Methodist, Salem Teams to Meet in Game Monday

Methodists Can Cinch Share in Title With Win; Baptists to Play St. Paul

Methodists, present leaders, tangle with Salem, Monday night, in an important church league basketball game. By winning, the Methodists can cinch a share in the 1935-1936 title regardless of the outcome of their final regular schedule game with St. Anne the following week.

Victories in both games would give the Methodist undefeated championship, or should the second-place Baptist quintet lose its final game to St. Paul, the M. E.'s would only need one win for an unduped title.

The Baptists, needing a win to stay in the race, meet St. Paul in the first game, Monday, followed by the Methodist-Salem contest.

St. Anne, Baptists Win
St. Anne packed the punch in last Monday's games defeating St. Paul 23 to 19, after trailing for three quarters. St. Paul led 18-13 with one period to go when Dave Capelli and Rene Labrie started a rally that resulted in a St. Anne victory.

The Baptists chalked up their fifth win by narrow victory, 26 to 24. It was a game that might have gone either way, a last minute basket winning for the Baptists.

The league lost three of its players last week. Earl Erters of the Methodists has entered Drake university, Eddie Gieske, Salem, and Emmett (Shimmel) Alten-
