

George L. Wilburn Completes 30 Years With Telephone Co.

Friends are extending congratulations to George L. Wilburn, manager of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company, a former resident of Barrington who makes his home in Woodstock.

Mr. Wilburn, although still a comparatively young man, has been in the service of the telephone company thirty years.

On December 16, 1915, Mr. Wilburn entered the service of the company at Barrington. He served first as night operator for three years, then as repairman another three years, after which he was promoted to wire chief.

In 1918 he was transferred to Woodstock, where he continued in the same line of work, but after two years was promoted to the position of district wire chief.

In 1926, following the transfer of Everett A. Judd, then local manager, to the position of district manager of the district with headquarters at Waukegan, Mr. Wilburn was named as Mr. Judd's successor.

Mr. Wilburn is manager not only at Woodstock, but in all covers an area including twelve exchanges located in McHenry, Lake and Cook counties.

In these 30 years he has seen the telephone service in this locality grow from a small town to a large one, one of the largest and most important services in every town, city and hamlet in the country.

Monday evening a group of telephone employees from the several exchanges gathered at Crystal Lake to observe Mr. Wilburn's anniversary and enjoy a Christmas party. Gifts were exchanged and congratulations extended to their chief.

Building Activity Still Exceeds Million Dollars Despite Seasonal Slump

The month of November brought on the first slump in building trade for the entire year when no permits were issued in Barrington for construction work. November 1934, however, a total of $900,000 were issued. Despite the drop during November building in Barrington will be in excess of figures for 1934. Reports from 53 communities in the Chicago suburban area show a seasonal slump but still continue to exceed the million-dollar mark.

Detailed figures in the neighboring communities are:

Art of Caricature
The practice of personal caricature is at least as old as to be recorded by Aristotle and Aristotle's book of wisdom tell some thing of an artist named Pauson who made caricatures for the people and was used to enter for his art. Pliny mentions two sculptors, Bupalus and Atthens, who by way of a joke exhibited a portrait of the poet Hippocrates, who was very ugly for public ridicule. The poet retaliated with an antithetic verse so effective that the sculptors hanged themselves.

Sand Life in New Mexico
Ordinary gray sand mice become white in the sands of New Mexico. Birds lose their color, bugs become vivid and even larger animals take a more spectral appearance. In parts of the sands there is no animal life and the sparse vegetation wages a hopeless war with the sand.

Farmers on Corn Crop

Tenant farmers will no longer be required to have their landlords sign a lien before they can borrow money on their 1936 corn crop, it was announced this week by Craig O. Black, assistant manager of the Chicago loan agency of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The Commodity Credit Corporation, in Washington, has advised the R.F.C. that it has waived the clause in its 1935-36 loan instructions addressed to lending agencies in the seventh Federal Reserve district, in which it was stated that, "If the note is satisfied by a payment singly or in installments, the lien will be removed." One of these amplified his statement: "Legal people say 'mowka'—outsiders say 'mowka'." Another wrote: "We pronounce it the same as Moscow, Russia, riming with the word 'go'." The postmasters of Moscow, Idaho, and of Moscow, Idaho, were mentioned in his Twelfth Night in the line: "Although the sheet was big enough for the Bed of Ware." —Pearson's Weekly.

While no standards have been set for coloring the most favored are black and tan, pure white and saffron and white. It is essentially a working dog and in no sense can be placed in any other class. In weight it approximates 90 pounds.

The collie, like other dogs of medium size and abundant energy, must have plenty of exercise and confinement is quite likely to bring on illness. It should be given frequent runs and led to frolic with the children as it will. The well-bred collie should cause no concern among parents as to its dependability with children. It is a natural guardian and trustworthy.

The romantic story of the efforts of France to hold the place—called by the French "Royale"—and of their building the great Dunkirk of America—Louis XIV—was unique in the history of French colonization.

At the time of the fall of Canada the island was an important subject of debate in the setting of peace terms, for France was going to give it up. The Treaty of Paris finally ceded Cape Breton to the British.

Officials and soldiers who had fought in the war were given grants of land as reward for their services, but Cape Breton was considered too valuable an asset to be disposed of at once.

Postponed Letting to Be Held January 10; May Alter Plans

December 12. This meeting will become better and with the engineering and possible alternatives in the plan. Another special meeting will be held at 1:15 p. m. Friday, December 17, in the village hall. At the same time, Attorney David B. Bauer will present a report and be reelected, as follows by Mr. Bauer:

"To obtain the desired improvement for Barrington, it will be necessary to supplement the work to be awarded January 10 by additional construction in order to complete the improvements. It is not possible to let all work on January 18, because of bids exceeding the estimated cost."

The suggestion was that the disposal plant be combined in several sections—each a separate contract. This would result in a larger amount of work and might result in competition and more funds. It was suggested that the job could be completed in sections and as much completed as the allotted funds will pay for, with additional construction to be let at a later date.

This suggestion was not received favorably by the board members.

The suggestion was a low-bid. The minimum wage has been whopped up to a wage with union labor representatives and favored—actually more so—by the public officials.

A third suggestion was elimination of some small parts of the and a less expensive disposal plant.

This would not reduce the materials and was not given favorable support by the board members. The suggestion was that the public administration will not let the sewer department of Barrington and use revenue from the sewer bonds and water bonds, or to retire the bonds from the same source.

This suggestion has been estimated to bring 25 to 50 per cent more to be borne by the village. At the Maloney declared at the meeting Monday that even though sewer might cost more as the result of the public works and engineering improvements, the village will be $40,000 to $60,000 much the PWA cooperation due to 192,500 grant.

The village will receive the full participation of the PWA in an effort to obtain satisfactory bids for the project. Mr. Maloney assured the board Monday night. He had a conference Monday morning with C. H. Bang, Illinois director of the PWA. The village board has the entire lease privately, except for the $50,000 grant from the public works that can be worked out, although the PWA has not permitted this generally on previous projects, Mr. Bauer told the Barrington village attorney.

The combined sewer and water disposal plant will be outlined at the meeting in the engineer's office and reported, as follows by Mr. Bauer:

"To obtain the desired improvement for Barrington, it will be necessary to supplement the work to be awarded January 10 by additional construction in order to complete the improvements. It is not possible to let all work on January 18, because of bids exceeding the estimated cost."

prophecies by Moses, David and Isaiah. The second scene has the title: "His Coming is Announced to Mary." Then follows the main scene entitled: "He Is Born" followed by the fourth and fifth scenes: "He Is Brought to the Shepherds" and "He Is Worshipped by the Wise Men."

This purely Biblical pageant will be presented by the children of the Sunday school in place of the regular Children's Christmas program. The singing will be directed by Mrs. H. Parkhurst and the accompaniment will be played by Miss Gwendolyn Wolfe.

St. Paul Evangelical
St. Paul Evangelical church will be devoted to playlets, music and readings. Recitations and songs have been assigned to the young people for presentation. The first part of the evening will be handled by the choir. The program will begin at 7:30 p. m.

A group of Junior girls under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Adele Green, will portray a pantomime, "Silent Night, Holy Night."

A major feature of the program will be the presentation of a playlet, "A Christmas Eve Dream," under the direction of Miss Ruth Wiedenbeck. The play portrays the realization of a truly happy and joyous Christmas to a family that lives under impoverished conditions.

Members of the cast are: Helen June, Norma Lee Magill, Norrine Sasse, Margaret Wiedenbeck, Sylvia Ost, Margaret Grom, Leonore Bier, Betty Lee Schreiber.

At 8 a. m. Christmas morning a Candlelight service will be given in the church under the supervision of Mrs. Alice R. Reiter, director. The program follows:

Prudete: "Silent Night, Holy Night," choir; "O Come, All Ye Faithful," choir and congregation.

St. Matthew Church

Preparations are being made at the St. Matthew Evangelical Lutheran church for the presentation of a Christmas pageant on Christmas Eve at 7:30 in the church.

The title of the pageant is "Christ and His Star" and it is in chronological order the Christmas story as it is described in the Bible. It will be presented in five scenes.

The first scene is entitled, "His Coming Is Foretold by Prophets."

This scene describes the writing of the Old Testament Messianic

YOU SAID SOMETHING, SPARTA!

A home-town newspaper always stands for the good things in any community. No worthwhile movement succeeds without the newspaper's support. A worthwhile newspaper can accomplish much good and usually does, but seldom does an individual appreciate it. If newspapers charged for the space they devote to boosting a community the publishers could soon retire. Yet the publisher profits no more from community progress than does the average citizen. EMMA GARY WALLACE

Baby talk, on the part of older persons may at times sound amusing and even amusing when imitated by the youngest of the family, but it isn't fair to the child. Why, when he is not a baby copy which is well continue to follow, and eventually have to unlearn?

A little child has a great deal to learn in this big and complex world into which he has come, and we must admit that he learns an amazing number of things in the first few months and years. Why duplicate what is good for him?

And, other than he has to learn the use of lips and tongue and teeth and throat muscles in making sounds. And he has to learn combinations of sounds and connect them with objects and actions and emotions of different kinds. You would expect that all persons, who are prone to do this, would naturally do it for the syllables or letters over, which his unaccustomed articulation stutters, and give him a clearly and slowly enunciated sample of the right sound to be used.

If it were noted, for example, that little Billy could say "kitty," but was in the habit of saying "whitcheen," which is his fault, you would expect would serve to pronounce the word "kitchene" distinctly, using such sentences as "Kitty is in the kitchen." This would give Billy an association of sounds to guide him. She would never ask him to say "whitcheen," but it would probably be noticeable that in a few days he would drop the faulty pronunciation.

Off instead, this mother should do a good deal of talking about "whitcheen" being wrong, or should expect the pronunciation in the form of baby talk, the error would be more or less deeply engrained on his mind, and it would be correspondingly difficult for him to drop the incorrect syllable.

Similarly, it is often wiser not to take much notice of undesirable "echo words," which the children pick up from others, but instead of that to set the right copy and sound in a wholesome language and conversation, and make correspondingly difficult for him to drop the incorrect syllable.

A wise man said, "I am the sum total of all I have ever met." Our characters are made up of our reactions to the influences with which we have made contact. So it is very important and vital that the best influences should be given our children, in order that they may far outweigh those less desirable ones which they will inevitably meet.

A business man speaks of losses as represented by figures "in the red." Baby talk and faulty conduct expect belong "in the red."

Precautionary Measures for Christmas Listed by American Red Cross

A bulletin of precautionary measures against accidents has been listed by the American Red Cross with the suggestion that they be followed during the holiday season. D. M. McLean, director of accident prevention service, has compiled a schedule of things that cause the majority of accidents.

Following is a list of those to avoid:

Keep Christmas trees in solid bases and away from fireplace or heat source. Trees should be instructed to hold water—dry trees are very inflammable. Use small electric bulbs on trees rather than candles, use sturdy step ladder in trimming trees, inspect and overhaul bulb sets before using, use fire extinguisher always on hand, use care and judgment in selecting safety film for small children, insist on safety film for all motion picture movies, try out and explain electrical toys before they are used by children. Insist on safety of proper use of bicycles in traffic, caution children against "hitching" on trees with sleds, use safe hills and ice for sledding and skating, all sledding and skating should be under adult supervision, the preceding officers received $5.00 per diem.

To its supreme crisis comes the farm control program, itself the fruit of nearly 20 years of political struggle in the counsels of the nation.

Crisis is the hearing by the highest court of case involving two key laws.

The first is the agricultural adjustment act, which imposes a tax on producers of farm products and permits the payment of benefits to those farmers who cooperate in adjusting production with demand.

The other is the Bankhead act, which taxes production in excess of allotments fixed by the government.

The department of justice sets forth grounds to show that consumers may order the economic balance to restore farm balance and stabilize rural incomes. To support its contention with language of the constitution, the department argues that the tax is imposed uniformly and the proceeds are needed to promote the general welfare.

Opponents counter that the tax is a regulation, and a form of regulation denied by the constitution.

Of what value is a cease and desist order against "unfair labor practices" issued by the National Labor Relations board?

The first one is to the law, the second is the Bankhead act, which taxes production in excess of allotments fixed by the government.

This is the cold fact revealed by Comptroller of the Currency O'Connor in his report on the national banks as of November 1.

Returns show a drop of loans and discounts from last June of $4 million dollars, which follows a decline of $68 million from October.

Bank loans to the government are another story. These show a rise of $20 million dollars in four months, nearly four times that amount.

Resolutely hopeful, American

Japan: "We must have naval equality with Britain and the United States, qualified by recognition that some nations are more vulnerable than others."

A minor conflict is Italy's demand for naval equality with France.

A battle of maneuvers opens its door to decide how the Public Utility Act is to be tested in the courts.

On one side, utility companies have entered some 60 bills to join the Securities and Exchange commission from enforcing the law, which requires registration of all utility companies and restricts their modes of operation and the nature of their financial holdings.

This is the revised estimate of the American Federation of Labor for October. It is nearly two million above the figure calculated by the National Industrial Commission last month.

The Federation's study indicates a recovery toward normal of one-fourth the ground lost, against which it places a 50 per cent recovery in industrial production.

The lag in employment gets the attention of a new research project to be financed by work-relief funds, and to employ 100,000 persons. They will seek to answer the query: Does the machine creates as many jobs as it destroys?

In this sixth year of the great depression the number of persons without employment remains possibly at 11,647,000.

With 9 Points

High school's cage will appear on the local radio in a pair of conferences with the BHS quintette. The first game is to start at 8:30 p.m. The Brooks are going to climb back into the win column after a sure to meet tough competition from the Palatine varsity.

The Pirates have three six-footers in Stult, Foster, and Wittenberg. Messer and Kraft complete the rest. Palatine has lost two games to the Vikings to Waukon and Lake Forest.

Palatine and Barrington tied for the heavyweight title last season and a keen rivalry exists between the schools.

Loss to Leyden
in flagged form, a comparison over the fine performance of Lake Forest the before. Barrington high is Brooks' 22 to 19 in a non-conference basketball at Franklin Park, Friday.

The defeat dropped the out of the conference lead immed considerably changed repeat championship season.

Eagles built up a 7-2 lead in first quarter, held a 12-5 at the half, and were 26-14 at the end of the period.

Broncos Off-form to detract from Leyden's earned victory. Coach Paul Broncos nevertheless had that "off" night. Defense fair, basket shooting was pawing was worse, being Friday the 13th not to do with it but the quintet was obviously off.

the other hand Coach L. R.
Bragg's Eagles played smart, sharp ball, allowing the Bronx a minimum of set shots at basket. Lanky center, paced with four field goals and free throw. Hager led Broncos with two baskets and free throws, Grabenhorst and Bromm following with five each.

Broncos made eight out of 14 free throws, a percentage of 57. Leyden eight out of 12, percentage.

Ponies Win
Hofford's wild Ponies a bombshell into the conference by defeating the favored Leyden Eaglets by 22 to 19. Ed Gaare, headed the Ponies with most of these of the day one-handed variety.
Hofford led 6-4 in the quarters, 13 at the half, was knotted 11 all at the three men on foul and pawing in the final minutes the "diabetes" trouble,
