BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1936

8250 A YEAR IN ADVANCE, SINGLE COPIES, FIVE CENTS

When the program was finished the boys learned they would have to return on the train but they lacked the necessary funds to pay for railroad transportation. After reaching the station in Park Ridge the boys learned that previous arrangements for the train had been made tentatively for the boys to be paid by a scout executive in Barrington when the train reached here were not acceptable to the railroad agent there.

A man noticed the boys in their predicament and after hearing their story volunteered to lend them the money. This kind act solved the weather-made problem for the boys.

Weather Record Is Broken by 24 Days of Below Zero

For a period of thirty days since January 29 there have been 24 marked by sub-zero readings, which establish a new record for this section of the country. The lowest mark reached was on January 23 when the mercury dropped to 23 degrees below zero.

The average low daily reading for the area around Barrington for the 24 sub-zero days was 11.4 degrees below zero, which is unprecedented during the years since government observers first began to keep permanent records.

High winds Monday night and early Tuesday awoke created blockades on many roads, particularly those extending north and south.

An idea of the expense to municipalities and state governments caused by this weather may be gathered from the cost of opening the Barrington road south to Higgins road.

Two crews of men shoveling before two plows using four trucks worked Sunday and Monday at an estimated cost of $1000 to the state before the road was opened.

This condition is existing in many sections of the state and country where there drifts make ordinary methods of road clearing futile.

Students of Barrington public school were dismissed from school on Thursday, Friday and Tuesday because of weather and road conditions. The committee had been scheduled for this evening has been postponed indefinitely. Many persons have been delayed or suffered poor attendance for the same reason.

Comic Valentines Again Received by Village Trustees

The receipt of comic valentines seems to be an annual event for the fiscal village board.

Village trustees in committee on them assumed the same person who remembered the board last year was the inspector this time.

The missives were varied in description and venue. Although friendly satire was freely indulged in nothing malicious was apparently intimated.

Many Vehicle Tags Sold Since Police Started Arresting Delinquents

Sale of vehicle tags has been active since several persons were arrested last week. The program has resulted in many vehicles being left in garages, curtailing the police enforcement drive.

One arrest was made this week and the usual $1 fine and $1 costs were paid at Police Magistrate A. C. Charney's court Saturday. Chief of Police E. W. Braden announced that the drive to arrest all delinquents will continue and more arrests are expected to be made on private property both inside and outside the village limits.

Village Trustees Approve Bonds on Sewer Contracts

Contracting Companies Supply Necessary Legal Proof on PWA Project

The bonds on the executed contracts for Allied Bridge and Construction company and A. L. Jackson and company were approved Monday night at the village board meeting. The trustees voted the approval following a motion made by Trustee H. D. A. Grobe and seconded by Trustee Newton Plagge.

A resolution repealing the sewer bonds previously passed in November was accepted after a motion made by Trustee John Carroll and seconded by Trustee H. D. A. Grobe. The bond issue called for $135,000 and was to be sold to the United States and were not paid toward the construction of the sewer main and sewer water sewers. Pup Strays Away in Confidence Knowing Ad Will Locate Her

A nine months old female pointer pup which is part of the livestock at Ross Acres, west of Barrington, likes to leave home on exploratory trips, and has grown quite confident she is in no danger of being permanently separated from her good home.

During the first week of February, she strayed away from home. A "Lost" ad was inserted in the classified columns of the Barrington Review. The day after the newspaper was published, a police officer who had read the ad and found the dog returned her to the owner.

A few days later, the dog strayed again. A similar ad was again inserted in the Review. Following distribution of the newspaper, a neighbor read the ad, then phoned Miss Acres and had found the pup and would return it as soon as his driveway was opened up.

Public School Will Be Closed Friday in Honor of Washington, Lincoln

It is an annual custom to grant a vacation in honor of these two men. This year Friday has been selected because it is at the end of the week and Washington's Birthday follows on Saturday.

During the last week, school was closed three days—Thursday, Friday and Tuesday—due to cold weather. Announcements of recess were made to the public by radio broadcasts from station WGN in Chicago. Superintendent E. S. Smith has announced that no more vacations will be granted because of inclement weather.

Pupils of the seventh and eighth grades will not be in school Thursday as they have a day's credit in the attendance and study system. Pupils in the second division of sixth grade will have a half-day vacation while the first group will be required to be there all day.

The custom is to grant a half holiday to any pupil having a 95 per cent average in attendance and study. No tardy pupils each month. The terms taking their holidays Thursday. Brad had served a former half day.

Proposed Change of Time Schedule Discussed Monday

Village Board Debates Plan at Meeting; Expresses Opposition

Recent Plan to Change from Central to Eastern Time on a Permanent Basis as Adopted by Chicago and Many Suburbs in the Region Was a Topic of Comment at the Board Meeting Monday Night.

President Earl Haeck and all of the trustees expressed themselves as being opposed to the movement but were unable to decide whether to take any action at this time. It would be desirable, Trustee Carroll suggested holding up the matter until a ruling on the Chicago case had been received. He suggested that the matter be referred to the state commerce commission. The ruling is expected within the next week.

The proposal is to extend the eastern time belt west to include Chicago and surrounding territory. It will not be in effect until the clocks moved one hour ahead.

Considerable discussion has taken place on the proposal on both sides. Among those favoring the plan are persons whose occupations are such that the extra hour of daylight in the evening is a benefit and the earlier hour for starting work in the morning is a disadvantage. Opposition has arisen from those persons who leave for work at an early hour in the morning. Most farmers are opposed to the change, as they would be required to change their work day during certain seasons extend from sunrise to sunset.

Village trustees would like an expression of local sentiment, but realize that with Chicago adopting the change it is almost inevitable that the same change would be adopted by the state. The reason for this is the fact that many of Barrington's residents are in the city daily and a different schedule would result in great inconvenience.

A majority of communists in the village are opposed to the change and making it effective in their respective places. Whether railroads will alter their time tables has not been announced.

Thawing Machine Source of Debate at Village Meeting

A lengthy discussion arose at the village board meeting Monday night concerning the use of a thawing machine which is village property and has been in use by various parties in the village to cut frozen water pipes. The chief cause for concern is the fact that it had been damaged and the village would be required to purchase a new one.

Trustee Rudolph Koeber introduced the subject and first favored a rental plan, which was suggested of a rental plan with a deposit to insure careful handling.

The final decision agreed upon was the operation of any private parties using the apparatus. The machine had been bought several years ago at a cost of $250. It is a rental plan with a deposit to insure careful handling.

The village will show out water pipes at a cost of $2500 in the property. In most cases this can be interpreted to mean from the water main to the meter.

"First Met" in Barrington and Neighboring Communities.

Are you in favor of permanent eastern standard time for Barrington?

The Barrington Review is conducting a voluntary, non-profit poll of the Barrington village and rural residents, the results of which will be turned over to the village trustees for consideration. If you want to conform to Chicago's new plan of Eastern time (one hour earlier) 23 months a year, place an X on the ballot "Yes" on the opposite side of this page. If you want to continue on the present plan of daylight saving time, an summer and central standard time, place an X on the ballot "No" on the ballot at the bottom of this page. The ballot need not be signed. MAIL OR BRING IT TO THE REVIEW, 110 W. MAIN ST. YOUR NEIGHBORS WILL DO IT.
