

Catlow Feature Is "Public Hero Number 1" Sunday

"Becky Sharp" Color Picture With Miriam Hopkins in Three-Day Run

Current attractions scheduled for the local theatre list "Public Hero Number 1" for Sunday and Monday; and "Becky Sharp," Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

"Public Hero Number 1" presents the rapid-fire exploits of the nation's G-men, with the stars Lionel Barrymore, Jean Arthur and Chester Morris heading the cast.

The glamorous Miriam Hopkins was chosen to play the title role in "Becky Sharp," with Francis Drake, Cedric Belfrage, Nigel Bruce, Alan Skiff and Alton Stryker in support.

"Vanity Fair" supplies the story which concentrates upon the devastating career of Thackeray's coquette.

Adding to and heightening the dramatic attraction "Becky Sharp" is the marvellous color production of the photoplay. Life flows thru this picture to a degree surpassing the ordinary black and white film as picturebook does.

"Becky Sharp" received the most sensational acclaim during its recent premier in New York and Chicago. It comes now to the Catlow for its earliest community showing.

The regular 9 p. m. feature for registered patrons will take place Friday and Saturday.

Friday's fare will be royally entertained by Gene Raymond and Ann Southern in "Hour of Love."

Saturday, Lyle Talbot, Andy Devine and Valerie Hobson will provide thrills in the mystery opus, "Chinatown Squad."

Because of a conflict in dates, next week Friday's Jackpot feature will be held Tuesday, with Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe as wisecracking, roving pals in the story of New York's subway, "Under Pressure."

Quivering Aspen Leaves

One of the most legends in the Christian world concerns the constant quivering of aspen leaves, even in apparently still air. A large number of people believe the aspen tree supplied the wood for the cross and has never ceased to tremble for the part it played in the crucifixion. T. B. First Flood of Literature

The first great flood of literature for the masses was the "chap books" which were sold from door to door by chapmen, or peddlers, in England, Scotland and the American colonies during the eighteenth century. These cheap little pamphlets, which covered a wide variety of popular subjects, were eagerly bought by the common people, could not afford or understand the expensive and erudite books and magazines of that time—Collier's Weekly.

Fire Destroys Large Barn on Coltrin Farm Friday at Lake Zurich

A large barn was destroyed by fire Friday on the M. J. Coltrin estate located two miles east of Lake Zurich on Route 22. Three fire departments answered the emergency call but were unable to check the flames consuming the barn. Efforts were directed at saving the palatial home and other buildings on the farm.

Approximate damage done by the fire was estimated at $1000. The structure had recently been re-roofed and other repairs made. Now-ent hay had filled the barn and furnished added impetus to the flames. Origin of the fire could not be determined but it was first noticed between a silo and the big barn.

Lake Zurich fire fighters answered the call and upon reaching the scene sent word to companies from Long Grove and Palatine to respond. Attention was directed to keeping the fire from spreading to other buildings.

TRANSIENT ADVERTISING SWINDLERS GO HUNTING IN BARRINGTON

Last Saturday one lone oily tongued out-of-town salesman of fake advertising went hunting among Barrington merchants and bagged six of them for $97, giving absolutely nothing but promises in return.

Nearly every week during the summer months one or more alleged advertising men sell inferior cut and copy service call on merchants of this community sometimes claiming to represent the Barrington Review—fraudulently, of course. They produce a copy of the paper, purchased for 5 cents, and use it as a card of introduction. Then they go to work. Their service sells at anywhere from $26 to $156, is usually made up of 52 advertising layouts and is accompanied by mounted cuts or mats. These layouts seldom if ever have any real merit. Good advertising work can find a market with the legitimate advertising agencies; but the poorer stuff sifts through to the gyps who employ smooth salesmen to pawn it off on unsuspecting merchants throughout the country.

The Review and other reputable newspapers supply good advertising cut and copy service to their patrons without any charge except the regular advertising space cost. Merchants who buy inferior cut and copy service from the peddlers pay heavily for the service and then if they use it they pay for space in the newspapers in addition—doubling the cost and getting inferior advertising.

Local Merchant:

If one of these transient peddlers tries to sell you newspaper advertising cut service, just remember that The Review will furnish a better cut service without any additional cost what-so-ever.

Long Grove to Be Here Sunday for Tilt With Bears

Elgin Parksides' Only 6 Wins in Series

The Bears will be hosts to the Elgin Parksides at a twilight game, Tuesday night, at Spunner's park. Action is slated to start at approximately 8:15 p. m.

Although Palatine is one of our nearest neighboring towns, this will be the first time in quite a few years that a baseball team from that village has played here. Nevertheless, while playing against the Bears, the Elgin Parksides are in hope of having their "initial battle" and is their own favor.

Braves and Cubs Tie for First Place in Jewel Softball Race

The Braves and Cubs are again tied for first in the Jewel Softball league with records of five games won and two lost. With only three games remaining to be played by each team, there are four teams still in the running for first place. The Braves and Cubs will meet in a crucial game, the winner having an inside track to the league title.

Leading In Rattle

Contrary to the popular belief, you cannot always tell a rattlesnake's age by the number of joints on its rattle. This reptile is born with nothing more than a horny knob at the end of its tail, but after three days it sheds its skin and a joint is added to the knob. The skin-shedding process is repeated several times a year, and with each succeeding molt another bony ring is added. Until it has accumulated four or five joints the rattlesnake cannot make more than a faint rattling sound, but as the number of joints increases it is able to express annoyance by rapidly vibrating its tail, producing a shrill "rattle" which may be heard 20 yards away. When the number of joints exceeds seven, they generally begin to break off, so that when an elderly rattlesnake loses its temper it also loses part of its rattle.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Color, Luster, Shape, Determine Pearl's Value

Four factors determine the value of a pearl—color, luster, shape and size, according to an authority in the Washington Star. While many kinds of oysters make pearls, the kind in demand are a few only, made by mollusks possessing a special type of shell with an inner lining of mother-of-pearl—that is, a lining with a fine iridescence. This same iridescence "imparts to the pearl giving it the rare beauty desired in gems."

While pearls are largely a matter of individual taste, most people seem to prefer the white stone. But to the true expert the pink pearl of a fine delicate tint is most desirable. Golden yellow and greenish blacks are also highly prized by connoisseurs. The technical term for the characteristic pearly luster is "orient." This exists in various intermediate stages between dull and bright. If a pearl has the finest orient—that is, an unusually brilliant one—it might be worth many times the value of the same sized pearl with inferior luster. Large-sized pearls of exceptional quality are exceedingly rare. Generally speaking, the most desirable pearl is a perfectly spherical pearl.

Waterfowl Hunters Are Warned to Buy Stamps for Migratory Birds

Waterfowl hunters are warned by the department of agriculture to purchase stamps for hunting privileges.

These stamps are issued under an act of congress to all the persons engaged in the business of waterfowl hunting for the purpose of breeding, feeding and resting areas of water and land.

Every person over 16 years of age, who hunts migratory waterfowl, is required to carry on his person a validated hunting stamp.

Stamps are on sale at postoffices and are for the year beginning July 1 and ending June 30.

It is unlawful to hunt without a stamp and is punishable with a fine of not more than $500, or imprisonment for not more than six months or by both fine and imprisonment.

The stamp does not exempt hunters from complying with state and federal regulations.

Indiana Were Chiselers

America had adopted chiselers many centuries before that work took on its shabby meaning. They were prehistoric Indians who occupied the site of the Petrified Forest National Monument in Arizona and used sharp stone implements instead of their axes. On the cliff-sides of the mesa, says the Los Angeles Times, they incised their impressions of the remarkable, and the primitive drawings and symbols constitute a remarkable example of the art of a remote people. These fascinating petroglyphs of a forgotten race, a challenge to the modern imagination, have been seen by comparatively few visitors to the forest, which since has turned into stone. The area is so rough that only expert hikers and fearless climbers dare close inspection.

The Harvest Moon

The harvest moon is the full moon occurring nearest the date of the autumnal equinox, September 22. The continuance of light after sunset is very useful to the farmers when taking in their crops. The hunter's moon is the full moon immediately following the harvest moon. The expression harvest moon occurs in English literature as early as 1706. In 1710 there is reference to the hunter's moon.

Python, World's Largest Snake; Anaconda, Second

The largest snake in the world is the python. The anaconda is second and the boa third.

Fantastic stories are told about these great serpents swallowing cars and tigers. Such facts are impossible. A python might possibly kill them by crushing them in its mighty coils, but the largest animal it could dispose of is a man in a dog or a goat.

The netted python of Asia, India, and the Malay Archipelago, which sometimes exceeds 30 feet in length, is the largest of the pythons. Its color is light yellowish-brown with aquaria black markings. Savage in disposition, inhabiting low-lying and hot regions, it grows slowly and probably lives to a great age. Pythons hang motionless from trees by their prehensile tails, or lurk in grass or water for their unsuspecting victims, which consist chiefly of birds, rodents and other small animals. They are greatly dreaded by the natives of the region.

The python lays from 50 to 100 eggs, around which the female rolls her body for two months before they are hatched.—Tit Bits Magazine.

Dutchman Has Many Uses for Popular Wood Shoes

The wooden shoe or klop can take rank as a national institution in Holland. Fashioned usually out of poplar wood, it serves all kinds of uses. In addition to protecting the feet.

On the island of Marken, they are more ornamental than elsewhere, but they are always picturesque to an American for all their seeming clumsiness.

The klop does not, however, appear to bother the movements of a Dutchman, who can jump a stile without losing them. They can be used for the same purpose as a Britisher uses his flat, and even more effectively, for if a short and tall Dutchman have a quarrel they are on more equal footing than if they tried to use their hands.

When the klopman are worn out they make admirable boats for the children to sail on the canals.

A lock-keeper on the canals drags a klop at the end of a line over a boat into which the toll is dropped.—Boston Globe.

Rhode Island's Capital

Rhode Island in its early days had almost as many capitals as it had towns, as the general assembly met in circuit, first in one town and then to another. Finally, in 1639, a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer, with the growth of the assembly, the meeting places were reduced to two places, Providence and Newport, as the cities which could take care of so many extra people. For many years these two cities were retained with the legislature opening its annual session in May at Newport and after a few days adjourning for a more extended session at Providence, which began the following January. Since 1800 the legislature has met at Providence and the state's constitution is amended as to dispose with the Newport session.

First Jersey Cow

The first importation of Jersey cows was made in 1850. A few more were brought over about 20 years later, and from 1870 to 1880 there were numerous importations. Since 1880 many Jerseys have been imported every year.

Second Installment on General Taxes Are Now Payable in Lake County

Second installments of general taxes in Lake County are now payable and will become delinquent September 1. A penalty of one per cent a month is assessed on taxes unpaid after that date. The first payment was due and payable June 1.

County Treasurer Allen J. Nelson has sent out statements on the general taxes this week and is accepting payments.

Three years ago the first payment system was inaugurated to give property owners an opportunity to make partial payments with out incurring penalties.

Nelson has already turned over to various municipal, county, township, school districts and other taxing bodies the collected taxes for the year. Two distributions have been made, one in May for $1,953,712.40 and another the first of July, totaling $1,437,750.00.

Delinquent lists of all taxpayers will be published shortly after the final day of payment in September.

James Plazge Describes Hardy Life of Foresters Camping in Oregon Woods

James Plazge, who is spending the summer as a forester at a camp in Oregon, contributed the following article to the July 15 issue of "Summer Quarter News," the Iowa State College.

La Pine, Ore., July 8.—Four weeks of "roughing it" in the 1935 forestry summer camp near here in the Deschutes National Forest has transformed 38 college foresters into proficient woodsmen.

A miniature city of 20 army tents has sprang up on the shores of a small crater lake in an ancient forest of yellow pine. Their day starts at 6:30 a. m. with breakfast. At 7:30 instructions begin, to be interrupted by a half hour lunch at noon. The active day closes at 4 p. m.

Timber cruising, type studies, and inspection of logging operations have comprised the work so far. Twelve hundred and eighty acres of land have been examined up to the present. The evenings are spent in working up reports, writing letters, or swapping tales around the campfire.

On August 20 the crew will divide into two parties, one to make an inspection tour of the Mount Shasta National Forest and the Redwood region in northern California, the other to visit Mount Hood and the lumber industries in the vicinity of Portland, Ore. The camp will close September 1.

Infinitely Small
With the word "infinitesimal" this expression is in good literary usage, and has appeared at various times since 1740. One may properly use "infinitesimal small," in fact, this adverb modifier is more frequent than "infinitely." Either usage is supported by good authority.—Literary Digest.

side of West Station street from near Hough street several hundred feet west to Kilgobin sewer.

8-inch pipe from sag in middle of Garfield street east to Kilgobin sewer.

8-inch pipe on north side of West Lincoln avenue from near Dundee avenue west to Lakeshore street, then west side of Lakeshore street to foot of West Lake street.

8-inch pipe on north side of West Station street from near Dundee avenue west to Lakeshore street.

8-inch pipe on south side of West Main street from foot of Dundee avenue west to Lakeshore street.

8-inch pipe from sag in middle of Harrison street west halfway to Grant avenue.

8-inch pipes on west side and outside of Harrison avenue from several hundred feet south of Lawrence street to Lawrence street.

8-inch pipe on south side of Chestnut street from North Cook street to old tile sewer near Elm street.

8-inch pipe on north side and south side of Washington street from sag midway between Washington and Northwest highway west to North avenue.

The above listed storm water pipe will be laid in parkways, and will discharge into ditches, onto pavement, or into storm water sewers, as found most convenient and practical.

Storm water inlets will be placed at all streets where the water will flow freely to a low point or sag where it can be picked up by a storm water sewer, or an old tile drain. In other words, all water falling or running on streets will be allowed to run to the low points on the streets and will there be picked up by the storm water pipe. Inlet grates will be made large enough to handle the water flow. However, it is necessary to build a storm sewer large enough to handle cloudbursts, for the cost would be too great.

Practically all municipalities build sewers big enough to handle cloudbursts or the heavy rains which occur maybe every 7 to 10 years. But the storm sewer should be built to be able to handle the ordinary downpours.

People who have flooded basements during ordinary downpours of water should report their troubles to the chairman of the sewer committee, John H. D. Blake, or to the village clerk, giving their name and the address of their location; then the trouble can be looked into if necessary. The sewer plans can be readjusted to give better storm water

Several conditions have already been noted by the sewer committee which will be embodied in the new plan. It is necessary that the property owners in the village cooperate with the sewer committee in solving the sewer problem adequately.

It is impossible to state definitely just how much work will be necessary on private property to make changes in sewer connections. There should not be very much and it will be only where change is made from the combined sewer to a new sanitary sewer. However, the property owners will be asked to disconnect their roof drains from the sewer and to disconnect the overflow from their rainwater cisterns also from the sanitary sewer. The roof water may be run onto the lawn, or a pipe laid in the lawn and extended into the street curb.

It will also be necessary to eliminate the use of outhouses on properties having sewers in the street, as the use of outhouses in towns the size of Barrington is contrary not only to village law but to state law.

The third and final installment of Mr. Blake's letter will be published in The Review next week.

Waukegan Taxpayers Group Asks Repeal of Funding Act Created to Pay Bill

The plan of the Lake County board of supervisors to issue $188,000 funding bonds to raise money to pay off delinquent claims against the county has been met with a formal protest last week from the Waukegan Taxpayers' association.

The association has filed a payment petition against the plan. The principal objection is failure of the county to collect taxes. Delinquent taxes are the result of inability to pay on the part of the property owners, the petition states.

Cuba Assessment Roll Published in Review Today

Real and Personal Property Extensions Listed in This Issue

A correct list of all real estate and personal property in the Town of Cuba, including rural and part of villages, with the assessed value thereon as extended for the year 1935 and published as required by statute, appears in this issue of the Barrington Review.

It is recommended that all taxpayers who believe their assessments are in error should file an objection with the board of review immediately. This board is purposely to hear objections and equitably assess values.

The address is Board of Review Court House, Waukegan, Ill. A copy of this issue of The Review is being mailed out to all property owners in Cuba township but if any reader learns of a Cuba township property owner who failed to get a copy, he will be doing a favor by advising him to call at the review office where copies of the paper are available.

The real estate assessments are extended only once every four years. It is therefore important that each real estate owner refer to his property assessment in this roll.

The Review was also selected as a medium for publishing the real estate and assessment roll for the town of Elia. This publication was made July 4.

Mr. Cady, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cady, was born on a farm west of Barrington and has spent the entire life in this vicinity. He retired from active farming about 27 years ago and has made his home in the village since that time. His aunt, Mrs. Clark Tierney was one of the first white children born here in this vicinity.
