17 Below Wednesday
A temperature of 17 degrees below zero early Wednesday morning was the low point of the second sub zero wave since the first of the year. This frigid wave arrived a few hours after a severe blizzard Tuesday had closely nearly all of the side roads and many of the main ones with drifted snow. Thermometer recordings were climbing Thursday morning with indications that the cold snap was nearing an end.

Napoleon's Sapphire
A 135-carat sapphire, stated to have belonged to Charlemagne, is acknowledged by experts to be the finest in Europe, and some years ago an offer of $20,000 was refused for it. Napoleon is said to have taken the sapphire from the clasp of the imperial robe enshrouding the Emperor Charlemagne's remains in his tomb at Aix-la-Chapelle and to have given it to the Empress Josephine. The stone later belonged to Napoleon III.—London Telegraph.

Tell Them About It...

The small town merchant who succeeds is the one who has what people want and lets them know about it. People are busy today. They will not take time to shop where merchants insist on keeping their wares and prices a secret. The busy stores are those who send to their customers' living rooms the home newspaper containing the stores' advertisements of products and prices. Advertising has become the greatest service in time-saver and money-saver to the busy housewife. She knows from the advertising where she can buy what she wants at the price she wants to pay. She does her shopping on a third of her original shopping time.

Girl Scout Notes
Troop III did not have a meeting this week because there was a Junior high school basketball game at meeting time. Captain Grace Wankle has planned a regular session Tuesday afternoon. Troop II will have an investment ceremony at its regular meeting Friday afternoon. Mothers of girl scouts are welcome to visit this investment and members of the local council are invited. The local executive council meeting was held Monday afternoon at the public school. Besides the routine business, there was discussion about a Red Cross project. Plans are being made to have a worker here to instruct our girl scouts in first aid work. Announcement of this work will appear later.
