

Executive Scout Boards to Hold Annual Meeting

1936 Program to Be Discussed at Des Phaines Session

The executive board of the Northwest Suburban council, Boy Scouts of America, will hold a meeting on Monday evening, Feb. 20, in the council chambers of the city hall in Des Plaines. In addition to the members of the executive board the members of all standing committees of the council will be present which includes all members of district committees.

The annual meeting is for the purpose of formulating the program and objectives for the year 1936. The program will consist of a general assembly of all scouts at which time President Clegg and C. Gregg will present his recommendations for the year following which the council committee will meet separately and formulate their objectives and program.

The chairman of each committee will then present their report to the general assembly following the committee meeting.

The chairman of various committees are as follows: Camping, H. H. Calkins of Barrington; court of honor, Charles Peterson of Park Ridge; cubbing, Walter Kroschke of Park Ridge; scout reading, A. R. Crawford of Niles; finance, C. S. Stewart of Des Plaines; health and safety, M. H. Howarth of Park Ridge; leadership training, E. R. Henderson of Niles Center; senior scouts, Edward H. Stohman of Park Ridge; ten-year program, W. H. Coleman of Park Ridge; parents contact, T. M. Whitson of Park Ridge.

Word has been received from the James E. West, chief scout executive, asking that all scouts participate in the feeding of birds during snowy weather. All troops in the Northwest Suburban council are asked to make definite plans to provide food for birds.

Parade of New Pails Saturday Result of Good Merchandising

Persons downtown in Barrington Saturday might have wondered what influenced the prevalence of galvanized pails in Barrington. Thirteen dozen 19 quart pails were sold at a special sale at King's Five Cents to One Dollar store on Saturday.

A local wit remarked after watching the parade of the shiny buckets around the village that "the residents must be getting ready for a quick thaw and are buying their bathing implements now."

Perhaps he is right, but to find some 156 residents of Barrington needing pails is unusual. Of course they could be used to haul coal, chicken feed, table scrapes, water and a number of other items. At any rate the store advertised in The Review last week and the incident was another example of the fact that advertising produces results.

Marble-Faced Dam
The only marble-faced dam in the world is on the plains of Marathon, battlefield of ancient Greece. It is constructed of stone taken from the quarries that once supplied Greek sculptors, and supplies water for Athens.

Weather: Range Tremendous
The hottest summers and coldest winters known on earth are in east and west Siberia where the range between the averages of the two seasons is 120 degrees.

Long Dead Forests Revealed
Some of Asia's barren sand dunes show traces of long-dead forests, and traces of human habitation revealing desolation wrought in part at least, by erosion.

Announcement

SELDOM before has there been such shortage of homes in this country as today. This shortage exists in practically every village and city. Barrington is no exception. To make possible better economic conditions and the addition of many desirable families in this community, a series of articles on building has been arranged for publication in coming issues of this newspaper. These articles which will be accompanied by appropriate and helpful advertising material, have been prepared by a registered architect and will give many suggestions to people planning on building. They will contain, in addition to the discussion of other subjects, information on costs and financing which may make possible the building of homes for many who do not fully realize present building opportunities.

Karl Plath Shows Paintings of Birds to Woman's Club

Karl Plath's lecture to members and guests of the Barrington Woman's club in the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon included several surprise features—ten pictures of birds, painted by Mr. Plath, as well as his unusual collection of stuffed birds with brilliant plumage undimmed years after death.

Some of the birds had been stuffed in 1830, the speaker stated. None are exposed to light except for lectures, because the feathers retain their gorgeous coloring. Mr. Plath is an artist, ornithologist, lecturer and curator of a birds at Brookfield Zoo. As a hobby, he has an aviary of 80 birds in his home.

"A finished picture usually tells a story," Mr. Plath said as he began showing his paintings. "I have preferred to paint grotesque or bizarre birds because they are brilliant colorings intrigue me." Among his paintings were pictures of penguins, black-necked stilts, albatrosses, blue mowens from Brazil (painted against a gold background with salmon contrasting notes which accentuated the business of the birds), toucans, rhinoceros horn bills, tropic birds of America, giant wyndhals, motmots and hating crows.

Some of the peculiar names are the result of naming by natives of countries inhabited by the birds, the speaker explained. He gave whimsical stories about the various birds, their characteristics and habits.

An investiture ceremony by girl scouts of troop 2 under the leadership of Miss Bernice Jean Clark concluded the program.

The United States bureau of public roads has found just where traffic goes. It can be stated tersely, as follows: Fifty per cent of it goes over city streets, 33 per cent over state highways and 17 per cent over county and township roads.

Countryside Garden Class Hears Talks on Varied Topics

The Countryside Garden class was entertained at its February meeting at the home of Mrs. John K. Prentice, 440 S. Hough street, with a group of talks on gardens, garden design, flower culture, spring flowers and birds.

Mrs. Lester Higgins gave an illustrated lecture on "General Principles Underlying Design," stressing the relationship of garden and flower bed design to the development of plant life.

Mrs. J. D. Baranick read a paper on "Making Cold Frames and Hotbeds." The points brought out in her paper were appropriate now with spring approaching.

Mrs. W. J. Prentice delivered a thirty minute talk on "Birds in the Garden." Her discussion was to acquaint club members with various species of birds that can be induced to make their homes in gardens of this locality.

A five minute "showery" of "Spring Flowering Shrubs" was conducted by Mrs. A. J. Crawford. Mrs. R. R. Hammond, club president, is recovering from a recent operation and was unable to be present.
