In reaching his decision Judge Shurtleff found that there was evidence of pollution from raw everage passing from the combined sewerage system. Due to evident "economy planning" the system had not been a constructed as to had a solid system of the system of pass into Finit creek without receiving proper treatment.

In applying for a federal grant the village selected a "eludge activated" type of treatment plant and drafted plans for a "separation of the existing combined sewers. The proposed treatment plant is planned to take care or three times the capacity of the present treatment plant and the proposed sewers are designed to carry surface waters in one system and sewage in the other.
