23 Degrees Below Early Today Sets Record for Low

Cold Snap Arrives Tuesday;
Some Drifting But Roads Open

With a temperature of 23 degrees below zero reported at 4 a. m. today, Barrington faced a second day of intense cold as Thursday dawned.

The schools reported small attendance and in several cases, children arrived with frost-bitten cheeks but teachers reported the time-honored remedy, snow, and no serious results were reported.

Children living in the country were excused from classes Wednesday noon, when winds blew strong, but they were unable to return later in the day.

Trains were somewhat behind and commuters experienced short delays. Cars were brought to local garages from country places and village homes with unheated garages. All reported a "full house" Wednesday night. Local roads were kept busy. To add to the discomfort of pedestrians, street lights went out and those which glowed over crusted snow and icy spots in fear of sudden slips.

According to J. R. Lloyd, weather master of Chicago, Thursday morning was the coldest since Christmas Eve, 1872, when the mercury fell to 23 degrees below zero. This was 25 years after the Chicago weather bureau was established. The mercury has not been within two degrees of that record since.

No respite is anticipated until tonight at the earliest.

Don Geyer Severs
Connections With Pure Milk Group

The Pure Milk association announced Friday the resignation of its secretary and manager, Don N. Geyer. It is understood that the resignation was presented to the board of directors Thursday to take effect not later than March 1.

John P. Case, president of the association, stated that the association had not yet met to fill the position vacated.

Mr. Geyer was one of the charter members of the association and was elected director at large at its first annual meeting in March, 1926. He later became field representative of the association, and in 1929 was elected secretary and general manager, which position he has held since then.

Mr. Geyer stated that his plan for the future were not yet complete, but that he would not doubt continue in some branch of the dairy industry.

Mr. Geyer insisted the move was not the result of any friction or dissatisfaction on his part or on the part of the board of directors of the association. He further stated that the association is in sound condition, with its milk sold until September 1, 1936, on a contract basis, and the association is, therefore, in a strong position to adjust itself to a change in management.

Good Market Exists Here for Guernsey and Holstein Bulls

Livestock has a ready market in this vicinity, persons living near here learned recently. Mrs. Bertha Halk inserted a classified notice, "Two Holstein Bulls for Sale" in The Review January 9 and quickly sold the animals—six persons answering the ad.

Ed Magee advertised a Guernsey bull for sale and as a result sold it within a few hours after the newspaper was distributed. He received several subsequent answers.

The Review's large number of readers living on rural routes out of Prairie View, Barrington, Mundelev, Palatine, and Dundee is the reason for the constantly good results that farm advertisers get from Review classified advertising.

Featuring songs, melodies and dances that hold an appealing attraction to audiences everywhere, the Old Fellows Booster club will present its annual party, "Prairie Farmer WLS community dance" Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, January 28, 29 and 30, at the auditorium of the public school.

Miss Nell Adams, director of last year's production, will be again in Barrington to handle directing of the program.

Featuring a cast of 100 local persons, the production will star them in impersonations of many leading actors appearing regularly on the national stage. Rehearsals have been going on for a week and have developed a host of costuming and make-up suggestions as well as a host of musical features are also featured.

Village Vehicle Tag Sale Is Below Figures of 1935

According to the number of village vehicle tags sold at present and varying from 10 to 15, the village board, there will be a large number of arrests made and fines paid by local motorists after January 31.

At present only 324 passenger car and 47 truck tags have been purchased from A. C. Burdett, village clerk. During the entire last year, 852 passenger and 124 truck tags were sold. Using those figures as a basis of comparison, it is found that less than 40 per cent of last year's figure has been reached.

The village board, upon recommendation of the village president and police committee, reduced prices on vehicle tags this year and abolished a discount system used in former years. The deadline for this year has been set for January 31, board members expressing the opinion that arrests must be made of any delinquents. This will be the last public notice before that date. It was announced.

Judge Shurtliff Draws Milk Trust Producing Plans

Proposes Product Be Handled
In Equity Courts to End Trouble

Judge Edward D. Shurtliff of Marengo has formulated a plan to save the producing end of the milk industry from the same disturbances that brought on the "strike" in 1935 and the formation of a rival marketing group. His plan calls for the handling of the milk products as a trust and through equity court proceedings.

Judge Shurtliff's plan allows independent producers to organize and handle their own milk products through equity court proceedings for reaching an agreement on the plan. The plan is as follows:

"I would handle it as a trust through an equity court proceeding and would name, say, three trustees. Every farmer's contract should be a conveyance to trustee, in trust, to handle, sell, condition, deliver and to account, and under this, everything could be done that the Pure Milk association now does, but by order of court."

Each contract should contain the entry of the appearance of both parties in the circuit court in a proceeding to carry out the trust. The contract could provide that the milk be paid for, either to the trustee or by them directed, but each sale should be approved by an order of court, and each contract should be approved by an order of court.

"The court could name a special master in chancery to handle the matter of the 'milk trust' and it could handle the work of Illinois, Indiana or Wisconsin, and the master in chancery could have such clerks as he desired or needed, as appointed by the court."

"Instead of having a corporation, have a court proceeding in equity as if a producer entered into a contract and did not deliver his milk, he could be compelled to deliver by the strong arm of the court, which would settle all matters of difference that arise over the milk question. If a trustee did not go right, the court could remove him and appoint someone in his place. The whole subject matter could be handled within the jurisdiction of an equity suit by the court and handled in that way."

"I believe it would inspire greater confidence than a corporation could, and contracts could all be drawn as trusts, and made enforceable in an equity suit, and would remove him and appoint someone in his place. The whole subject matter could be handled within the jurisdiction of an equity suit by the court and handled in that way."

The defendants in the case are Vernon Hoff of Barrington, John Awe of Elgin, Floyd Vogel of Elgin, John Hopp, Algonquin farmer, and Harold Hoff of Elgin. State sanitary water board approval of the PWA sewer project completed a week by the village. The approval was in the form of a supplemental permit on the amended plans for the project.

The water board approved the original plan earlier, but when changes were made in the form of alternate proposals, the sewerage was omitted in the awarding of contracts to A. L. Jackson company for the treatment plant and the Alton Bridge and Construction company for the sewers.

"Mutiny on the Bounty" Showing Here Three Days

Catlow Theatre Presents the Current Feature With Charles Laughton

"Stars Over Broadway." Warner Bros. new musical spectacle close a two-day run at the Catlow theatre tonight with an all star cast.

The plot concerns the rise and fall, the loves, the lives and the struggles of Broadway radio aspirants, with an inner glimpse of the broadcasting stations. There is a large variety of musical numbers, including new and catchy airs by Harry Warren and Al Dubin, and selections from the compositions by Schubert, Verdi and Von Flotow.

Nine European nations are represented in Paramount's comedy dramatic romance, "Ship Cafe." Costarring Carl Brisson and Arline Judge.

"Ship Cafe" is a hilarious story depicting the career of a singing ship stoker from his job as a stoker in a waterfront cafe to singing sensation and gigolo to a rich countess. An amusing series of events bring him to a realization of his position and he renounces his benefactors.

"Miss Pacific Fleet" comes to port Saturday with that famous quartette of film comedians, Joan Blondell, Glenda Farrell, Hugh Herbert and Allen Jenkins, heading a cast that includes hundreds of gobs and marines.

The picture is based on a folk-telling comedy and is not only hilariously funny but carries a humorous love triangle between Miss Blondell, Jenkins and Warren Hall, radio star who has the romantic role.

Miss Blondell and Miss Farrell are teamed as a couple of wise-cracking chorists; hostesses who run a concession at an amusement park on the Pacific coast. They are out of business through the cane rising skill of Jenkins. "Mutiny on the Bounty," Metro-Goldwyn-Norris' great epic picture coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, carries one away with the sheer intensity of its drama. Although a historical romance wrung from the actual records of the British admiralty, it is far more absorbing than pure fiction. It is a superb achievement in motion picture, an historical picture as it should be; and one that will live for years to come as the most exciting of sea tales ever screened.

"Sylvia Sidney" is the greatest actress of her type on either stage or screen," commented William Pawley, screen actor, who appeared with the star in the Broadway play, "Bad Girl," which brought Miss Sidney into pictures.

"Acting is a complete gift with her," said Pawley during filming of Walter Wanger's Paramount drama, "Mary Burns, Fugitive," starring Miss Sidney, and coming Wednesday and Thursday. The first time she ever appeared on the stage she was only fifteen, but she gave a perfect performance and has been doing it ever since."

Apparent Rain Under Trees The phenomenon of apparent rain under the branches of a tree is caused by the exuding of liquid from countless insects in its branches. There are two trees which are known by the name rain tree because of the persistence of this phenomenon. The insect in question is generally the cicada, although other insects may also cause it.

Tribute to Dr. W. Shearer Re-printed in This Issue

The following tribute to the late Dr. William A. Shearer, former resident of Barrington who died at New Windsor, N. Y., is reprinted at this time. The verse poem, written by W. J. Cameron, was first published in The Review soon after the doctor had moved to New York. Several of the verses follow:

"DOC" Shearer was a citizen

Of credit and renown;
He lived and moved and did his bit
Right here in this old town.
Day in, day out, from morn till night,

Through sunshine, rain or snow,
All up and down and 'round about
You could see his "Flivver" go.
But now he's gone, and you and me

Are just as sorry as can be.

"Doc's" office was a rendezvous
For all the town's wrongs.
And there wasn't a sparin' human
That he couldn't help along.

He wrote prescriptions for the "yips,"
Coughs, colds and everything,
And made the lame, the halt, the blind,

Yes, even the dumb, to sing.
But now he's gone, and you and me
Are just as sorry as can be.

And folks, they came from far and near,
"Doc" always had the hope
To heal the sickly multitude
His potions and his liniments.

His powders and his pills,
Relieved complaining chronic
Of their everlasting ills.
But now he's gone, and you and me

Are just as sorry as can be.

This week we wish to call your attention to three books that should be of interest to parents. "Nursery Education," by William H. Hays and two others associates with him in his work. Hays is professor of psychology at the University of Toronto and director of the George's school for children at that institution. The book is a study of the theory of nursery education. "What You Owe Your Child" by William H. Hays, deals with the problem of religion and morals in the modern home. —Prize Committee.

Find Out

From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches, or the pains of rheumatism, neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach, or often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember that Genuine Bayer Aspirin is the only relief during the latest methods of discovery for the relief of headaches and all common pains, and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

ANY mother knows the reason little child stops playing, eats little, is hard to manage, fretful. But what a pity so few know the simple way to set things right!

The ordinary laxative, of even ordinary strength, destroy all hopes of restoring regularity.

A liquid laxative is the answer, mothers. The answer to all your worries over constipation. A liquid can be measured. The dose can be exactly suited to any age or need. Just reduce the dose each time, until the bowels are moving of their own accord and need no help.

The treatment will succeed with any child and with any adult.

Doctors use a liquid laxative. Hospitals use the liquid form. If it is best for their use, it is best for home use. The liquid form is generally used in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Any druggist has it.

Miss Ellen Noyes Woodhead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Woodhead, became the bride of Frank Irving Dougherty Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Irving Dougherty of Bradenton, Fla., at a ceremony performed Friday evening by Dr. Hugh Elmer Brown in the chapel of the First Congregational church of Evanston.

Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Chadwick Woodhead, who was her only attendant, wore a green moire period gown with a V-neck and a high collar, puffed sleeves, a tight fitting bodice and flowing skirt. Her bouquet was of yellow roses and heather.

Robert Woodhead was Mr. Dougherty's best man, and Leonard Chadwick, formerly of Palm Beach, Fla., and Marcy Sellow, were ushers.

A reception for the same group of relatives and close friends who witnessed the ceremony was held afterward at the Georgian hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty are now leaving on a wedding trip at the time. They have taken an apartment on the north side.

Education Program Will Be Sponsored by WPA Officials

Preparations for an early start of the long-awaited WPA educational program in this country and other sections of northern Illinois are being pushed rapidly as a result of announcement at district WPA headquarters in Rockford that an allotment of funds for the work has been released.

A large number of leaders and teachers to direct adult classes in citizenship, English, and other subjects are now being appointed by H. L. Lucy, assistant district supervisor of professional and service projects for education, and classes will be formed in communities throughout the district as soon as preliminaries can be completed.

With 22,965 unutilized for-signature adults in this district, 6,147 of them in Lake county, according to 1930 census figures, the WPA naturalization classes are expected to perform an important function in preparing people for citizenship. There were 1396 people over 10 years of age unable to read or write English in this country in 1930.

The main purposes of the educational program are to assist these people in passing naturalization examinations; to teach the illiterates to read and write English; and to conduct classes in such other subjects as may be demanded, providing suitable teachers can be found.

In most cities classes will be held in the late afternoon and evening in order that the largest possible number of people may be reached.

Four-Eyed Fish Inhabits

Rivers of South America
Especially in fishes generally is excellent, as anglers well know, and it involves many interesting peculiarities. The oldest one, perhaps, belongs to the four-eyed fish. A big minnow—the biggest, in fact, of the minnow family and occasionally reaching the size of a moderate brook trout—which inhabits the rivers of eastern South and Central America. It is a surface-swimmer like its cousin, the gambusia, the favorite "tropical" in aquariums, and seems to be quite as comfortable out of water as within it. Thus it spends much of its daily life in the air, scrambling over soft stream banks or on mud-flats where it finds certain insects, various small crustaceans, and bits of carrion to its taste. Whether this habit brought about the double vision the fish possesses; or whether, having such eyes, its ancestors learned to take advantage of the opportunity, are questions for theorists to worry over. At any rate, says a writer in the Montreal Herald, this singularly in structure, making the rather large and protruding eyes doubly useful, enables this fish to swim with its face just out of water, one half of the eye watching whatever may interest or threaten it from above while the other half gives it notice of an enemy beneath the surface.

Used Man-Traps

Man-traps, resembling large rat-traps, with steel jaws armed with teeth that sank into a victim's leg, were at one time used extensively on thousands of farms and estates of England to catch poachers and trespassers. But so many innocent persons were caught and badly hurt in them that they were made illegal in 1827.—Collier's Weekly.

Origin of "Chalice"

"Chalice" from the Latin "calix," refers to a cup or a bowl, especially the cup used in the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. This term, originally signifying a common drinking vessel, now usually is applied to a communion cup. From wood or other cheap material in early times, chalices came to be made of glass, agate, silver and gold, with engraving, enamel and different kinds of costly decoration. Some of them have great historic interest and value, and are preserved in church treasuries and museums of Europe. It generally is held that a chalice must have a stem or ball in the middle of the stem or foot which supports the bowl. This is intended to secure the hand of the person who holds it to the communicant. It has a cover which may be the paten or dish for the consecrated bread.

Village Trustees Consider Buying Snow Plow Outfit

Tractor of Dual Use Is Demonstrated Saturday by George Miller

Village trustees are considering the purchase of a tractor to furnish power for cutting grass in the park and removing snow in the winter. George Miller of Miller Brothers Farm Implement Co. demonstrated the unit Saturday afternoon at many down town points. The estimated cost was more than $1000.

A motion picture was made of the tractor at work on Monday at the park district and village trustees are making the purchase. The unit could be used to plow snow in the park as well as on parkways in the village throughout the winter season.

A group of telephone calls from citizens who thought the tractor might be a nuisance, were received by village trustees. Mr. Miller cleared several streets, mowed several lawns, and demonstrated the tractor. The citizens believed a regular service was being given and they had been misled. To appease them a man was sent on Tuesday to clear the remaining snow in town.

Business Men in Lake Zurich Urge Re-Routing Fight

Removal of Rand Road From Business Section Is Unfavorable

William Landwer, Albert Heybock, Walter Prehm, Ray Nightingale, E. Frank, E. Young, John Fink, Leroy Gross, Walter Nicholson, Fred Schobda and Rudy Sorenson are part of a group of Lake Zurich business men and local leaders who are waging a battle to prevent the re-routing of Rand road around the village.

According to the present roadway staked out by the state highway department, Rand road will swing west about one mile south of the village and go around the south and west side of the lake to join up with the present Rand road north of the village.

If Rand road is removed from passing through the middle of the village a serious business loss will result. It is the contention of interested residents of Lake Zurich. Business men in Lake Zurich greatly depend on summer vacationers and transient trade that is brought into Lake Zurich by the much-travelled Rand road.

She Is Just Away

You cannot say, you must not say

That she is dead, she is just away

With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,

She has wandered into an unknown land

And left us dreaming how very fair

It needs must be, since she lingers there;

So think of her faring on, as dear

In the love of Her Father as the love of Her

Think of her still as the same,

She is not dead, she is just away!

NRA Failed, But Education Will Succeed—Hecht

Speaker at Lions Club Tells Problems of Recovery Administration

Education and persuasion will accomplish the task of obtaining fair trade practices among business of the country in which the NRA failed. Frank Hecht, guest speaker at the Barrington Lions club Monday night, predicted.

Mr. Hecht served in the national recovery administration in Washington for 14 months. He reported that he was not fully in sympathy with it and regarded it as an almost complete failure, but recognized that some of the objectives are desirable and will be attained eventually through education.

In his interesting report, Mr. Hecht pointed out that attempted price fixing was the greatest evil. He declared that uncounted thousands of men, representing individual businesses and trade associations decimated on Washington with schemes for fixing high prices that would insure not merely fair profits but big enough profits to wipe out losses of previous lean years.

Dr. E. A. Beerman reported on the Cook county court meeting at which Lions of the Chicago district listened to an address on crime conditions in America and the rest of the world. America is leading the parade among large nations in the sum total of existing crime, they were told. Other nations have developed more efficient methods of curbing the criminals.

Attends Meeting

Cornelius C. Snyder, local acting postmaster, attended a meeting of the Federal Business Men's association at the Atlantic hotel in Chicago Wednesday. Col. W. W. Edwards was the principal speaker of the occasion.

voice, will appear for her second time on the program in the role of Luis Belle. Her talented performance last year brought her many compliments and her friends look forward to her coming performance.

In addition to her, appearing on the program will be "Tom the Gobbler," a turkey that started his theatrical career in Barrington last year, in company with the Rainey Boys. Benjamin Cling will appear as Uncle Ezra, Clarence Albin will imitate the humor of Spaventa and E. W. Dade is playing the Lazy Farmer. The German Band, B. Olmsted, C. Bader, W. Saul, and Paul Pohlman Jr., will provide a comedy role. Master of ceremonies for the performance are Clarence James and Lloyd Graham. A host of others, too numerous to mention, are also performing.

"Belles and Beaux of the Nineties" with other dancing units will present a pleasing picture. The high school orchestra group will furnish musical numbers.

Service Men May Apply for Bonus at Post Meeting

Local Legionnaires are taking an active interest in the bonus bill which has passed both houses and senate by such overwhelming majorities that it is certain to override the expected presidential veto.

The Illinois department of the American Legion, anticipating the need of many veterans for assistance in applying for their adjusted certificate payment, has completed arrangements to distribute the necessary application forms through the local posts.

Martin H. Schreiber, Barrington post commander, has urged that all members of the post be present at the regular meeting next Thursday evening to make application for their bonus books. Also all ex-service men may do so. He reported that a suggestion has been made that Legionnaires contribute a small slice of their bonus towards the building fund. This would only be a matter of a few dollars, would go towards a good cause, and would be strictly voluntary.

Gives Many Employment

More than 20 Barrington women are employed at the Webster Dress shop now operation in the Landwer building, East Main street. A few apprentices have been added from time to time. This plan probably will be continued. Machine have been installed on the second floor, and the north half of the ground floor is being prepared for additional shop work.

TELEPHONE, BARRINGTON NO. 1

LEAVE DOGS HOME

The "dog in a food store" problem is persistently with us in Barrington.

Merchants and other citizens at irregular intervals have asked the village board for ordinance regulation prohibiting men and women who apparently feel too great a fondness for their canine pets from leading these animals into stores and restaurants where their food sniffing habits are not only unhygienic but are revolting to other shoppers.

Many stories have been told of dogs sniffing the bread counters and other places where fresh food is displayed. Probably the prize dog story to be told in recent months is that of the man and dog who enjoyed a dish of ice cream together in a local public shop. Only one spoon was used, according to the story. First one spoonful to the dog, then one to the man, continuously until the ice cream was consumed. Of course the dog's master was the only person to indulge in the unhygienic practice, but how thoroughly disgusting the spectacle was to other persons who were eating ice cream or other food in that shop. And how unfair to the shopkeeper who must maintain a wholesome, clean, attractive place to retain his trade.

But to get back to the village board, can the trustees actually accomplish much with ordinances and police orders to stop otherwise intelligent citizens from thoughtlessly messy practices? Owners of dogs should practice ordinary courtesy and leave their pets in their automobiles, tie them outside when they go into a food store, or better still, leave them at home where they belong.

The merchants might help with the use of small signs in their stores, "Please Leave Dogs Outside." We believe a merchant displaying such a sign will gain more trade than he loses because he will have wholehearted cooperation from far the greater number of shoppers.

MUST BE BORNE DIRECTLY

In a letter to stockholders, the president of a representative large American merchandising corporation points out that it pays a dividend of $1 a share—while its taxes amounted to $1.12 a share. The letter says, in part: "Your thoughtful consideration of tax figures will bring to you a realization of the burden of your company's tax bill and will perhaps indicate the present tendency toward excessive taxation, which obviously must be borne, directly or indirectly, by Mr. and Mrs. John Citizen." Hundreds of other businesses, large and small, find themselves in a position such as this. For a while it may be possible to meet increased taxes by lowering the return to stockholders. But sooner or later, the tax burden must be reflected in the cost of whatever the company sells, whether it be a locomotive or a can of beans.—News, Appleton, Iowa.

UP-TO-DATE METHODS

Running a business today calls for more than just sitting in one's store and waiting for customers. Anyone can see that for himself. Those stores who just wait for business, keep on waiting and operating on a shoestring. They are operating in a competitive business world and will not admit it.

The business concerns that want to be rated as successes in this new era realize that they must operate under new methods. The surest sign of approaching failure is business operation on the worn-out method of old. Success in business will come from business-like methods in business. It's great fun, maybe, to be asleep at the switch—but business is business.—Grit-Advocate, Julesburg, Colorado.

VISION

The secret of achievement is a clear vision of a goal—something definite at which to aim. The clearer the vision the more certainty of accomplishment. If one has such a vision clearly and vividly stamped upon his mind it tends to fire ambition to the end that every energy is directed toward the achievement of a goal. When one's vision of a goal is obscure or imperfect, effect toward its achievement will be half hearted and scattering. This is the reason some individuals seem to go straight towards what they want and achieve their goal promptly while others seem never to get started.—Enterprise, Mansfield, La.

EDITORIAL SHORTS

Is there anything more disgusting to hear than the fellow without any real complaint eternally howling. But how refreshing, when you hear the person you think has every reason to be down-hearted always presenting the brightest side of life. Which do you think gets the most out of life?

Advice is cheap—experience costly. By the same token experience is a better teacher than advice. Yet advice, gained from practical experience, is worth considering. The only trouble is that the experience of one man might not be the experience of another under exactly similar circumstances. So much depends on the qualities of men. Don't laugh at advice—nor yet accept it unconditionally. It may be good or bad—and you alone are the one responsible for weighing its merits as it applies to your particular case.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Already pouring back to processors of farm products are the 200 million dollars of taxes imposed by courts and now released to them by a supreme court decision.

The decision is given in favor of six rice milling companies which had sued to enjoin collection of the tax. The government had contended they should pay first and litigate later in accordance with a law long on the statute books.

Says the court: The proceeding tax was not a tax but a means of regulation not permissible under the constitution; hence the law does not apply. The result: Companies which refused to pay receive the entire tax in refund, whether partly paid or others not. Those who have paid face the necessity of proving they did not pass on whatever part of it they may hope to recover. Several courts have selected funds on notice that the government may ask a further review of the case.

Puzzled ingenuities sets favorably to work to rear a new structure on the ruins of the farm program, wrecked by the supreme court decision of January 6. Farm groups advance numerous plans for subsidizing farmers and forcing foreign outlets for surplus production.

House committee reports favorably a bill to grant benefit payments to farmers who comply with a program of soil conservation which at the same time would adjust production to demand. Senate committee ponders Senator Norris' warning that no control law is feasible in advance of "judicial reform."

Administration lawyers study the possibility of using the soil conservation act of 1935 as an instrument of production control, no new legislation being asked apart from a reimposition of processing taxes, these to be paid into the general revenue funds of the government.

Setting out to demonstrate the corrosive power of financial and commercial interests on any neutrality policy, the senate committee of inquiry strikes a snag that splits the committee and threatens senatorial support for its continuance.

The snag is a point involving the trusteeship of war president Woodrow Wilson and his secretary of state Robert Lansing. Committee Chairman Nye presents evidence, only partially made public, which he declares shows an early knowledge of these statements of the "secret treaties" among the Allies for dividing the expected spoils of the war. Such knowledge, he alleges was denied by them before a senate committee hearing in 1919.

Several members of the committee, coming to the support of the dead president's memory, allege degradation of the inquiry into a head-hunting expedition. Senators Tom Connally (Dem.), Tex., and Carter Glass (Dem.), Va., violently oppose further appropriation for the committee.

Continuing to bear down upon the nation with grinding force is the most pressing of all its problems—relief. Here are some current indications of the magnitude:

A conference of mayors from leading cities addressed to the adoption of a request that 2340 million dollars be set aside this year for the purpose, the localities alleging that care of the unemployed is already taxing their resources.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau places the requirements for relief in the new budget year at 2000 million dollars, with an additional 1500 million for other recovery agencies.

The administration relaxes its former rule that those coming on relief during November 1 should not be given jobs under the work-relief program. Strict enforcement of the rule would lead, officials say, to a demand for return of the dole.

Warned by a memory and armed with a law, the Federal Reserve Board prepared tentative regulations to apply the brakes to the stock market. The memory is of the halcyon days of 1927-1929, when security prices ballooned with credit supplied by many thinly margined accounts with brokers and banks.

The law is the Securities and Exchange act of 1934, which provides for a strict regulation of the margins on which customers purchase securities. Proposed regulations, submitted for a 30-day scrutiny to stock exchanges, would limit margins to 25 to 45 per cent of current values of securities, the smaller percentage limit being placed on high-priced stocks. These are the same rules as have already been prescribed for brokers.

Uncle Sam's "blue sky" law comes up for review by the supreme court. The law is the one empowering the Securities and Exchange commission to require those corporations wishing to have their securities traded on an exchange to supply essential information for the benefit of investors.

J. Edward Jones, wishing to market oil royalties without such "interference," seeks to have the SEC enjoined from molesting his plans. Lower courts refuse to enjoin and the supreme court is asked to do so.

Say Mr. Jones' attorneys: The SEC is legislating to an extent which congress may not delegate under the constitution. It deprives him of property without due process of law. Security trading is not interstate commerce.

Replies the SEC: These contentions are groundless. But until the issue is decided, use of the mails will not be denied the plaintiff.

Filling a vacancy in its ranks, the SEC receives a new member—William O. Douglas, formerly a professor of law at Yale university.

"He Flew Through the Air..." — Then Things Happened

"Guskie" Altenberg of the basketballing Altenberg clan has his experience at ski jumping last week.

On the Tuesday before last, "Guskie" ventured down the ski slope on the Norge hill at Fox River Grove. He left the take-off all right but in landing, he spilled, and rolled head over heels down the hill.

The spill knocked him out and he recovered consciousness 40 minutes later in a doctor's office at Fox River Grove.

Result—"Guskie" face was covered with minor ice burns caused by contact with the icy surface of the landing hill. He has since recovered and insists this mishap will not stop him from playing his unusual good brand of baseball next year.

Moral: If baseball is your forte, leave the "ski jumpin'" to the Scandinavians.

Knowing nothing of iron or even bronze, these people made their stencils and implements of copper.
