The Word "Scab"
As early as 1811 the word "scab" specared in Selected Cases of the State of New York, Vol. 1, Pare 202: "The offending member was then termed a such and wherever he was employed no others of that society were allowed to work."

Last Saturday one lone oily tongued out-of-town salesman of fake advertising went hunting among Barrington merchants and bagged six of them

Nearly every week during the summer months one or more alleged advertising men selling inferior cut and copy service call on merchants of this community sometimes claiming to represent the Barrington Review-frau-dulently, of course. They produce a copy of the paper, probably purchased

Their service sells at anywhere from $26 to $156, is usually made up of 52 advertising layouts and is accompanied by mounted cuts or mats. These layouts seldom if ever have any real merit. Good advertising work can find a market with the legitimate advertising agencies; but the poorer stuff sifts through to the gyps who employ smooth salesmen to pawn it off on

The Review and other reputable newspapers supply good advertising cut and copy service to their patrons without
