John H. D. Blanke Prepares Detailed Report on Sewer

Village Trustee John Blanke read a detailed report on the sewer project Monday night explaining the operation of the proposed sewer system and treatment plant in respect to the alternatives suggested by the village engineers.

When the village board first called for bids and were not successful in receiving a major improvement that it was learned that contractors were reluctant to bid the project for the money available.

Mr. Blanke's report is being kept on file to compare with bids received on January 10.

"I Found Stella Parish" Featured Sunday, Monday

Du Maurier's Classic Drama, "Peter Ibbetson" Will Run Two Days

Distinctive shows are on the screen at the Catlow both Friday and Saturday nights.

Friday: Warren William and Patricia Ellis appear in, "The Case of the Lucky Legs," an engaging number of mystery and little fun. An item of equal interest for this bill is the new screen offering of Major Bowes presenting his stars of radio.

Saturday: Robert Donat, well-remembered star of "Monte Cristo," leads the cast of "The 39 Steps." In this spy story from the pen of John Buchan, action is rapid-paced against a background of intrigue and romance.

Beautiful Ray Francis, with Sybil Jason, Ian Hunter and Paul Lukas have the leading roles in "I Found Stella Parish," the Sunday-Monday feature.

This is the amazing story of a celebrated actress, whose past forces her to disappear mysteriously. How she is restored to her career forms the plot of the picture.

"Top Flat," a late comedy with Thelma Todd and Patsy Kelly will be shown on this program.

Tuesday brings Lee Tracy and Bette Davis in "The Sign of the Cross," a historical drama. It will be offered as the bargain bill at attraction for the week.

Wednesday and Thursday following are the scheduled days for the showing of Du Maurier's, "Peter Ibbetson." It has for its stars, Gary Cooper and Ann Harding, with little Dickie Moore and Virginia Weiler playing the roles of the children.

Du Maurier's novel, play and opera of this title, will be remembered as the story of ideal love, thwarted by prison walls, forcing the pair to carry their love to the realm of dreams.

The new edition of "The March of Time" will be an added item of interest for this bill.

Egyptians Foretell Life on Earth Hereafter

How the ancient Egyptians visualized the projection of the mortal activities of life on earth to the hereafter is illustrated in a collection of wooden model groups of people and equipment, buried in graves of the old kingdom (2500 B. C.) and the middle kingdom (2000 B. C.), on exhibition in the hall of Egyptian archeology at Field Museum of Natural History.

Starting in the old kingdom times with single figures of the dead themselves, their children, and their household servants, which it was believed would serve in another world as substitute bodies if the original mummies should perish, there developed during the middle kingdom a custom of placing in the tomb elaborate groups representing in part people at their household duties and partly the ceremonies conducted for the benefit of the dead. As food was fundamental, figures representing the making of bread and beer, and showing oxen and herds of food, were prominent.

The Great Divide

The Great Divide is an idiomatic name for the Continental Divide in the Rocky mountains watershed, which separates the streams tributary to the Pacific from those tributary to the Atlantic. In a restricted sense the term is sometimes applied to a portion of the main divide in the Missouri National park.

Most Prodiges of Native Stock

The great majority of child prodigies is of American stock, a survey of gifted children at Boston University Graduate school has revealed. The survey showed that if the parents of the talented children were the term is sometimes usually are English, Scotch, Jewish or German.

Fatigue Duties in Army

The term fatigue duties in the army is applied to such duties as have nothing to do with the carrying of arms. The policing of camps and quarters, etc. is a fatigue duty.

Thimbles, Ancient Device, Long Known to Old World

Thimbles did not come into general use in England until the latter part of the Seventeenth century. The little device was known to the Egyptians and Romans, for articles of a similar pattern have been found among Egyptian ruins, and the Romans, according to Seneca, performed the "find the little pea" trick with the brass or bronze ancestor of the modern thimble.

The first machine-made thimbles were turned out in Holland in 1503, by John Lofting, a Dutch inventor to whom the patent was granted.

"Squaring the Circle" Squaring the circle is a famous mathematical problem which scientists of today believe to be impossible. The problem is to find a square equal in area to a given circle; the area of the circle equal to that of the rectangle triangle whose base has the same length and whose altitude equals the radius. The squaring of the circle thus becomes the problem of finding the ratio of the circumference to the diameter.

In 1882 Lindemann proved that this ratio, known as pi, is a transcendental number and hence, since it is not the root of any algebraic equation, cannot be constructed by an assumed unit by the extraction of the square root, that is by using straight edge and compasses—Washington Star.

Noisy Celebration A corollary to a more or less public character, in vogue among the Australian aborigines. It is generally held at night, the men doing the dancing and the women furnishing the music. This dance is the nearest approach to a national institution among these primitive people. It serves also as a peace ratification and as a means of intercommunication.

"The Child's First School Is the Family"—Froebel

Issued by National Kindergarten Assn. 8 W. 40th St. New York

Have You These Number Help?

VIOLA E. HOLLEY
Little Tommy, the youngest of the family, had become interested in numbers. He liked to count the cranes that he brought to his mother when she was preparing breakfast. He counted the glasses of water on the table. He found things among his toys, too, that he could count or carry to something with the question, "How many are there?"

It happened that about this time his mother took him and his older brother for a long visit with their grandparents. There they found an environment especially rich in material that urged Tommy on in his interest. There they found a discovery not unusual, to be sure. They might be found in almost any home, but they are not always thought of as holding so many possibilities for learning as Tommy found in them at just this time when he felt such an eager interest in numbers.

In the first place there was a table that struck the four and the half foot. This was something new to the child and he liked to count the strokes. He began asking questions about the time. Grandpa would take out his watch on such occasions and explain to him the features of the dial and how to tell time. Soon Tommy could tell the hour, then the half hour, and gradually learned the shorter intervals.

These were interesting things hanging up on the walls in this home. One was a calendar with unusually large figures. Tommy often climbed on a chair that stood beneath it and counted the days, pointing to each number as he said it. In this way he learned to count farther than he had before and he came to associate the numbers he represented with the symbols representing them.

Fox River Grove

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olmstead welcomed with Henry Olsen at the Fox River Grove Legion man and has been confined to the hospital for the past three weeks with complications of old wounds in his leg. The Olmsteads were in Chicago to spend the holidays with Mr. Olmstead's mother. They returned home Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Green enjoyed the holidays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Granata, parents of Mrs. Green, of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cattinetta drove to Chicago Sunday after receiving word of the death of a relative.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thibault celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at the home of Mrs. Tele. Mrs. Frank Nagel was in Chicago. It was a surprise party and was attended by 75 relatives and many friends. The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. Nagel's uncle and aunt was also celebrated at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fencil and son Tommy and Mrs. J. Zeiler of Brown were Christmas guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dillon.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cernocky Jr. and son Robert, with Tom Hask, were guests at the home of Mrs. Emma Opatry Christmas Eve.

George Green drove to Chicago to visit with his brothers Saturday. Members of Fox River Grove unit 119 of the Legion Auxiliary held their executive meeting at the home of Mrs. Max Haber. Mrs. Alice Catronetta, president presided. Plans were discussed for the February meeting, when they are hosts to the Melberry county council. Mrs. Ida Nagel was

Then there was a thermometer, one of the kind with a big round face like a clock and a needle pointing to the figure on the dial. The numbers were written in by tens. Tommy became much interested in this and soon learned to tell the temperature of the room. It generally registered between 70 and 85 degrees though, on a hot day, it sometimes climbed to 90 or 95 degrees.

Grandpa had time to play games with the boys, and one of their favorite games was dominoes. At first Tommy only looked on. Gradually it all became something intelligible to him. He learned to match those that were alike. Occasionally one of his older brothers would delight him by playing a game with him. It was not long before, with a little help, he could take his place in the larger group. How his eyes would shine when they said he might play, too!

The grandparents lived in a small town and they found it convenient, at times, to send to mail order houses for goods. They always kept catalogs on hand for this purpose. The boys discovered these and spent hours pouring over the pages, pointing and scribbling away. Tommy had grown far enough by this time to read with a little help he learned to read the prices. This was very interesting to him.

One day Grandpa brought out a yardstick and measured the boys. What child does not delight in such a procedure? The children always all-wed to measure things around the house. Grandpa let them which vegetables, too, that he was preparing to eat.

All of these simple things helped Tommy to make rapid progress in learning about numbers and counting.

named referee and chairman and Mrs. Anna Hoop entertainment chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Ferenc Jr. entertained Mrs. Ferenc's mother and brother from Chicago Christmas day.

Members of the Grove ladies bowling team held a Christmas gathering at Putt's alley Friday evening. Five of the ladies were five men from the Grove team Wednesday.

The regular monthly meeting of unit 119 will be held at the village hall Wednesday.

Max Ferenc Sr. is at work on a large cabinet to be installed in the village hall for the use of the Legion and Auxiliary.

Bottles Dated as Early as 1625, Authority Says
It was between 1625 and 1650 that bottles were first dated, although they had been made before that time, according to an authority quoted in the Detroit News. The first bottles were globular with very little depression in the base. They were of dark red or olive green or more frequently olive amber, with a long neck and prominent rim about the neck.

Between 1675 and 1725 the style of the bottle changed to that with a wider base becoming almost square and having the long neck still but a deep depression in the base.

The fourth type of bottle is the modern cylindrical liquor container. The four styles belonging to the blown glass family.

From about 1775 to 1800 bottles were blown in half clay molds to permit from the top to the bottom slightly. About 1840 American merchants branded their liquor by lettering the bottles, these bottles being molded in two vertical pieces.

Then came the period of quantity production. Aside from liquor bottles there were many types made for household use, among these being a type termed the chestnut shaped bottle with flattened sides.

Efficiency of Fins Aid

Fish to Be So Graceful

The most conspicuous external organs of fishes are the fins. The fins are composed of non-scales membranes supported by bony rays, but the movement of which is controlled by the muscles of the body. The fins are the most powerful of which the fish is capable. The pectoral fins are located on either side of the body and correspond to the hind legs of an animal, say a bird. The upper fin is called the dorsal fin, and sometimes is divided into two or even three parts, appearing to be distinct and not continuous. The anal fin, like the dorsal, may be composed of spines, rays and finlets. Great variations occur in shape, size, position and other features of the fins of different species, thereby making them useful in classification.

Animals of higher animals are found in fishes. The ear, an internal chamber, lies near the eye. It is the otolith or ear stone, which function, as a balance, in determining the equilibrium necessary to fish life. It is highly probable that the ear shares with the lateral line the recording and interpretation of sound and water disturbances.

Nostrils are present, but the part they play in fish make-up is not clearly understood. Though external openings are present, the nostrils do not extend back to the throat, and no apparent assistance is rendered in respiration.

Experiment With Camels

Did Not Last Long Here

In 1855, when Jefferson Davis was secretary of war at Washington, he became president of the Southern Confederacy in the war between the states—congress approved $500,000 for the purchase of camels to be used in military operations in the dry regions of the southwest territory. Lieut. David D. Porter, afterward to become famous as admiral of the navy, was designated to command a vessel to go to Egypt and buy the camels. This ship returned with thirty-three camels and several hundred camels. The animals cost $1,000 each. Next year another shipload, forty-one camels, arrived. Both lots were concentrated at Camp Verde, Texas, and a permanent camp was established to breed the animals and experiment in their use.

During 1857, according to the Kansas City Times, camels were used occasionally in short scouting expeditions and in building a wagon road from Fort Stanton, N. M., to the Mexican frontier of California. Lieutenant Deale, in charge, was so enthusiastic about their usefulness that he recommended that the Secretary of War John B. Floyd, who had succeeded Jefferson Davis, recommended that the camels be purchased by Congress.

The outbreak of the Civil war ended all attempts at exploring expeditions with the camels. In March, 1860, all of them had been sold, mostly to circusmen.

Male Strides Home Nights
Male ostriches of the old world type believe in staying home nights especially during the breeding season. Adult ostriches take turns sitting on the eggs, the male sits for eight hours and the female does the day shift.

Derivation of Word "Budget"
The word "budget" is derived from the old French "bougette," meaning a wallet. The use of the word in its present sense is from the custom of bringing into the house of commons all the papers pertaining to matters of expenditure and laying them on the table.

Resistance of Glass to Crushing Is Very Great
Although glass has been known a long time and is even found in nature as obsidian, a black opaque glass, it has remained for the scientist to show what man can do. As little as glass is an old story, which cannot be said to be truthful any more. In fact, glass still maintains its shape under pressure which would make metals bend like putty, says Popular Mechanics Magazine.

This is hard to believe, but tests at a glass factory, where every kind of glass from bottle glass to the largest telescope made, show that this is true. The resistance of glass to crushing is extremely great. It would take about eight loaded freight cars weighing about 300 tons, or 700,000 pounds, to crush a two-inch cube of hard glass. Even that will yield before this great resistance.

There are three main kinds of glass. There is soda-lime glass, which is made to make up bottles and window panes. Sand, lime and carbonate of soda are the ingredients. The cut glass, so popular years ago, was lead glass which had great brilliancy and can be given high polish. Glass can be made with so much lead in it that it will be equal to that of cast iron. Such glass can be used to protect X-ray technicians against the dangerous effect of these rays.

Barrington Woman's Club

The district board meeting will be held at the Jefferson Park field house, Higgins and 10th avenues, Friday, Jan. 3rd at 10 a. m. This will be followed by the district meeting Thursday, Jan. 9 at the Myrtle Mason temple, Irving Park boulevard and Tripp avenue. Representatives from this club will attend.

Thursday, Jan. 9th at 2:30 p. m. at the public library, William Reichmann will meet with the literature group and talk on "World Affairs." Mr. Reichmann has recently returned from Germany and a large number of members and their friends will want to avail themselves of this opportunity to receive first hand information. These meetings are open to the public.

The seventh district is planning a series of classes in "Parliamentary Procedure," "Applied Psychology," and "Effective Speech." The classes will meet with the Peoples Gas building, 4933 Irving Park boulevard at 9:30 every Tuesday morning beginning January 14 and continuing for ten weeks.

Mrs. G. W. Plummer will be the instructor. Several of our members have worked with Mrs. Plummer either in her classes at Federal headquarters or at the State convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs.

Through the organization of district classes, club members are offered these courses at greatly reduced rates. Further information concerning these classes may be obtained from our president, Mrs. Harold Grebe.

Judge Perry L. Potts day dismissed the petition by Alford to have Hendee removed from office in contempt of court permitting the canvass make by Nov. 6, 1934 returns show that he had been elected county clerk.

Dancing All Day Affair in Corn

There is a town in Iowa where, punctually at noon on a Monday morning every day of the year, the people of the town, in Corn, will dance through the streets in the place and through all to a single tune, played by a band of musicians.

This dancing marathon as the Furry or Furry of origin is lost in the mist of time. It is at least as old as the town itself.

But Hendee doesn't seem to be with the origin. It notes a writer in the Times, it dances and sings. After the song dance by other residents of children, all in their hands have their hands.

The dance is set for three couples for this part of the festival dance by invited musicians, there are a number of notable. The dance, dress coats and blue and white costumes, the music is played by a band of musicians.

The one tune to which stanzas dance is called "The one." The words are by the dancers.

Hendee Fails to Gain From Early Returns of Election Vote

If the results of the Lake county clerk election recount of votes continues as in Cuba, Elia, Vernon and precinct 1 of Deerfield, County Clerk Ross Alford will not lose the office which was recently passed on to him after more than a year of court action.

In these first precincts to be recounted, the former clerk, Low Hendee, received 1416 votes with 11 contested ballots while Alford was credited with 971 votes and 9 contested ballots. This showed little variation from the official canvass return.

While the recount is in progress, Hendee, who is contesting the election of Alford, has been paroled of alleged contempt of court.

Judge Perry L. Persons yesterday dismissed the petition filed by Alford to have Hendee removed because why he should not be held in contempt of court for permitting the canvass board to make the Nov. 6, 1934, election returns show that he did not Alford was elected county clerk.

Dancing All Day Annual Affair in Cornish Town

There is a town in England where, punctually at seven o'clock on a May morning every year the doors of the house are thrown open.

And thereafter, until six in the evening, the people of the town, Cornish, in Cornwall, high and low alike, dance through every house in the place and through the streets all to a single tune, played by the village band.

This dancing marathon is known as the Purry, or Floral dance. Its origin is lost in the mists of antiquity. It is at least as old as the town itself.

But Hendee does not concern it with the origin of the festival, notes a writer in the New York Times. It dances and keeps on dancing. After the early morning dance by older people, the children, all in their Sunday best, have their turn. By mid-day the stage is set for the star turn. The couples for this part of the festival dance by invitation only, and among them are usually a number of nobles. The men wear top hats, dress coats and light-colored trousers, and the women their smartest day gowns.

The one tune to which the floral dance is called the "May snowdrop." The words are sung to it by the dancers.

W.R.C. Installation

The officers of General Thomas Seawey W.R.C. will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Westover, 112 Grant avenue, to make final arrangements for the installation of officers to be held at a special meeting Wednesday evening in the Masonic temple. Mrs. Laura Soboy, past department president of Illinois, will be installing officers. A short program will be given and refreshments served during the social hour.

Italy's Kings

King Duglas died in the fall of 1930 and his son, Francis II, dubbed "the Duke" by the press, succeeded him. The Duglas, however, was not the match for the revolutionists, and his hard-fought rule was a failure. He had been, and consequently the landing of Garibaldi in Sicily in May, 1860, was the start of a general uprising which in a few months had the Bourbon party in complete retreat. Garibaldi was hailed as the liberator, and by popular vote made dictator. A junction with other Italian states under Victor Emmanuel followed.

Plan Dance

A Legion dance will be conducted some time during January, according to Harry Brandt, chairman of the dance committee, who will make a report at the post on Thursday evening. Al Day was to make a report on the Christmas activities conducted by the Legion for boys and girls in Lake Zurich and Barrington.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Not since the speculative spurt in July 1933, before the NRA edicts went into effect, has the index of industrial production stood at so high a level as in November of this year.

The reserve board's index for last month—97 per cent of the 1923-1925 level. July 1933 saw it rise to 100.

Here are some differences between then and now in the industrial scene:

Then, speculation in anticipation of a price rise; now, output being absorbed steadily in continuing demand.

Then, payrolls at only 60 per cent normal; now, earnings of workers at more than 75 per cent of normal.

Then, heavy industry and residential building in a state of paralysis; now, a steady sustained rise in these back logs of recovery.

Element showing the least improvement in employment, the index rising by only 5 points from 80 to 85.

The labor department learns, through a special report, how federal aid for training of apprentices in the place and through the streets has been met in the primary purpose of aiding young workers.

The program is financed by federal money and administered under the department of labor, to which the national youth administration has been made a partner in the task.

Says the report, covering a survey in the textile industry: "Learners working without pay have frequently been made to produce goods sold in regular marketing channels. When their courses in apprenticeship have been completed, they have then been hired as learners at low rates of pay."

Net result is said to be subsidy to the companies at the expense of the government and workers.

Sung to a resolve for action, Representative Jennings, Randolph (Dem.) of West Virginia, chairman of a special committee on crime study, thus comments on Charles A. Lindbergh's departure for England so as to avoid kidnapping of his son Jon:

"Congress will fail in its duty to the citizens if it allows the justice department to remain crippled in its power to stop crime."

The justice department enters the crime prevention picture when federal property is involved or when those guilty of certain crimes, notably kidnapping, cross state lines, state authorities having proved no match for desperadoes who may traverse half a dozen states in a day. Beyond this limit, "G men" may not go while remaining within the limits of the constitution.

Reasons advanced for greater security in England from crime of violence:

1. The central government is not hampered by state lines.

2. It is unlawful and exceedingly difficult for private persons to obtain firearms.

The administration's attitude hardens on the matter of relief expenditures.

The evidence? Words of the president, indicating that support of the unemployed, beyond the 3,500,000 for whom the WPA has made provision, is the responsibility of states and municipalities, whether the destitute are employable or unemployed.

He denies having committed himself to the view that provision of work for those unable to find employment is the responsibility of the federal government.

One reason, on the level of politics and financial policy, is the need to balance the budget and stand of reduction on the record.

Another possible one, on the level of long-range strategy, is to serve notice to the country that if Congress under the constitution is relatively impotent, its responsibility also must be limited.

Meanwhile President Roosevelt dispatches to Europe a private emissary, Robert F. Johnson, to study foreign methods of providing relief for the unemployed.

Granted that municipalities may serve themselves with electric power direct instead of through profit-making corporations, making the federal government aid them in so doing.

The slow process of grinding out an answer under America's governmental system advanced by one step as the federal district court at Greenville, S. C. says "No" to Greenwood county and the PWA, the latter wishing to make a loan and grant of $2,800,000 for the purpose to the county.

It is one of some 50 similar cases involving several million dollars of federal money.

The two opposing arguments are:

For the government—that this is part of a reemployment program undertaken for the general welfare and should be judged as in the light of its broad purposes.

Against the government—that the PWA is thereby entering through control of rates under contracts made, into competition with profit-making corporations.

The above is the first of several cases returned to district courts by appeal after the PWA had altered terms of contracts.

The Greenville court held the alteration immaterial.

What happens if Congress forbids the use of federal courts under certain circumstances and yet Higgins insist on using federal courts, carrying the appeal to the highest tribunals?

Answer: Congress loses; the Higgins win.

This is one lesson to be drawn from the supreme court's decision upholding a federal lower court's injunction against a gas rate fixed by the Oklahoma public utility commission. What gives it weight?

Scarcely is that the Johnson act forbids resort to federal courts in utility rate cases when state courts are available to give relief.

Has the supreme court thereby overridden the Johnson act? Perhaps—or perhaps it has merely decided that state courts had not given relief; that is, had permitted too low a rate.

$4526 County by Lake

Colony Seal Association

Is Still Short of Goal

Reports from the state tuberculosis association this week show Lake county fourth in standing among the counties of Illinois in tuberculosis as of December 14.

DuPage county leads with $3,121.27, Winnebago second with $3,098.54, Peoria has $3,061.93 and Lake county has $2,092.83.

The total today for Lake county is $4526.76 which is slightly below the total last year on this date. However, only half of the letters have been heard from so the association is still hopeful of reaching its goal of $5,000 before the year is closed.

Barrington Hills

The Country club was a gay and festive place New Year's Eve, and crowded with members and friends eager to spend their share of enthusiasm to the entertainment of the evening. The dinner was followed by a floor show and later an orchestra furnished music for dancing. Many cocktail parties were given before the dinner. One was held at the Golden White home for dinner guests at the party. The Warren McCrackens had a large group of people in their cocktail saloon, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zander entertained a number, too, before the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Deymer gave a cocktail party before the dinner to a number of friends and had as house guests over the holiday Mr. and Mrs. Vance Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder from Chicago. The Deymers have been making an extended visit in St. Louis with their daughter.

Mrs. Edward Karstrom was at home Sunday afternoon to her friends from Chicago and the North Shore and also from Barrington. It is pleasant to have the Karstrom home open once more and Mrs. Karstrom in the community.

The William Horne's kept open house New Year's day and received a large number of friends from Barrington and Chicago.

Last Friday Mrs. P. A. Record gave a tea for a few friends in compliment to Mrs. Alexander Heilmann. The Christmas tree had been decorated and a table of the guests wished the Heilmanns all the pleasure and thrills that could be piled into the coming three months.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. H. S. Hart is opening her home for the book review by Mrs. Hammond. "Silas (Crockett)," by Mary Ellen Chase, will be reviewed.

Friday afternoon Mrs. James H. Cardwell is entertaining at tea for her niece, Miss Fannie Bradshaw, still dispensed his pool cheer, and Mrs. Bradshaw lives in Chicago. Miss Bradshaw lives in New York and has a school in Dramatic Art in that city. She also has a home in England at Stratford-on-Avon and takes her pupils over in the summer to absorb theatrical lore in that interesting Shakespearean atmosphere.

Patricia Durbin had a luncheon Tuesday for a number of her little friends, it being her ninth birthday. In the afternoon the children went tobogganing and enjoyed other outdoor and indoor games.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex F. Rechyman are giving a cocktail party Sunday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock to many of their friends. The Garden Club of Barrington is to be the guest of Mrs. Robert Buckley Monday, at which time Mrs. Arthur Crosby will talk on state parks and beauty spots of Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. John Edmond will leave for Florida January 5 for an extended stay.

The Countryside Garden class will meet Friday, Jan. 3, with Mrs. Frank Bernard.

Penn's Burial Place William Penn is buried in the cemetery of the old Quaker meeting house at Jordans, in Buckinghamshire. The grave of the founder of Pennsylvania stands hardly knee-high.

Divers in Tropics Fear

Manta Will Devour Them

Divers in the tropics avoid the manta, holding to the traditional story that the giant ray will engulf a man and slowly devour him. Such, however, seems to be mythology.

The manta is dangerous when wounded, and can be taken only by harpoon after a hard battle with several hours, says a Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The cow fish has a coat of armor consisting of hardened scales that form a bony box from which the jaws, fins and tail can be moved freely. The name is applied because of small horns in front of its eyes. The porcupine fish is one of the most grotesque numbers of the finny tribe, being of olive color and spotted with black dots. Armed with sharp-pointed spines, it is difficult to handle without being injured. Like blow fish, which also are found in the Gulf, porcupine fish are capable of inflating their bodies to form a balloon-like appearance to frighten enemies.

Although a small fish, generally ranging about six or seven inches in size, the bat fish looks the least of any like a fish. It appears to be a toad, but has spine-like scales and a spiny dorsal fin.

While the drum fish is not exactly a queer specimen, its powerful jaws hold a set of mill-like teeth with remarkable crushing force. Schools of drums, from three to forty in length and weighing from 40 to 60 pounds each, can make short work of a small cat reef. When young they are striped like a zebra. Later they become a dusty color. A large female will lay 6,000,000 eggs.

International Childless

In February, 1920, at the first plenary meeting of the Inter-Allied Commission and the Germans, a pretty farce was played out when the German chief insisted on opening the meeting. In spite of the fact that the allies were imposing terms and the Germans accepting them, a compromise on procedure had to be made wherein the German and the allied delegations alternated the council room stimuli.

Pay for "Air Right"

Not only are large amounts paid for "air rights" or the privilege of erecting buildings over railroad tracks, but sizable sums are sometimes paid merely for the use of the light and breathe the air over certain areas. For example, in 1929 a skyscraper in New York leased for 25 years the light and air rights over a five-story building next door for $12,000—J. J. Kline, New York City, in Collier's Weekly.
