the strong Elgin Parkettes. Their lone loss was to Long Grove, with whom the Bears have a home and home series this spring.

Merchant Softball Team to Play First Home Game Friday

Barrington's Merchant softball team will play its first home game of the season at the local diamond Friday night.

A strong Elgin team will be the opposition for the local team which is slated to start at 6:45 p. m. The Merchant have won both of their practice games so far and plans are being made to bring some of the strongest softball aggregations in this district to the local diamond.

Probably lineup for Friday's game is: Taylor, c; B. Grobner, 1b; Giese, 2b; Cline, 3b; Wolf, 4b; W. Grobner, rf; R. Grobner, lf; T. Grobner, cf; T. Grobner, p.

Las Bartholomew Added to Pitching Staff of Elgin Council Nine

Las Bartholomew of Barrington, former major league star, has been added to the pitching staff of the Elgin Trades Council nine last week in an effort by the club to bolster up its mound department.

It pitched for the Pittsburg Pirates in 1927 when they won the pennant and last year he was in the Western League.

The Barrington hurler expects to win his Elgin debut in a game this week.

Woodpeckers Good Climbers Woodpeckers have feet well fitted for climbing, and in the most likely specialized force have attained tails which aid in the climbing process.

Porcupine's Tooth Givies More Trouble Than Quill

Because of their quills, porcupines have always attracted much interest, says the United States Department of Agriculture. To the farmer or timber owner, however, the teeth of these animals are far more important than the quills. In the late summer, fall and winter, porcupines in their efforts to get at the inner layer of bark of young trees often gnaw them, causing serious injury, sometimes killing the trees. Porcupines also sometimes damage cultivated crops, chiefly during spring and summer. At this time they may destroy young fruit trees or feed upon alfalfa and truck crops.

Contrary to popular notion, porcupine quills are not shot by the animal. They are, however, sharp and finely barbed, and occasionally live stock and game animals are injured by them. In areas where these animals increase greatly they may become injurious, in which case control measures are necessary. This is true particularly in the West where the yellow-haired porcupine often does considerable damage to pine trees. Where porcupines occur in small numbers and are not seriously destructive, naturalists of the bureau of biological survey say they should not be molested.

The plan of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology was formed in 1859. It was incorporated in 1861, and the first meeting for organization was held April 8, 1862. The Civil war led to a postponement of the opening of the School of Industrial Science until 1905.

Powdered Skim Milk Is Made With Huge Rollers

The manufacture of powdered skim milk is a simple process, yet one requiring great care in operation. Briefly, the skim milk is allowed to fall at a specified rate down into the trough made by two steel rollers. The rollers are hollow drums perhaps 4 feet in diameter and heated by steam to a high temperature. The rollers meet so closely only a thin film of milk passes between, and this film, in the course of three-quarters of a revolution, becomes dried into a paper-like sheet which is scraped off by knives before the roller passes more into the pool of milk. The sheet resembles parchment, but is not so stiff. It falls into a trough where a spiral knife forces it along to a conveyor which carries it up to the grinding and packing room where the milk falls from the grinder directly into sacks in which it is to be shipped.

This method cannot be used for whole milk, as the butterfat would fry and spoil the taste of the product.

In powdering whole milk the milk is forced in a very fine spray through a hot air blast which moves all the moisture and permits the powder to fall in a heap at the bottom of the drying room.

Bird-Eating Spiders
The largest member of the spider family is known to scientists as the Avicularia, but to those who like to be able to pronounce their words he is the hairy-legged or bird-eating spider. The largest of this species, with a body as big as a saucer and a leg spread that would make it hard to cover with a dinner plate, is found in the jungles of British Guiana. Bird-eating spiders of some what smaller size are also found in Central and rarely in North America, where they are commonly referred to as tarantulas. A tarantula is a form of spider, but it rarely exceeds three-fourths of an inch in length and can be identified by its longer legs. While a tarantula's venom is very strong, it is no more so than any spider of comparative size. The bird-eating species possibly kill a man with a bite, and would certainly cause a painful wound, but to a person in good health the bite should do no more than cause pain with possibly a temporary paralysis. At any rate, they make poor pets.—Pallander Magazine.
